Arts Centre deficit predicted

by Carolyn Martindale
Tufeld and Ryley representatives said Mar. 18 that they were not prepared to commit their respective councils to a proposed arts centre budget which predicted an $18,000 deficit for one year.

Councillors Ed Rappole of Tufeld and Larry Andrusak of Ryley stated they would have to present the budget to their councils for approval before making a decision.

The two councillors made the statements when the budget presented by Holden Mayor Osh Shykora, during a meeting in Viking which was held to tie up Regional Recreation Board loan ends.

The budget was drafted very pessimistically on purpose, and with some effort the deficit might be brought down to $6,000, Shykora said.

The one-year budget was drawn up by Holden Council at the request of the recreation representatives of the five municipalities who met in Ryley on Mar. 4. At that meeting Holden agreed to assume responsibility for the interim management of the theatre until June 1980.

The five representatives also agreed to principle to allow the theatre to operate for a one-year trial period extending from June 1980 to June 1981. After that period the feasibility of operating the theatre would be re-examined.

Representatives for the County of Beaver, Holden and Viking said they would support the budget which Holden presented Mar. 18. Bill Taylor of Viking stated that all five municipalities had already committed themselves to the arts centre budget when they agreed to give the theatre a one-year trial.

Rappole argued that the municipalities had only agreed to principle to provide the theatre for one year. Rappole said the rest of Tufeld Council was unaware of the proposed arts centre budget, and he would not be prepared to support the budget without council authorization. Andrusak stated he would also have to consult Ryley Council.

The budget projects revenue totalling $13,300, almost half of which is to come from ticket sales. The remainder is to be made up of provincial grants, theatre rentals, and concession revenue.

The major expenditure predicted is the salary of a manager which is estimated at over $10,000. Other expenditures which include paying for shows, scripts and repairs, and the cost of overhead is estimated to be over $20,000.

However, Shykora stated that a good manager could probably bring the deficit well below the projected $18,000.

Although the County of Beaver was prepared to support the budget, the county would only contribute on the basis of an actual assessment as opposed to an estimated assessment, said County Secretary Treasurer Bob Crane.

Under an actual assessment the county would be responsible for slightly over 50 percent of the total budget, while the estimated assessment would

Annual meeting nets only '23' taxpayers

by Carolyn Martindale
Only 23 people attended the annual taxpayers' meeting in Tufeld Monday evening, and of these more than half were either town councillors or people presenting annual reports on behalf of the town.

Following the reports, the major concerns that were raised related to the realignment of 8th, last year's initiative, the railway crossing east of town and the correction line east of Tufeld.

One surprise was the fact that Tufeld's proposed land use by-law did not even surface during the discussion. At a public hearing for the by-law last Mar. 17 over 20 people said they opposed the by-law which threatened to cut over eight acres from Paeagrowth.

The by-law was given second reading at a Council meeting Mar. 24.

In response to a question from Arnold Smith regarding the status of the proposed realignment of secondary road 8th, Councillor Warren Watson said the realignment would not be started this year, and probably would not come until Highway 14 was realigned.

Watson also stated that Alberta Transportation was considering an alternate route for the realignment of 8th. He stated the alternate route would probably follow the same course as plan P-1, except that the road would proceed directly south instead of veering east over the southeast corner of the Paeagrowth.

According to plan P-1 the realignment of 8th would extend from 20 Ave. south down to 8th, past the Beaver Sub-division before taking a southeast curve across the Paeagrowth to meet Highway 14 at right angles.

Watson said the town was currently studying a report from Transportation regarding the railway crossing.

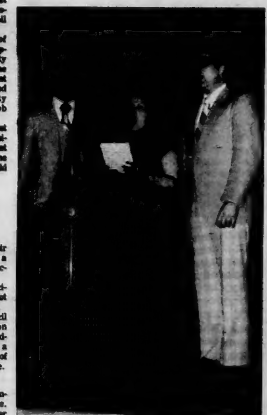

In addressing a question regarding the railway crossing east of Tufeld, County Councillor Charlie Beare said the county had no plans to install railway lights at that crossing. Don Kandrak said the railway crossing was dangerous because it was located at a blind spot and people seldom obeyed the stop sign.

Kandrak also asked council whether they had any plans to upgrade the correction line east of Tufeld. Councillor Watson stated that the town kept the road well-maintained, but that the road would be upgraded only after the route for 8th was established.

At Pollock requested that council explain why property taxes did not drop last year after the provincial government cancelled municipalities a $600 per capita grant. Taxes for 1979 stayed the same as the previous year, he said.

Town Administrator Neil Brooks said most of the money that the province granted was distributed to the realignment of 8th and was used for that purpose. He said that the province had given the grant, but that the town would have gone up to the point of realigning the road, Brooks said.

Holden manages theatre

by Carolyn Martindale
Holden Council has ratified the action of two of its councillors in agreeing to have Holden take over interim management of the Regional Arts Centre.

At a meeting Mar. 18, Village Council approved the action of Mayor Osh Shykora and Councillor Jack Stambaugh.

Shykora represents Holden on the regional recreation committee which is attempting to tie up loans ends of the Regional Recreation Board that disbanded Dec. 31.

At a regional recreation meeting on Mar. 4, Holden was asked to assume responsibility for the management of the theatre until June 1980.

The representatives of the four remaining municipalities (County of Beaver, Tufeld, Viking and Ryley) agreed that Holden could best manage the Arts Centre since it is located in Holden.

The municipalities have agreed to contribute 100% in the operation of the theatre, which was left without management and funds when the recreation board folded.

The County, towns and villages have agreed to principle to contribute toward the operation of the theatre for a one-year trial period. By June, the municipalities hope to approve a budget that would finance the theatre for that period.

In other business pertaining to recreation, Holden Council approved the appointment of Councillor Marvin Gladhouse to the committee in charge of finalizing Regional Recreation Board assets.

WEIGHT RESTRICTIONS

In other business Holden Council approved a motion that a letter be written to a Holden resident advising her that Council would not change its position regarding the restriction of heavy vehicles on 8th Ave.

Council made the decision after receiving correspondence from Mary Lou Dolan regarding Council's position to not allow heavy vehicles on that avenue.

At a meeting in February Council had turned down a similar request from the Holden Chamber of Commerce which asked that only weight-restricted vehicles be allowed to park on 8th Ave. one block west and one block east of Main.

The businessmen were concerned that drivers of heavy vehicles had to carry their purchases over one block as a result of the parking restriction.

Council maintained its decision saying 8th Ave. was not designed for heavy vehicles.

During the meeting, council also approved a motion authorizing the village administrator to prepare a bylaw for the licensing of businesses within the village.

STREET LIGHTS

Councillors decided to install a street light on 8th Ave. as requested by B. Schindler and M. Jeffrey. Council authorized the street committee to decide on the location of that light.

Council also agreed that the authorization of a street light at the water reservoir and the team winning the first event were Brando Shyba, Kory Dewar, Rick Tkaczuk and Royden Tkaczuk (skip). Shyba substituted for Gayden Keith in the finals.

Andrew is tops

Andrew spelled Ryley's comeback attempt in the Beaverhill Hockey League finals.

Andrew was the first three games of the best of seven final series only to see Ryley bounce back with three straight victories to clinch the series.

The two teams squared off in the seventh and deciding game in Tofield on Thursday night and when the final buzzer sounded, Andrew had scored a 2-4 victory to earn the league championship crown. The game ended what was a "not so successful" season in the league.

Thanks from Holden and Alamy Lake were unable to complete the season and a number of postponed games schedule in fourth place while Ryley ended up in third spot. They eliminated Lamont and Tofield in semi-final action.

Andrew finished the regular.

Following an inspection by Alberto Leduc, the village administrator in giving approval to do electrical work at the village garage, which was deemed necessary.

The councilors have agreed to apply for two donations for the village under the Student Temporary Employment Program (STSEP) sponsored by the provincial government. The program is designed to provide work experience for students in the village for the coming year.

Three members of the Holden and District Chamber of Commerce attended the council meeting to discuss two separate matters.

Ray Dolan attended the meeting to present information on the Village Forum, which is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce in the future. Council representation was requested for the Forum.

Kevin Stambaugh and Harry Christian attended the meeting to discuss ambulance service in the village.

According to Stambaugh, the Chamber of Commerce would like to see Holden retain a village ambulance service if possible. The Chamber of Commerce has indicated they would be willing to assist the village in what way they could.

The Court of Revision that was set for the Mar. 19 meeting was not held because of the one appeal that had been made was withdrawn.

Council also ratified the accounts paid in the amount of $4,071.14 and approved for payment accounts in the amount of $1,854.24.

The councilors also ratified the Regional Arts Centre accounts paid in the amount of $2,448.48 and approved for payment accounts totalling $271.15.

the county pick up 75 per cent of the cost, Cross explained.

Since the county rural area comprises roughly half of the total county population, the actual assessment represents a fair assessment, he said.

At the next regional recreation meeting the five municipalities are expected to be prepared to decide whether or not they will support the proposed theatre budget.

Those municipalities who are expected to be prepared to decide whether their contribution towards the theatre operation should be determined on the basis of an equalized assessment or an actual assessment.

At the meeting Mar. 19 the authorities also appointed Cross, Tofield administrator Neil Brode and County Councillor Hjerdis Armitage to act as a committee to dispose of regional Recreation Board assets.

Among the major assets of the recreation board are a 3/4 ton truck, a trailer, a cultivator, an eight foot-dia. tractor mower, potter wheels and kilns.

Municipalities will have an opportunity to approach the committee to express interest in obtaining some of the items. The remaining items will be disposed of at a county session in May.

The County of Beaver has already expressed interest in obtaining the major equipment for use in maintaining county parks. The towns and villages have also said they are interested in keeping the kilns and potter wheels that are currently being used in their centres.

During the meeting Sklyars also said he would find out what rent, if any, was being charged to the Regional Arts Society for use of the theatre.

The Holden Mayor agreed to look into the matter after Andrusow asked why there was no record of any rent being paid by either the Regional Arts Society, or the Beaverhill Players, which is a theatre group whose members largely make up the Arts Society.

The Rykel councillor said he was aware that the Beaverhill Players had staged a play in the theatre for several nights early in March, and that prior to the performances they had used the theatre for practicing.

However, there is no record of any rent being paid on either the February or March statements of revenue for the theatre, Andrusow said.

Drama room upgrading planned for Tofield

The County Board of Education decided Tuesday to spend $4,000 to upgrade the Tofield High School drama room. The upgrading program will provide for basic theatre lighting improving the walls and curtains. Superintendent of Schools Fred Henshall said following the board meeting.

The County upgraded the Vining drama room three years ago, but at that time there was little interest in drama in Tofield. However, in the last several years interest in Tofield has risen, he said.

The County board is also working on a building quality restoration program for county schools. Under the program the county plans to upgrade school washrooms, entrances and heating.

The washroom and entrance improvements are expected to cost $130,000. The county may receive 80 percent of the total cost from the province if the program is approved by the School Buildings Branch. The cost of the heating improvements has not been determined, and the county hopes to have a consultant to establish what improvements are advisable.

In other business trustees

agreed to install a light at the mouth and of the Vining School to help curb vandalism at the school. The County made the decision after the Vining RCMP stated that the mouth and of the school would be easier to patrol if it were better lighted.

During the past year over $6,000 damage occurred at the Vining School as a result of vandalism. The cost has prompted the Board of Education to agree to a $100 reward for information leading to the conviction of anyone committing damage to Vining school property.

The County of Beaver has also given approval to principle for a seven-period day at the Ryley senior and junior high school level starting in 1980-81 term.

The change from the present eight-period day will shorten the school day slightly, allow teachers to have preparation time after school instead of during school, and will allow the school to provide better programming for students.

The Tofield high school has operated on a seven-period day for the past three years.

responsible dealing with the problems faced by Albertans today. Herdman, because of mortgage renegotiations at high interest rates.
Mr. Clark pointed out that excessive interest rates hit hardest at three vital sectors of our economy. They are agriculture, small business and housing. In the housing sector, at least 20,000 people will be renegotiating mortgages within the next year. In some cases, the renegotiation will take up about 40 percent of the average Albertan's gross income, particularly pressed for those on fixed and low incomes.

I believe that the best way to deal with this problem is to have Alberta, as a province, intervene in the future of Albertans.
Albertans who are renegotiating mortgages on principal residences are buying new homes should have funds available at an interest rate not exceeding 12 percent. Rental accommodation which has a mortgage up for renegotiation can be financed at the same rate if an agreed-upon limiting ratio is agreed. This financing is to be provided from the Government's accumulated surpluses in terms of three and five years, with variations available if interest rates change at unreasonably high levels.

Funds are to be made available to financial institutions now in the mortgage financing market as they can re-lend them to Albertans at reasonable rates. In this way, the Province can take an initiative. The Federal Government has not taken without undue disruption in the market place.

March 22 saw the Grand Opening of Ryley Motors in their newly renovated building. Terry Mizero and Darryl Abrecht took over the business from Ed Abrecht in April of 1976.

The business was formerly operated by a father son team Ed & Darryl from 1955 to 1976. A free Pancake breakfast was served to about 200 guests and congratulations are extended to the many prize winners. A draw was made each hour.

A Special thank you to Sharon Kragelski and Colleen Teale, Burnside, Jaber & Foye, Mizero, all the Ryley Motors staff who helped in any way to make the day successful.

Progressive Farming

Jermane Mancher
and Bill Bruce
District Agriculturalists

Alberta Agriculture's pest control specialist, Michael Dalziel, says there is a considerable amount of grain being lost in the south of the province, and that the loss could be controlled with an insecticide. He is being assisted by a team of only five men by supporting the grain out of the bin to cool it down and to insect it on the spot. If it contains no insects, it can be stored back into the bin. If insects are present, Mr. Dalziel recommends treating the grain with malathion dust, registered for use on stored grain, while the grain is being moved back into the bin. Although the liquid form of malathion for stored grain would also kill the beetles, its drawback is that it will increase the moisture in the grain.

A phosmet (Phostoxin) fumigant can be used when the grain temperature is about 10°C. It dissipates in about a week, while malathion remains active for approximately eight to ten months. There are no restrictions on marketing or feeding fumigated grain, but it takes a week to vent. Grain that has been treated with malathion cannot be marketed or fed to livestock for seven days.

Mr. Dalziel believes that the long period of warm weather last fall plus the correction currents in the increasing number of large silos that are being used to store grain are responsible for the heating of grain that was stored with a low constant last fall. The correction currents can concentrate the normal level of moisture in the top two feet of grain, especially in bins that are full to capacity. There is then no room for air circulation. The two feet of moisture create an ideal environment for the growth of fungi and for the multiplication of beetles, both of which lead to heating.

Dental plan approved

by Carolyn Martindale
Tofield Council gave approval to dental and income replacement plans for town employees, at a meeting Mar. 24.

A total of 26 percent of the cost of programs will be picked up by the employee while the town picks up the remainder.

The plans will cost the town approximately $1.5 million, which will go toward the dental, while around $400 will be used for the income replacement program. The plans cover all employees.

Council also approved two resolutions regarding payment for extra working hours.

SR834 will be paved

by Carolyn Martinello
This summer, Alberta Transportation will start paving the new road SR834 from Highway 16 south to Tofield town limits, the transportation director for the south-eastern area told County Council last Thursday.
The project, which will cost between $1.5 million and $2 million, will be going to tender within one week, Charlie Landon said at the county meeting.
A tender has been circulating for several weeks regarding the paving of the new road. However, Landon's statement to the county council last week was the first official notice that the project had been approved.
The paving project does not include the proposed realignment of SR834 from Highway 16 south to Tofield, known as P-1, the regional director said later in a telephone interview with The Mercury. Plan P-1 has been proposed to run from Highway 16 south down 47th, past the Belvedere Subdivision where it would meet Highway 21. However, Alberta Transportation is undecided about whether P-1 will be the new route of the through Tofield, and other routes may be announced, Landon said.
Although the present approved paving program for SR834 does not include the realignment of SR834, the regional director said that the realignment project for SR834 is a three-mile stretch of grading road SR834 located on mile north of Tofield.
This section of SR834 will eventually be built up to Highway 21, the regional director said.

In response to a request from Alberta Transportation, the council agreed that the council of Beaver would contract to do the work on the three-mile section of SR834.
Landon indicated that Transportation was prepared to grant some money to assist the county with a calcium chloride treatment program.

Tofield passes land use by-law

by Carolyn Martinello
Tofield Council gave third and final reading to its land use by-law Monday, but not before debating a motion to amend that by-law.
In a 4-2 vote, council decided against leaving 19 lots north of the Fairgrounds unused as park.
Councillor Laurie Weatherill, who introduced the motion, stated the land would stay in the park until after a General Municipal Plan for the town was completed.
In drawing up the plan, council would have to decide whether to proceed with the extension of 48 Ave. across the northern edge of the Fairgrounds. Following that decision council could decide whether to remove the lots along that two-block area as residential, he said.
However, Councillor Warren Watson and Mayor Dr. William Freerley stated that if the area was left as park, the lots would be used for the extension of 48 Ave. across the northern edge of the Fairgrounds where it meets the Belvedere Subdivision.

The council has been reluctant to make changes to the plan since it may force them to forfeit an entire new road plan, which would delay the realignment of SR834.
The council is concerned because a delay regarding the realignment is also holding up the development of industrial land north of the tracks which currently is without access, and which requires drainage that the realignment program would provide.
When the question was called at the meeting Monday night Weatherill's motion was defeated. Councillors Watson, Campbell, Marie Warren, Mayor Freerley voted against the motion. In favour of the motion were councillors Weatherill, Christensen and Reaumur.
Following that, council passed the land use by-law.
Only councillors Reaumur and Christensen voted against the motion which gave final reading to the by-law.
While he said he recognized the need for a land use by-law, Reaumur said Tuesday that he would not support the by-law because it was not prepared to set according to the needs of the community. Reaumur said citing the public hearing where residents voted in favour of the by-law.

The extension of 48 Ave. is part of a proposal to remove the secondary road SR834 from its present route through town which runs down 47th St. The present proposal known as P-1 would run 48 Ave. from 47th St. to the C.W. Jones School to Highway 16.
The plan was prepared by Alberta Transportation, also proposed that all roads which currently have access onto the road proposed for realignment would be closed to traffic, except for by-law on Mar. 17, over 20 people voiced opposition to the land use by-law which they said would reduce the Fairgrounds by over four acres by removing the 19 lots to residential.

While the residents acknowledged the fact that the Fairgrounds does not have title to the two-block area in question, they stated that it has been considered part of the Fairgrounds for years.
Several residents were concerned that if the lots were removed to residential, the Beaverhill Light Horse Association would be forced to move their horse court which opens onto that area which would become part of 48 Ave.
"The public came to us in support and if we don't listen to them, we are not fulfilling our obligations to the town," Councillor Marie Christensen said in support of Weatherill's motion.
The move to remove the property north of the Fairgrounds is part of the town's major road plan which provides for an eastern extension of 48 Ave. along the northern edge of the Fairgrounds where it meets the Belvedere Subdivision.

Easter basket?
A giant Easter basket you say? No, in fact the huge contraption is the basket from a hot air balloon. Borden John Bauman of Tofield was spotted chartering the balloon in preparation for clearing it. Weatherill's basket landed on Main St. in Tofield on Friday.

Tofield's nurses aren't on strike

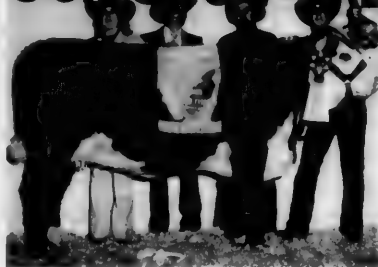

The impending strike of the 6,000 member United Nurses of Alberta (UNA) stated for Friday will not affect the Tofield Municipal Hospital since Tofield nurses are not members.

The UNA has rejected a 15-18 percent increase offered by the Alberta Hospital Association and are seeking wage increases averaging 27 percent for residential care. The current vote Tuesday to strike.

Hospital Administrator Don Dosh made the statement when contacted by The Mercury on Wednesday.
The only way a UNA strike could affect Tofield would be through increased patient loads if people who are receiving treatment in the hospital were transferred to other hospitals with understaffing nurses.

The plan was prepared by Alberta Transportation, also proposed that all roads which currently have access onto the road proposed for realignment would be closed to traffic, except for

Reg wig, anyone?

Pinning a carved-out wig appears to be the major problem of the Tofteld School Drama Club.

The club will be staging its most ambitious production next month, the musical Alise of Green Gables. However, to date the Tofteld thespians have been unsuccessful in obtaining a carved-out wig of their leading lady, Grace Schofield.

According to the play's director, David Hales, the club is also in need of turn-of-the-century ladies' dresses, men's dark suits, as well as an old-fashioned Christmas tree.

If you can assist the drama club with costumes or props, contact the Tofteld School.

FIRE PERMITS

The period between April first and October thirty-first of each year is declared a fire season. Any person lighting a fire, other than an outdoor fire, is required to obtain a fire permit. In the County of Beaver fire permits are obtainable (no charge) from each county council member or Fire Chief or the Agricultural Fieldman. Failure to obtain a fire permit or other contraventions of the Forest and Prairie Protection Act could result in a fine of up to $300.00 or 90 days imprisonment or both.

around and agreed to meet to pay out that money. Weatherill said with a laugh. Another reason Tofteld withdrew from the board was they alleged that money had been spent on the Regional Arts Centre which had been approved by the board. Now Tofteld has agreed to help finance the deficit budget for the Centre.

"We opted out and we've been paying ever since," commented Councilor Jack Lounsbury.

Councilor Ed Ragner stated that in making the decision council was realizing in finalizing regional recreation board matters. Although the board disbanded in December, meetings to finalize recreation business have dragged on into April.

Art Centre is needed ... according to Dunham

By Carolyn Martinelli
The Arts Centre is needed and wanted by County of Beaver residents a member of the Beaver Regional Arts Society said Friday.

When a total of 100 people attend a day range of a drama production there is a definite need for a culture centre, said Jean Dunham of Tofield area.

She was speaking in reference to the play The Family Man which was staged in February by the Beaver Regional Players, which is the first of the Arts Society. The major aim of the society, which was formed in 1974 is to promote cultural activities in the county.

"I've enjoyed my attendance and enjoyed our last production," she said.

She planned the county office or their local town office, the county office, which is the fact that the county office is needed and wanted," she said.

Dunham continued the Mercury last week because she said there has been for a long time a need for a "home" theatre which would be in the county.

"There were some signs entered in the contest. That's reasonable for an area this size," she said.

John Wilson of the month" were Mrs. Thompson, Margaret McCarty, Ann Andrews and Mr. McElroy.

Sunday guests with Margaret Peterson were Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Christensen.

McAllister heads Tofield's skaters

By Doris Brown
The Tofield Skating Club is holding their annual meeting on April 7.

The executive for the club was installed: president, Vyrone McAllister; vice-president, Carol Hume; secretary, Lynn Thompson; treasurer, Sheila Kemp.

Members on the board for the coming year are Marie McGee, Alberta Wall, Margaret Adams, Leona Volmer and Doris Brown.

The financial report for the 1979-80 skating season was given by Lynn Thompson. The club has a very healthy bank balance.

The Tofield Lions Club donated their share of ticket sales from the skating club's open house to the skating club.

The Tofield Legion also helped a great deal by printing the concert booklet and tickets free of charge for the skating club.

It is hoped that the club will not have to increase skating fees for the upcoming season.

Gail Smith was elected to represent the club on the Executive Board. Carol Adams will represent the skating club on the Tofield Artisans Society.

The club will again donate to help cover the cost of junior coaches who wish to attend summer school this year.

The club's monthly lottery approved by the skating club proved very successful and the club plans another for this fall.

Recent winners of the draw have been Henry Smith, Edward and Michael Kadal and Wendy Lawson.

The committee in charge of the July ice parade is Dorothy McCarty, 643-5848; Margaret Adams, 643-5888; and Grace Williams, 643-5848.

Anyone with any questions concerning the parade may contact anyone of these people.

Meeting of the skating club executive will be held in July.

Holden businesses will need licenses

by Carolyn MacIntosh Hidden Canyon passed a requires anyone doing business within the village to obtain a business license.

The bylaw replaces a bylaw

Councilor John Lemke in sup-

According to Hidden Ad-approved with the bylaw, to determine the cost of the license. Most fees will fall in

The Recreation Board will apply to residents and non-residents alike.

The bylaw will take effect this fall and will be subject to be amended for the 1980 year. The village will be sending out notices to businesses later this month.

The village will also protect local businesses from competing non-resident businesses such as electronics, pharmacies, etc. who may be able to sell their wares within the village will also be required to pay the business licensing fee.

All it takes is 35 non-residents to bring a bylaw to the $60 to $75 per year range, she said.

Council decided to pass a new bylaw since the village's existing one is out of date and dating. In the long run council decided the business bylaw will be easier to administer, said Mackey.

Over the way.

In other business, council decided to comply with a request from the Local Recreation Board which asked that the village's 1979-80 be declared a civic holiday.

Bill R. Taylor of Viking, and Dave McKee of Edmonton, who are both retiring from cadets this year, were presented with portraits in honor of their service to Holden cadets.

The presentations were made during an afternoon social and potluck supper for the cadets and their families.

Taylor, who is now retired from the military, is retiring this year after 26 years with the regular force. With his retirement from the military, so ends his position as a liaison to the Holden cadets.

The two retiring officers were each presented with portraits by Commanding Officer Dennis Cooper of Holden, who made the presentations on behalf of the Holden Corps.

During the afternoon social, the Holden Corps which is made up of cadets from the Holden, Ryley and Viking areas, listened to a talk given by Ed Silvers of Sherwood Park.

Silvers is a former naval officer of the Royal Navy and is the director of the Northern Alberta Navy League Division. He spoke on his travel experiences during his term in the navy.

So important to the look of the land.

Today, 80% of our electric power is produced from coal... coal that must be mined from the land. But competitive land uses don't have to be in conflict. Surface mining doesn't have to leave ugly scars! At our Whitewood Mine, we're demonstrating the ability to successfully reclaim land to ensure its continued beneficial use to society. As custodians of two resources, we're meeting the reclamation goal of "equal to or better than"... because we care about the land.

Home & School formed

A Home and School Association has been formed in Telford, following a meeting

Teachers are opposed

by Carolyn Martindale
Telford School teachers have voted unanimously in favour of withdrawing their support from the newly formed Telford Home and School Association (THSA).

According to Telford School Principal Al Pollock, the teachers' decision, which came during a regular general staff meeting Tuesday afternoon, was "based purely on the structure and organization of the association."

The primary objection of the teachers is a THSA bylaw which calls for teachers and parents to sit on separate committees. Pollock stated when he returned a call to The Mercury following the meeting.

By having "committees acting independently it is difficult to meet the objective of a home and school association," the principal stated. "In fact it is contrary to the basic home and school or PTA tradition, which is to co-operatively work out problems."

THSA correspondence secretary says the parents must separate committees to maintain confidentiality of students and parents who make complaints about certain teachers.

The parent committee could investigate complaints to determine whether they were legitimate before presenting them to the teachers' committee, said H&S Executive Director.

Kaplanstaid was critical of the teachers' decision saying their minds were made up even before they attended on Monday night. Over forty people attended the organizational session which was held in the Legion Hall.

Ball Kaplanstaid was elected as the first association president with Dave Morris and Linda Melville accepting vice-president positions.

Monday's meeting was a lengthy one, lasting until after midnight, after which in attendance had agreed to form an association and it was necessary to discuss and approve bylaws.

In addition, a number of teachers from Telford schools also attended the Monday session, although they withdrew, as a body, before the meeting ended. (See separate story.)

Two preliminary meetings to discuss organization of a home and school association had been held in April.

Membership in the new association is available to all individual or family heads (which includes foster and senior high school levels) and may be obtained by contacting the association.

Memberships will also be available at the next association meeting which has been scheduled for May 8th.

Lions celebrate 25th

By Grace Phillips
Twenty-five years of service to the Telford community were celebrated by the Telford Lions Club at their charter night on Saturday in the Telford Community Centre.

For the occasion, the Centre was decorated with the Lions' banner, streamers of maize and yellow supported by the Lions' crest. Tables for six featured tablecloths and centerpieces with the Lions' insignia.

Civic greetings were brought by Dr. Freedy on behalf of the town. The Lions Club is the only service club in town, said Dr. Freedy, and its contributions to the good of the community are much appreciated.

In a humorous vein, Chairman Lammerla introduced the present members of the Lions Club, and their wives before calling on Tom Lyle to propose a toast to Lions International, the parent body of the Telford Lions Club.

Thinking the wives of the local Lions for their uplifting support, Dave Hare proposed the traditional toast to the ladies. Mrs. Nancy Soudar responded to Mr. Hare's toast.

Guest speaker, Ed Rogers, was introduced by Chairman Lammerla. Rogers, who is a charter member of the Telford Lions Club, reminisced about the 25 years of Lions' service to the community.

He recalled their first project, building a playground on a site where, at that time, there were no children. The playground was built and the children were happy.

Other accomplishments of the Lions Club were then recounted by Mr. Rogers. He stated that the Lions have been generous and their fees paid to benefit the community.

The Lions made it possible for Les (Rover) Hammond and a Vagabond girl to spend a period of time in Telford and Italy respectively.

President John Wall Chairman Lammerla introduced the local Lions guests which included Les (Rover) Hammond and a Vagabond girl to spend a period of time in Telford and Italy respectively.

At the local level, customers have been purchased for junior sports teams, the outdoor skating rink which preceded the Telford Arena was operated by the Lions, the local Boy Scouts and Girl Guides have received assistance in their work.

The recreation bus was run at first by the Lions. The July 1st bus has been a Lions project for several years. Help has been given in local visits of disaster.

The Lions Club in Telford and Mandre were assisted in organization by the Telford Club.

Plans for the future include purchase of a new ECG machine for the Telford Hospital, a swimming pool for the Telford Club, and a new building for the Telford Club.

Former valued members of the Club, now deceased, were recalled and praised by Mr. Rogers for their contributions to the Club. These mentioned were Mrs. Mervyn Macchale, Edwin Stinson, Henry Puley and Bill Lammerla.

Bruce Bailey, president-elect for next year, thanked Mr. Rogers for his account of the highlights of the Lions activities over the years. To President John Wall Chairman Lammerla presented a merrit badge for 25 years of service.

The badge will be placed on the club banner.

President Wall presented a 25-year charter to Les (Rover) Hammond and a Vagabond girl to spend a period of time in Telford and Italy respectively.

Resist change

Only a week short of the end of April, Alberta's Solicitor General announced that more than a third of Alberta motorists had not renewed their motor vehicle licenses, even though the effective date of registration is March 31. Most of us ignore March 31, not April 30 as the deadline (as allowed by the government) as the effective date.

In more than one way, perhaps the legislation should be changed to April 30, in view of the often inclement weather of March. On the other hand, we suppose, provincial authorities know that if they used April 30 as the deadline, motorists would automatically extend it to May 31, knowing they have 30 days of grace.

It should be noted, however, that isn't the case with income tax. Everyone knows the deadline is April 30, and yet there are no days of grace, no extensions, no escape from penalties.

One thing which really surprises me is the result of an innovative experiment tried by the government, wherein they gave motorists the option of renewing their licenses by mail, instead of queuing up at some government counter. All that was necessary was to fill in the form, sign a cheque, and mail it in.

And only about one in six of us took the opportunity offered. Three out of four of the early (or) renewal came in over the counter, while another full third of them had yet to be renewed, fully a week after the deadline for mail renewal.

What does that tell us? Don't we want things made easier? Don't we appreciate streamlined procedures? Are we suspicious of a break in our routine, long established by precedent, and therefore more sacred than some innovative concept? When it comes to so simple a matter as our license renewal, and we're so reluctant to change, what does it say for our long-range future? Or do we need more time to get used to it? Like any other change?

OTTAWA (EP) - Amidst the swirling of the coming government, six months ago, under the Charter of Rights and Freedoms, Gerald Gault, head of the Bank of Canada, has been telling the cabinet that interest rates had to rise, and there is at least the implicit threat that he might resign if the government disagreed.

He convinced the cabinet, although there was great dissent on the issue, and Canada finally followed U.S. interest rates upward. Compare that scenario with the situation in the U.S. where money should have been raised because of the debt of the new Liberal Finance Minister Allan MacEachern, to authorize interest rates to rise.

What do we find instead? There's this real little resistance to the interest rates increase. The foreign investors, don't know where they stand from week to week in interest rates, hence the lenders will try to get the high side when negotiating fixed interest rates, or attempts to tie down borrowers to a floating rate as is adapted with the Bank of Canada rate on a weekly basis.

For the economy, the result of the new interest rate policies could be adverse to the weekly meeting of government bodies, where MacEachern and the Liberal government to do a "Positive Plan" as interest rates go up. In the interim, it will also cause the dollar to rise, rather than fall, as the dollar is being bought with the dollar and taken the credit for other holding the dollar.

The government has also taken responsibility for setting interest rates, but may increase a market force. The business com-

IMMIGRANT—1980 Most of us do not live at Stargate Lake. Are either immigrants or the children of immigrants. Forty-one years ago I left the sacred soil of three County, Ontario, in the company of an immigrant, mostly to do the same thing at the time. We settled in a beautiful, healthy place, which offered no very abrupt change from the poverty we had sought to escape. But the opportunities for disappointment were greater, because the fields were bigger. In our years on the homestead we harvested two good crops: one next year, and one in 1913.

Life was untroubled, contented around the corner; indeed, he consisted of a running battle with the one who the victors were divided about equally. At the ripe age of ten I was an experienced driver and already had acquired the rudiments of a vocabulary which later became the envy of the country.

God made no more pervasive creatures than the ox, and the oxen of the field were being worked, perhaps eternally damned, by contract with the owner.

County to build roads

A total of 17½ miles of road has been proposed for road construction this year, with 13 of those miles slated for the east end of the county.

The road construction which is to cost $711,000 is part of a comprehensive road program that the county council approved at a meeting last Thursday.

The program includes a guaranteeing budget of $80,000 for the county, and an additional budget of $200,000 for the county, and an additional budget of $200,000 for the county, and an additional budget of $200,000 for the county.

Three of the black arts, which he can bring out of will to torment and exasperate his driver. He can do this and die at any moment, but he has no medical skill to save him. He is in a position to be a threat to the health of youth and glowing health to the future, rhetorically, but he is a threat to the health of youth and glowing health to the future, rhetorically, but he is a threat to the health of youth and glowing health to the future.

Duck causes plane crash

A truck accident which caused a light plane to crash 17 miles west of Tofield Wednesday ended in a dramatic way when all four persons aboard were killed.

According to Transport

Canada officials, a small truck which got lodged in the air take system, was what brought the Cessna 180 down into a heavily wooded area, a half-mile south of Highway 14, on the Michell-Wisconsin road.

Verdon and Oliver were were sitting in their yard across the road when they saw the plane go down about 9 p.m. "The plane seemed to be coming straight down," said Mr. Verdon, who was driving home when it went down, and we heard a loud crash. We could see a white light from the wing of the plane flashing through the trees," Mr. Verdon said.

Mrs. Verdon said she phoned the Cooking Lake Fire Department and the police, while her husband drove to the crash site.

"On his way, he stopped four people more walking along the road and asked them if they had seen the plane crash. He was astonished when they said they were in the plane when it crashed," said Mr. Verdon.

The pilot, Dean Baran, 38, and passengers, Jan Gordon, 38, Lorne Grew, 38, and Jill Hachler, 38, who are all of Edmonton, came away from the crash without injuries.

The plane hit the trees at just the right angle, breaking its tail fin enough so the passengers weren't hurt, said a Sherwood Park RCMP officer who went to the scene.

According to Col. Brian Williams, after the plane landed, the pilot, radioed for help. He was attempting to glide into the Cooking Lake airport when the left wing struck the top of the trees causing the plane to cartwheel to the ground, Col. Williams said.

During its fall, the plane showed off the tops of trees which were up to one foot in diameter, before landing on its nose.

Drama festival held

Salisbury Composite High School of Sherwood Park captured its awards presented Saturday evening following the 30th annual One Act Play Festival, which was held at the Redwood Arts Centre in Holden.

At last play, "Little Nell" will go on to compete in the provincial drama festival at the University of Calgary. The two plays, which were both directed by Irene Subitinsky, were shown at the competition in the three-day festival sponsored by the Arts Council of the Alberta High School Drama Festival Association.

J.R. Robson High School of Vermilion took the overall best award for best actor for their production of "Hairs". One Theatre.

Best play by a new school went to Devon High School Drama Club for their original production of "A Wall Run Class".

Best supporting actor was presented to Sherwood Park High School for the production of "The Mysterious Play Bill".

"From Five to Five Thirty" as performed by the Viking School received honorable mention for runner-up play. Holden School's production, "The Legend", was the only other local entry in the festival.

Plays were adjudicated publicly and privately by David Devere of Edmonton. During the three-day festival, over 100 drama students benefited from lectures on acting, directing, making costumes, and improvisation, theatre, speech and makeup.

Fire permits stopped

County Council decided to stop issuing fire permits last Thursday after dry grass, wind and extremely hot April temperatures contributed to over 15 fires the previous week.

Acting on an informal recommendation from the County Fire Committee, Council agreed to stop issuing fire permits until after the first snowfall.

Only farmers who must burn off land that is being used for the current crop year will be issued fire permits, and only in instances where no fire is imminent.

Woodward was supposed to make a formal recommendation to Council Thursday afternoon.

According to the County Fire Committee, the fire permits were stopped because of the extremely dry conditions.

However, the fire permits will be resumed after the first snowfall.

Mrs. Jim Rodick

The annual spring Saturday Ministik was a most successful affair, held on Saturday.

Prizes were given to Edna Robertson, Tofield, South Coaling Lake, Hastings Lake, as well as our own area.

Powerline Court plans meet report

Preliminary planning for the 10th operation of the Powerline Baseball League is underway.

A spokesman for the league indicated that a meeting will likely be called for next week, although a definite date had not been set by press deadline. Indications are that 40 or 50 teams from last season will again operate and there have been no reports about any possible new entries, although there has been a rumor that Viking might seek admission after not competing during the past few seasons.

There have not been any word about the possible operation of the Powerline League. Officials who competed in the league on an exhibition basis last summer.

Enlisted in the league last year were teams from Tofield, Ryley, Rosam Hall, Holden, Camrose and Bertha.

Anne is coming

The Tofield School drama club will be performing the musical comedy of "Anne of Green Gables" in the Tofield Community Hall on Thursday and Wednesday, at 8 p.m.

The two-act play, which is directed and choreographed by David Rabin, is the most ambitious production of the drama club. Drama students have been working and practicing for over three months.

Adapted from a novel by L.M. Montgomery, the musical Anne of Green Gables is the story of orphan girl, Anne Shirley (played by Green Schmidt), who is sent to live with Marilla and Matthew Cuthbert.

Busy Bees

Karen Dravak

The Brown River Area held a regular meeting on Apr. 19 at the Brown School.

Some new business that came up was where the girls should hold their achievement day. The girls have not decided yet where to hold it. The date for achievement day is May 8.

The girls went roller skating on Apr. 19 in Sherwood Park, with the Holden Beef Club and the Ryley Horse Club.

The girls will be participating in the highway cleanup across the province, during the highway seven mile west of Brown on May 25.

The girls would be thankful if you drive carefully.

But does he have a licence?

Door to door sales people must be licensed by the Province of Alberta and you should insist on seeing that licence before discussing any purchase.
Why?
It's for your protection, and for the protection of the many legitimate sales people who make their living this way.
The Licensing of Trades and Businesses Act gives you some safeguards against such bonding.

Lieutenant-Governor visits

by Grace Phillips
A "trip" to Tofield was the visit on Thursday of His Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Alberta, Frank Lynch-Staunton, to Tofield.

speech to the students of C.W. Sears Elementary School on the occasion of the school's 75th anniversary.

Arriving by chauffeur-driven limousine, the

Lieutenant-Governor was met at the school entrance by an honour guard from the Tofield Detachment of the R.C.M.P., and by the official welcoming committee consisting of grade three students, Karen Hubbard and Don Meibohm, Principal Keith Robinson, Supervisor of Instruction Donald Kendrick, and representing the children to the parents, Larrie Westhead.

Other officials present for the occasion included Dr. Walker Buck, M.L.A., chairman of the School Committee of the County of Beaver, Charles Sears and his wife Ruby, Superintendent Fred Benbow and his wife Edna; Tofield representative on the School Committee Arnold Best, and his wife Joyce; hospital administrator Don Reith, and his wife Delores.

Official guests and members of staff were messages and bouquets, accompanied by Principal Keith Robinson.

Mrs. Nancy Bondar in charge of the guest book.

Emblematic of the occasion, the giant birthday cake was the centre of attention on its trolley in the gym. Made and decorated by Karen Hubbard, Helen Remple and Loni Adair, the cake was 7 1/2 feet high, 3 feet long and white trimmed with blue. It was decorated with a large "75" surrounded by pink balloons and the appropriate 75 candles.

After the cake had been admired by parents and guests, displays of student work were viewed before 75 students were led in by their teachers.

Wearing 75th anniversary badges, they took their assigned places in the gym.

Following the entrance of the Lieutenant-Governor accompanied by the welcoming party, "God Save the Queen" was sung accompanied by the rhythm band of Mrs. Bondar's room. Color parties presented the flags of Canada and Alberta with students standing solemnly at attention.

Dr. Walker Buck, M.L.A., spoke briefly, announcing that the school children would be receiving commemorative medallions as mementos of the 75th anniversary. He urged the children to enjoy Alberta's giant birthday party.

After welcoming the Lieutenant-Governor and the guests, Mr. Robinson introduced the film "The Maple Leaf Forever" which told the story of the writing of the song of that name by Alexander Muir. At the close of the film, students from Mrs. Benbow's and Mrs. Adair's classes sang the entire song, accompanied by Miss Remple, Warner at the piano.

Lieutenant-Governor Lynch-Staunton was called on to introduce himself and to speak to the children.

He said that talking to young children was a new experience for him, but he was happy to be in Tofield as part of Alberta's 75th anniversary celebrations.

In a brief biographical sketch, the Lieutenant-Governor said that he was born in Prince Rupert, B.C. in 1913. He was brought up on his father's farm, where he learned to be a rancher. He attended high school in Calgary, where he was a member of the faculty of engineering. For many years, he has been a rancher. He has two daughters and one son who now manages the family ranch. He has 16 grandchildren.

For the children's benefit, the Governor outlined the duties of his office. He reminded them that our Canada is an independent country and a member of the Commonwealth of Nations. Queen Elizabeth II is the Queen of Canada. He is represented in Alberta by Lieutenant-Governor. As the honored holder of that office, his Honor said he opened the auspices of official occasions, signs Orders-in-Council and appoints to various groups.

Mr. Robinson said that while the Honor is to receive an honorary degree at the University of Alberta, it is his wish that the children of the school should be a part of a special ceremony of C.W. Sears.

Students from Mrs. Benbow's class played "Mountain March" and "Remember the Bells".

Accompanied by Judy Robinson, the entire ensemble sang "Happy Birthday, Alberta" to the giant cake, which with its 75 glowing candles was wheeled to Lieutenant-Governor Lynch-Staunton who made the toast cut, after which the students and adults enjoyed the cake and coffee served by the members of the staff of C.W. Sears.

Holden has graduation

The Beaver Regional Arts Center was the setting for Holden School Graduation Exercises for twenty-five students. Some 300 guests attended the event which was open to the public.

After the singing of O Canada by Diana McLean, accompanied by Laura MacGregor on the piano, Reverend James MacInnes offered the invocation. Privately, the school brought greetings from the school with the theme poem was read by graduate and author, Ronald Wolcott.

A Holden graduate from 1975 was the guest speaker. He was Diane Dryden, a university graduate in Psychology who is teaching at Saint Mary's College and researching at Alberta Hospital. Ms. Dryden gave an interesting message to graduates to graduate that success could come in many endeavors if they worked hard at accomplishing their goals.

Karen Benbow very ably delivered the Valedictory address. Karen was also winner of the ATA award for best matriculation standing presented by Leonard Leung, Holden School President. A runner-up in this category was presented to Diane Warren by Helen Bligh of the Order of Royal Purple.

The highest general award was presented by Catherine

IN MEMORIAM

LAKUSTA, ANNA — In loving memory of our Dear Beloved Sweet Sincerely Gentle Wonderful Loving Angel-Mother, Who entered Home to Heaven, 18 January, 1980, after an earthly life of endless hardships bitter grief despair and disappointment.

You were only a White Little Rosebud The Sweetest Little Flower from birth; God took You Home to Heaven, Because You got old on earth.

You are Glorious! Far Brighter and Fairer! Now free from earthly pain; Our Goddess of Love, Wisdom and Beauty! We shall soon be together again.

For we're always together, Angel-Mother, We are One Life, Light, One Divine Love; And we know You're awaiting us With the Angels in Heaven above.

For You'd never leave us, Sweet Mother, Nor have You travelled far; You just entered God's Beautiful Garden, And left the Gates ajar.

For Somewhere beyond the Sunset, Where Happiness never dies; You dwell in God's Heavenly paradise, Under Glorious Starry Skies.

'Tis sweet to know we'll meet again, Where partings are no more, And that You, Sweet Angel-Mother, Have only gone One Step before.

For truly "Home is where the Heart is", And Ours is forever with You; With You, Sweet Loving Angel-Mother, And we cannot be without You.

As You are so Precious and Dear to Us, Your Love and Memory live on, Just like the Fragrance of a Rose, Still lingers when it's gone.

And nothing can ever take away For You, Our True Love Divine; You are Our Life and Soul, Sweet Mother, God Bless You! and Peace be Thine!

Take Her in Thine Arms, Dear God! And comfort Her Aching Heart; With Our Love and Thine, Dear God, And never let us part!

Forever Loved and Sadly Missed by Your Beloved Children—Peter, Paul, John, Mary, Francis, Katherine and Julia.

Seeding starts

Seeding operations have gotten underway. Although farmers have taken advantage of the warm weather during the past three weeks to work in the fields, it was just what they needed to start.

If the good weather prevails, many could finish their seeding just about the time they would be starting, in several years.

The lack of moisture is still a problem, according to reports received from the Alberta Wheat Pool and a good rain is needed in most areas.

The surface moisture (top five centimeters) ranges from ninety percent in the Tofield region to a low twenty percent around Stettin. Tofield farmers made the biggest advances in the first week of seeding, having sown ten percent of the required rye and five percent of wheat crop.

Eighty percent of the wheat in New Norway has been sown with a start having been made with rye and wheat.

In the Stettin region, farmers report that five percent of both wheat and rye have been sown.

Farmers around Carleton place started on wheat and rye while wheat seeding was started in the Stettin region.

David and Holden farmers did not start seeding last week.

CHIMO-RYLEY HOME IMPROVEMENT

834 is realigned

Tofield Council has chosen the site for the new realignment of portions of secondary road 834 which currently runs down Main St.

According to P-4 secondary road 834 will be realigned from 40 Ave. down 47 St. south where it will meet Highway 14 at right angles.
In making the decision Monday evening Council abandoned the idea of a realignment which it approved last year, but which came under fire earlier this year when it proposed to close several areas in the southeast corner of the Fairgrounds.
P-4 also extended down 47
St. but took a westward curve across the Fairgrounds before meeting Highway 14 at an angle. 360 metres west of Nor-western Utilities.
Alignment P-4 also includes intersections at 51, 55 and 56 Avenues but proposes only desacs for all other streets which currently lead into P-4.
The new alignment will replace that portion of 834 which presently runs west down 40 Ave. south along Main St., west on 51 Ave. before heading south on 51 St.
to Highway 14.
Town engineer John Pod-more, who attended the special meeting Monday said P-4 would probably provide better access to industrial property south of the tracks since it would not create triangles that portions of land that P-4 would leave.

Council will be meeting with Alberta Transportation in the several areas to discuss the operational design of the secondary road realignment.

Activities very considerably

in terms of energy cost.
Moderate activities over an extended period of time are more effective than competitive sports. For example walking works off about five calories per minute, cycling about eight, swimming about 12 and running about twenty.

A brisk walk for 15 minutes each day over three months could burn away more than two pounds of body fat and in a year, more than eight pounds.

Exercise before supper, particularly if vigorous, will usually decrease, rather than increase appetite. Exercising at the end of the day also has the psychological advantage of providing a "break".
With the nice weather upon us, why not get into the swim-mick and shed those extra winter pounds.

The Homemaker Boy is injured in farm mishap

Mervyn Hanson
District Home Economist

Incidents of home accidents have shown that excessive weight gains usually begin in late fall and winter and about never in good weather. Exercise, of course, is the key to weight loss and weight maintenance.
When you're inactive, your appetite, which is normally a positive guide to how much you should eat, doesn't work properly. You end up eating more calories than you burn.

Overweight children spend a lot less time in physical activities than their slimmer friends. Likewise, the heavier children usually eat less, not more. So the answer here is to increase exercise, not decrease food intake. This same principle holds for adults.

THSA seeks advice

By Caroline Martindale

The newly-formed Tofield Home and School Association (THSA) has turned to the Alberta Federation of Home and School Associations (AFHSA) for advice following Tofield School teachers' decision not to support the THSA.

Later in the week the executive will be meeting with Leah MacLeod, area director of the AFHSA to determine what action to take. THSA president Ron Kugelstadt said he is an executive Tuesday.

Kugelstadt stated that without the financial support the association would have difficulty operating.

At a general staff meeting held Tuesday, Tofield School teachers voted unanimously in favor of withholding their support from the association because of a THSA policy which places teachers and parents on separate committees.

Following the staff meeting Tofield School Principal Pollock stated that independent committees would be formed to meet the objectives of a home and school association which he said is to cooperatively work out problems.

However, the majority of 38 people who attended the founding meeting of the THSA last Monday favored separate committees which they agreed would better maintain the confidentiality of students and parents who register complaints.

After a complaint has been investigated by the parent committee, the problem would be presented to the teacher committee, Kugelstadt said.

Kugelstadt said Tuesday that he was confused by statements Pollock made last week in which the principal said that although the teachers would not support the association they were prepared to work with the THSA executive.

How can the teachers work with the executive of an association when they refuse to recognize that association? the THSA president asked.

Kugelstadt also took offense to another statement made by the principal, in which Pollock stated that 75 to 80 per cent of the parents were happy with the present system of relating complaints directly to the teachers or the principal.

If 80 to 85 per cent of the parents are unhappy that is justification for some kind of action, Kugelstadt said.

He added that a home and school association would be established even if only one per cent of the parents were in favor.

Winning design

Tofield School drama instructor Ron Taylor presents Sherry Nelson with a cheque for $75 for her winning design of a sign for the Tofield Foregrounds. The presentation was made during Tofield open house last Wednesday. Greg Schocher won $50 for his second place entry while Robert Meaur took $25 for third place. The contest was sponsored by the Tofield 50th Anniversary Committee.

Powerline opens

Viking has rejoined the Powerline Baseball League. When the organizational meeting was held recently, Viking was represented and ready to play.

The result is that this summer's league will consist of seven teams.

In addition to Viking, the six other teams are: Inland, Tofield, Holden, Ryley, Barco, Round Hill and Camrose.

The Powerline Baseball League Organizers were not represented at the meeting although all teams agreed that the league is organized, they would be willing to meet them in exhibition contests.

The league will have the same executive back to office after a very successful term in 1979.

Ryan Rade has returned to the president's chair while Len Skutumpah is Vice-President and Jack Lemaitre will again be the secretary-treasurer.

The league will open its regular schedule on Tuesday evening on these teams with games planned every Tuesday and Thursday evenings until early in July.

Games on Tuesday will see Barco play in Holden while Tofield travels to Ryley and Camrose will host Round Hill.

One week from today (Thursday), Viking will make its debut by hosting Ryley. Barco will be at home to Camrose and Tofield will travel to Round Hill.

A complete schedule will be printed in next week's paper.

SPRING LAWN CARE
If you're dreaming of maintaining this summer on your own beautiful lawn, it's time now to plan some basic spring lawn care.

"Mow lawns come through the winter in less condition if the yard was not well drained and seeded with a recommended grass mixture," says Jerome MacArthur, turf specialist at Agriculture Canada's Ottawa Research Station.

Mr. MacArthur notes that frost may have heaved some areas this winter and forced grass roots out of the ground. But one of a water-filled root early in the spring can put the plants back into contact with the soil. Filling should be done after the grass has had a good growth. But while the soil is still slightly moist from more rain.

"A good lawn can be maintained by applying a complete fertilizer in the spring and fall," Mr. MacArthur says. "At any one feeding, apply nitrogen at a rate not greater than one-half kilogram per 100 square metres."

A cool spring day is a good time to fertilize a lawn. That is, in a build-up of foliage that, unless removed, can prevent proper growth and harbor insects and diseases. If the slacks get thicker than two centimetres, it may be necessary to rent a self-powered dethatcher from a garden centre or retail nursery.

Aeration is sometimes necessary for lawns on clay soils, which absorb water and driveway, or on heavily used, play areas. A lawn aerator will lift small cores from your lawn, allowing air, water and plant roots to spread more freely through the soil.

If there was a weed problem in the lawn last season, the ideal step to control is to identify the weed. Herbicides are the most effective way to eliminate weeds if used at the right time of year, during proper weather conditions, and the amounts specified by the manufacturer.

Follow package instructions exactly, and keep the chemicals out of the reach of children and pets.

In Canada turf lawns from winter damage are more common than from summer damage. Small lawn areas killed by disease or by winter and early spring conditions should be reseeded or resodded in spring, before weeds invade these bare patches.

Agencies with specific lawn problems should contact a provincial agricultural representative or the science department of a university.

Agriculture Canada has a 24-hour booklet entitled Home Lawns, by Bill Cordeiro. It contains useful tips on making a new lawn, maintenance, disease and weed control, fertilizers and grass seed mixtures. A copy can be obtained by writing to Agriculture Canada, Information Services, Ottawa, K1A 0K7, and asking for publication 188.

Ballooning—a romantic way to travel

By Carolyn Martindale
Hear-ear ballooning is not the latest craze, the most reliable means of transportation, however, a Toifield balloonist claims that it is the most romantic way to travel.

"What it means is, if you get in a romance," says John Bauman, who has been a balloon pilot for six years. He is one of about 100 Canadian balloon pilots who take to the sky in their lighter-than-air crafts each year.

On a winter-bird suspended from a 74-foot hot-air balloon that is 1,000 feet in the ground, the balloonist and up to two passengers can experience a peaceful voyage through the air, as true as the breeze which carries them.

Unobstructed by the winds and doors that are on other aircraft, the view from the balloon is tremendous. The craft is high enough off the ground to be out of the range of power lines and tall buildings, yet not so high as to reduce people and buildings on the ground to mere dots.

Balloon travel is silent except for the burst of flame from the propane burner which pilot activates every few seconds to keep the craft aloft.

The burner, which is also in the uprights above the basket, heats the air within the balloon envelope and the lighter hot air keeps the balloon suspended in the cooler outside air.

"Ballooning is for people who like to fly but who have no particular destination in mind," Bauman says. As it travels at a speed and direction dictated by the wind, a balloon could end up miles from a particular destination.

When the wind current is not of sufficient strength a balloon may simply hover about its point of departure, or may just hours to travel several miles.

Ballooning is also a fair weather sport. High winds, rain or heavy clouds can make balloon flight dangerous.

In addition most ballooning must be done in the early morning or late afternoon when thermal activity which is dangerous for flight is reduced to a minimum.

However, the limited amount of suitable weather does not discourage enthusiastic balloonists like Bauman and his wife Maureen who simply take to the air again once the weather permits.

Governed by the same regulations as pilots of other light aircraft, balloon pilots must have a Balloon Pilot Certificate as their license to fly. Experienced pilots learn to maneuver their craft to the wind currents to travel in the direction they plan to go.

"The trick is to find the current which is blowing closest to the direction desired," the ground. Parachuted eyes turn upward and children about enthusiastic graduates.

"Everybody loves a balloon," he says, obviously enjoying the attention he receives. Occasionally he makes "radio" announcements. "I'm fine, how are you?" as he loses complimentary balloons to the children who stare in awe at the huge balloon.

Bauman enjoys taking people up in the balloon as much as he enjoys flying, and as a result he seldom takes alone.

"The nice thing about ballooning is that you can show people what it's like," he says. Bauman was once a skydiver, says he used to tell people what it was like to be skydiving, but unless the person was willing to take it he was unable to experience skydiving for himself.

The balloon, which has become turned on to ballooning several years ago when while working in radio and television he was treated to a free balloon ride.

Now a co-owner of Edmonton, Bauman also flies part-time as a commercial balloonist. He flies for fun, for money and for charity.

Although a balloonist has some control over where he flies, for safety reasons he often lands in the middle of a wide open area, free of power lines and trees.

The balloon, which weighs about 500 pounds when not inflated would be a pretty bulky load for a balloonist and his two passengers to drag to the nearest road.

The cheaters are also often part of the team who help launch the balloon. Although a balloon can be launched by other people, a team of ten makes the inevitable process much stronger.

Once the basket of the balloon is turned on its side, the current balloonists are at the controls.

When he is ballooning just for fun, he tends to let the wind take its course moving the balloon where it will.

Flying at altitudes between 600 and 1,000 feet, which is common for most balloon flights, his balloon attracts attention from people on the ground. Parachuted eyes turn upward and children about enthusiastic graduates.

ballooning in the U.S. every year when they drifts toward home.

Another danger is sudden updrafts or downdrafts, wind which if they catch a balloon can make the craft rise or fall uncontrollably at up to 1,000 feet per minute, he says.

However, Bauman says his worst experience was when he caught a bad wind while landing his balloon and the craft was blown over 300 yards before stopping.

Bauman takes precautions by contacting the nearest police office, before embarking on any flight, to ensure that bad weather or winds are not forecast.

Balloonists have tradition

A champagne toast is the traditional way to end a balloon flight, and each time the champagne was more for safety than for drink, according to Toifield balloonist John Bauman.

When ballooning first started over 30 years ago, a balloonist who landed in a field was not met by the farmer with a gun who was carrying the craft over his head.

Consequently it became a custom for a pilot to carry a bottle of champagne and to make the toast when he lands.

Although a balloonist still often lands in fields, farmers are a little more receptive to the pilot and passenger these days.

Today the champagne is more often enjoyed over a friendly chat rather than as a toast.

However, out of courtesy, the balloonist usually notifies a farmer when he expects to land in his field.

The toast of "cheers," who are people in a vehicle who monitor the course of the balloon, instead the farmer to receive his permission to drive onto the farmers land to retrieve the balloon.

Although a balloonist has some control over where he flies, for safety reasons he often lands in the middle of a wide open area, free of power lines and trees.

Flying at altitudes between 600 and 1,000 feet, which is common for most balloon flights, his balloon attracts attention from people on the ground. Parachuted eyes turn upward and children about enthusiastic graduates.

"Everybody loves a balloon," he says, obviously enjoying the attention he receives. Occasionally he makes "radio" announcements. "I'm fine, how are you?" as he loses complimentary balloons to the children who stare in awe at the huge balloon.

Bauman enjoys taking people up in the balloon as much as he enjoys flying, and as a result he seldom takes alone.

"The nice thing about ballooning is that you can show people what it's like," he says. Bauman was once a skydiver, says he used to tell people what it was like to be skydiving, but unless the person was willing to take it he was unable to experience skydiving for himself.

County reduces 75th grants

By Carolyn Martindale
The County 75th Anniversary grant money available to all towns and villages has been reduced by $10,000 to $13,000. The County Council agreed to give them at a meeting April 18.

Garbage regulations cause for complaints

By Carolyn Martindale
A Committee of Tofield Council has been asked to come up with a garbage bylaw for the town, after numerous complaints regarding garbage pickup were registered by Tofield residents.

The residents were upset because town employees did not pick up some garbage which was put out for pick up this week.

According to garbage regulations which were advertised in The Mercury last week, all ashes, household waste, garden, restaurant or paper refuse should be bagged and tied, even when garbage cans are being used.

The advertisement stated that 40 gallon drums and cardboard boxes should not be used as garbage receptacles.

Town employees refused to pick up garbage which was not packed according to the regulations.

Although he admitted that council had agreed to enforce the garbage regulations, Councilor Ed Reppe charged that the town employees were abusing the regulations.

"I can't expect people to be subject to the new regulations overnight," said Reppe who criticized Town employees for having drawn too hard on residents by refusing to pick up anything which was not packaged according to the regulations.

Councillor Leslie Weatherill stated that the town collecting the garbage should use a little common sense. Some of the garbage that was left behind was packaged well enough, he said.

However, town administrator Neil Brodie stated that the town was very simply following the regulations approved by council.

While he admitted the laws were overdoing it a little, Brodie stated that they were just fed up with some of the conditions of garbage that was being left for pick up.

According to the administrator, he men who were collecting garbage often get covered with household refuse when cardboard containers break. Leaves or ash which are not bagged and tied simply blow away in the wind when town employees attempt to put them into the truck, he said.

Councillors Warren Watson and Marie Worton have been asked to come up with some recommendations for a garbage bylaw for Tofield.

Council is also planning to meet with town employees, to get their recommendations, as well.

The remaining $20,000 in grant will be distributed according to Council's April 18 decision which sees $10,000 for a project to upgrade playgrounds in the county, $10,000 distributed between 10 rural communities who made applications for grant money before April 8, with $2,000 for Ryeley and $2,000 for Kinsella.

Although he was opposed to giving consideration to the four late applications Councilor Walter Kropfke (Div. 4) eventually made the motion that Council allow each of them $1,000.

He stated during the meeting that he made the motion "with regret" and that he just wanted to forget about it. When there is a cut off to the county shouldn't consider any applications after that date. If Council pays them there will be a lot less late applications, he said.

Following Council's decision to pay the four centres, Div. 1 councillor Rhonda Armstrong suggested the County reduce grants to the towns and villages rather than the $10,000 from the $13,000 total.

The towns and villages are already going to be given a grant from a county project which will use some playgrounds.

party taxes, which account for approximately 75 percent of taxes, accounting for $400,000 of the increase.

Total taxation revenue will rise from $2,000,000 to $2,400,000 in 1990, with the major increase being in salary and employee benefits, as well as higher costs.

Environmental health and development expenditures will increase only marginally from $40,000 to $112,000 this year.

A total of 36 percent less has been budgeted for regional recreation this year with the 1989 figure falling to $80,000 in 1990 from $100,000 last year.

The County also purchased a CPC 800C truck at a cost of $20,000. The bid which was received by CPC Inc. and Benthall of Edmonton was the lowest of eight bidders which ranged as high as $25,000.

Council also outlined the action of the executive committee in purchasing a truck for the County.

The sewer system project will cost an estimated $100,000, with periodic grants expected to make up $25,000 of the total.

The County expects to pay for $25,000 of the project while the remaining $75,000 will be debursed.

According to the deburse program Kinsella residents will be assumed approximately $1.11 per front foot for 30 years.

During the meeting council also discussed the discussion of the County land use bylaw to the next regular meeting.

Programs being currently awarded a report from the county lawyer on the working of the bylaw.

County gives $27,500 for Tofield Fire Hall

The County of Beaver will contribute $27,500 toward the cost of constructing a new fire hall in Tofield. County Council decided last Thursday.

County Council also gave a $77,500 Neighborhood Improvement Program (NIP) grant which was approved for the construction of the facility. The grant, which came from the provincial and federal governments was applied for by a group called Beaver County Rural Population from the Tofield area.

Although Tofield was seeking much more financial assistance from the County, County Councillor Walter Krepinski (Div. 4) stated last Thursday that the comty's contribution was for a fire hall project or possibly build it in stages.

Council also referred to the fire agreement between the county and the town which stated that the county would provide county fire trucks to serve the rural area if the town would house and maintain those trucks.

Council expressed concern that if they contributed more money to Tofield, they would be forced to contribute more money to Ryley, Holden and Viking to upgrade fire equipment housing facilities in those centres as well.

Krepinski was also critical of Tofield Council for using the town's $40,000 NIP grant towards the construction of a new office-library complex. A fire hall should have a higher priority than a new office, he said.

Walt stated at the financial problems Tofield will be facing in constructing the fire hall, Councillor Eugene Benavise suggested Tofield Council could scale down their

834 may change

Tuffield Council may return in Plan p-1 on the route for the realignment of secondary road 834 through Tuffield, following a meeting Monday evening with a consultant for a proposed industrial subdivision.

However, Council is planning to hold another public meeting later this month before making a final decision.

However, at the council meeting Monday evening Gale Nichols of Torchinsky Consultants suggested that plan P-1 would better serve the town with parks.

Nichols is representing Don Rabby who has proposed an industrial subdivision south of the Belvedere Subdivision and another industrial subdivision in the southwest area of Trifield.

In plan P-3 the correction line would be revised to a location further south to allow the large park to be unsevered by roads, the consultant said.

Nichols also added that the new park could be used in conjunction with the Fairgrounds on special days, such as July 1st, by simply closing that section of 824 between Tuffield.

Under plan P-4 the park

P-4 proceeds directly south across the tracks where it meets Highway 14 at right angles.

According to the consultant, under plan P-3 reserve park areas for the Belvedere subdivision and the two industrial subdivisions could be joined together to make an 18-acre park east of the Toifield Fairgrounds.

Nichols was suggesting that the reserve park land from the industrial subdivisions southwest of Toifield could be subtracted from Rabbey's second industrial subdivision which is in the vicinity of the Belvedere Subdivision. He said the park reserves could be better utilized as one big park, rather than having little parks located in each subdivision.

Seek names for Ag. Hall of Fame

Alberta Agriculture Minister, Dallas Schmidt, has announced nominations are again welcomed for the Alberta Agricultural Hall of Fame. Individuals who have made important contributions to the development of agriculture in Alberta, Canada or internationally, and who hold Canadian Citizenship, are eligible for nomination.

"Recipients in the Agricultural Hall of Fame is the highest honor Alberta Agriculture has bestowed on an individual," says Mr. Schmidt.

Nominations will be accepted until June 15. Nominations are available from district extension offices throughout the province and from the Alberta Agricultural Hall of Fame, Extension Division, Alberta Agriculture, 9718-167 Street, Edmonton, Alberta, T6C 2C5.

Those making nominations are asked to include a history of the nominee's life in Alberta. The forms will assist nominators in outlining supporting evidence of an individual's contributions to agriculture.

Service is the basic qualification for inclusion in the Hall of Fame. A life of dedication to the betterment of agriculture has distinguished each person chosen in past years. Professional or voluntary involvement in farming or rural life will be considered by the selection committee if the nominee has made an outstanding contribution to his or her specialty.

The committee will give preference to people personally associated with the practical aspects of agriculture, including farmers and ranchers. Agricultural business people, professional agronomists and rural community workers will also be considered.

Selection of men and women to be named to the Hall of Fame is made by a committee representing farmers and rural wives.

Since its foundation in 1981, the Hall of Fame has honored 46 men and women for their notable contributions to farming, ranching and the quality of life in Alberta. Past recipients are listed in the 1989 Yearbook. Compliments are located at the permanent Alberta Agricultural Hall of Fame display on the main floor of the provincial museum in Edmonton.

Men and women selected in 1989 to the Alberta Agricultural Hall of Fame will be honored at a banquet and ceremony during Agriculture Week in the latter part of October.

Rubella protection is urged

About 4,000 Alberta women getting married or having children this year are not protected against rubella.

They could give birth to a child with Congenital Rubella Syndrome if they contract rubella during pregnancy. Eighty-five percent of adult women who have been exposed to rubella will have developed natural immunity by adulthood.

The test should be requested from the family physician before pregnancy is planned. If the blood test shows that a woman is susceptible (not protected), then vaccination can be arranged through the local health unit or family physician. Vaccines are available without charge through local health units in Alberta.

In Alberta, with parental consent, rubella vaccine is given to all girls in grade six. The program has been in effect since 1979. According to a spokesman from Alberta Social Services and Community Health, 14,623 doses of vaccine were given to Alberta schools in 1979. The majority of these girls will be protected against rubella during their child-bearing years.

Rubella (German Measles) is a mild disease caused by a virus. This disease quite frequently occurs without any noticeable symptoms, but the symptoms may consist of a slight fever, rash and swollen glands. When a woman contracts rubella during the early months of pregnancy, blindness, deafness, heart defects, or mental retardation may occur in the baby. Congenital Rubella Syndrome is the term which describes any or all of these defects the child. This can be prevented through immunization.

Only through community education and an increased emphasis toward immunization of susceptible women in their child-bearing years can Congenital Rubella Syndrome be controlled.

Teachers and THSA will arrange meet

The executive of the Tofield Home and School Association (THSA) and Tofield School teachers are planning to meet to try to iron out their differences. THSA president Don Kaprielian said Tuesday when he was contacted by The Mercury.

Kaprielian said he and Tofield School principal Al Pollock met Tuesday and agreed that the two groups should get together to resolve problems, which centre around a THSA holiday which calls for separate parent and teacher meetings.

On April 28 the majority of 26 people who attended the first THSA meeting voted in favor of having separate parent and teacher committees, to maintain confidentiality of those who register complaints.

However, the following day Tofield School teachers voted to withhold support from the association unless the separate committees lay out was changed. Pollock stated that by having independent committees it would be difficult to cooperatively work out problems. Last week the THSA president approached the Alberta Federation of Home and School Associations (AFHSA) for advice, and area director for that association, Leah MacLennan, has since agreed to act as chairman at the meeting between the THSA executive and the teachers.

The teachers and the executive plan to meet before the next general meeting of the THSA which has been scheduled for May 28.

Behind bars

Dave Dorrell appears to have been locked up. However, the bank manager was actually peering through the bars of one of the doors on the vault of the new bank of Montreal on Friday. The new bank, which is nearly completed, is scheduled to open early in June.

New bank sets opening

The new bank of Montreal in Tofield is tentatively scheduled to open for business on June 1, bank manager Dave Dorrell said Friday.

The new building, which will be complete with new equipment and furniture, has been constructed directly behind the present bank on Main St. The project, which is costing over $200,000, was started in January, and has been constructed by Bunker Construction.

The bank manager says there will be no interruption in bank service since the new building will open the first business day after the old bank is closed.

Bank staff will be abandoning the old building and its furnishings the previous week. Once the staff is settled in the new bank, the present bank will be demolished.

However, until the demolition is complete, customers will have to enter the new bank from the south on 10 Ave. When the old building is removed and a walkway will be built to the bank from the north-west corner of the lot.

A night depository will be the only new service offered at the new building. The new bank will feature 3,000 square feet of space, 1,500 more than the current building. The bank will also feature a higher degree of security, he said. According to Dorrell the new bank is necessary to accommodate future expansion and to replace the present bank which was constructed in the 1960's and which he said is functionally a disaster.

Although the bank staff, which currently numbers 11, will not be increased immediately, the new bank will be able to accommodate 17 employees, Dorrell says. Since the new building is located at the back of the lot the building could be expanded forward in the future if necessary.

Although the bank will open in early June, an official opening will be scheduled later that month, Dorrell said.

Camrose County bid is tabled County school trustees have tabled a request from the County of Camrose which asked that County of Beaver buses not pick up children from within the County of Camrose.

The Board of Education decided at a meeting last Wednesday to refer the request to the June meeting pending further information.

Approximately 15 Camrose county students are currently attending County of Beaver schools, according to school superintendent, Fred Seibolt.

Seibolt stated that the county began transporting the students about five years ago when Camrose school trustees decided to close high schools in Kluge and Howard Hill.

At that time the County of Camrose invited its northerly neighbor to bus the students to County of Beaver schools. However, next term the County of Camrose intends to keep these students in its own schools. They are planning to bus high school students to the Howard Hill area to the Beverly School, and to bus the Kluge area senior students to the Hay Lakes School.

TRUST AGREEMENT During the meeting last Wednesday, school trustees also agreed to sign a tuition agreement with the County of Minnabawa.

The new agreement would allow Minnabawa to charge the county a tuition of approximately $100 for each County of Beaver student who attends a school for the mentally retarded which is operated by Minnabawa.

The two counties have previously had a nil dollar tuition agreement. However, Minnabawa is requesting assistance because the cost of operating the school now exceeds the grant money available for the school.

Beekkeeping: a fascinating hobby

For a woman who defines herself as an amateur hobbyist, Merie Davis has a hobby that has been around since she was a child. Merie has been a beekeeper since she was a child. Merie has been a beekeeper since she was a child. Merie has been a beekeeper since she was a child.

Later when the hive is at full strength of about 40,000 to 60,000 bees, the beekeeper will add boxes of similar frames called honey supers which will be used for storing honey.

The apiculturist extracts the package of wax with sugar syrup to calm them before shaking the bees to the bottom of the cage and removing the head cap of syrup which has nourished them through shipment.

The beekeeper then shakes the bees into the center of the hive through the feed can hold. Once the bees are in the hive the beekeeper removes the queen bee from her separate compartment and allows her to enter the hive.

The beekeeper repeats the procedure for each of his hives. The apiculturist protects the bees against American foulbrood, a common bacterial disease among bees which destroys the honey bee larvae when mixed with icing sugar. When used as a true, that's where they stay," says Merie, who admits she is a bit of a fanatic.

Once the frames have been replaced and the covers returned to the hives, which Merie's work is done until several days later when the bees must be checked to insure the queen bee is laying eggs.

If all is well, the bees are left to their business of getting their hive at full strength.

The beekeeper will be making checks every two weeks to determine when to add extra brood chambers and eventually to begin adding the honey supers. Other than the periodic checks the beekeeper's work is done until July or August when the honey can be removed from the hives.

Although Merie enjoys her bees, she doesn't take any chances with them. Whenever she wears a bee suit, complete with gloves and a checked hat, "I know I'm covered," she admits, but who can blame her, when a total of over 60,000 bees could be swarming about her hives when, at full strength.

Dorming bees

Although bees don't often swarm, they will swarm if a beekeeper doesn't provide them with enough brood chamber or enough honey supers, Merie says. But there are times when bees will swarm for no reason, she says. People who know she is a beekeeper often call her when they are bothered by a swarm of bees. Armed with her bee suit and a smoker, the hobby beekeeper will try to get the bees into a hive.

With the smoker that is equipped with bellows, she sprays smoke at the swarm. The smoke calms them, making it easier for her to get them into the hive. "That's the best I can do," she says, "but I know they'll stay," says Merie, who admits she is a bit of a fanatic.

While she will encourage anyone interested in beekeeping, Merie says that hobby beekeeping is not a profitable venture. It is expensive to set up a beehive, with costs of over $100 per hive, not to mention honey extraction equipment, bees suits, etc. she said.

In her four years as a beekeeper Merie says she has never made a profit. However, she is quick to point out that she also has other hobbies. She's not in it for the money.

Neat Attacks

Merie also admits that beekeeping is not for people with small children. Her son, Davey, who is now 10 years old, has caused her "several heart attacks."

On one occasion the inquisitive youngster was spotted peering under the lids of hives, fascinated by the thousands of busy worker bees. Through some strokes of luck he was rescued by his frantic mother before the bees got to him.

Extracting

For Merie the work part of her hobby is extracting the liquid honey from the frames of the honey supers where bees have sealed it in tiny combs of beeswax.

It takes Merie two days to complete the messy process of extracting which involves decapping the honey combs and spinning the frames in an extractor which draws the honey from the frames using centrifugal force.

Each hive can yield over 100 pounds of honey in a good year. However last year was a bad year for Merie since her 20 hives only produced 70 pounds.

"Like farmers, beekeepers depend on the weather," Merie points out. If there is a lot of rain the bees will produce well.

As I See It

Legislative activity during the past week has centered on a number of issues which have been long-standing concerns in Alberta.

Specific attention has been paid to the question of "ministerial responsibility." Through the House of Commons, the Minister of Social Services and Community Health. Many people who have approached me on the issue have been very upset at the unavailability of services which have been provided in that department, and the Minister's reaction to these problems. These people have insisted that, so in the Official Opposition, we should insist that the Minister be brought to account for his actions.

We have clearly outlined our position that if a Minister does not accept responsibility for his actions in his or her department, then he really is not a Minister. Our action in moving for the resignation of the Minister's salary to one dollar is essentially a demand for his resignation. That is as far as we could go on the issue in the Legislature. It is to be expected that the Minister of Social Services and Community Health will survive, but that does not mean his actions on the issues involved were representative of his responsibility or accountability in the Legislature.

Five hurt in mishap

Five Edmonton people were injured Monday morning when the vehicle they were in went off the road and rolled in the ditch near Shocks on Highway 14.

Seeding is continuing

... more rain is needed

Nearly forty percent of all crops have now been seeded and the need for moisture is rapidly becoming a major concern for farmers.

While rain did fall on Sunday night, the moisture was in different locations and in most instances, was just a small portion of what is needed.

For most regions, Sunday's rainfall was the first of the season.

All of the flax and ninety percent of the wheat has been seeded in the flaxland region.

One-half of the rye and barley has now been seeded along with thirty percent of the barley and fifteen percent of the oats.

Turfed farmers are approaching the one-half way mark with three-quarters of the rye and one-half of the flax.

Forty percent of wheat has been sown and oats seedings have now reached ten percent.

All of the clover and alfalfa seedings have been completed around Horden and farmers have experienced a few nights with frost although no damage resulted.

Wheat and rye seedings have reached forty percent while barley has been twenty percent sown and oats at ten percent.

Horden Hill is one area in which a good rainfall is becoming an absolute necessity with eighty percent of wheat seeding having been completed.

Sixty-five percent of rye seedings have been sown along with ten percent of oats and five percent of barley.

Dayland is another area that is in need of immediate moisture and that area is also experiencing some fine weather in the rye and barley.

Ninety percent of the wheat and one-half of the barley has been seeded along with forty-five percent of rye and ten percent of oats.

Percent of oats has been sown and a start is still to be made with flax.

New Norway area farmers report that eighty percent of the proposed wheat crop has been seeded.

Nearly one-half of rye seedings have been sown along with thirty-five percent of oats and fourteen percent of barley and flax.

Flax seeding is yet to get underway.

Farmers around Camrose have delayed seeding operations because of the moisture lack although operations were expected to resume this week following the weekend rain.

Sixty percent of wheat has been sown. One-quarter of the flax has been planted along with ten percent of oats.

Flax seeding has yet to begin. There is another area in which seeding operations have been delayed due to the lack of rain.

Only thirty-five percent of wheat has been seeded to date.

Six percent of rye seedings have been sown and a start was made to barley. No oats have been seeded to date.

Because of the holiday weekend, reports from Hays Lake and Ryley had not been received by press deadline.

A previous report from Hays Lake had indicated that farmers in that area had seeded over one-half of the wheat crop and had made a good start with barley, rye and oats.

In the Ryley area, over one-half of the rye seedings have been sown and a good start has been made. Other crop seedings had yet to start.

Reports on crop conditions are received each week from the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Calgary Power reported that Sunday's rainfall amounted to only fourteen millimetres (about one-half inch).

10 Reasons to consider the new McKee Round Baler

1. Low density inner core allows bale to breathe and prevents spoilage
2. High density outer skin offers greater weather resistance and helps retain round shape
3. Advanced design - unique tumbling action and fixed-size bale chamber
4. Lower maintenance costs - shorter belt sections are easier and less costly to replace - no expensive tensioning devices
5. Open throat design - full width finger pick-up and wide feed inlet for fast, easy start-up
6. Straight line pick-up - constant volume baling chamber eliminates aggressive zig-zagging up the windrow
7. Uniform bale size - approximately 6' in diameter by 5' wide
8. Hydraulic gauge monitor - indicates when bale has reached maximum size and is ready to be tied
9. Operator controlled tying and ejection - hydraulically operated rear door
10. Crop versatility - ideal machine for baling corn stover, straw, grasses and legumes

Managing our Energy Resources

So we can get more electrical mileage out of a pound of coal.

Electrical energy is not a resource in itself. Today, 80% of the power generated for your electrical needs is coal-fired. That makes coal a very important fuel! To meet Alberta's electrical needs over the next 30 years, more surface coal mines will have to be added to our existing ones. But new coal reserves are not Calgary Power's only concern! We're constantly researching new methods to get more electrical mileage at minimum cost from our present supply of coal.

CALGARY POWER

Two teams undefeated in Powerline League

After two weeks of action, only two teams are undefeated in the Powerline Baseball League while two others are winless.

Camrose has racked up three successive victories to take sole possession of first place while Ryley has won two starts.

Viking and Tofield are the winners in the Viking division with Viking coming up empty in two starts while Tofield has absorbed two straight losses.

This evening (Thursday), Holden is hosting Tofield while Ryley is at home in Viking and Ryley plays in Viking.

On Tuesday evening, Tofield will be hosting Camrose, Ryley is at home to Ryley and Holden plays in Viking.

One week from today (Thursday), Ryley will host Round Hill, Ryley will visit in Holden and Camrose plays in Viking.

The balance of the schedule follows at the end of this news story.

Camrose picked up two more wins during the past week when they outslugged Ryley 14-6 and then whipped Holden 5-2.

Ryley made it two wins in a row when they applied Viking's debut by blanking the league newcomers 5-0.

After losing their first outing, Round Hill rebounded to rack up two straight wins when they doubled Tofield 14-6 and then blanked Viking 5-0.

County tables land-use bylaw

By Carolyn Martinelli
County Council has again tabled its proposed land use bylaw until its June meeting, pending legal advice on one of the definitions in that bylaw.

At a meeting last Thursday, council decided to delay passage of the bylaw to allow the county council time to define "farmhouse" more clearly in the document. Passage of the bylaw has been delayed since March.

According to the bylaw, one farmstead may be subdivided from a quarter section of land providing that the farmstead is a lot more than five acres, except where physical characteristics such as topography, shelter belts, fences, and other features indicate a farmstead.

Formulated in the proposed bylaw is a definition as "a habitable residence or other improved land on a lot of less than five acres, including a house, garage, shed, barn, or other outbuilding, and any other structure used in connection with the operation of a farm."

It is also stated that regular park maintenance might have some effect on the bylaw. "If people find a clean camp site there is a fair chance it will be left clean," Kenedall said.

Important Programs
Council also approved the purchase of $9,000 worth of park equipment from the inventory of articles owned by the now-defunct Regional Recreation Board. The sale of the regional fund has been up for sale since the former governing authority of the board.

In other business, a request for county 75th anniversary funding, by the Salem United Church in the Adams area was turned down by council. Councilors decided they should not contribute anniversary funding to churches.

Open Hearings
The county is also considering expanding the present county office, which has become too small. The present building has approximately 11,000 square feet.

The county is also considering expanding the present county office, which has become too small. The present building has approximately 11,000 square feet.

County Parks
A district superintendent from Alberta Parks has suggested that vandalism in county parks could be reduced if council hired people to live on park sites.

Elvin Kenedall (brother to Steve Kenedall) who is a 7th grade maintenance division of Alberta Parks, made the suggestion who he attended the county meeting last Thursday.

While he admitted the venture could be costly, Kenedall pointed out that vandalism was already costing the county money at the county's two parks, Camp Lake and Huggs Lake. He also stated that the objective of a park is not being met when vandalism is allowed to

Whitewood man killed in a head-on collision

A 37-year-old man was killed and three people were injured in a head-on collision three miles west of Tofield on Highway 14 last Friday. Justice Strindland of Whitewood, Sask., died when the westbound vehicle in which he was a passenger was struck by an eastbound van. Strindland's wife, Ariane remained serious injuries, while her daughter, Verne Pliska of Tofield, suffered minor injuries. The driver of the car, Leroy Pliska was taken to Edmonton Hospital to be treated for glass in his eyes.

The driver of the van, James A. Mitchell and his passenger, Jim R. Macleod, escape alive as the vehicle landed on its roof against a hill which only allowed one door to open eight inches.

Passenger in the vehicle, Dave Purtille, 18, of Spruce Grove and Willy Andrich, 18, of Edmonton escaped without injury and managed to pull Leach to safety.

The car was completely destroyed by fire. In the other camp, John Bradley Robertson, 31, sustained such injuries when the truck he was driving rolled on its roof 11 miles west of Tofield last Wednesday morning.

In another accident last Tuesday, a vehicle driven by Harry L. Rade of Tofield sustained over $800 damage when it went off the road and rolled in the ditch. There were no injuries reported.

Bank opening delayed

The opening of the new Bank of Montreal in Tofield has been delayed until June 18, the bank's manager Dave Dorel said Friday.

The new bank had been scheduled to open on June 1, but unforeseen delays have caused the business opening date to be set over by two weeks, Dorel explained.

With the opening date scheduled later, the official opening ceremonies have also been delayed until early July, the bank manager said.

The new 3,600 square foot bank is located behind the present Bank of Montreal on Main St. and 53 Ave.

In addition to providing over 1,000 more square feet of space the new bank will also have a greater degree of security than the present premises, Dorel said.

The only new service provided at the new bank will be a night depositary.

According to Dorel there will be no interruption in bank service as the old bank will reopen the first business day after the old branch is closed.

Because the new bank is complete with new equipment and furnishings the staff will be able to make the move more quickly.

Once the staff is settled in the new building the old bank structure will be demolished, but until the demolition is completed customers will have to enter the new premises from the south on 53 Ave.

After demolition the old bank site will be landscaped and a sidewalk from the northwest corner of the lot will access the new bank.

Since the new building is located at the back of the lot the bank can be expanded forward in the future.

Although the present staff which numbers 11 will not be increased immediately, the new premises will eventually accommodate 17 employees.

The new bank building was necessary to update the Tofield Bank of Montreal, and replace the old structure which was constructed in the 1960's and "functionally a disaster", Dorel said.

The bank project which cost over $250,000 was started in January and has been constructed by Bolder Construction.

PUBLIC INVITED TO SERVE ON MINISTER'S ADVISORY COMMITTEES

Citizen participation is invited to help shape the direction of adult education through recommendations to the Minister of Alberta Advanced Education and Manpower. The six Minister's Advisory Committees are made up of members of the general public and post-secondary students with expressed interests and concerns in one of the following areas:

STUDENT AFFAIRS COLLEGE AFFAIRS UNIVERSITY AFFAIRS FURTHER EDUCATION
NATIVE PEOPLES EDUCATION
TECHNICAL AND VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

Each committee meets approximately six times during the academic year, visiting various regions of the province to obtain on-site readings of existing projects and fire-hand reports of local views.

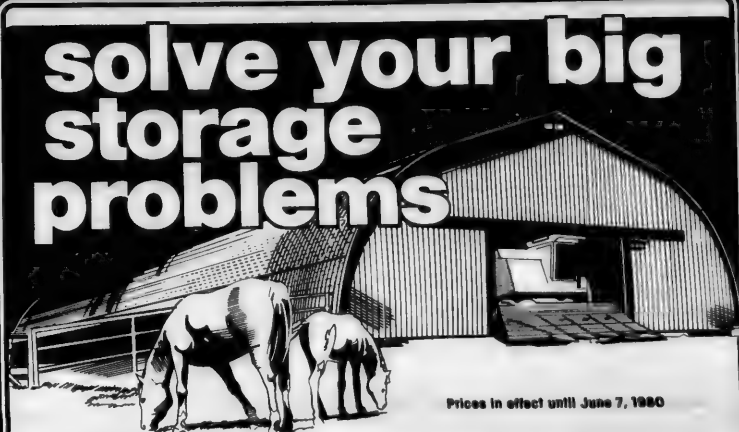

A committee member receives an honorarium and reimbursement for costs of attending meetings.

Bruce and district news

by Ben Fredericks
Joy Kahn and her daughter, Gail, recently arrived home from a trip to Vancouver where they visited Joy's mother and sister and family. They also went to Victoria where they toured the Butchart Gardens and Masson Land.

Winners at the senior citizens' card party on Wednesday evening were Gail and Hank Oshkott. Consolation prizes went to Lillian Tule and Tom Dwyer.

Lorna Koppel recently returned from a trip to White Rock, B.C.

Harold Wiggan accompanied Randy and Jan Matheson to fitness last week to try his luck at fishing. They had better luck at Wabamun where they stopped for awhile on their way home.

Ernie Davis just returned from a trip to Okanagan, B.C. This time he brought home a strange trophy—a small container of volcanic ash, a souvenir of the Mount St. Helens eruption. Evelyn Corlies is the new representative for this community on the Further Education Council. She replaces Ben Fredericks.

Evelyn and Gailie recently attended a luncheon for the

at the Ryley Hotel on Monday and a meeting in the County office in the afternoon. The Bruce Stampers played in Arma on Friday and clinched another victory by a score of 10-12. On Friday, Toileid will be the opposition in Arma.

Brownies and Guides end a full schedule

The last Toileid Grade Camp held its final meeting on May 28.

Special guest was Mrs. Judy Hastings, who will be taking over as Guide, in charge in September.

Meetings will be Monday evenings in the Drama Room of Toileid School.

The Guides, with the help of Mrs. Elaine Purdy, organized and attended a "fly up" for the Brownies on Tuesday at the C.W. Smith School.

Thank you gifts were presented to the Brownies leaders, Mrs. Nancy Soutar and Mrs. Vivian Brown.

The last Toileid Brownie Picnic held a windsup picnic and family swim on Wednesday evening when the girls received their badges and golden belts.

Participants are working on their Wilderness Camp.

They plan to wind up the middle of June with a Canada Day event night.

Fatal accident

A highway accident claimed the life of one man and injured three others three miles west of Toileid Friday afternoon. Justine Strandlund, 67, died when the vehicle in which he was a passenger was struck by a van which was attempting to pass three other vehicles.

Hutchinson is winner in black powder shoot

John Hutchinson of Rocky Mountain House won the high aggregate trophy at the annual Black Powder Shoot held in Tofield on May 17 and 18. Hutchinson took first place in the pistol gang, muzzle-loading rifle, and muzzle-loading pistol categories. He also garnered second in the cartridge and third in the 100 yard muzzle-loading rifle category.

The shoot which was hosted by the Tofield Gun Club saw 48 shooters compete in 30 events over the two-day competition at the Beaverhill Gun Range north of Tofield.

The weather was cooperative but both days of the event, a rarity for the Tofield shoot which over the past 13 years has gained a reputation for having at least one day of rain or high winds or both.

"It's gonna be a desert here this year if even the Tofield shoot can't bring on a rain," one competitor commented.

Because of the dry weather and the heat on open fires the traditional Saturday night campfire was cancelled this year.

Winners in each of the events are as follows:

Saturday events
Pistol Gang—John Hase, Fort McMurray

Squirrel Barking—John Hutchinson, Rocky Mountain House

Gopher Shoot—Rae Cameron, Edmonton

As I See It

by D.R. Wall Buck, M.L.A.

Cover letter

During the past week in the Legislature, we discussed an important matter which is directly to the hantion of the Members of the Legislature and their responsibility to the people of Alberta.

Last Thursday evening, we met in a special session to discuss the provisions of the legislation, which looks after the interests of Albertans in energy competition, but certainly the M.L.A.s, as representatives of the people of Alberta, must make those decisions in the public forum of the Legislature. Such decisions must not be left only to the Cabinet!

I would be pleased to receive your comments on this or any other matter. Please contact my office in Edmonton by writing to Room 361, Legislative Building or by phoning 427-2221.

The Premier concurred during

debate, that the first time the provisions of the legislation were used, the matter would be brought before the Legislature. I appreciate that commitment, but we in the Official Opposition are agreed that the Legislature would always make those decisions, and that must be contained in the bill before it is passed.

There is no opposition to the provisions of the legislation, which looks after the interests of Albertans in energy competition, but certainly the M.L.A.s, as representatives of the people of Alberta, must make those decisions in the public forum of the Legislature. There is no opposition to the provisions of the legislation, which looks after the interests of Albertans in energy competition, but certainly the M.L.A.s, as representatives of the people of Alberta, must make those decisions in the public forum of the Legislature. Such decisions must not be left only to the Cabinet!

I would be pleased to receive your comments on this or any other matter. Please contact my office in Edmonton by writing to Room 361, Legislative Building or by phoning 427-2221.

The Premier concurred during

debate, that the first time the provisions of the legislation were used, the matter would be brought before the Legislature. I appreciate that commitment, but we in the Official Opposition are agreed that the Legislature would always make those decisions, and that must be contained in the bill before it is passed.

Want value... survey shows

Free Canadians are angry or resentful at the amount of income tax they pay, even though most feel they pay too much. They are more critical of the value received from government spending.

These findings are from a nationwide survey conducted for the Income Tax Preparation Service by H & R Block, and presented to the Minister of National Revenue, William Humphrey, last week. The survey was conducted by more than 1,000 sales representatives in 1,000 communities across the country. The survey was performed by Canadian Facts and validated by Statistics Canada.

The lack of strong resentment leads the report to conclude that Canada is not likely to experience a "tax revolt" as occurred in the U.S. in 1975. The fact that Canadians give the lowest of inflation, government spending, and energy the highest priorities for immediate action "is not a surprise."

"But when the tax issue such as 'lowering tax' are given a lower level of importance than government efficiency or lowering the federal deficit, the indication is that the tax system in Canada has at least begun to improve."

Respondents to the H & R Block survey from Canada as at all income levels indicate that half of them use the come tax system as a fairer form of taxation than sales tax and property tax. "There is, however, little evidence that the respondents to the survey are the total impact on their own finances. Those in the lowest income category, who would presumably benefit most from income tax, are least likely to regard income tax as the fairest system." Property tax is considered the least fair form of taxation and is most disliked by older people and those with high incomes.

Apart from their feelings about the relative fairness of methods of taxation, Canadians in different regions demonstrated striking differences of attitude towards the amount of tax collected from them. Significantly more people in the Atlantic Provinces and Quebec believe the total tax paid is too high than do their counterparts in British Columbia and the Prairie Provinces.

The interviews, conducted during November and early December 1979, also revealed that Progressive Conservative Party supporters were more likely to feel that the tax burden was "about right" than those who were more prominent in the West than the East.

When asked about the value people get for their taxes, more than half of the respondents said they believed Canadians get poor value than they think the value received is good, says the report. Residents of Quebec were

Beginning farmers get loan assistance

Alberta's minister of agriculture, the Honorable Dallas Schmidt, has announced the details of a new program to assist beginning farmers in Alberta.

"The future of agriculture in Alberta relies on the recruitment of young farmers into the industry," the minister said in an address to the Legislative Assembly. "In recognition of the difficulties facing farmers, such as rising land values and escalating interest rates, a modified beginning farmer loan program will be introduced by this government."

The new program stems from a review of the Alberta Agriculture Development Corporation (ADC) Commencing April 1, 1980, the ADC will be the last resort lending provision for the beginning farmer loan program. In addition, the program will be modified to consider the approach to an individual, the financial status of the parent or guardian will no longer be considered in the application. The main criteria of the new program are as follows:

• One-to-a-lifetime loan to establish a viable farm package.

• Maximum loan amount of $200,000 and a maximum build of $100,000 on the loan plus interest.

• A preferred interest rate of 12 percent for the term of the loan with a six percent earned interest rebate for the first five years.

• Adequate experience and repayment ability on the part of the applicant.

Funding for the program will be provided by the Alberta Investment Division of the Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund. It is anticipated that the new program will provide upwards of $75 million in low-interest loans to young farmers.

In addition to the new beginning farmer program, modifications have been made to the ADC's Direct Loan Program.

These programs are designed to provide financing on a preferred interest rate to a preferred interest rate in the individual's currently engaged in farming.

The Corporation will continue as a lender of last resort in an effort to develop and maintain viable farm units.

The Direct Loan Program will provide assistance to primary producers with long term loans at a preferred interest rate of 12 percent with annual interest rebate of three percent for a five-year period.

To those farmers who do not qualify for direct loans, an expanded Direct Farm Package will provide special assistance at a preferred interest rate of 12 percent.

The minister mentioned the program as follows: "Beginning farmers will have the availability of six percent (6%) money for a period of five years to allow these individuals to get their feet firmly planted."

Direct financing will be available to the establishment farmer at nine percent (9%) for five years, while for others there will be the availability of loans at the preferred interest rate of 12 percent.

As I See It

By Dr. Walli Burt,
M.L.A.

The spring session of the Legislature closed last Thursday evening. I feel that the four members of the Official Opposition can take some pride in the fact that we provided some viable positive alternatives to government policy and pointed out some of the areas in present government positions.

Perhaps the loudest cry to be heard in the session would be for more alternatives put forward by the Official Opposition. We opened a campaign which was supported by some of the Opposition members to establish a Northern Alberta Children's Hospital in a meaningful and lasting 760 Anniversary project: a Debt Reduction Program for the Government of Alberta; a Mortgage Protection Act of 1979; mortgage funds on the short term for those renewing mortgages on homes or approved rental properties; reintroduction of landmark Environmental Protection Legislation—the only one in Canada; the reintroduction of a Freedom of Information Act, supported by at least one Government M.L.A.; introduction of relevant alternative action; introduction of expanded provincial policing to provide needed services especially in rural Alberta; alternate policy on Rural Health Care and Ambulance Services in Alberta; and the most comprehensive Day Care policy ever released by any political party in Alberta.

There are some of the "highlights" which I believe were a positive session. We also played a traditional role as watchdogs of the Government. We were able to highlight some of the ministerial accountability in the department of Social Services, Community Health, Agriculture and the problems encountered by the Alberta Research Council.

We also were responsible to the people of Alberta for focusing attention on the issues of Political Personnel and an ever increasing problem of "Rule by Executive Order."

A disturbing tendency has been to use the word "Executive Order" to describe a decision made by the Premier which could well become a focus for the Opposition. A number of individuals have indicated interest in this area, and we must be vigilant in this regard.

nearly done

Threatening weather didn't prevent seeding operations from continuing last week as farmers now have sown about 66 percent of all crops.

While the weather has varied from district to district, much needed seed is in the ground and is needed in order for pasture to come back and for hay crops to grow.

About one-third of the area of rain fell on an average in the area, ranging from a half of nearly two inches in the Hay Lakes, Rosedale, Bawlf and New Horway regions to about one inch around Camrose and Ryley.

Ninety-eight percent of wheat has been sown to date, along with ninety percent of flax. Just over eighty percent of oats and barley and under fifty percent of rapeseed.

Pastures have damaged rapeseed crop to the extent that rapeseed has taken place in Holden, Bawlf, Ryley and Tofield areas.

Seeding of wheat and flax has been completed in the Holden region along with wheat to percent of barley and 80 percent of rapeseed and oats. About one and one-half inches of rain fell during May.

All of the wheat has been sown around Bawlf. Nearly all of the flax has been sown along with over eighty percent of rapeseed and barley.

Seeding of wheat has been completed around Dayland along with ninety percent of oats and barley and eighty percent of rapeseed.

In the New Horway region, wheat and flax seeding has been completed. Only one percent of oats is yet to be sown with rapeseed and barley standing at eighty and seventy percent completed.

Wheat and flax seeding is done around Rosedale, Bawlf and Rosedale. 80 percent of rapeseed is sown and oats have reached seventy percent.

Farmers in the Ryley region report that all wheat has been sown. Ninety percent of rapeseed is planted along with eighty percent of barley and oats.

Fertilize grass for forage

by Ken L. Lopatinsky Forage and Special Crop Specialist
Alberta Agriculture,
Barrhead

Responses to the fertilization of grasses for pasture and hay are highest when adequate soil moisture is present, good weed control is practiced and the supply of nutrients (especially nitrogen) is in the correct balance. Soil test, soil and plant analysis, and interval, is the best way of achieving a correct nutrient balance.

Unlike legumes, grasses require a relatively high level of nitrogen fertilizer to ensure proper yields. However, fertility programs can vary dramatically between species, maturity, age, vigor, intended use and expected yield of forage stands are taken into consideration.

Although the use of fertilizers on grasses in the brown soil zone is not generally recommended because of limited moisture, some response may occur on relatively pure stands in a favorable year.

For other parts of the province, to annual amount of nitrogen that is generally recommended varies from 40 to 100 lb. per acre. Under irrigation conditions the recommended rate may be as high as 150 lb. per acre.

A late fall or early spring application usually gives the most response when a moderate rate of nitrogen is used. However, in the case of 50-100 lb. of nitrogen per acre in the early spring followed by 50 lb. in mid-June, an adequate level of nitrogen should result, especially for intensive pasture production under irrigation.

On the other hand, when high rates of nitrogen are used in areas of lower than normal rainfall, much as the dark brown soil zone, residual field responses may occur over two or three years especially if the soil is dry and production was low during the year of application.

For annual phosphorus fertilization, the general recommendation for the province is 15-40 lb. of phosphate per acre with the lower rate being recommended for the drier areas.

Sulphur fertilization of grasses is usually recommended only on grasslands where rates of up to 10 lb. may be required. However, sulphur deficiencies can occur on fields fertilized with high rates of nitrogen.

There is little evidence to date to support general potassium fertilization of grasses. Individual soil tests, especially on peat soils, may show a need for a small amount (up to 10 lb. of potassium).

When assessing the fertilizer requirements of grass and legume mixtures, the amount of legume in the stand determines the amount of nitrogen and phosphorus required. Mixed stands containing less than 20 percent of legumes can be treated in a similar way to pure grass stands. However, when the percentage of legumes reaches the 20-40 percent range, care must be taken to adjust the nitrogen requirements downwards from the amount that would normally be applied to a grass stand. Similarly, if the percentage of legumes in the stand is in the 20-40 percent range, a higher rate of phosphate must be applied than that normally used on a grass stand to ensure a good legume yield and hardness. When the percentage of legumes accounts for more than 60 percent of the mixture, it should be treated in the same way as a pure legume stand. This means applying a higher level of phosphorus and a lower level of nitrogen.

Poem of prophecy

Written in England over 300 years ago a poem which has become known as "Mother Shipton's Prophecy" forecasts changes and upheavals in the world which have occurred during the past hundred years.

Regarding a horse which Mother Shipton proclaimed herself with the gift of prophecy.

Among his outstanding forecasts she wrote "a carriage without a horse shall go" decades before the first automobile was built.

And during a time when women wore their hair long, and wore only dresses, Shipton wrote "And in those wondrous far off days the women shall adorn a crane to drive the men and trappers wear and cut off all their locks of hair."

The reader will be astonished by other forecasts from the poem that have come true.

MOTHER SHIPTON'S FOREM

A carriage without a horse shall go, Dresses till the world with In London Prisoner Hill shall be;
In courts hold a Bishop's throne

Around the world men's thoughts shall fly
Quick as the twinkling of an eye.
And men shall shall great wonders do
How strange, and yet it shall come true;

They low hills proud men shall ride
To horse or sea move by his side.
Beneath the water men shall walk;
And ride, shall sleep, shall even talk;

And to the air men shall be seen,
In white, in black, as well as green.
A great man then shall come and go
For prophecy declares it so.

The water iron then shall flow,
As easy as a wooden loaf;
Gold shall be found in steam or smelt,
And England be a land of wheat;

Water and fire shall wonders do,
And England be a land of wheat;
The Jew that once was held in scorn
A home of glass shall come to pass

In England be a land of wheat;
A war shall follow with the work
Where dwell the pagan and the Turk
The states will lock in ferocious strife;

And seek to kill each other's life;
When north shall thus divide the south
The eagle build in tower's mouth;
Then fax and blood and cruel war
Shall come to every humble door;

Three times shall lovely, many France,
Be led to play a bloody dance.
Before the people shall be free,
Three tyrant rulers shall she see;

Three rulers, in succession, be
Each sprung from different dynasty;
Then, when the fiercest fight is done,
England and France shall be one;

The British olive then shall be seen
In marriage with the German vine;
Men walk beneath and over streams;
All England's sons shall plow the land

Shall be seen with book in hand;
The poor shall now read wisdom know,
And water, wind, when doth grow,
Great houses stand with far flung tale;

All covered o'er with snow and hail,
And now a word in uncouth rhyme
Of what shall be in future time;
For, in those wondrous far off days,
The women shall adopt a crane

To dress like men and trousers wear,
And cut off all their locks of hair.
They'll ride astride with brass brow
As witches do on broomsticks now;

Then love shall die and marriage cease
And nations waste as babes decrease,
And wives shall fettle cats and dogs
And men live much the same as dogs;

In nineteen hundred thirty-six,
Build houses light with wind and steam,
For then shall mighty wars be plucked,
And fire and sword shall sweep the land;

But those who live the century through
In fear and trembling this shall do.
Fly to the mountains and the dens,
To bog and forest and wild fens;

For storms shall rage and oceans roar
When Gabriel stands on sea and shore;
And as he blows his wondrous horn
Old worlds shall die and new be born.

Tofield taxes rise slightly

By Caroline MacIntyre
The mill rate for the Town of Toluca has risen by 1.5 cents annually since 1970. The $1,580,000 paid by property owners to Tuolumne County is levied by Tuolumne County on Mendocino County property. The mill rate in 1970 will mean a 13.5 increase in taxes for every $100,000 assessed residential property.

However, despite the increase in taxes, the town's income stands lower than the 1970 rate which was set at 46 mills. The town's income is estimated to be about $1 million from the prevailing government, last year. Tuolumne was able to lower the mill rate by one cent in 1970.

The mill rate for property owners that residential has risen by more than 11 per cent since 1970. The mill rate in 1970 is 10.75 to 1980.

Bratrud is winner during 4-H contest

Eighteen-year-old Dale Stried of Ryley captured the Grand Champion award for his 146-pound Hutter during the 1948-49 season at the Ryley-Holden 4-6 Achievement Day at the Holden Complex last Wednesday.

Stried, the grand champion sold for $1883. Stried, who is a 16-year-old of 6-3, also captured first prize in the steer category of the Ryley 4-6 club competition.

Stried's classmates in the interclub competition were 18-year-old Tracy

In the steer class he secured the distinction of grooming and the judging award.

Stried placed first in the Steer Class while Brian Hollickson captured the award for the rate of gain.

In the competition it was Holden taking first with Ryley at second.

The information judge of the Ryley-Holden 4-6 was Gordon Henderson of Furbersting, with Bill Mannes of Vermilion serving as timekeeper and grooming judge.

Tofield could lose grant

By Carolyn Marchand
and
The Tualhuti Council and the County of Beaver can begin to pay for the financing of the proposed new fire hall, a $1,000,000 project, when the county is notified that the facility may be built.

The grant is sponsored by the provincial and federal governments under a Community Development Program (NIP). However, if the town and county don't agree to the terms of the grant, the grant may be withdrawn.

County Council has agreed to contribute 20 per cent of the new hall, while the town will make the rest. Council thinks the money will be needed soon. The facility is expected to cost over $1,000,000.

Agreement is to be signed with the $750,000 NIP

grant, being the county's contribution in $100,000 to the fire hall.

County Councilman contains that the NIP grant which was applied for on a per capita basis, is not available to the population in the Tualhuti area, is County.

County Councilman and the County jointly made application for a NIP grant of $750,000. Only $750,000 was approved.

Although Tualhuti Council has agreed to contribute 20 per cent of the construction cost of the fire hall by turning over the land to the county in a block building, the town is not prepared to pay the balance.

Tualhuti Council argues that in the application for the NIP grant, the town and county agreed to split the remaining cost of the fire hall.

Agreement is to be signed with the $750,000 NIP

grant, being the county's contribution over $100,000 more.

However, the county has not yet been prepared to pay the balance of the grant.

They are concerned that if the town and county don't agree to the terms of the grant, the grant may be withdrawn. They are concerned that the town and county will not be forced to pay more money to build the fire hall. They are concerned that the town and county will not be forced to pay more money to build the fire hall.

Tualhuti Volunteer Fireman and the County of Beaver are concerned that the town and county will not be forced to pay more money to build the fire hall.

They agree that there are more fire in the area, and the town and county are not prepared to pay the balance of the grant.

The matter is expected to surface at the meeting Council meeting today (Thursday).

The town and county are concerned that the town and county will not be forced to pay more money to build
the fire hall.

Crop seeding done

Seeding of the 1980 crop should be completed this week, according to reports received from the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Delayed area farmers are the first to have completed seeding operations with all crops planted. Conditions in that area are described as good with just a slight bit of damage to the rapeseed crop caused by this heading.

Well over ninety percent of all crops had been sown near the end of last week with wheat leading the way with just three percent to go. Barley and flax seeding was ninety-two percent completed, oats was ninety percent sown and eighty-six percent of rapeseed was planted.

Wheat and flax seeding had been completed earlier in the Redwood area. Rapeseed has only five percent to go and ninety percent of both oats and barley had been sown.

Flaxes was another area in which wheat and flax seeding had been completed earlier. Seeding of all other crops was done at ninety percent completed.

All of the wheat and only two percent of rapeseed is still to be sown around Telford. Six percent of barley and fifteen percent of oats is yet to be seeded.

Both Telford and Holden report some flax beetle damage to rapeseed. AGR-1000, although there was some loss, Holden reported that it did not cause any damage.

Wheat seeding around Telford has been completed. Only five percent of barley and oats, along with fifteen percent of rapeseed is still to be sown.

Canine area farmers have seeded all wheat fields. Ninety percent of oats, barley and rapeseed has been completed along with three-quarters of flax although some rapeseed will have to be reseeded because of poor germination. Over eighty percent of wheat, oats and barley has been sown in the Hay Lakes region although rapeseed seeding has just passed the forty percent mark.

Reports from Ryk and New Norway were not received by press time. Earlier reports indicate that both areas should now be in the final stages of seeding.

For the second week in a row, a report was not received from Hound Hill, but that area should also be near completion.

NEW PONY MAJESTY LICENSED
Agriculture Canada has licensed a new high-yielding, six-cow variety of food grade milk.
The new variety, Johnston, was developed at Agriculture Canada's Brandon, Man. Research station. It is the eleventh dairy variety developed at the station in the past 60 years.
Feeding shows Johnston to be superior in yield to all dairy varieties now grown in the Prairie Provinces. It is particularly well adapted to central Alberta where it outyields Bonanza and Knapdale by 14 and 12 per cent.
Johnston is resistant to stem rust as well as scab. It has superior field tolerance for leaf diseases compared to major varieties now grown in western Canada. It is similar to Knapdale in resistance to root rot.
Johnston is three to four days later than Knapdale in maturity and is weaker in straw strength. It is intermediate between Knapdale and Bonanza in height and similar to them in test weight and feed size.
The new variety was named after Dr. W.J. Johnston who was a barley breeder at Brandon from 1886 to 1917.
It will be distributed by SeCan and limited quantities of experimental seed should be available in 1981.
WESTERN ENCAPSULATION
If you intend to vaccinate your horse against western encephalitis, now is the time to do it. If you had your horse vaccinated last year, it is time to give him his annual booster.
The director of Alberta Agriculture's veterinary services division, Dr. R.N. Vance, is in favor of vaccinating horses against western encephalitis. "It is far better," he says, "to vaccinate than to wait until horses start getting sick to mid-monsoon because there is still no real effective treatment against this disease."
There are a few cases of western encephalitis around almost every year with widespread outbreaks occurring in about one of every 10 years, according to Dr. Vance.
Western encephalitis is a virus disease that is spread by mosquitoes from wild birds to both humans and people. In people the disease is called sleeping sickness. Dr. Vance says prevalence in any one year depends upon how plentiful the infection is in birds, the size of the mosquito population and a number of other factors.
He advises all horse owners to check with their veterinarians regarding vaccinations and booster shots.
Horse owners are reminded that if you intend to vaccinate your horse against western encephalitis, now is the time to do it.

Tofield School teachers and members of the Tofield Home and School Association (THSA) are blaming each other for the outcome of a meeting Monday evening.

At the meeting, the THSA defeated a motion that would have allowed teachers to be present to all on a joint committee within the association.

Passage of the motion was necessary to gain the support of the teachers who oppose the separate parent and teacher committees which the THSA approved in a bylaw at its first meeting on April 18.

However, the THSA turned down the joint committee motion when only one teacher attended the general meeting at the Tofield school.

Members of the THSA maintained that since the teachers were not even interested enough to attend, the THSA could not be expected to consider their consultation to accommodate them.

The THSA argues that since the motion was defeated, the THSA executive has proved that they were not sincere in trying to involve teachers in the association.

In May, the THSA executive members met with five Tofield teachers in what was the last meeting of the THSA executive.

The teachers have stated that they would not support the THSA until a joint committee is established.

Unless that motion is passed, the teachers are not obliged to attend THSA meetings, said Tofield teacher, Brian Jolley.

"We weren't involved in drawing up the constitution, so we should be involved in amending it," commented Tofield School Principal, Al Pollock Tuesday.

At that same meeting the THSA also defeated a motion which would have dissolved the association. The motion called for establishing a parent action committee.

However, the membership agreed to remove a home and school association in the case could be open to teachers in the future.

"If we adopt the motion for the parent action committee, my only concern is that we will be confused and not have teacher participation," said THSA vice-president Linda Haisle who spoke against the motion.

Some members feared that a parent action committee would be viewed as a parent taking over the school. While the teachers will not be involved in the action committee, the THSA will continue to work with the association.

Some members regarding the school association policy, which is a major concern, which is already being circulated among Tofield school parents, Pollock said.

County saves money by reducing mileage

The County of Beaver has agreed to have a request from the County of Camrose to Tofield, which is a community where many of their lawbreakers settled. The lawbreakers group visited Edmonton on Tuesday and Camrose on Wednesday.

Blakely's winning throw of 40.75 metres set the first place in the junior boys' division.

However, the 16-year-old said Monday that he had performed better at the meet track and field meet when he threw the disc 24.66 metres, a throw that gave him the second place finish in that division.

Blakely was one of three County of Beaver athletes who competed in the provincial championships.

David Chalk of Ryer completed in the boys' 600 m relay team, while Darrel Penick of Hinton completed in the boys' 1800 metres event.

Prior to passing the law, the County of Beaver had been operating on a 1000 kilometre limit on the number of kilometres a driver could drive in a year.

During the meeting, trustees also agreed to continue the bus drivers' association to Tofield which three bus drivers would be put on the bus in connection with the elimination of three routes.

The school board had originally planned to lay off the three drivers whose routes are being discontinued.

However, Ryer Trustee Dave Wille stated that these three drivers may have more seniority than other drivers. Wille recommended the school board's association be consulted.

Doug Blakey of Tofield won the discus event at the provincial high school track and field championships in Edmonton on Saturday.

County okays land use bylaw location of farmstead buildings, all farmsteads and the farmstead succession a larger parcel size.

However, the bylaw will not be a "habitable residence or other improvement, including production of crops, livestock or poultry and situated on a subdivided quarter section used in connection with farming operations."

However, Council was concerned that this definition was too wide-open in that it would allow land with an old building on it to be declared a farmstead.

The purpose of the land use bylaw which is being developed is to control, regulate and limit the use and development of land and buildings.

It is intended that the bylaw will be amended to reflect any changes which may be made in the future.

Petersons celebrate 40th

Nearly 250 friends and relatives gathered at the Klugean Hall recently to honor Martin and Jeanette Peterson and help them celebrate 40 years of marriage.

The head table was centered by an anniversary cake and also featured three lovely bouquets, candles decorated with the 40th anniversary theme and pictures of Martin and Jeanette's wedding and 30th anniversary celebration. The

Deficit anticipated for Seniors' Games

Hosting the 1980 Alberta Senior Citizens Summer Games could cost the City of Canmore a small sum of money.

Representatives of the Canmore Games Society attended Monday's meeting of city council and told aldermen they were anticipating a deficit of $1,817.

Proposed expenditures are expected to amount to $97,186 while revenue from sales (sponsors, etc.) should amount to $12,169 and $79,000 will be received from the city.

Bill Fowler, spokesman for the society, told aldermen that Coca Cola had agreed to do quite a bit of advertising for the games and would be providing hospitality during the games, adding that Molson was providing free gas for the society's truck (one and during the games).

Mayer Swanson (and aldermen) complained society members on a realistic budget and gave assurance that the society could turn to the city for assistance if their finances came up short.

Aldermen approved a bylaw resolution which will permit the Canmore Games Society to construct a two-store site on the site of the present structure (41 Avenue, next door to RCMP Detachment) and replace it with a gas bar.

However, a number of aldermen wanted to see exact drawings before approving any new development and a motion to approve was lost.

Mr. Oveland introduced Martin, Jeanette, their three sons, Robert, Raymond and Vernon.

Other family members introduced were Mrs. Anna Peterson, mother of the groom; Irene and Mary Peterson, brother of the groom from Chetwynd, B.C.; and Barry's granddaughter, Jeanne Peterson.

Martin and Jeanette were united in marriage on May 20, 1940.

They lived in New Westminster, B.C. for the first five years of their married life and in 1946, they moved to their present residence, which is the farm on which Jeanette was born and raised.

Rapeseed is poor

The outlook for rapeseed crops in this area is anything but bright, according to farmers and reports received from the Alberta Wheat Pool. Poor germination due to a lack of moisture put the crop off to a bad start and, then, the rains were left for just as the crop came out of the ground.

Since then, crop handlers have counted considerable damage as farmers have had to spend considerable time reseedling.

While most other crops are considered to be in a normal condition (for this time of year), rapeseed is down as low as seventy percent in some areas, with the average condition being around 50 percent.

In the Tofield area, damage to rapeseed from Tofield handlers is estimated at about twenty percent and in other areas it ranges from two to ten per cent.

All crops in the Hov Hovsey region are considered normal, except rapeseed which is about ten percent below normal.

The same situation applies to the area around Camrose with the addition of flax being considered about five percent below normal.

Flax is about five percent below normal conditions in Hov Hovsey. Oats and barley are about ten percent below normal.

Dayland was the only area in which all crops were said to be in a normal condition.

With reported thirty percent below a normal condition, Tofield area farmers report that other crops are ten percent below normal levels.

In the Hov Hovsey region, farmers report that seeding of wheat, oats and barley has been completed with only two per cent of the intended reported acreage still to be sown.

Parcours in the Hov Hovsey region have completed seeding of wheat and reported and have been five per cent of oats and barley still to be sown.

Rapeseed was not received, by producers, from other areas.

Young Albertan sought for Citizenship awards

Each year about a dozen young Albertans are named by Junior Citizens Awards for their efforts to help others in acts of personal danger or sacrifice. Presentations are made by the Lieutenant-Governor of the province at a special luncheon during the annual convention of the Alberta Youth Newspapers Association.

The program has been sponsored for the past 19 years by the Calgary Power Limited and Alberta Power Limited in cooperation with a Y.N.A. nomination board.

Young people are not easy to find because maturity can be one of the main ingredients of good citizenship. They don't least about a "heroic incident" or complaint about the personal sacrifices they must make to help the lives of their families or others during difficult times.

It's only through the interest of friends or neighbors who take the time and trouble to search for such awards—people who believe that the young law-breaker, the delinquent or the vandal get all the public attention while good deeds and self-sacrifice go unrecognized.

There are hundreds of deserving young folks throughout Alberta. Every day someone has an idea or it's easy to nominate a young person for a Junior Citizen Award. Just tell the editor of this newspaper giving the name and an address so possible of the achievement of the young person.

Your nomination will be forwarded to the Junior Citizens Awards Committee. Do it now! It may bring recognition to the person who has been overlooked for an act of courage or good citizenship in a young Albertan you respect.

Funeral services were held June 14 at the St. James' Church in Kamloops by Rev. L.D. Hoffman officiating and Rev. H. Hansen assisting. Mrs. Bernice was the organist. Interment was held in the Kamloops Cemetery and pallbearers were Lester Christensen, Larry Oystedal and Fred Oystedal.

Life is survived by his two sons, Vaughn and Jeff; two daughters, Robin and Mary, three brothers and five sisters.

June 8 visiting visitors at Joe Knack's were Janice, Duff and Margie Bellin, Mrs. Karv and Jerald O'Donnell and Mrs. Alan Cherry of Edmonton and Mrs. Doreen and Richard Barn of Tofield.

Holden sport grounds upgrading is planned

By Carolyn Martindale
Eight percent of Holden's $17,800 Alberta 75th Anniversary money will be used to upgrade the village sports grounds, according to recommendations from the local 75th Anniversary Committee which were approved by Council last Wednesday.

A total of $1,800 will be used to upgrade the grounds with a portion of that money being used to relocate camp site facilities and to relocate at least one baseball diamond to provide for the Holden senior citizens' lodge, which is to be constructed on the southeast corner of the sports grounds.

A trailer dumping station, toilets, water access and power hookups will also be installed as part of the sports ground renovation program.

The balance of the $1,800 amount designated for the sports ground will be used to upgrade the playground and for general beautification of the grounds.

The village has also agreed to use $2,000 of the anniversary funds to help pay for the construction to commemorate Alberta's 75th birthday.

The remaining $1,800 has been earmarked for assisting the Central Beaver school construction cost of an asphalt pad for the Holden School.

A total of $74 million was dispersed throughout the province, by the 75th Anniversary Commission.

The pad will be used for various sports such as tennis and in winter, may be needed to provide an outdoor skating rink.

The county is planning to construct two more pads at each of the county schools as one of its 75th anniversary projects.

The recommendation for the development of the village sports grounds was presented to Council by the Local Recreation Board, who have been acting as the village's 75th anniversary committee.

Earlier this year, Council approved the Local Recreation Board to make recommendations regarding opening of the funds.

Of the $17,800, a total of $7,000 came directly to Holden from the Provincial 75th Anniversary Commission while the remaining $10,800 was given to Holden from County of Beaver 75th anniversary funds.

Grants of $20 per capita were given to Alberta municipalities by the province this year as they mark the 75th anniversary.

Tofield plans "fun days"

By Carolyn Martindale
A festival week is in store for Tofield area residents as the 75th anniversary celebration will kick off Friday and continue on Saturday, highlighted by a street dance, sidewalk sale, amusement rides, games of chance, entertainment on Main St., and a draw for a trip to two Las Vegas.

Without a doubt scheduled for Sunday the town will have a day to recuperate before getting right back at it Monday evening with a dance in the Tofield Arena.

On Tuesday, the annual sports day activities will get underway with the annual pancake breakfast, family reunion, gymnastics, parade and basketball tournaments.

A special feature this year will be a model aircraft display by the Edmonton Flying Club at the arena in the afternoon.

On Friday and Saturday several blocks of Main St. will be closed to traffic as local businesses take to the streets for a two-day sidewalk sale.

The Tofield Business Association will be serving 75th birthday cake over the two days as well.

Entry forms for a draw or a trip to Las Vegas will also be available from participating merchants.

The Tofield Lions Club have agreed to provide a parade float for the parade on Saturday.

The Lions Club will be serving 75th birthday cake over the two days and the club will also be having games of chance.

Friday evening there will be a dance at the arena.

From 4 p.m. there will be a parade in the arena. At 5 p.m. family games will be conducted at the Fairgrounds.

In the mid-afternoon, the Holden Flying Club will be demonstrating their remote controlled aircraft, and will also stage a "lightning" race.

During the day, brightly colored streamers are attached to the tails of each plane and the object of the game is to tear the streamers from other competing planes.

The barbecue supper will be served in the arena at 4:30 and at 4 p.m. a draw will be made for the 75th prize, the $750 football raffle, and the trip to two Las Vegas.

A grandstand clock, which has been donated to the Village Society, will also be auctioned for the highest bidder at 4:30 p.m. A bid of $500 has already been placed for the clock. Proceeds will go to the Village Society building fund.

NOW... HOW SHOULD
REALLY BE?

What is a Canadian?

From time to time interesting bits of material, accumulated on editor's desks, and sometimes fit back into other uses. Over the years we've been particularly interested in some of the fine materials that come our way, from one corner of the country to another, on being Canadian, and what it means.

One item that particularly impressed us as Canada heads towards the 115th birthday was one written away back in 1968 in this paper, dealing with a tale by the then Alberta Minister of Public Welfare, Hon. Bob Jorgensen. It's even more apropos in Camrose today than it was then, since Mr. Jorgensen's daughter, Mrs. Glen Leht, has lived here for several years, and is still visited by Mr. Jorgensen from time to time.

Mr. Jorgensen had been called upon to speak to the Canadian Daughters League (what ever happened to them?) and had to get down to brass tacks about being Canadian, says the editorial.

"Calling his talk 'The Mosaic of Canada,' Mr. Jorgensen told the ladies that 'though we are all Canadians, our forefathers probably came across the sea from different nations, each having their own culture.' He told of a visit to the Congressional Library at Washington, D.C., in which hangs a picture of the Good Shepherd. As Mr. Jorgensen approached the picture, which is 10 feet tall, it looked like a giant oil painting. Closer up he discovered that the picture was made up of various pieces of colored stones, skillfully assembled.

"Mr. Jorgensen said that a Canadian is a mosaic of people from all over the world — their individuality can be seen when viewed close up, but the final mosaic is a picture of unity.

"The thought of 'pieces' being 'one' is not new, by any means. The Apostle Paul, had the same thing in mind when he was writing to the Christians and Ephesians, 'For as the body is one,' he said, 'and hath many members, and all the members of that one body, being many, are one body... we are members of his (Christ's) body.'

"Before a retire tonight," continues the editorial from 1968, "let us breathe this prayer: that we may be able to give reason of our faith share to the mosaic of Canada and as a Christian nation that we may have attained by restating Paul's words: 'For we are all one in Christ Jesus.'"

More than 20 years later, the Hon. Eugene Whelan, as Canada's minister of agriculture, would come up with what, for us, is the most ringing declaration of his period in office. "I'm a Canadian and I carry the blood of half a dozen different cultures in my veins. Their combined strengths have given it the strength and richness that makes it, for me, the country of the future, starting right now. Never, never forget that whatever your roots, whatever your traditions — and there is plenty of room for those roots — old traditions here and there — I am a Canadian first and foremost."

"Those very differences have given it the strength and richness that makes it, for me, the country of the future, starting right now. Never, never forget that whatever your roots, whatever your traditions — and there is plenty of room for those roots — old traditions here and there — I am a Canadian first and foremost."

WE ALL SHARE

In 1968, newcomers were welcomed with open arms, but by the time of the recession, they were being treated as second-class citizens.

Together, they settled in the colorful mosaic of Canada's cultural mosaic.

They brought with them, not only their worldly possessions, but also their abundant knowledge and culture.

The CIO was then through the Toifield area in 1960 and that precipitated the settlement that is many call 'home' today.

We've come a long way from the days when the Toifield House and School Association provided the material needs for the town and area residents.

Newcomers are still arriving in Toifield in 1980 and their needs and aspirations are much the same as those who came here in the 1960s.

They come looking for a home in a community that offers the services required for their lives, their church and recreational facilities.

Most important, they search for a home where they are recognized as individuals and as members of the community.

Development today will provide for a community that will endure for another twenty years.

This growth will create a stable foundation for future generations so that they can enjoy their chosen lifestyle.

FORCED TO REJOIN

To the Editor:
To read a few days ago the TMSA controversy has led, on the one hand, to the appearance of an emotional but nevertheless fair struggle which could have been solved by intelligent discussion and compromise in good faith between the parents and the school.

I believe the teachers and the principal when they said they would work with us, and then they did not. We had faith in their sincerity. Now, however, we are not.

Derrin's letter of resignation, our faith has been completely shattered.

Transportation assistance is sought for the elderly

by Carolyn Martindale Tofield and Ryley senior citizens have been asked by their local councillors to outline proposals for transportation assistance for the elderly in their area.

Tofield Council made the request of their local seniors' club meeting evening with a delegation of senior citizens attended the meeting to inquire as to how the town was spending its transportation grants.

The senior citizens were under the impression that the grants were allocated specifically to pay for senior citizens' transportation.

However, Council pointed out that the grant program intended to subsidize transportation for the disabled and the handicapped as well as the elderly.

The program provides rural municipalities with a $2 per capita grant.

Tofield Council said they had planned to use their $2,700 grant to make curb cuts on Tofield streets to aid people in wheel chairs to cross streets.

A portion of the grant may be used to construct a wheelchair ramp to the new Tofield Library when it is completed, they said.

But Council added that they would consider any proposal that the senior citizens may have.

At a Ryley Council meeting that same evening, village councillors suggested the local seniors' club come up with proposals after a delegation of Ryley senior citizens made the same inquiry.

According to Secretary Treasurer Ray Howland, part of the village transportation grant of $1,060 has been designated for use in constructing sidewalks to the senior citizens' home.

Another proposal which is under consideration would see the village insure a vehicle which would be used as a taxi service for senior citizens requiring medical service, Howland said.

A driver would be on call during the day and passengers who need the service would have to pay mileage.

Gray has heart on grazing reserve

Although he moved to Tuleville last year, Jack Gray's heart will always be in the Blackfoot Grazing Reserve.

Cowboy Jack managed the 14,000-acre community pasture where he tended over 1,000 head of cattle from May to October for 31 years.

"If there was a gauge on my saddle horn it would show millions of miles, said the 65-year-old with a wide grin during a recent interview.

Ever since moving to town last July Gray rode his horse on the reserve northwest of Tuleville almost every day.

Gray says he got out to the reserve "70, 100" to check on the horses or to see if he could be of assistance to his son Don who was hired as manager of the pasture this year.

Hired by the Blackfoot Grazing Association in 1948 the Gray family lived in a shack on the east side of the reserve until his marriage in 1958.

After their marriage Gray and his wife Helen moved to a house on the west side of the reserve, one mile north of the North Conkling Lake Ranch.

HOUSE IN TOWN

He tended the reserve until 1978 when he retired.

Gray cherishes a plaque given to him by the Blackfoot Grazing Association honoring him for 30 years of employment. The association is made up of over 30 cattlemen from Butte, Shoshone and Blaine.

His retirement was to be short-lived. Only two years later Gray agreed to manage the reserve for another year after the association failed to secure a manager that year.

In mid-May each year the manager (or "rider" as Gray calls himself) checks cattle in to the reserve ensuring that each is branded, tagged and vaccinated and that there is 10 acres of grazing land for each animal.

During the five months the rider must haul salt for them, treat sick cattle, fix fences around the pasture and locate cattle that manage to get away.

URGENT MESSAGE

According to Gray the manager's biggest headache is caused by people who leave the gates open at the reserve.

"One year 37 head of cattle got out when the gate was left open. It took over a week to round them up," Gray said.

However, despite this problem, Gray boasts that during the 31 years he managed the pasture he was never more than one percent short of cattle in any given year. The reserve comprises this figure to over 3.3 percent short which is the average for most community pastures.

But for Gray the biggest thrill is the round-up in mid-October when the cattle are herded to a large pasture on the southeast corner of the reserve.

ROUND-UP TIME

"It's a fantastic sight to see all of the cattle in the round-up pasture at one time."

It takes over one week to gather the herd into the pasture where owners may come to see their cattle.

Gray has only missed one round-up. One year he broke his leg a long way behind him. His doctor refused to put a riding cast on the leg and Gray was out of commission until April.

Over the years his daughter Carolyn and son Don have also rarely missed a round-up, taking their holidays during October as they could participate.

As manager of the reserve Gray was also responsible for seeing that the round-up went smoothly. Sometimes cattlemen claiming their animals create a stir and scare the herd, Gray explained.

"A couple of times I had to

"A couple of times I had to ask people to leave the reserve because of the disturbance they were causing. But it never came to that."

Although Jack's wife Helen does not take part in the round-up, she has been secretary-treasurer of the Blackfoot Grazing Association since 1961. Her job put her in the favorable position of being responsible for her husband's pay checks.

"It was really handy because he had to ask me when he wanted to get paid."

Helen says with a laugh. "She gets awful bossy sometimes. And I've threatened to have her fired," teases Jack.

"We've had the odd argument but it never came to blows," he adds quickly.

THREE MAD TRAPPERS

During the winter Gray is busy trapping beaver, coyote and muskrat on the grazing reserve, where he has had a trapline for more than 30 years.

"I've the only registered trapline north of the Blackfoot-Gardiner River," he says proudly.

This past winter Gray and his son Don and Ward Norton trapped over 100 beavers, 25 muskrats and several coyotes.

"Some people call us the 'three mad trappers,'" Gray laughs.

"Last year I caught over 100

Gray said a trapper has to use his own judgment on how much to trap.

"If you trap too much one year there won't be any for the following year."

However, Helen maintains "he'll be out trapping and riding on the reserve as long as he's able."

But while he enjoys trapping

Ministik news

Mrs. Jim Haddock
Your Ministik news reporter returned home on Saturday afternoon after a most enjoyable three-week holiday, which included a two-day visit with an old friend, George Steinbach of Wessville, Sask., also visiting relatives and friends in Victoria. Two days were spent at Long Beach in Pacific Rim National Park and some time hunting was acquired at Island Lake in the Kootenay Valley, where the wilderness was a little more favorable than when on the island.

Reports are that the Strawberry Tea held on June 7 was again a huge success. A tablecloth dinner was held for Phyllis Davenport on Friday evening. Hostesses were Shirley Strickland, Barbara Wessmeier, Elaine Farnham and Lisa Lach. Jean and George Kleinbrecht were Sunday visitors to Longbeach with cousin, Jim and Olive Love.

The dance held at the hall on Saturday evening was an enjoyable affair. A cold plate supper was served by the young ladies in charge. The door prize, which was a deer, was won by Ruth Kleinbrecht.

This annual picnic on Saturday afternoon was enjoyed by all in attendance. After a potluck dinner, games and races got going and occupied the remainder of the afternoon. Joyce Brown was convener for the event.

Spending the weekend with Joyce and Helen Bennett were Shirley Strickland, a niece of Joyce, and Marilyn McArthur, a cousin, both from Calgary. They attended the picnic and dance on Saturday night.

Jean Ferguson returned home at Sunday after spending two weeks at Ladysmith with a niece and nephew, Rita and Ian Burton. She also visited in Victoria with an addition friend, Edna Burges, and also other relatives and friends.

Jean and George Kleinbrecht and Ruth and Alex Kleinbrecht attended the Father's Day barbecue at the City Park on June 13.

Ryley tourney winners named

The Edmonton Sport Kings edged by the Ryley Canadians 9-4 to win the ladies' football tournament in Ryley on Saturday.

Another close match took place in the semi-finals when the Sport Kings got by Tofield 13-11.

A total of eighteen teams were entered in two men's tournaments and one ladies' tournament, which were scheduled during Ryley's Sports Day.

In the men's football tournament, it was Kings Sportswear of Edmonton defeating Ryley in the semi-finals and going on to down the Holden Hornets in the finals to win the tournament.

Round Hill located beside 94 to the south of the men's basketball tournament to take the win. In the semi-finals, it was Round Hill downing Holden 15-4.

Young grads honored

Twenty youngsters suitably dressed in white hats and blue gowns were honored on the occasion of their graduation from kindergarten at the Ryley School last Thursday evening.

During a program entitled "Beginning Life's Journey" the five and six-year olds participated in the grand march and were presented with diplomas by Ryley School Principal Mr. Jim Clarke and kindergarten teacher Miss Lynn Hicks.

For the grand march Mrs. Ellen Leuter sang "Starting Life's Journey" and was assisted at the piano by Mrs. Green Bostinger who wrote the song.

Miss Hicks made graduating comments to the graduates, followed by a musical interlude played by Miss Donna Yoder.

The kindergarten students later entertained the over 120 people who attended with a presentation of five songs.

Gifts were presented to people who assisted the kindergarten class during the year, and a special framed picture of the kindergarten teacher and her class was presented to Miss Hicks by her students.

After the presentation of diploma guest speaker Wendy Walsh welcomed the graduates into grade one, followed by encouraging remarks from Mr. Clark.

"Starting Life's Journey" was again played to conclude the program.

Mrs. Carol Baerg acknowledges individuals who assisted the kindergarten class during the year, and a special thanks went to Ryley grade five and all students who served the lunch following the graduation ceremony.

The 39 youngsters who graduated are: Dawn Adams, Crystal Baerg, Kevin Bost-

Correction

A front page story in The Mercury last week dealing as County saves money by reducing mileage, was in error.

In paragraph 12 it stated that school trustees have decided to consult the school bus drivers association to determine which three bus drivers would be put on the spare list in connection with the elimination of three routes.

Although county trustees did discuss the possibility of consulting the school bus drivers association, the final motion that was passed stated that the drivers on the three bus routes affected would be put on the spare list.

Round Hill homecoming is set

At least one thousand pounds of beef will be barbecued for Round Hill's homecoming festival which is scheduled for this coming weekend.

Reunions from invitations to the former residents of the area have been so great that organizers are now beginning to wonder if more meat might be needed for the giant barbecue which has been scheduled for Saturday.

A full schedule of events has been scheduled, opening on Friday night and will be followed by a "free" dance to the music of orchestras that have played in the area over the years.

An added attraction on Friday night will be a giant turkey with people invited to take along winners and much to be celebrated for roasting and a sing-song night will be organized.

Saturday will be a busy day, starting off with a pancake breakfast at the 11th Hall.

Former Lieutenant-Governor Ralph Standen will be the master of the big parade which will get underway at 10:30 a.m.

A car, wrecked in house of the area's early pioneer families will be unveiled at 1:30 p.m. Already, the names of 187 families are listed on the sign and more have been let her address.

The early pioneers will be further honored during ceremonies that are scheduled for 3:30 p.m.

Scenes are to be presented to present and former residents of the area who are 19 years of age or older. At last count, 179 names were in the MP Den Mannheim is to present the parade and will also attend the cults unveiling.

Then, it will be time to meet with the giant barbecue being served at a "free" dance with organizers expecting at least one thousand people to attend. Memories of the old days will be revived in the evening when members of the community will participate in a parade which is to be followed by an old-time dance.

The official part of Round Hill's homecoming schedule will come to an end on Sunday morning with church services scheduled for eleven o'clock.

It is expected that many informal gatherings will take place on Sunday afternoon before former residents head off for their homes in different parts of Western Canada and the United States.

The Round Hill area started to develop in the late 18th's when ranchers set up operations. Later, a mixed farming situation developed and a coal mine was also produced.

Round Hill became a focal point of provincial attention five years ago when residents of the region banded together for a protective union.

Their objective was to prevent a power plant from being constructed in the area.

Are you your greatest enemy?

It has often been said that man's greatest enemy is himself. I think it's particularly true in the case of how we live our lives, or our self-esteem. We're usually the first to criticize ourselves for something we've done, to put ourselves down for something we've done. That can't help but affect our self-esteem, which in turn can affect how we handle the problems we're faced with in everyday life. Self-esteem can be likened to a foundation on which everything else is built. Just as a poor foundation causes a house to crumble when some pressure like a heavy snowfall is exerted on it, so a person who doesn't value himself will be less capable of handling the pressures we all frequently face in life. Feelings of self-doubt, dissatisfaction or frustration usually result in a

4-H club has meet

By Brenda Rasmussen
The sixth monthly meeting of the New Sweden 4-H Club was held recently at the Gary Bennett home.

Achievement Day was discussed. It was decided that Dave Hughes would march on parade with the 4-H Club on July 14.

We then had a judging competition with Herta and Margie Atkins being our official judges.

Winners will be announced at a later date.
Linda Rasmussen was first in the ladies' division and Janet Partington was second in the junior division at the Northern Alberta Institute Club Judging School, held on June 14.

One way of finding out is to listen to yourself talk. We all unconsciously talk to ourselves, whether it be negative, such as when we criticize ourselves for something we've done, "they will be over a dumb cow," or positive, when we put ourselves on the back—"My girl does look nice on you!"

How you feel about yourself will depend on how many negative and positive statements there are in your self talk. If you're always noticing the mistakes and shortcomings rather than the good points, you too will feel down on yourself.

The don't have to be our greatest enemy. Next time you catch yourself criticizing yourself, stop. Think about something in that situation that was positive, remember "every cloud has a silver lining."

"I'm not the most popular person in town but once people get to know me they like me." Make all your self talk constructive and positive.

Be on your side! Listen to your self talk, and make it brighter for it.

Tofield accepts proposal for financing fire hall

Tofield Council has accepted in principle a cost-sharing proposal for financing the new town fire hall which will grant the county of Beaver one-third ownership in the building and site.

The County will gain a share of the ownership of the six-year facility in return for payment of $80,000 in county funds towards the cost of the $288,000 project.

The balance of the cost will be paid for with a $72,000 Neighborhood Improvement Program (NIP) grant and $136,000 in Tofield funds.

Council made the decision during a meeting last Wednesday which was called to consider the proposal which was presented by County Council.

During the past several weeks Tofield and Beaver County have considered a series of proposals and the latter proposal has been the most acceptable to both parties.

However, negotiations accelerated last week as the July 1 deadline for the $72,000 NIP grant approached. It was believed that the grant would be lost if a financing agreement was not reached by that time.

The July 1 deadline was only a guideline and according to town administrator Neil Brodie the deadline has been extended to July 15, by which time the two councils must establish a formal agreement.

Irrespective of the agreement, the new NIP grant which held up the negotiations between the two municipalities.

The County of Beaver Council members maintain that the grant should be considered county money since the grant was calculated using the county rural population in the Tofield area.

County Council considered the grant, together with $80,000 in county money to constitute the county's $136,000 contribution toward the facility.

Tofield Council argues that the grant should be considered separately and that the town and county should each pick up 50 percent of the balance remaining.

However, as the July 1 deadline passed last Thursday Tofield Council decided to accept the county's latest proposal.

The town councillors had rejected an earlier county proposal which would have granted Beaver County joint ownership in the facility, and had proposed the county be allowed to use 50 percent of the building for a period of ten years.

County Council refused to endorse an agreement and wanted joint ownership of the building and site.

Since Tofield has agreed to accept the county's proposal on ownership agreement.

County Council refused to endorse an agreement and wanted joint ownership of the building and site.

Since Tofield has agreed to accept the county's proposal on ownership agreement.

town municipalities must draw up a formal agreement regarding the financing of the facility and the maintenance and operation of it.

Meanwhile Tofield Council must establish a site for the new fire hall. Five areas owned by the Town of Tofield may be considered as possible sites for the new facility.

The fire hall may be located at the east or west end of the North Park, which is located on 44 Ave. west of 82 St. at the southeast corner of 20 Ave. and 48 St.; near the southeast corner of the Tofield Fairgrounds; or at commercial lots on the north side of 44 Ave. east of 48 St.

A location for the new fire hall is expected to be discussed at the next town council meeting Monday evening.

Population rises

The population of Tofield has risen by 71 people since 1976 according to a census conducted in June of this year.

A total of 1,490 people live in the town compared to 1,419 when the last census was taken two years ago.

Adults account for most of the increase with the population of children under 15 has risen by only three.

There are 800 adults in Tofield as opposed to 625 in 1976. The 1980 census indicates that there are 671 children under 15 in Tofield.

The survey shows that 152 Tofield residents commute to Edmonton for work, compared to 140 in 1976.

The number of residents commuting to Edmonton has risen to 140 from 120 two years ago.

The latest census makes Tofield eligible for more money in grants evaluated on a per capita basis.

Tofield Council has given first reading to a bylaw for the issuance of debentures to the amount of $430,000 to be applied toward the cost of the new town office-library complex.

During a special meeting on Monday Tofield Council members agreed to go to debentures for a 25-year period to pay the balance of the cost of the structure which has been estimated at $771,000.

To finance the construction of the complex Tofield plans to use $120,000 in unexpended town funds, a $146,000 Neighborhood Improvement Program grant, and $105,000 in the annual general fund.

Other possible sources of revenue which may reduce the debenture are the sale of the present town office, and a Major Cultural and Recreation grant which could be used for the library portion of the building.

The bylaw for debentures must be approved by the Local Authorities Board and then advertised in the local newspaper for two weeks before Council may give it final readings.

Town Council could face a plebiscite over the $430,000 debenture. If a plebiscite is held, the debenture bylaw, which bears signatures from 25 percent of the town electorate, is presented with 15 days of the final advertisement. It could force Council to reconsider the debenture.

Once a petition opposing the debenture is presented, the matter would have to be taken to a vote before Council could proceed.

The new town office-library building has 6,800 square feet of space on the main floor, with an additional 1,700 on the second floor.

The library portion of the building will be more than three times larger than the present Tofield Library and the town office space will be more than double.

The complex will be located on the site of the present Tofield Library. During construction of the new facility the old library building will be moved to the south end of the lot and used as a parking lot for the new building to replace the old.

The town office-library building is expected to go to tender in the next several weeks.

"I CAN'T AFFORD 'FIRST CLASS' ANYMORE. WHAT DO YOU HAVE IN THE WAY OF STAND-BY FARE?"

Undermining effort

We can't help but feel that a couple of hundred warehouse workers for the Alberta Liquor Control Board did themselves, and their cause, far more harm than good last weekend, and again this week, when they walked out in a surprise, and illegal, strike.

Queues formed almost immediately in every government store, and stocks quickly were reduced as drinkers sought to arrive up against the impending drought. Prices for take-out beer shot up in a number of licensed outlets, as owners calculated their odds of being able to replace stocks before the drought was over.

Whether you're a drinker or not, most people would find strong opposition to a system which would allow fewer than 200 people to rain down troubles for almost the entire population. Not only that, but for people who stand helplessly by, having no hand either in causing or alleviating the situation.

The strike was illegal, but the union and its members didn't think there was anything anomalous about their indignation when the government took swift steps to impose heavy penalties, violating the legal rights of their position, rights which they wouldn't have except for the status accorded their union, and rights which demand a corresponding obligation to act responsibly. Ordinary workers don't enjoy protection against dismissal for illegal actions, nor should union workers be able to.

The same union, AUPE, on Monday saw nearly a thousand of its members walk off the job at the province's penitentiary institutions, and Albertans later heard their leader almost endorse the action, even though it, too, was illegal, and unlawful.

It's interesting to note the terminology of their leader, Booth, who pointed out his members are "demanding" parity with workers in B.C. where the pay is $300 to $400 higher per month. Senior workers at Alberta's institutions can only earn $1,487 per month, he said, a figure (at nearly $18,000 a year) which we think many of our readers might figure was comparatively worthless without striking.

Even more interesting is the "demand." It used to be negotiable, but it seems most union leaders think negotiating is all a one-way street, meaning negotiating towards their position, not away from it.

There are many reasons, it seems to us, why the open shop should be given a much stronger legal position than it has been forced into. Certainly among the major aspects are the rights of the individual worker. But another factor we think should be given far more attention than it has in the past are the rights of the public. The two are not always compatible with union security.

THEA CONTROVERSY

Dear Mr. Pollock: I am writing to you in order to inform you of the decision of the committee on the adoption of the constitution of the school staff, which was adopted by members of the school staff, and several of whom were on the constitution of the staff. I am writing to you in order to inform you of the decision of the committee on the adoption of the constitution of the school staff, which was adopted by members of the school staff, and several of whom were on the constitution of the staff.

I should also like to point out that on May 1 Mr. Pollock was the first to use the press for his purpose. The TSSA was forced to do so through the threat that the teachers intended to withhold their support, rather than by notification to the association.

One of the B.A.'s or P.T.A.'s in assistance today function very successfully with parents from 5-10% of eligible parents. Of course, a large measure of the credit for their success lies with the co-operation of the school staff and administration, something that is almost totally lacking in TSSA.

Mr. Bill Brown did indeed express his disapproval of the provision for separate committees with the TSSA. He also expressed to Mr. Kugelblum his great disappointment that the teachers had not come through for the June 13 meeting.

The executive agreed to post a notice of motion to the committee on the constitution into one and to amend the constitution. Mr. Brown had the right to do so, but he chose to do so in a way that was not in the best interests of the school staff.

I personally went to the June 13 meeting with every intention of voting in favour of the amendment to eliminate the committee. However, the lack of concern and common courtesy on the part of the teaching staff disappointed and angered me.

One member of the teaching staff was present for the first part of the meeting; he left after the vote was over. It was also noted that Mr. Pollock and his staff were in the library during the evening, but he could be bothered to attend the meeting. Did Mr. Pollock and his staff really expect many of our readers might figure was comparatively worthless without striking.

(c) Mr. Pollock objects to a signed letter—he did not object to the conversation with Mr. Kugelblum, nor did he object to the conversation with Mr. Pollock. He also objects to the suggestion of a meeting with Mr. Pollock, but he does not object to the suggestion of a meeting with Mr. Pollock.

From the mail bag

possible of his staff to take part. At the first TSSA meeting on April 18, during the course of the adoption of the constitution there were many motions put forward by members of the school staff, and several of whom were on the constitution of the staff. I am writing to you in order to inform you of the decision of the committee on the adoption of the constitution of the school staff, which was adopted by members of the school staff, and several of whom were on the constitution of the staff.

This constitution is presently before the Provincial House and School Education, and a decision has not yet been made on the constitution. The TSSA was forced to do so through the threat that the teachers intended to withhold their support, rather than by notification to the association.

One of the B.A.'s or P.T.A.'s in assistance today function very successfully with parents from 5-10% of eligible parents. Of course, a large measure of the credit for their success lies with the co-operation of the school staff and administration, something that is almost totally lacking in TSSA.

Mr. Bill Brown did indeed express his disapproval of the provision for separate committees with the TSSA. He also expressed to Mr. Kugelblum his great disappointment that the teachers had not come through for the June 13 meeting.

The executive agreed to post a notice of motion to the committee on the constitution into one and to amend the constitution. Mr. Brown had the right to do so, but he chose to do so in a way that was not in the best interests of the school staff.

I personally went to the June 13 meeting with every intention of voting in favour of the amendment to eliminate the committee. However, the lack of concern and common courtesy on the part of the teaching staff disappointed and angered me.

One member of the teaching staff was present for the first part of the meeting; he left after the vote was over. It was also noted that Mr. Pollock and his staff were in the library during the evening, but he could be bothered to attend the meeting. Did Mr. Pollock and his staff really expect many of our readers might figure was comparatively worthless without striking.

Around the town

Miss Helen Thompson has recently returned from a trip to Cranston, B.C. where she visited her cousin, Lesley Thompson. While there she also visited Spokane, Wash. where they picked up some scenic shots.

Among the many visitors who attended Tofield Sports Day celebrations on July 1 was Percy Allan Moore, who came to Tofield with his parents in the spring of 1913. His brothers were Douglas, Bert and Sydney and a sister, Dorothy.

The first memory of Tofield is the gas lights which lit up Main Street from a gas well beside the Town Hall. These lights were extinguished shortly afterwards and the well covered.

Not long afterwards, World War I broke out and Albert Moore, Percy's father, and Douglas, his oldest son, joined the 116th Battalion early in December, 1914. Both went overseas.

After being shot down in France, Douglas later joined the Royal Flying Corps, but his plane collapsed in mid-air one day and he was permanently injured.

While Mr. Moore and Douglas were in the service, Mrs. Moore and Bert enlisted his sons. Percy delivered the milk to several customers in town, delivering the separated milk to Rogers Street some of 12 quarts for one dollar.

After the war the family settled on a farm southwest of town where the children attended Woodlawn School. They left the Tofield district in the fall of 1918.

Mrs. Tina Fries of Mission, B.C. is visiting with her sister, brother and friends in Tofield and Camrose.

Conrad and Hazel Patterson have returned from a holiday with their daughter, Conrad and her family in Lake Louise.

Peace River NDP to honor Ronning

As its contribution to Alberta's 75th anniversary celebration, the Peace River New Democratic Party is sponsoring a special evening with

Chenier Ronning, a man who has played an integral role in both Alberta and Canadian development and whose efforts in foreign diplomacy are respected throughout the world. Dr. Ronning was born in China, the son of a Lutheran missionary. After the death of his mother, his family returned to Canada in 1902. He was born in the Peace River area, then moved to Vancouver. It was here that he met his wife and homesteaded. After completing university, Dr. Ronning returned to China as a Lutheran missionary with the outbreak of the Nationalist Revolution in the mid 1920s.

Honored by countless organizations he is considered the foremost expert on Chinese affairs in Western diplomatic circles.

For his outstanding contributions in church, civic and international affairs the Peace River New Democratic Party is pleased to honor Chenier Ronning in person and through the recently released film "Chenier Ronning - depicting his life as a Canadian diplomat in the 1920s."

The Homemaker

by Myraen Hansen
Dinner time is a busy time in any home. It is a time when the family is gathered together. It is a time when the family is eating. It is a time when the family is talking. It is a time when the family is laughing. It is a time when the family is living.

Throughout the county, it is a time when the family is eating. It is a time when the family is talking. It is a time when the family is laughing. It is a time when the family is living.

By contributing to the fair you can get a feeling of satisfaction by sharing your work to others. You will learn from the judge's comments and from viewing the works of others. Support for your community is another good reason to enter your work.

Ribbons for articles are awarded not only on the merits of your article but on the quality of the competing articles. Judges do have a set of standards to be used as checklists or guidelines for judging. Although these standards help not uniformly, each judge is bound to have unique points she chooses to use.

Here are a few tips for exhibitors:
-Read the rules list carefully and enter correctly. If it calls for an article, put in more or less as you see fit.

-The exhibit must be finished and ready for use. For example a wall hanging should be mounted and ready to hang when entered.

-Fabrics used in quilts should be of similar quality throughout. That is, polyester fabrics should not be mixed with cotton fabrics, and poor quality materials should not be mixed with good quality materials.

Finally, take a minute to examine your exhibit, be it taking, preserving, sewing or handicraft. Does it offer a pleasing appearance?

For more information and tips on how to judge standards for Foods, Sewing and Handicrafts from my office, Good Luck at the Fair!

for years to come. The parade was one of the largest parades that has ever been held in Tofield. There were over 50 entries which made it a beautiful and colorful. It was held by the Edmonton City Police Pipe Band.

People came from far and near to help make the homecoming such a memorable affair. The campers were all parked in the school grounds and made it look like a little town across the tracks. Saturday morning the school bus from the Round Hill district came and took people to and from the Round Hill district. The parade was held in the Round Hill district. The parade was held in the Round Hill district.

Runners needed for Aug. 3 Road Race

by Rick Richardson
 The second annual Great Canadian Road Race and other fun runs are set to go at 1:00 p.m. on August 3 and race coordinator Darren Skag is hoping for a good crowd of runners when the gun sounds to begin the races.

The two kilometre races this year's starting and finishing at Jubilee Park are co-sponsored by The Camrose Canadian and Regional Recreation Department.

The race held for the first time last year was won by Craig Skag of Calgary with a time of 20 minutes and 13 seconds.

Only 20 runners entered last year's race with 21 of them on the 10 kilometre race. Other runners came from Edmonton, Calgary, St. Albert, Irvine, Stoney Plain, Sherwood and Spruce Grove.

Individual events in the Road Race will include men's and women's 1000 (17 and under), men's and women's (18 to 24) and men's (25 to 34) and women's (35 to 44).

A prize presentation for the 10 kilometre race will be held by July 21 while a further race day has of 16 will be held.

As well as individual events, three relay races will be held including a family fun run, business and a team run. In these events, teams consist of three to six members and each member will run at least one mile. For example, a four member team could have two runners racing only one mile with the other two running two miles each.

In the family fun run, two of the team members must be from the same family. As well, one parent must enter the race. A $2 registration fee to be paid once the race is necessary to enter this race.

7,000 attend Bruce Stampede

By Don Friedman and Wilfred Allen-Scott COURTESY AT THE Approximately 7,000 rodeo enthusiasts packed the bleachers and other areas surrounding the arena to enjoy the 46th annual Bruce Stampede on Sunday.

Boaty skies, with just enough breeze to keep spectators comfortable, plus a large rodeo entry, contributed to the success of the event.

People gathered early on the main street of Bruce to watch the parade which displayed the usual variety.

There were well-groomed horses with appropriately dressed riders, antique cars, two teams and a twenty herd who topped around chirping to the bystanders.

The similar citizens' float stole the show. The lively musicians carried a melody that the rocking chairs had been put in the attic.

There was also activity at the Stampede Grounds early in the day. Edna Beaudoin and her crew served a pancake breakfast and enjoyed the rival of their first customer at 8 a.m.

Music events commenced at 8 p.m. and continued until 6 p.m. with horns and the chuckwagon races following.
Jack Debus was the announcer.

Ken Waterson of Kamloops, B.C. picked up the Viking Trophy which all-around cowboy award and topped the star evening with time of 4.4 seconds to take home another trophy donated by the Bruce Riders.

Danny's Livestock donated the trophy for the herdsman event which resulted in a split between Steve Debuson of Crest Valley and Dale Thyer of Calgary. Both scored a time of 1.1 seconds.

Rick Thomson of Black Diamond placed the middle bridle riding to take home the Curtis trophy, marking a score of 74 on a horse named Mr. Wagner.

Barry Edges of Rimley grabbed the purse and the Rider's General. Bruce Thyer in the calf roping event by tying his calf in 14.8 seconds.

The ball riding purse and the P & M Mechanical trophy went to Darryl Collins of Calgary with a score of 51.

One unfortunate accident occurred during the afternoon performance; one of Vold's horses had to be destroyed after it suffered an injury. Luckily the rider was unhurt.

The stem sisters from Lawrence, Montana, entered as part of the official questing again during the latter part of the afternoon.

Their daring stunts on their beautiful horses were applauded by both young and old.

Crown Amateurs once again provided a midway with rides for all ages and the usual games of chance.

The tag-of-war matches kept rodeo fans in their seats during intermission. There were three entries in the men's event and three in the ladies.

It began with the Bruce ladies pulling against the McClure team from Edmonton. The Bruce team emerged victorious and went for an easy win over the girls from Burlington.

The men's competition began with the Rylen team vertically in the crowd. Although the Bruce boys had the weight, it seems the cowboys had the "know how", and remained undefeated.

The barbed wire tournament once again proved to be a crowd pleaser with some newcomers shaking the title.
L. Griffith and L. Smith of Edmonton walked away with all the hardware plus the prize money. Last year's champ, Olel Bennett, got knocked out early in the A event. Although the Bruce riders had the weight, it seems the cowboys had the "know how", and remained undefeated.

The roping event was won by Lawrence Debuson and Bruce Hume who took home trophy and cash prize. Lawrence finished first, Bruce second.

Throughout the evening, a few adults and children strid-ed around the midway and were stayed on to see the happenings.

Things were livelier at the Kamloops, B.C. second round. There were more than 100 people kicked up by their heels in the music of the Stampede.

The Bruce Stampede was presented by the Bruce Stampede Association.

Last year's queen, Rhonda Hume, was present to relinquish her title to Kimberly Maloway.
Summer Gold was crowned queen.

Previous to the dance, queen contestants were given a banquet hosted by the Stampede Association.

The big winner in the draw was Kevin Carrington of Valley who won the $1000 prize of 1989. Second prize of $500 went to Judy Best of Edmonton and the $1000 prize went to Cheryl Lyne of Edmonton. Gayle Hansen of Lund, B.C. and Rhonda
Hume of Kamloops, B.C.

This time of year, your freezer should be full of meat, poultry, fish, and vegetables, ready for the fall harvest. It's a good idea to take stock of your freezer packages and use them up.

Although freezing is an excellent way to preserve food—frozen foods won't last forever, some of the recommended storage times for frozen food are surprisingly short, so it's worthwhile to read the labels.

The longest recommended storage time for frozen storage is 12 months, and that is for meat, poultry, fish, and vegetables.

Lean fish should be kept for six months and ground beef only two to three months. Surprisingly, sausage may last only two to three weeks.

Bread, poultry and baking will last up to four months. Six weeks is the longest one should keep sandwiches in the freezer.

Produce from longer than the recommended time may be safe to eat, but will suffer in terms of flavor, color and nutritive value. That is why it's a good idea to economically name what's in the freezer and use up food before it reaches the limit.

By checking through the freezer now you will also have a better idea of what to put away for the winter. You may find for example that you only use certain cuts from a meat order. In that case, the same order would be a poor investment for you. Many people find it is more economical to commission to buy meats and other foods on special rather than in a package deal.

Whatever the case, be sure that your order can be eaten in a reasonable amount of time, before quality loss is indicated.

If you would like more information on food storage times, in the cupboard, refrigerator or freezer, contact this office for the publication "Food Storage in the Home".

P.S. Your freezer should last about 10 years, so if yours is nearing this age be ready to replace it. Getting caught with a freezer full of food can be expensive.

Operators plan August reunion

Alberta Government Telephone (AGT) operators who were employed in Tofield between 1959 and 1969 are invited to attend a reunion in Tofield on Aug. 31.

The reunion is being planned by Mrs. Margaret Ryley, who was a 15-year veteran of Tofield telephone operating. The gathering of operators will be held at her residence at 811-49 Ave. in Tofield. Mrs. Ryley is trying to locate more than 80 telephone operators who worked at Tofield AGT between 1959 and 1969.

Ryley advances

Ryley has gained one of the best in the final of the Powerline League.

The other berth in the final wasn't determined until this (Thursday) evening. Ryley completed the regular scheduled first place with Camrose. However, Ryley was awarded the position because of a better overall runs for and against record after the two teams were tied in runs for and against each other.

Second game in the series will be played in either Camrose or Round Hill next Thursday evening with a third game, if necessary, back in Ryley one week from Tuesday.

pitching to record a 3-0 victory over Camrose.

That semi-final series is scheduled at a game each with the third and fourth games scheduled for this evening (Thursday) in Camrose. The best of three finals for the Powerline League championship will open in Ryley on Tuesday evening.

Second game in the series will be played in either Camrose or Round Hill next Thursday evening with a third game, if necessary, back in Ryley one week from Tuesday.

so does our thirst. Because of the summer heat, our bodies

Tofield hosts provincial playoffs

Tofield will be the site of a provincial championship baseball tournament this coming weekend.

The playoff tournament was not originally scheduled for Tofield, but was moved to this centre when the bad weather over the past weekend forced postponement of the event.

Originally, the provincial amateur baseball playoffs were scheduled to be held in Lac La Piche.

A number of games were played last Saturday before the storm hit and caused the tournament to be postponed to this weekend.

Provincial organizers began looking for a new site to which to complete the playoffs after they found out that Lac La Piche diamonds were not available this coming weekend.

The Tofield Lakers (senior club) volunteered to host the remainder of the tournament and since Tofield was considered to be a central location for all teams involved, the invitation was accepted.

Two teams, Alexander and Pembina Valley, were eliminated from further competition before the playoffs began.

One game, between Hinton and Lac La Piche, had to be held on Saturday and will be finished during Saturday's schedule.

Games will commence at nine o'clock on Saturday morning, go all day with the final match scheduled for six o'clock.

Games on Sunday will also begin at nine o'clock in the morning. The final game could be played at nine o'clock.

Bruce holds rodeo for trailer visitors

There were no cancellations here, but young riders were seen leaving the dealer's office the next morning.

The 424 girls were on hand with coffee for invited participants and armed spectators.

Following is a list of winners:

One riding: 1. Talbot Throxy, 2. Dana Jeffrey, 3. Kevin Laidlaw.

Barrel racing: 1. Wade Komarovsky, 2. Terry Wells.

Steeple chasing: 1. Stephen J. Hinkle, 2. Kerry Crystal, 3. Eric Hildebrand.

Various other activities are also planned for the afternoon and evening.

The senior children's pot show will go on at eight p.m. on Saturday and again at 7 p.m. on Sunday.

The "Bullman" show, The Morris, will have a special show at eight p.m. on Saturday.

Other games on Saturday will be played at four and six o'clock.

Ryley plans Fair

Conveners for the Ryley Fair will be meeting today (Thursday) to finalize plans for the annual fair to be held on August 15.

The fair will cover a wide variety of products and include interests of community members, from local goods to products to be purchased.

Some citizens will be separate categories in which to enter their articles.

Students, aged 11 and under, could enter the fair.

School activities include penmanship and art work for students from kindergarten to grade 6.

Grades seventh and above will be featured also.

The Danish system of judging will be used.

In this system, articles are judged against a standard and are assigned points ranging from 1-10.

Therefore, several first and/or second prizes may be awarded in each class.

This system provides a much more fair method of judging each article.

As in the past, trophies will be given out to the following articles: individual, family, junior and senior.

Articles for display must be on at the Ryley Community Hall before 11 noon on Fair Day.

Judging will begin at 10:30 p.m. Displays will be open from 6-8 p.m.

Hereafter, individuals will have an opportunity to enter a tournament at 7 p.m.

The annual "North-West" tag-of-war is scheduled for 8 p.m. For purposes of the event, anyone who lives or works south of the railroad tracks is a member of the "south" team and vice versa.

During the evening, a "Grimm's Tale" will be read in the corral, east of the hall.

The food booth will be open from 6-8 p.m., offering hot dogs, cold drinks and frozen treats.

A cold plate supper will also be served.

A song book was served to all present with the head table seated by the ceremony by the Mizera.

During the afternoon, a barbecue picnic competition was held with Art Gersbach of Edmonton emerging as the winner.

Old picture albums were on hand and thoroughly examined by all present.

A system to handle your grain that will not grow obsolete ...

Behlen manufactures the COMPLETE SYSTEM... everything you need to handle, dry and store your grain. Whether a wide selection of equipment makes it possible to design a system that perfectly fits your type of operation. For example, grain dryers are available in three, time-tested designs... portable batch, continuous, or in-storage. Use hopper-metric tanks or portable, hopperside bins for holding wet grain. In-storage elevator legs and augers efficiently move grain at high speeds. While grain tanks, steel buildings or automated grain handling centers provide safe, trouble-free storage.

GRAIN STORAGE TANKS Exclusive "Waffle Panel" Design

Behlen-Wickes wall panels gain greater strength and a sparkling, modern appearance from double corrugations. Vertical panels give you rugged strength from top to bottom with fewer horizontal seams. Precision formed for tight fit. Vertical and horizontal ribbing is self cleaning and offers increased resistance to the increased pressures of grain. Every panel is heavily galvanized with a coating of rust-preventing zinc. In a Behlen-Wickes grain tank you receive extra protection against wind, moisture, rodents, insects and rust.

Cablevision coming ??

Cablevision could come! Residents of Telford, Holden, Ryle and Villavie could receive television by cable early in the new year, and the service would be available to the four communities along Highway 14.

An Edmonton firm has applied to the CRTC for permission to provide the service to the four communities along Highway 14.

Ed Polanski, president of CTV Inc., Ryle, says the service is approved, work to install the service in all (or part) 15th communities would get underway within a few months.

It is estimated that service could be provided to all of the communities within a few months after construction of the entire project was started.

Population of the four Highway 14 centres is estimated on CTV's applications as follows: Telford, 1,500; Holden, 1,000; Ryle, 1,000; and Holden-300.

The Edmonton firm is also applying to serve five centres along Highway 13.

Included in the service for the four communities are Dayland, Forewbey, Kilham and Sedgewick.

CTV is already providing movie television to 15 centres in Alberta, including Edmonton.

CROP INSURANCE FOR FALL RYE

To be eligible for coverage must start Fall Rye by Aug. 15 and not later than August 31.
Specialized crop insurance coverage available.

ALBERTA HAIL & CROP INSURANCE CORPORATION

by Jill Brown and Dennis Macleod
District Agricultural Extension Officers. Although various advantages exist for early sown crops, equally certain disadvantages should be followed when making decisions on crops. In a recent column published by the Canadian Farm Press, the author states: "For the most part, the early sown crops are the most vulnerable to frost damage and insects have been consuming the increasing amounts of green seed and the resultant green at shearing is finished products. We should, therefore, caution growers not to switch too early as this can cause a drastic reduction in yields and an excess of green seed can lower, considerably, the grade of the product."
Canada should be sown when the majority of the seed is in the firm dough stage (80% moisture), and about 30% of the seed changed from a green to brown (or yellow) or brown for the variety. The field, however, may or may not show the characteristic ripe color.
Because the stage of maturity will vary from plant to plant and from area to another within a field, it is important to sample for stage of maturity at different locations in the field, from different plants at each location and from the highest to lowest podding points on each plant.
WHAT: Seeds which when the moisture content reaches 30% (kernels are in firm dough stage and starting to turn yellow). If wheat is to be used for seed purposes, it should be sown at 50% moisture and left to dry until the moisture drops to 30%. If combined about 10%, the grain should be artificially dried. To avoid germination damage, the drying temperature should not exceed 40°C.
BAGIT: Feed barley can be sown at 30% moisture (kernels can be cut with the thumb nail without shelling any water on the kernels), but milling and seed barley would be better left until the moisture content is down to at least 30 percent (kernels changing to straw color, are firm when pressed between the finger and thumb and no moisture appears). With milling barley, the whole field should be ripe, but not over-ripe because of shattering and kernel damage during combining. Oats can be sown at a moisture of 90% (early dough) without any danger of shattering. Seeding at 90% moisture will have no effect on either yield or protein content.

However seed sown at 90% moisture yielded 45.7 Feed grade and seed sown at 80% moisture yielded 41.8
grade in comparison as indicated from results from South Central Research Station.

The ATCO Acquisition of shares of Calgary Power

Questions and Answers

Q. What is Calgary Power?

A. Calgary Power is an electric utility which supplies 2/3 of Alberta's power. It sells this power directly to the citizen, to rural electricity associations, and to electric distribution systems operated by cities and towns. It also sells power directly to some industries.

Calgary Power is one of a group of associated companies assembled by Montreal financier I.M. Kilham. These companies, still associated in various ways, include Montreal Engineering, Royal Securities (now Merrill Lynch, Royal Securities) and Newfoundland Light and Power. Today 12% of Calgary Power shares are owned by Albertans, and 88% are owned outside Alberta.

Q. What is Canadian Utilities?

A. Canadian Utilities is a holding company with subsidiary operations in the electric and natural gas utility industries. Its natural gas operations are carried out by Canadian Western Natural Gas, which serves southern Alberta including Calgary and Lethbridge, and Northwestern Utilities, which supplies north-central Alberta including Edmonton, Red Deer, Fort McMurray, Grande Prairie and, through a subsidiary, Dawson Creek.

Alberta Power, the company's electric utility subsidiary, serves east-central and northern Alberta and the Northwest Territories including the Town of Hay River. An Alberta Power subsidiary serves 18 communities in the Yukon including the City of Whitehorse.

Until recently, Canadian Utilities was controlled by Philadelphia-based IU International through its 58% share ownership. ATCO acquired that 58% block of shares in June.

Q. What is ATCO?

A. ATCO is an Alberta-based holding company with worldwide operations. One of its subsidiaries is the world's leading manufacturer of industrial housing which has 17 factories in various parts of the world, and products in use in 40 countries. Another is Canada's largest oilfield drilling and servicing contractor. ATCO also has subsidiaries in oil and gas exploration, commercial and industrial real estate and residential house building. With its investment in Canadian Utilities, it is now in electric power generation and distribution, and natural gas supply and distribution.

Q. Why did ATCO invest in Canadian Utilities?

A. ATCO had established a corporate goal of expanding into the energy field. Earlier steps in this direction included setting up an oil company, and purchasing and expanding a drilling company.

Q. How did Calgary Power acquire its investment in Canadian Utilities?

A. Early in 1980, Calgary Power attempted to buy the 58% controlling block of Canadian Utilities shares held by IU International. When these negotiations failed, ATCO instead acquired the control block, Calgary Power purchased nearly all of the outstanding 42% of Canadian Utilities shares from individual shareholders in June.

Q. Why has ATCO offered to purchase a controlling interest in Calgary Power?

A. When Calgary Power acquired a minority interest in Canadian Utilities it meant that company would be owned by two large companies, each different from the other. Differing styles of management, stemming from the nature of the two companies, would have made policy differences inevitable at some point along the way.

ATCO therefore decided to offer to purchase sufficient Calgary Power shares to take effective control of both companies. This will allow ATCO to efficiently implement policy decisions in the best interests of the customers and shareholders of both companies.

Q. What is ATCO's offer?

A. Through a subsidiary, ATCO is offering $21 cash for 24,450,000 common shares of Calgary Power. This represents 50.1% of the voting shares and 54% of the common shares.

Q. How are Alberta's public utilities regulated to ensure that the public interest is served?

A. The Public Utilities Board and the Energy Resources Conservation Board are Alberta Government regulatory boards which share the responsibility of regulating electric and natural gas utilities. The PUB has primary responsibility for consumer rates and the ERCB is responsible for decisions regarding the allocation of service areas, and approving construction of major electrical generation and transmission facilities.

Q. How are electric power and natural gas rates set?

A. Electricity and natural gas rates are established upon application by a utility company to the Alberta Public Utilities Board. Each application is the subject of extensive and careful examination by intervenors and the Board itself through the hearing process. A just and reasonable level of rates is set by the Board after careful consideration of all the factors which make up the utility's costs of providing service. These include a fair rate of return to the shareholders, debt costs, operating expenses, taxes and depreciation charges. ATCO control of Calgary Power will in no way change this regulatory process.

Q. If ATCO acquires the investment it seeks in Calgary Power, will electricity rates increase?

A. Not as a result of the proposed acquisition. Financing of the share purchase will in no way result in any increases in either electric or natural gas rates charged by the utilities involved.

Q. What are the interests of the citizens of Alberta of ATCO controlling the ownership of both Canadian Utilities and Calgary Power?

A. 1) For the first time both utilities will be controlled in Alberta by Albertans. This is a distinct advantage in ensuring firm control from within the province in the best interest of provincial development. In effect, ATCO will have repatriated into Alberta hands, majority ownership of two major companies, upon which virtually every Albertan depends.

2) This will be a positive move toward co-operation rather than confrontation in solving some of the problems facing the electric utility industry in the province today. For example, solutions may be more easily found to problems such as rate disparities, allocation of service areas and ownership and management of future generating facilities.

3) Some cost efficiencies and economies of scale may be possible through one-system business planning such as common efforts in construction and purchasing, and potential sharing of some administrative and support functions.

4) ATCO control will better ensure co-ordinated long-term planning for the benefit of all Albertans in such areas as northern hydroelectric developments and interprovincial electrical transmission developments.

5) Costly and time-consuming proceedings before regulatory agencies could be reduced. In the past, the two companies have found themselves in adversary positions. In the future, common studies can be carried out to determine the most cost effective and appropriate means of co-ordinating the future expansion of both companies to ensure that the strengths of each are objectively considered.

Q. In what way will ATCO's control of Canadian Utilities and Calgary Power affect their borrowing power?

A. ATCO's control will in no way impact negatively on the borrowing capacity of the two companies. It may in fact strengthen their combined financial capability as they will have ATCO as a parent. Its financial strength could be made available if required.

Q. What kinds of experience does ATCO have that Canadian Utilities and Calgary Power may benefit from?

A. Both companies have been competently run and are well skilled in their fields. ATCO's contribution will come from its broad business experience which differs in many ways from that of either company. ATCO has an extensive background in meeting the needs of markets and customers in various parts of the world, while complying with the requirements of many forms of government. Its past experience in managing the complexity of a variety of enterprises will bring another dimension to utility management. As a holding company for 9 different types of industrial operations, ATCO is accustomed to setting policy and providing leadership where needed, yet allowing divisions to operate independently. Its corporate philosophy is well suited for decentralized direction of the utility operations.

Q. Is ATCO financially capable of making this investment?

A. Yes. The Province of Alberta Treasury Branches, the Bank of Montreal, and The Mercantile Bank of Canada have jointly committed to lend ATCO the funds with which it will purchase the shares.

Q. Will ATCO be able to repay these bank loans?

A. Yes. The banks are obviously satisfied that ATCO will be able to repay the loans or they would not lend the money. ATCO will have revenue from its own operations and from its investments in Canadian Utilities and Calgary Power. In addition, the company, if it needs to, will be able to arrange long-term financing or issue additional shares to the public.

Q. Is ATCO borrowing too much money for its equity?

A. No. ATCO has approximately $100 million in common shareholders equity, and over $110 million in preferred shareholders equity. In addition, ATCO expects to arrange additional preferred shareholders equity. On this basis, ATCO's debt to equity ratio will be less than 2 to 1. This is an acceptable ratio considering the assured nature of the earnings of Calgary Power and Canadian Utilities.

Q. Is it true that the Southern family controls ATCO?

A. Yes. The Southern family owns directly and indirectly 52% of the voting shares of ATCO. ATCO shares are traded on the stock exchanges and are available to anyone who wishes to participate in the ownership of the company.

Q. How does ATCO get its policy direction?

A. ATCO has a strong Board of Directors which deliberates all major policy matters and decides on the company's course of action.

Q. Is ATCO's offer of $21 per share fair?

A. In May 1980, Calgary Power directors valued the company's shares at $18.78. ATCO's offer is 24% higher. ATCO is advised that this is a significant and attractive premium for a utility.

Q. ATCO's offer is for 50.1% of Calgary Power voting shares. What happens if less than that number of shares are offered to ATCO?

A. ATCO will have the option to purchase any of the shares offered.

Q. What happens if ATCO is offered more than 50.1% of the shares?

A. ATCO will buy 50.1% and reserves the right to purchase more.

Q. Would this mean that a Calgary Power shareholder might end up having sold some shares and retaining some?

A. Yes.

Q. What will be the status of people who still own Calgary Power shares after ATCO completes its share purchase?

A. The book value of each share will be the same, and the earnings per share will be as high or higher than before. ATCO believes, for the reasons outlined on this page, that Calgary Power will have an improved outlook.

Q. What will happen to the staffs of Canadian Utilities and Calgary Power?

A. ATCO believes in letting the pro's do the pro's job. The staffs of the two companies will be given every encouragement to continue to deliver power and gas to Alberta's customers effectively, efficiently and innovatively. Specific changes in individual responsibilities, if appropriate, will depend on study of the most effective ways for the two utilities to work together. Obviously with the association between these three major companies, 30,000 employees in all, there will be substantially improved opportunities for employees to transfer from one company to another.

Q. Because ATCO will have varying interests in the two companies, will it face a conflict of interest in giving policy direction?

A. Assuming ATCO acquires 50.1% of Calgary Power voting shares (54% of common shares), its interests will be as follows:

Projected ATCO Interest in Calgary Power

Common Shares	54%
54% of Assets	$794 million
54% of Equity of common shareholders	$243 million
54% of Earnings applicable to common shares	$36 million

Projected ATCO Interest in Canadian Utilities -

Direct (58%) and indirect (22% through Calgary Power)
Common Shares	80%
80% of Assets	$818 million
80% of Equity of common shareholders	$236 million
80% of Earnings applicable to common shares	$ 33 million

Note: All dollar figures are based on 1979 year-end statements.

It can be seen that, although ATCO's percentage interest in Canadian Utilities would be higher, ATCO's interest in assets, common equity and earnings would be comparable. ATCO's intention will be to direct the policies of the two companies so that the greatest number of Albertans obtain the best service at the lowest cost.

Q. If a Calgary Power shareholder wishes to sell shares to ATCO under the terms of the ATCO offer, what is the next step?

A. Deliver the shares, together with the yellow "Letter of Acceptance and Transmittal" to any office of National Trust before 4:30 p.m. August 28. Delivery may be made through a broker, but the broker must meet the above deadline.

Badger Northland Boxes never see "The Forage Box Graveyard."

When it comes to forage boxes, nothing can beat a Badger Box.

Badger builds its own boxes right in Kaukauna, Wisconsin where they maintain rigid quality control.

A Badger Box is built with channel steel for extra strength and specially treated exterior grade plywood to resist acids, corrosion, and rot. The bolted undercarriage and chain drive are designed to take the toughest punishment.

And Badger Boxes hold their value
At trade-in time many Badger owners are surprised to see their box worth as much as when they bought it new.

Ryley's Fair proves successful

The 25th annual Ryley Fair proved to be the most successful ever.
A large increase in displays was noted, with a total of 800 entries over all.
School and vegetable classes registered the largest number of entries and Fair organizers were especially pleased to note the increase in the junior category with 118 entries.
The displays also featured a wide variety of handicrafts and hobbies; one of the more remarkable exhibits, a set of wooden toys handcrafted by Anna Kunkin.
A much larger crowd than any previous year took in the displays, animals and concerts.
Because of the fine weather, many and genuine interest in the fair was evident. The fair proved to be a great success with many people attending and workers.
Presented with pleasure by Harry Ryley, Bob Ryley, and the Ryley family.
Winners were: Individual aggregate, Barbara Kunkin; senior citizens aggregate, Mrs. L. Hailstone; junior aggregate, Zee Bekker; family aggregate, the George Bekker family.
As part of the program, the Ryley A.I. Unit acknowledged the work of some long-time local members and workers.
Presented with pleasure by Harry Ryley, Bob Ryley, and the Ryley family.
The Ryley family team emerged victorious in the tag of war. The winners were presented with the hand-crafted "Winners Original" trophy, specially made for this annual event.
Hunters and snails were brought out for the next event.

Interesting
There was a constant stream of interested people to view the photographic display which was on exhibition (for comparison) when Tofield held its annual Agricultural Fair.

Nominees are scarce

Although nomination day for possible civic elections this fall is only three weeks away, few politicians are indicating their intentions.
If required, civic elections will be held for County of Beaver County, County of Beaver Board of Education and Council in the Town of Tofield along with councils in the Villages of Ryley and Halden.
In all instances, nomination day will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 17 and elections, if needed, will be held on Oct. 13.
Contacted by The Mercury, most members of present elected bodies reacted by saying that it was too early to be making any decisions.
In a number of instances, The Mercury was told that some elected officials were planning to "wait and see" who else might be running.
The County of Beaver is divided into seven divisions, each now represented by a councillor.
George Kunkin of Ryley represents Division 6 and with other councillors being: Gordon Maxwell of Viking; Gordon Haines of Hurd; Eugene Eversick of Halden; Walter Kunkin of Ryley; and Charlie Hays of Tofield.
All councillors are automatic members of the Board of Education with Charlie Hays as chairman and Hilda Arrington as the vice-chairman's position.
Sitting on the Board of Education are town representatives are: Lee Kelly of Viking, Hester Semelich of Halden, Dave Wade of Ryley and Arnold Junt of Tofield.
The Village Council is composed of a mayor and four councillors.
Glen Shykora is the incumbent mayor with councillors being: Jack Stenhouse, John Lemke, Donald Demick and Marvin Giesbrecht.
The Village of Ryley is also served by a mayor and four councillors.
Ernest Brown is the present mayor and members of council are: Tom Kerlan, Richard Hays, Larry Andriewak and Ed Albert.
Tofield is guided by a mayor and a six-member council.
Dr. William Frerking is the chief magistrate's position while incumbent councillors are: Ed Replogle, Marie Worthen, Warren Watson, Larrie Hurdwick, Jack Lemke and Hans Christensen.
However, a motion was passed by a committee to be dispatched to various other communities to inspect existing fire halls to prepare a comprehensive report of desirable design plans. Until formation of a design, the realization of a new fire hall is at a standstill.

Monday is a holiday

Monday will be observed as the coming Monday and most places of business will be closed.
Government offices at all levels, banks and nearly all retail outlets will be closed for the day.
Convenience stores, service stations, restaurants and some drug stores will operate as usual, although some might observe shortened hours.
Only three other holidays remain in 1980. Thanksgiving Day (Oct. 13) along with Christmas and Boxing Day (Dec. 26 and 27) are the only holidays left in the year, after this coming Monday.

Society readies brief For pool's operations

The Ryley & District Recreation Society will be receiving a brief from the Beaver Heritage and Agricultural Society.
The brief will outline the capital expenditures and maintenance needed for the Ryley Swimming Pool, over the next few years.
The brief was prepared at a recent meeting of the Society.
Members were in agreement that the restructuring of the pool exterior and various other maintenance chores must be completed before winter.
It was agreed that monies from the memorial fund would be used to pay for the chairs around the pool and for the purchase of two hand-dryers which will be used by pool patrons.
Another purchase which members felt was necessary was the buying of five life-jackets for use in the survival swim lessons.
Other plans concerning the pool's operations were discussed briefly.
It was agreed that the pool would likely operate as long as sufficient interest was maintained and when patronage began to decline, the pool would likely be closed for the winter months.
The monthly (August) drive for $200 was made with Bevry Hays of Ryley being the winner.

Fire hall discussed

Also discussed at Council was the new self-contained mobile fire hall.
The units were expected to have a ready date of sometime in the October, however, it would appear that December may be possible in the first of spending.
QCTV, a cable television company based in Edmonton, has been contacted with regards to any objections to their application for cable to be installed in the Tofield area.
Council went on record as having no objections to the application.
Briefly discussed at Council was the program of the new street lights.
Construction of the street lights has been suspended by the utility company because the lights have been made to keep on close to the ground as possible.

Silver Medalist
Allen Andriewak, competitor in his first swim meet, won the silver medal in the 50 metre butterfly, held last weekend in Edmonton.

On the September 1 weekend get your slice of Alberta's birthday!

From August 28 - September 1, take your pick of good ways to celebrate Alberta's seventy-fifth birthday. Then get your family and friends together for the biggest birthday celebration of all Alberta 75. This year, the birthday party is being celebrated in a big way. The province is planning in honor of Alberta's seventy-fifth birthday. Like old-fashioned tag-of-war and watermelon seed spitting contests. Foot races and relay races.
Or, bring your family to Edmonton or Calgary for the day. See the Battle of 70 Years in Calgary or join in the fun at the Birthday Picnic at the Legislative Grounds on Monday. There's lots to see and do wherever you go.
If you plan to stay at home, don't miss the special television coverage of the official ceremonies at the Legislature on Monday. In the afternoon, catch the special half-hour show during the Edmonton vs. Calgary football game.
This September 1 weekend, join in Alberta's seventy-fifth anniversary celebrations and make it a week-long... and a year... to remember!

RAY STIMSON COMMUNITY CLERK
Thought some of you might be interested in hearing about the Ray Stinson Community Clinic held in Vegreville on August 12.
I enjoyed the day. Mr. Stinson formerly was a good group of the subject. The turnout of farmers was quite good and it looked to me like all listened real well. Some of the main items (of a general nature) covered were:
1) Show all your road laws so that they are all within 30 thousandths of an inch of one another. This will eliminate the high bar which "class laws" every revolution of the cylinder.
2) Take all your wind deflectors out and don't use them.
3) Put a corner under the first part of your carcasses.
4) Be sure your vehicle master is running at the proper rpm's.
After listening to the talk I thought that Ray Stinson's comments certainly made sense. He was not afraid to stand behind his recommendations. One of the comments he made was "I.D.H. When finished, it would keep up with a J.D. 750. How that performance!"
I've ordered a book from Ray Stinson - it will be at the back."

At the Community Association meeting last Thursday it was decided to hold the next work party on Sept. 30, starting at 10 a.m.

A small start has been made by the County of Simcoe on the grounds, but it is hoped that this will be sufficiently advanced to begin the much needed tree planting program this fall. As the tree planting grant has been received, and it was resolved at the meeting to get underway with this project.

There will be a workshop in early October devoted to making costumes for Halloween and other fancy dress occasions, and soon afterwards, the hall will be starting regular bingo and other evening fun.

Full Forum recently returned.

of Iron Quebec City where in joined students from various parts of Canada in a six-week French immersion course, sponsored by the Federal Government.

At the Ladies' Club meeting last week, the District Home Extension, Mrs. Mary Macdonald, discussed problems with preserving food by freezing, canning and jelly-making and demonstrated a jam which has sugar content, made by the use of a special type substance instead of sugar.

Miles of Smiles

Introducing S-Series Medium and Medium-Heavies from International

Finally, something built like a tank... the S-Series, the result of many years testing in harshest conditions, has arrived. It's the most advanced truck ever built. It's the most advanced truck ever built. It's the most advanced truck ever built.

Here are just a few of the proven features that assure you miles of miles:

- Many cab pieces are one-piece, used steel for protection against corrosion. Also, dash and rear door panels are one-piece, used steel for protection against corrosion.
- Front ends are full length, full depth. Cross bar frame.
- Door panels and inner panels are of one-piece construction. They provide for easy replacement.
- There are 15 power windows, including gas lift. All models are available with automatic transmission.
- Modern electric systems make repairs easier. Parts standardization makes diagnosis, repairs, truck productivity.
- Build a dash heater or conditioner makes cab more comfortable. Security shields of chrome trim protect the paint.
- In the field, on rough, rocky roads, new S-Series medium and medium-heavy series have a standard of performance and operating ease that leaves other trucks behind.
- Compare. Visit your nearby B1 dealer and let him help you choose the S-Series model that's right for your business operation.

Kids' Day succeeds

by Grace Phillips
"Kids' Day," courtesy of the Tofield Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion, gave the pre-teen group in Tofield on Saturday, their very own chance to participate in a special event in Alberta's 75th Anniversary year.

Despite the early afternoon rain, by two o'clock the youngsters from babies to 15-year-olds were lined up on the Exhibition grounds for the pony rides, hot dogs, ice cream, pop and balloons provided "for free" by the Legion.

The members of the Legion in charge of the day were:

PUBLISHED WEEKLY AT TC-FIELD, ALBERTA

The Mercury

Presentation
Dr. Walter Buck, M.A., presents a gold medal to Hilda Simpson as part of 15th anniversary celebrations. Presentations honouring senior citizens took place at the Tofield Lodge on Monday night.

Incumbents undecided

... except in Horden

With Councilors Hans Thielmann, Jack Lampl, Warren Watson, Marie Wooten, and Ed Rappier all apparently undecided.

Mayor Osh Skjott is still undecided and is not expected to make a final decision about his political career until next week.

Councillor Richard Kops has announced that he will file nomination papers and seek a new three-year term of office. Mayor Ernest Brown, while still undecided, told The Mercury that he had his long career in local politics and may decide not to run again.

Councillors Ed Albrecht, Larry Andruschuk and Tom Swine are still undecided.

Councillor Laurie Weatherhead has decided not to seek re-election. Weatherhead, who has three young children with whom he would like to spend more time, said he had already accepted a great deal of his time.

Mayor W.H. Freeseberg also has decided not to seek re-election. Freeseberg, who has three young children with whom he would like to spend more time, said he had already accepted a great deal of his time.

Other members of council are Eugene Kwiatkowski, Gordon Holmes of Horden, Gordon Maxwell of Village, Hilda Armitage of Kinross and Steve George of Horden.

All members of the Beaver Council are automatic members of the Board of Education, along with four town representatives.

None of the town representatives have stated their intentions. They include Armitage, Holmes, Skjott, Rappier, and Hilda.

The old Amisk Creek School is looking for a home. The school was moved to Tofield three years ago but, is not longer able to be used as a teaching unit. Despite the possession of the building should contact the County of Horden if it wants the building. It will be demolished.

County checks signs

by Lester Pearson
The County of Beaver passed a motion last Thursday to purchase a carload of signs from the City of Canada that will enable the County to have a correct inventory of all road signs and their condition. After a film presentation by the County, the councillors were made aware of the number of signs in the County. The County has that for a period of years this system will allow signs to become up-to-date and properly maintained.

County signs or signs that are put up as a goodwill gesture to residents, and that there is no law requiring the creation of signs.

However, after signs are established from the County is responsible for their maintenance. Accidents signs could result in a lawsuit. Council expressed concern over this issue and hoped that concerned citizens would contact and properly maintain their own signs.

John Landon has stated that the complete building has been moved a few feet north of its former location, in order to make room for a smaller house.

Ryley Pool News

Last week marked the end of a very successful season for the Ryley Golden Swims Club. They started at the first of May and trained until the provincial swim meet (third weekend in August) and had the last week in August for the and games.

This was the first year the club competed and they did very well.

If anyone is interested in becoming a Gator next year, watch for registration in mid-April.

The Swims Club is a group of swimmers, any age, who practice and perfect their strokes by instruction and coaching and if the swimmer so desires, he/she competes in the various competitions (races) at swim meets.

The last and found at the pool was emptied last week and all items were donated to Goodwill. These items had been enclosed since the pool opened in March. From now on, any items turned in to last and found, will be kept for two weeks, then will be taken to Goodwill.

If you have any bleach bottles, vinegar bottles or large plastic containers that will float, the pool will graciously accept them for their Meats and Tots programs and for the pre-swimmers to learn to swim with.

The pool would also appreciate any old toys that you would care to donate for the pre-swimmers as well. These items help the children learn to swim.

The fall program starts Monday, Sept. 15 and machines are now available. Copies will also be sent home with school children.

Programs include a morning class of Meats and Tots, a Fun for Five class on Mondays and Wednesdays, adult lessons on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, a brown class Tuesday and Thursday afternoon (6-7), swimming lessons from 9:30 and 4:15, as well as the recreation center held every Sunday in Thursday.

If you would like a copy of the schedule, wish to find out more about lessons, register for classes, or have a suggestion for program to be run this fall, call the pool at 663-3488.

Cancer fund-raisers become active in city

... inspired by Fox

Terry Fox's tremendous courage in attempting to raise funds for cancer research has inspired action in Coquitlam.

The young B.C. man, who nearly four years ago lost a leg to cancer, has set a cross-country marathon to raise funds for cancer research when his trek was halted in Ontario where it was discovered that the disease had spread to his lungs.

His courage inspired tremendous response across the country and a telephone hot-line evening is estimated to have raised about ten million dollars.

A number of Coquitlam residents contributed during the telephone hot line, more direct action is forthcoming. CCHS students will be holding a walk-a-thon on Friday, Sept. 18.

Plans for the walk-a-thon had not been finalized by the Students Union, sponsors of the fund-raising effort, as starting residents that students will be canvassing the city, looking for pledges.

CCHS students were motivated by Mr. Fox's courage and by the fact that a comic, Bill Fox, is a student at the school.

Coat of Arms

During ceremonies in Edmonton on the Labour Day weekend, the Province of Alberta officially received its Coat of Arms which will replace the Alberta Shield, designed to the province in 1907. Mottos on the Coat of Arms is "Fortis et Liber" which is Latin for "Strong and Free". Much of the work in getting Alberta its Coat of Arms was done by Alberto a Chief of Protocol, John C. Whalley. Only four other provinces have their own Coat of Arms.

with all your heart...

Your gift to CARE helps needy people improve their lives by their own efforts. It is their labour which builds a durable house, a school, a nutrition centre, a safer water system, a farm-to-market road. You make it possible for CARE to supply whatever else is required: technical advice, cement, roofing, piping, pumps, picks, shovels and wheelbarrows.

Your gift means safer water for rural families. A village pump means no more lost time and energy walking miles for the day's supply. It means better sanitation and reduction of energy-sapping diseases. It means more children can practice and attend school. It means their mothers can devote more time to household tasks, attend school. It means their mothers can devote more time to household tasks, attend school. It means their mothers can devote more time to household tasks, attend school.

With your help, CARE's multifaceted agricultural programs can provide materials and instruction in the planting and care of vegetable and tree seedlings; fish pond and construction, stocking and maintenance; food canning procedures and facilities; co-operative farming methods and soil conservation; construction of irrigation systems for better crops, silos and other storage facilities for the harvest.

Send your donation to-day to CARE Canada

Dept. 4 1312 Bank Street Ottawa K1S 5H7

Working with local governments through Self-Help programs carefully tailored to local crops and customs, CARE augments feeding programs with health education to bring about long-range diet improvement. Mothers are given basic instructions in health and nutrition while their pre-school children receive nutritious supplements, immunization, vitamins and medicines at CARE-built health clinics in many developing countries. You aid, through CARE, helps build these clinics which serve people in remote villages. Many more are needed.

Your support can also help CARE and the isolation of remote communities in countries where land transportation is poor or virtually non-existent. The building of penetration roads makes possible the delivery of seeds, fertilizers and equipment and enables extension workers to reach rural communities with their expertise in the development of improved methods of agricultural production. Harvested crops can be transported to marketing centres, thus providing farmers with additional income to feed their families.

The sick and hungry people of the world have no time to wait for big development plans to materialize. They need our help now.

The Homemaker

by Maureen Bauman
District Home Economist
Maureen Bauman is a home economist with the Ministry of Agriculture and Food. She has been a homemaker for many years and is again looking for bag lunch ideas.

A bag lunch should contain certain foods, to ensure a nutritionally balanced meal. One easy rule of thumb is: include at least one food from each of the four food groups. Bread or a muffin are choices from the bread and cereal group, meat or peanut butter filling from meat group, cheese or milk from dairy group and a piece of fruit are all that's needed.

Variety, is the key to packing lunches. It may be hard to think creatively (freezing in the morning, but planning ahead before you sleep, helps.

Many recipes make a light filling. Then include a bag of potato in the lunch for protein.

Other interesting foods for lunch could be a baked apple, stuffed celery, pickles, nuts and raisins, cherry tomatoes or a slice of melon.

If you are wanting more specific information on nutrition, fillings, please contact this office and ask for the publication, "The Portable Lunch" or "All About Sandwiches". They are both free for the taking.

When making fillings you need not stick to meat. Try using chicken breast, or minced green chives with drained applesauce. Peanut butter is another versatile filling. It mixes well with honey, sliced apples or crumbled bread.

We often think of the filling as the source of protein in a lunch, but it doesn't have to be. Sliced tomatoes, lettuce, chopped green onions and

Confronting Your Faith

By Eric Mills
Pastor, Tofield
Phone 662-3462

A short while ago I got married and received a call. (And I don't mean my wife—she's a dear!) Recently, my wife and I got around to giving our own (a Hameson children) a

In our home, naming a kitchen is no small matter. We usually choose a name that would speak of our wedding. We also usually choose a name that would somehow capture our cat's character.

After coming an entire book of female names, we finally chose "Malala." It's an Israeli name, meaning "girl." Besides being a wedding gift, the kitten's unusual yet gentle and affectionate ways remind us of God's goodness in giving us, as it were, as gifts to each other.

Perhaps in our quest to name Malala, we went to an extreme. I really don't know. But I do know that when it comes to human beings, God seems to regard names as being very significant.

His interest in names tells us, for one thing, that He considers people to be very important. There may be four billion of us here on planet Earth, but God saw it that each of us would be known by a name.

Codes or numbers would never do for a God who would be willing to die for each individual human being.

That kind of care ought to tell us what He thinks of any person or project that threatens another person. And it might to underscore to us, too, that people—all people—are very important. For each of us bears God's image.

Second, in Scripture we frequently find God changing people's names. He seems to do it when people are prepared and ready for His special blessing.

A Jacob becomes an Israel. An Abram an Abraham. A Sarai a Sarah. A Simon a Peter. And a Saul a Paul.

In a similar way, I believe that God changes people's names today. Not Saul to Paul, Simon to Jesus, or Peter to Harold.

But when people today are ready for His blessing, God changes hearts to fearless, despises to joyful, repents to peaceful, bad to good, and sinners to saints.

And to each one of us He gives a common name: beloved of God.

Just when God changes a person's name it really does make a difference. For God only gives us good, perfectly chosen names. And then He changes the person to fit the name.

1st annual picnic

Over one hundred people associated with Century 21 held the first annual picnic, held in Tofield last

The picnic, which is destined to become an annual event, was organized by Ray Tilling. Although the weather put a temporary damper on the picnic, the picnic was a success. The picnic was held at the gym of the Tofield School, where all participated in games of volleyball, basketball and cheer hockey.

On hand for the festivities were, John Henry, vice-president for Western Canada; Richard Mercer, director of sales and management; Ian Simon, senior director of sales management; and well as representatives from all of Northern Associates of Century 21 and their families partook of a barbecue dinner at the Community Hall and danced the night away at the disco that followed.

Kate Simpson, representative for Century 21 in Tofield, commented that they were pleased to be holding the first picnic and despite the weather, all had a good time.

RCMP make arrests

RCMP have arrested three men connected with the rash of break and enters that hit five homes in Tofield last week.

Most items stolen from Macleod, Denim Town, Master Dry Cleaners, Value

Drug Mart and the Town and Country Drug Mart have been recovered.

The three suspects were arrested after a police investigation and will be detained until they appear in court.

In an unrelated incident, RCMP have three suspects in custody after the Holden Farm and Ranch Center was broken into on Saturday night.

Two of the men are from British Columbia.

The three were arrested shortly after the alleged incident, operating a stolen vehicle.

A search of the vehicle revealed in a stambling drug sale.

All goods taken from the break and entry were recovered.

Tofield Lions are holding their 3rd annual "Newcomers Dance" in the Community Hall on Sept. 27.

Tofield Ethnic Festival will be held in the arena on Friday, starting at 7:30 p.m., under the sponsorship of the Tofield Historical Society.

Held on planning 75th anniversary celebrations for Oct. 18 and 19.

Pre-registration and a general meeting for Brownies and Girl Guides will be held in Tofield School Library on Friday, Sept. 27.

There will be a bingo in Tofield Legion Hall on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Farmers are frustrated

It was nice when it lasted! Nearly a week of sunshine and warm weather was put to good use by area farmers who expected to take crop off one hour in their field trying to harvest the 1980 crop.

These rains started falling again. The weathering has proved to a complete halt and most farmers expect it will be sometime next week before they can return to the fields, and then only if good conditions prevail over the next few days.

The warm spell meant, for quite a few, that they might get into their fields for the first time. The rain dashed that hope into the muddy ground. Some farmers have told The Canadian that the ground will have to freeze before it would suit harvesting equipment and unless October is unusually warm, others are already expecting to take crop off next spring.

Canadians area farmers made good use of the warm weather to get eighty percent of the crop harvested.

All of the dry, along with three-quarters of rapped and one-quarter of oats is cut with a start yet to be made to this.

Some farmers also made gains last week with all of the rapped crop having been cut and one-half of barley being cut.

Thirty percent of barley, ten percent of oats and fifty percent of wheat has been threshed. All of the first has been cut and only about fifteen percent of all other crops remain to be cut.

After a slow start, Round Hill farmers have gained fifteen to twenty percent of the wheat crop since they got forty percent of the rapped crop cut to date.

Turning operations got underway in the Okanagan region and farmers now have twenty percent of rapped and ten percent of the barley threshed. Eighty percent of the rapped crop has been cut.

About one-half of barley, one-quarter of oats and fifteen percent of wheat has been cut. Farmers in the New Keweenaw region spent most of their time cutting crops although some threshing was done.

Thirty percent of rapped and twenty percent of barley has been threshed and a start was made to wheat and oats.

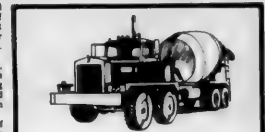

Nearly all of the rapped and about three-quarters of barley has been cut with just over sixty percent of all other crops having been cut to date.

In the Tofield area, threshing operations took last week with farmers taking fifteen to twenty percent of rapped and ten percent of barley from the fields.

Over eighty percent of rapped and barley has been cut.

The last report from the Holden region indicated that nearly all of the crop should be just about cut and threshing operations should have gotten underway early last week.

For a second successive week reports from the Dayland and Ryley regions were not received by press time.

Mercury Morsels

Every week we will be featuring a delicious delicacy to pamper your palate, and our first week brings you a luscious delight from Margie's in Tofield.

Margie feels this may be the answer to difficult desserts and necessary vitamins all in one chocolate cupcake.

We all know how difficult it is to convince children to eat their vegetables and you may wonder about this "milk" that is so popular.

Now, for the solution to such problems: meet a chocolate "cupcake" called "milk".

- 1 cup margarine
- 2 sugar
- 3 eggs
- 1/2 cup whole wheat flour or all-purpose
- 1/2 cup baking powder
- 1/4 cup baking soda
- 1 cup cinnamon
- 3 cups chocolate chips

For large quantity you may wish to disregard and:

- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 cup vanilla
- 1 cup (optional)
- Grease pan - 3x4x3 loaf pan or 12 square or 24 round

cupcakes or 3 doz. cupcakes.

Wash spinach and grate into bowl. Pour milk over in a large bowl cream together butter and sugar and beat eggs in one at a time. In a separate bowl stir together flour, cocoa, salt, baking powder, soda and cinnamon. Add sifted dry ingredients in three stages alternating with spinach-milk mixture. Stir in the vanilla and nuts. Beat well. Offer with vanilla and luke salt.

Next week we take a stroll down Highway 14 to Ryley to take in Barb Johnson's Pineapple Upside Down Cake. If you feel you have a recipe that deserves mention submit it to The Mercury and please it will be a Mercury Morsel.

We're learning... and we'd like to share our results with you.

Since 1975, we've been learning how to restore agricultural land disturbed by surface mining for coal. And now you to learn about the kind of demonstration work we've been doing. That's why we're inviting you to an open house on September 19 at the Shaw Community Association Hall. From 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. there will be guided tours of the reclamation test plots, ongoing question and answer periods, along with coffee, sandwiches and doughnuts. Just in case we have bad weather that day, the open house will be held on September 26.

We've also compiled all results of the yield data into a handy, pocket-size pamphlet — yours for the asking. Send for your free copy of the Fourth Annual Report — Land Reclamation Demonstrations at the Camrose-Ryley Coalfield, 1978.

Four students die in traffic mishap

Three of the students are from Rixley and the fourth was a friend from nearby Bound. The Rixley victims included Ernest George Corberg, 17, Craig Marshall Coleman, 17, 18, and Larry Joseph Nacomechey, 18, while the Mundare youth was Ralph Vincent Burgwin, 18.

The four had reportedly been drinking and were on their way to a party when the mishap occurred.

The vehicle in which they were travelling was owned by Larry Nacomechey although

According to reports, the vehicle apparently went out of control when it failed to negotiate a curve, entered the ditch, struck an approach and backed, landing on its rear.

The driver of the vehicle was not all thrown out and were reported to have died instantly.

It is because they were thrown out that the police were uncertain just who was driving.

The mishap occurred on Highway 17, about one mile east of Mundare and is estimated to have occurred at approximately 11:30 p.m.

Rolf Kleiss, owner of the goats, stated that when he woke last Tuesday morning (14th) he glanced out his window to see a rather large black dog chewing on one of his missus.

Kleiss grabbed his gun and went down to the yard and saw that three of his goats were dead and two missing.

He was well within his rights to shoot the animal. The other two goats were a short distance away from the animal.

Klone feels he may have information to the incident. He would be happy to share it with anyone who wants dogs to be kept off livestock.

He stated that the offending dogs come from acreages for the most part they are up during the day but, at evening hours, their owners blame, they are in to run.

Klone feels that the dogs are not aware of their owners' dogs are not letting them in because they like their pets. However, when the dogs get together in packs, they go after the livestock.

Mr. Klone feels that if the situation is left as is, more damage will be killed as the supervisors concern the dogs may possibly turn on a child, who may surprise them one morning.

More and more farmers in the area are taking action and destroying the dogs on sight. Klone feels that if the dogs that any dog interfering with livestock may be shot on sight.

It will need the support, indeed the financial support, of large numbers of Albertans, to get the foundation up and running, but what better tribute could there be for the man who carved such a memorable niche for himself in the minds not only of Albertans, but really, all Canadians, as he served this province first in the Legislature, and now in the Senate? Albertans have long scoffed at the idea that the Almighty put the oil in the ground waiting for Social Credit to discover it, but the picture of development, and concurrently Alberta's emerging development, could well have been far different with someone at the helm who was less of a statesman.

Garbage bylaw action left for new council

by Lady Thomas
Tofield garbage by-law may need some reworking but will have to wait until the new council is elected.

School trustees Arnold Swift approached Council regarding garbage disposal at C.R.

It means that the action from the incinerator are being left at the school because they are not put in plastic bags. Instead of the plastic bags they are left in the house ready to be scooped out.

Council felt that discretion should be exercised on the part of the garbage collectors and they will be instructed to dispose of the action from the school.

Chairman Laurie Weatherill feels that the existing by-law is too stringent and suggested that a new one be drafted to appease the citizens of Tofield a little more.

The discussion of a new by-law will be the responsibility of the new council.

Council has contributed

$1,000 towards a concrete pad to be built at the Tofield school. The pad will serve various functions such as volleyball, basketball, and in the future a tennis court.

Directions for council will be held on Oct. 10th and voting will be held in the Community Hall. An advance party will be held October 8 from 7-9 p.m. in the Town Office.

Construction should begin shortly in the new lower level and library. Within the next ten days, the library will be moved and during that time will remain closed. Re-opening of the library is a temporary location will be announced at a later date but, until then, over due books may remain at home and no fines will be levied.

COMMUNISM, the families, new responsibilities, responsibilities to the very old and the very young, to the handicapped and disadvantaged, to single parents, the elderly, the poor and the unemployed, to the future of the world and the future of the world.

With the best will in the world, there are rarely enough workers with enough time to give to improve projects like these, and there's never enough money to do everything that should be done.

Well right now, in this community, there are people looking for useful work to do. Men, women and teenagers, many with skills they're anxious to use and improve, who could help provide those needed extra services.

And so far as the Government of Canada is concerned, there's nothing more important than to give them the chance.

Mazankowski's cheeks western transport

Vancouver, Victoria and Prince Rupert at the end of September as part of a study of transport matters across the country.
Among the issues to be discussed, that of grain handling and transportation is most prominent. Meetings will be held with Dr. Hugh Horner, the Grain Transportation Coordinator, as well as provincial officials, port managers, and other interested parties.

The low volume of grain handling and transportation is being moved through the Port of Churchill will be a major topic as well as the delays in loading time on the new terminal at Prince Rupert.

The whole question of the effective use of Edmonton's three airports, the International, Municipal, and the small aircraft facility at Wilfrid Laurier, will be examined during the Committee's Alberta visit. The special problems experienced by Northern Alberta residents in moving grain will also be studied.

Other areas to be reviewed include Coast Guard facilities and Vessel Traffic Management of the West Coast, and rail passenger service in

INTRODUCING
THE NEW ALBERTA CORPORATE INCOME TAX ADMINISTRATION

What is it
As part of a new Alberta business incentive system to be directed at stimulating economic growth, the Government of Alberta will administer its own corporate income tax as of January 1, 1981.
A provincial income tax for corporations in Alberta is not new. What is new is that corporations in Alberta will file tax returns and remit taxes to the province separate from their federal income taxes effective with taxation year starting after 1980.
Unincorporated businesses and individuals are not affected by this change.
Alberta taxes will be handled by the new Corporate Tax Administration Branch of Alberta Treasury.

What To Do
This month, a package of materials including an "Alberta Corporate Tax Information Return" (Form AT-7) and its completion guide will be mailed to all corporations registered with the Companies Branch of Alberta Consumer and Corporate Affairs.
The AT-7 is a simple, one-page form intended to provide Corporate Tax Administration with certain pertinent information about companies in Alberta. Corporations are asked to watch for mail from Corporate Tax Administration and to respond to it quickly. The completion and prompt return of this form will facilitate the smooth transition of corporations to the new system.

How To Learn More
The Corporate Tax Administration will begin to issue Information Circulars, Interpretation Bulletins, and other material explaining administrative policies and various provisions of The Alberta Corporate Income Tax Act before the end of 1980.
A corporation may be placed on the mailing list for this information by so indicating on the AT-7 form. Others who want to receive such material should send a card indicating the desired, including their full name and address. Please direct all enquiries to

Election plans are finalized

Plans have been finalized for voters to go to the polls in the County of Beaver, the Town of Tofield and the Village of Ryley.

Five councillors have to be elected in the county, a mayor and six councillors must be chosen in Tofield and Ryley voters will elect a total of five councillors.

Two councillors were elected by acclamation in the county, the entire council in Halden was filled by acclamation and Ryley's school trustees were supposed to be re-elected.

On Oct. 15th, in all instances, will open at ten o'clock in the morning and remain open until eight o'clock in the evening.

Two incumbents were re-elected by acclamation, four are running again and one person will be new to the council table.

Gordie Maxwell will again represent Division 1 while Gordon Holmes will be Division 3's representative since both were not opposed in their re-election bids.

Division 4 will provide council with its new member with newcomer Elgar Grinde, Albin Lukawiecki and Victor Romanuk contesting the seat.

Polls for this division will be held in the Halden and Berwick Community Halls.

Division 5's race will see incumbent Horrida Amalgath facing newcomer Clark McLean with polls being located in the Kinross Elks Hall and the Fred Johnston residence.

Incumbent Eugene Ewaschuk is being opposed by newcomer George Nell in Division 6. In last week's report, it was incorrectly stated that Mr. Ewaschuk was a former Division 4 councillor.

Polls in Division 5 will be located in the Halden Community Hall and the St. Mary's Community Centre.

Division 6 will see the incumbent reeve, George Knudsen, do battle with Otis Phillips with polls to be located in the County Office and the Anderson Community Centre.

Incumbent Charlie Sears of Division 7 has two opponents in the persons of Harold May and John Warner. Polls have been established in the Tofield and Splitstone Community Halls and the Melvin Walker residence.

Two persons are seeking the mayor's chair and ten candidates will contest the six council seats.

Incumbent W.H. Presbury is facing newcomer Cliff Summers in the mayor's race.

In the council race, incumbents Hans Christensen, Jack Langstaff, Ed Ragbir, Laurie Woodworth and Marie Werian are being opposed by Bruce Dalley, Tom Lyle, Peggy Nahrniak, Jack Newfield and Doug Wadkin.

The battle for the trustee's position will be between incumbent Arnold Swift and newcomer Dave Dorrill.

An advance poll will be held in the Town Council Chambers on Wednesday, from seven o'clock till nine o'clock in the evening.

On voting day, the poll will be located in the Community Hall.

Fourteen candidates, including four incumbents are seeking the five seats on the village council.

Dave Wilde was not opposed in his bid to retain his seat on the County Board of Education.

Seeking re-election are Ed Albrecht, Larry Andrews, Ernest Brown and Richard Egan with the new candidates being Bill Brass, Sarah Desmaris, Bob Hamner, Berles Kodrowski, Wayne Kauler, Jack McLean, John Michaluk, John Muschak, Bill Owsen and Linda Verbitzky.

Voting will take place in the Ryley Community Hall.

All officials in Halden were elected by acclamation.

Returning to office on village council are Donnie Daniluk, John Lemko and Osh Shykora and they will be joined by newcomers Anna Shvachuk and Nick Shishinski.

Nestar Semetluk was returned by acclamation as the village's trustee for the County Board of Education.

Fire alarm sounds

At approximately 8:30 a.m. Friday morning, the Town of Tofield was abruptly awakened by the sounds of the fire alarm.

Volunteer firemen hastened to the scene of a vehicle fire, roughly two miles west and two miles south of the town corporate limits.

A tanker truck, carrying gravel, had apparently caught fire after the rear brakes failed, causing extensive friction and intense heat. The heat caused the four rear passenger tires to blow.

Within minutes of the arrival, the firemen had extinguished the blaze, but not before the frame of the truck was lost.

The frame, made of aluminum, buckled somewhat under the heat that reached a temperature of almost 1200 degrees Fahrenheit.

In comparison, the melting point of cast iron is 2200 degrees, 800 degrees less than that of the aluminum.

That, coupled with the 20 ton load of gravel, was enough to warp the frame of the truck.

The driver of the truck apparently tried to put out the fire by shovelling gravel on it, but with little success.

County Fire Chief, Laurie Woodworth, stated that the fire could have been easily extinguished and little damage suffered, had the truck been equipped with a fire extinguisher.

Saturday afternoon at approximately 1:30 p.m., the alarm sounded again, and the fire department responded to another vehicle fire, this time at the Hastings Lane turnoff on Highway 16.

Apparently a 1954 medium van had caught fire after the bearings in the rear axle failed, the axle bent, causing the oil to ignite.

Again, the vehicle was not equipped with an extinguisher.

However, a good Samaritan passing by did have one and extinguished the fire before it had a chance to spread.

Shykora is re-elected

Osh Shykora will be a mayor of Halden for the next year.

Shykora was elected to the Village's top post when the new council held its organizational meeting last Wednesday.

Elected to the post of deputy mayor was Councillor John Lemko.

Councillors agreed that regular meetings will be held on the second Wednesday of each month, in the village office, starting at 7:30 p.m.

All five elected officials were appointed to head different departments.

Mayor Shykora is responsible for finance, civic ceremonies, supervision of employment and representation on the hospital board.

Deputy Mayor Lemko will look after public works and senior citizens with his specific responsibilities being streets and lights, sidewalks, drainage and representation on the Beaver Foundation.

Councillor Donnie Daniluk will look after emergency services and tourism which includes police, fire, ambulance, village garage, emergency planning and representation to the Battle River Tourist Association.

Councillor Anna Shvachuk

will look after recreation and facilities which includes the Recreation Board, Regional Arts Centre, the community hall and representation on the Vaila Lodge Management Board.

Councillor Nick Shishinski is responsible for utilities, environment which includes water, sewer, sanitation, waste and rural development.

Ryley gets new officer

by Lesley Primeau
The Village of Ryley has acquired the services of a new secretary-treasurer.

The post became vacant when Ray Howland moved to Lacombe.

Shelia Pitt, a resident of Ryley for the past two years, has been learning the ropes over the summer.

Assisted by the capable Marie Britz, Shelia should have no trouble adjusting to the demands of the job.

She and her husband are very involved with the community, involving themselves with activities that include their two sons.

Shelia is very active with the Cubs and Beavers and is a rare moment, might be caught chasing shunks that have played her neighbourhood of late.

Rights

As Secretary of State, Hon. Francis Fox this week announced a grant of over $75,000 has been made to the Civil Liberties and Human Rights Associations, to help them promote and distribute information on human rights to the general public and to voluntary organizations.

A simple little one page news report on the matter refers to rights no less than seven times, including Mr. Fox's commendation of the organization's work of "reducing prejudice and guarding the fundamental rights of Canadians".

We don't begrudge us organization a penny of it. Maybe they need more.

But, somehow, we'd be interested to hear either their association, or Mr. Fox, refer once in a while to the responsibilities of Canadians, as well as their rights.

Somewhere, we can't get away from the basic proposition that civil liberties carry a corresponding obligation, that rights incur responsibility, that one person's personal freedom is strictly limited to the point where it impinges on the freedom of another person.

Nobody likes hearing this sort of thing, and it's no fun to read it, but it's not saying it. But it is one of the features that distinguish democracy, and makes living here far better than it is under the totalitarian form of government, where all too often they laugh at your claim to "rights".

Too many of us want to look only at the "Asset" side of the ledger, without looking at the corresponding "Liabilities" column.

Daylight VIA

If you bang away on the drum for a sufficient period, it seems, someone hears.

Many train travellers have thought for years that no-one was listening, but starting September 29 VIA Rail has implemented changes which have been suggested for several decades by train riders.

They are going to make the trip through the mountains in all daylight hours, so the passengers can see the country.

For years it has bothered passengers that they might start out in daylight and end up in daylight, or entirely vice versa, but a big portion of the trip was always in the darkness, so that they missed one of the biggest bonuses of the trip.

Now, by adjusting the timetables of trains from ten to twelve hours, all across Canada, passengers will get to "see the mountains". And something timetable experts have discovered, though they'd seemingly never looked before, is that better arrival and departure times are achieved at several major points on the transcontinental system.

Isn't it amazing how everything comes to him who waits? And thousands of passengers gave up their suggestions would ever be heard.

Peter Ward's Ottawa Viewpoint...

Canadian Comment

by Peter Ward
The last series of report cards for ministers in Trudeau cabinet is coming at you today. We won't get them all in, but those who haven't been mentioned really haven't done brightly, or badly either.

Minister H.A. "Bud" Ouellet, Minister of Economic Development. Lord knows, he has tried, but so far with not much effect because of the fact that his colleagues are preoccupied with things like constitutional reform. Ouellet was a force in getting the Alaska Pipeline agreement and he has been some cabinet thinking towards western interests. He deserves a severe rating for effectiveness, and an eight for politics.

Andre Ouellet, Minister of External Affairs, and Minister of International Trade. Ouellet seems to have curbed previous disastrous misadventure, and he continues to be a real power player for the Liberals in Quebec. If he can do something with the Post Office...

as, as presented in the bill to convert it into a Crown corporation, it may be having a somewhat lack-lustre performance in Minister and Corporate Affairs, and a provision for effectiveness.

Minister Bagnall, Health and Welfare — this is one of the issues left over by the Liberal Party, and it shows in the way it runs the department. Some of the measures pushed at Canadians haven't been as effective as they should be in political terms. Bagnall is a first class in both politics and effectiveness.

Minister MacGillivray, External Affairs — The new minister with the minor portfolio has put his foot in it a couple of times, but he is having a far better record in Canada's foreign policy than most observers expected. Give him a passing mark for politics, and about the same in effectiveness, naming him as the Prime Minister's official spokesperson.

Minister Doherty, Economic Development — The Minister is extremely popular on the west coast, but as a minister without being involved, he may not be judged enough. He has been in the cabinet for a long time, but he has not been as effective as he should be in his portfolio.

Minister Kaplan, Solicitor General — He has been an asset of the Liberal Party, but his performance rating him as a first class portfolio, without getting the government into trouble, but without being spectacular. That means he deserves a cut of 10 in both categories.

The only other minister who deserves a mention is Ed Manning, who is making something concrete out of his responsibilities in Trade, Political and practical performance from him have been worthy of eight marks out of 10.

Harvesting resumes

The sun has been shining, a drying wind has blown and farmers are expected to start harvesting in the next few weeks.

In some regions, farmers were able to resume harvesting over the weekend and the weather is expected to resume operations by mid-week and the really wet areas should be dry enough by the end of this week.

According to a number of farmers, once operations resume, much of the 1980 harvest will be completed in about two weeks.

In some regions, farmers were able to resume harvesting over the weekend and the weather is expected to resume operations by mid-week and the really wet areas should be dry enough by the end of this week.

Mrs. Worsen belongs to the Ag. Society, the garden club and sits on the Tofteld Lodge Management Board. With regards to the last item, she stated that she enjoys the work and felt the council had contributed to the community, and she would like to "continue with projects initiated by the current council."

Although earlier he had stated that he would not seek re-election, Laurie Weatherill announced his decision when it became apparent that council might have given in to an amendment. Mr. Weatherill believes the citizens of Tofteld have the right to elect to sit, the councilors of their choice. Mr. Weatherill has lived in Tofteld all his life, and he and his wife Viv make their home there.

Employed by the County of Berne as the agricultural fieldman, Mr. Weatherill also serves as the county fire chief. Mr. Weatherill is for progress within the town and wishes to improve as being "in good with the community to insure business and industry." Further to that, he explains that he foresees healthy progress that will benefit the town as a whole and generate interest within the community, but he feels certain that progress for the sake of progress is not necessarily a good thing.

Incumbent Arnold Swift will be opposed in his bid for school trustee by Dave Darrell. Mr. Swift has only served in this capacity for one and one-half years. Though he is not a newcomer to politics, having served 36 years on town council in Tofteld. He and his wife Joyce have resided in Tofteld all their lives and Mr. Swift feels he can make a contribution to the community by continuing to serve on the County Board of Education.

Dave Darrell has been the manager of the Bank of Montreal, in Tofteld for the past two and one-half years. Mr. Darrell feels the "role of education suffers from a lack of communication" and his aim is to keep "in touch with the principal, teachers, parents and kids, to make the education system work better." If elected school trustee,

Mr. Darrell would endeavor to have himself open "for any effective two-way communication between teachers, parents, kids and taxpayers." Discussion is underway with the Tofteld Fire Dept. to appear at a forum on Tuesday, with an opportunity for each candidate to express their concerns for the citizens of Tofteld. Announcement regarding time and place will be made at a later date.

The October Tofield Garden Club meeting was held at the home of Yvonne and Peter Brown.

The members listed in guest tomatoes from the Alberta Horticultural Association on their knowledge and advantages of the association.

A discussion on the recent trips was held and it was decided the prices must be higher to cover the costs.

The table at the Farmers' Market did well, but it was to cover the losses on the last two years.

Yvonne Brown, hostess of the day, was assisted by Lillian Bernadette Jobe.

THE ARTIFICIAL SALE PRICE

What you can do about it.

Sales are a friend indeed for today's hard-pressed family budget. They're a change of pace. They help us afford things we otherwise couldn't. And besides, they're fun. The many retailers who honestly reduce prices provide a real benefit to the shopper. Once in a while, though, an impostor sneaks in. A game of "how high was up when you were still up?" Or "20% off what?" In that case it could be you're looking at an UNFAIR TRADE PRACTICE. There are guidelines to protect you. And there's a way to learn about them.

Forums are held

by Lesley Pittman
The Tofield Volunteer Fire Department hosted an election forum Tuesday night for all candidates and the Tofield House and School Association held a forum for those candidates running for county seats.

Over fifty citizens gathered at the Community Hall to hear the election platforms of those contesting the town mayoralty, councillors and school trustees.

All candidates got the chance to express their concerns and views and then the floor was turned over for public questions.

The forum was chaired by Fred Rothwell and questions ranged from garbage to law enforcement and maintenance of back alleys.

There is attendance viewed their concerns on town policies regarding ice control, by-law enforcement and maintenance of back alleys.

The question and answer period opened over to coffee and doughnuts, but discussion lasted until well after tea o'clock.

Monday night, concerned parents had an opportunity to listen to the county candidates.

Present were John Warner and Charlie Sears, both competing for the county seat, as well as Dave Durrill and Arnold Swift, both contesting the school trustee's seat. Each candidate presented their point of view regarding the upcoming election, then the floor was turned over to the questions.

We're learning... and we'd like to share our results with you.

Since 1975, we've been learning how to restore agricultural land disturbed by surface mining for coal. And we'd like you to learn about the kind of demonstration work we've been doing. That's why we're inviting you to an open house on September 19 at the Shaw Community Association Hall. From 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. there will be guided tours of the reclamation test plots, ongoing question and answer periods, along with coffee, sandwiches and doughnuts. Just in case we have bad weather that day, the open house will be held on September 26.

We've also compiled all results of the yield data into a handy, pocket-size pamphlet — yours for the asking. Send for your free copy of the Fourth Annual Report — Land Reclamation Demonstrations at the Carroose-Riley Coalfield, 1979.

United States citizens residing in Alberta are urged to exercise their right to vote in the upcoming U.S. presidential and congressional elections.

A law passed by the U.S. Congress in 1975 and amended in 1976, the Overseas Citizens Voting Rights Act, guarantees U.S. citizens the right to vote in federal elections by obtaining absentee ballots from the state of their last residence.

United States citizens may obtain applications for voter's registrations and absentee ballots by visiting the United States Consulate General, 613 Macleod Trail S.E., Calgary, phone 366-6862. This office is open week-days from 9:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and 1:30-3:30 p.m.

When visiting the Consulate to obtain the application, U.S. citizens must bring with them proof of citizenship, e.g. a U.S. passport or birth certificate.

The application can be completed at the Consulate and will be notarized by a consular official free of charge.

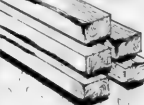

As the federal election will take place on November 4, U.S. citizens planning to obtain absentee ballots should visit the Consulate not later than October 18.

Several Girl Guides and Brownies from Tofield were thrilled on Monday to meet the world leader of the Girl Guide movement, Lady Joyce Price, of Australia, when she spent a few hours visiting in Comrose.

Bruce reunion held

By Fred Fredericks
Bruce School revived some memories for the three hundred former students, teachers and bus drivers who gathered on the Thanksgiving weekend to reminisce about the high school years between 1964 and 1982.

There were hesitant "jitters" and one could make a peak at the scene that day, once the identity was established the host of topics.

only made the conversation more interesting.

The reunion began on Saturday afternoon with a tour of the school and light refreshments.

Dr. John Kalka had set up an impressive display of information, pictures, trophies, etc., much of which had been donated to the Bruce Stampede Association.

Later, guests gathered for a cocktail hour which preceded the turkey and ham supper served by a group of ladies from the Bruce Agricultural Society.

Rudolph Mantel, a member of the 1964 graduating class, said guests after coffee was served the band played was greeted by Master of Ceremonies, Ben Loh.

Guests from the community were extended by the Bruce Agricultural Society, who was also a host driver for a number of years.

Dr. John Kalka, Director of School Buildings Administration for the Province of Alberta, who served as principal of the Bruce School from 1968 to 1982, spoke to the gathering.

Mr. Kalka related a few facts about the 1982's given to him by a former Bruce High School graduate Milton McLennan, a retired teacher who is at present doing some work for the department.

In the 1982's the school was also selected some copies of The Echo, the school newspaper put out in the 1982's while J.H. Hemphill was principal.

Following Dr. Kalka's interesting address, Melvin McIntosh from the class of '62, proposed a toast to the teachers.

Sharon Brown, principal of Waterview School replied: Mr. Iversen recalled his arrival in Bruce on September 1, 1981 to teach grade 8 and spoke of his warm association with the students of the Bruce School.

Another former teacher, Nick Kowalski, who now resides at Lacombe, spoke briefly and expressed his pleasure at being invited. Nick left the teaching profession four years ago.

David Fehrswaki, on behalf of the organizing committee which included Pamela Erickson, Morris Erickson, Pat Scott and Ellen Wally, thanked former teachers for their support in making the reunion such a tremendous success.

At the conclusion of the speeches, Paul Maloway and Grand Fredericks presented some of the former students with a souvenir Bruce Stampede mug from the Bruce Stampede Association.

The remainder of the evening was spent dancing to the music of Paul's Stereo, with a break for lunch shortly after midnight.

One of the highlights of the evening was the entry of members of the former basketball team who had somehow managed to find their old uniforms in some forgotten corner.

Blast injuries three

An explosion rocked the residents of the Ladbrooks estate on October 10 and in the ensuing fire, a couple lost their trailer and all their belongings.

The explosion occurred at approximately 10:30 p.m. and was visible for miles around.

The Tofield Fire Department responded and were on the scene within ten minutes of the call. However, the trailer was too far gone to save much of anything.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Gordon, had only been in the area for a short while and were setting up their new trailer.

When the explosion occurred, Gerald was lying in bed, had dropped by to assist the couple with the hookup of the trailer. Fortunately, there was a leak with the propane and the gas leaked out of the trailer. A little while later when a match was lit, the propane-filled house exploded.

The power of the explosion sent the two men flying through the front window.

Both men were admitted to the Tofield Hospital in Edmonton.

Mr. Gordon was not injured, but was not blown outside by the blast. Mr. York was released from hospital a couple of days later, suffering from a bruised back and arm.

The burns suffered by the Gordons were enough to warrant that they be transferred to the burn unit at the University of Alberta Hospital in Edmonton.

It is not known how long they will be hospitalized.

The damage done, has been estimated at approximately $5,000. The trailer was insured.

Due to the intensity of the blast and the need to fill the water tank, the Ryker Fire Truck was called to stand by.

With the arrival of the new county fire trucks and a large water capacity, the first department will better be able to handle blazes in the country.

Tulip bulbs are sent by the Dutch

by Grace Phillips
In grateful remembrance of the liberation of Holland thirty-five years ago, the Canadian Armed Forces, more than a thousand Dutch tulip bulbs have arrived in Tofield as gifts to members of the local branch of the Royal Canadian Legion. Fifty to each member.

Other branches of the Legion are also recipients of bulbs.

Their distribution was arranged by the Canadian Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion.

The orange-red blooms from these bulbs will brighten the gardens of Legion members and, appropriately, the soldiers' plot in the Tofield Cemetery.

Making this gift possible, the names of the family who has planted each bulb was enclosed with the bulbs.

Peter Ward's Ottawa Viewpoint...

Canadian Comment

OTTAWA (AP)—The federal government's decision to spend $188 million on the new Maritime ferry system does not portend the end of the nation's maritime future.

Some of the ships which will be refurbished are already more than 50 years old. They need more work so they can be sent to sea safely, but in reality, they should be scrapped.

It is a reason some maritime experts oppose the Maritime ferry system. The program is that they are worried that it means the Government intends to force the old ships to sail on for another 10 years.

Canada has the longest coastline of any nation in the world and some of the richest fisheries inside the 30-kilometre exclusive zone she claims. There are also major oil and natural gas deposits along Canadian waters. You'd think with all this the federal government would be a little concerned about policing them.

But here we are, after more than a decade when nothing has been spent on maritime forces except new patrol aircraft, still debating about the decision to build six new warships and spending almost to spend $188 million to keep old clunkers afloat.

It would be possible to make a case for extending the life of older destroyers if the government admitted its mistake in failing to build ships in the past. The ships are apparently trying to replace 18 old ships with six new ones. It's a very expensive way to replace ships simply won't work. It's not good for the NATO alliance, and it's not good for Canadian national interest.

Without question there would be a rich economy to start on the six new warships, which are now more than a year behind schedule, and there should be a crash program for modernizing the 18 old ships. Because of the length of time involved in building and building warships, decisions made now will not produce operational ships.

for very nearly 10 years. Hence the urgency.

Three years ago the Trudeau government sold the Armed Forces that a Canadian fleet of 34 effective destroyers would be the right size for the Canadian Navy. Not an unreasonable number.

The bob-tail nag: a feminine view

"Behind every successful man is a nagging wife." It is the conclusion drawn by Dr. Martin Zinsky, from a study of 888 married men aged between 70 and 85. He claims that his research shows that a wife can be a nagging wife and a delicate financial manager and a guardian of the ego. According to the doctor, the more she nags, the harder he works and, what is more, enjoys excellent health. Nagging appears to make them healthy, wealthy and wise. This is a delicate subject because it involves the nagging wife's personal question: "When did you stop nagging your husband?"

The subject comes to my mind when I read of a daughter, who has just reached the age of reading the newspaper, who has just reached the age of reading the newspaper.

"What's nagging?" she asked me. "What's nagging?" she asked me. "What's nagging?" she asked me. "What's nagging?" she asked me.

"Well," I explained, "the nagging wife is the nagging wife. The nagging wife is the nagging wife. The nagging wife is the nagging wife."

The trouble is, premises have not been followed by action. Instead, we have a wretched program for six new frigates which should be coming late in 1982. Then to come by adding maintenance, weatherstripping, storm windows and some of our energy wasting habits.

It is important to retrofit for several reasons. Saving on fuel bills is one of the most important. Retrofitting materials to upgrade will cost, but it will pay back through fuel savings.

Another reason to retrofit is comfort. A well-insulated house is a comfortable home. Floors and walls are warmer and drafts are cut down. Finally retrofitting will help to conserve our valuable energy resources.

Where to start? Take a look at existing insulation in your home. The recommended level of insulation is as follows: ceiling, R20; walls, R19; fully exposed basement walls, R24.

To achieve a value of R20, you would need 4 inches of fiberglass batt insulation or 6.4 inches of foam insulation. The type of insulation you choose may prevent you from achieving these values. By going as far as you can, results will still be noticeable.

Upgrading weatherstripping and caulking around windows and doors will go a long way in cutting down drafts. When buying materials, such as weatherstripping, for a good quality product. This will mean paying more, but it will be worth the job in the long run.

If you are interested in more information about insulation and energy conservation, call this office and ask for "Retrofitting the Home." Ways to Save Energy and Money in the Home."

New directions

By the time this column is being read, many Albertans will already know the names of the people elected to serve them on councils or school committees over the next three years.

Some seats, of course, have already been won by acclamation, some have been won by default, but except for a very few unusual instances, all have been settled by today's balloting.

One of the facets of democracy to which we too often pay too little attention is the gratitude owed by the electorate to those who let their names stand as candidates, those who throw not only their ball in the ring, but also their time, their money, and very often, their peace of mind. Few of us can stand for office without experiencing pangs, even when the odds may be two or three to one against winning.

There may have been candidates among those on your ballot, wherever you live, whom individual voters felt to be unworthy or unqualified for the job, but that's what the public vote is for: to elect those who have no candidates you felt worthy to represent you, why weren't you in there voting something about it? After all, the voter has responsibilities too.

It's often taken a country gets the kind of government it deserves, but at the local level it seems very often the voters get better government than they deserve.

We don't think the Provincial Government gave any thought to it, but maybe there is something symbolic in municipal elections falling only two days after Thanksgiving. We have a lot to thank our outgoing representatives for, in the hours of time they've given the job. And we should all of us fall on our knees and offer thanks we have the democratic freedom to elect people of our own choice to govern us. It probably doesn't take the fingers on both hands to count the countries which today afford their people such a luxury.

From the mail bag

To concerned Westerners

Dear Sir: An organizational meeting was held at 818 St. James, Edmonton, Alberta, Western Canada Council, on Saturday, May 24, 1982 and "West-Ed" Association of Alberta was formed.

The aim of "West-Ed" is to promote through the present Western Provincial Government's the idea of Western Federation of the West. Why should we be told for less than it's worth? Why should we be told for less than it's worth? Why should we be told for less than it's worth?

Why, and B.C. says also, why? West Central Canada, in control politically, are rubbing their hands for further exploitation.

The adequate answer to this is to handle our own affairs. The Dominion administration is no Governor-General and that no Confederation exists. We are not a part of the way. We are not a part of the way. We are not a part of the way.

No valid protest worthy of consideration can be voiced by any Western Canadian to the Union of the Western Provinces. Get busy. We can save Free-Trade from the United States. We can save our own equipment, mines, and cars for the United States. We can save our own equipment, mines, and cars for the United States.

We can save our own equipment, mines, and cars for the United States. We can save our own equipment, mines, and cars for the United States. We can save our own equipment, mines, and cars for the United States.

We can save our own equipment, mines, and cars for the United States. We can save our own equipment, mines, and cars for the United States. We can save our own equipment, mines, and cars for the United States.

Agreement

Too often these days it is being said that it's impossible to get agreement among the provinces on anything but only a few years ago transportation ministers from nine of the provinces gave the lie to that statement.

Coming in effect next April is a new reciprocal agreement on commercial license fees, applying in every province except Prince Edward Island.

Edward Island wouldn't figure as a particularly important factor in cross country highway transport, since everything has to go by boat, or by plane, to get on or off the island.

The concept of reciprocity was approved in principle at the premiers' conference in Quebec City, of all places, in 1978. Since that time, administrators have been quietly working towards establishing uniform procedures.

Holden plans celebration

Alberta's 75th Anniversary will be celebrated in Holden this coming Saturday and Sunday.

The Holden 75th Anniversary Committee has announced a full schedule of events for both days.

The scheduled events will get underway at noon on Saturday with an antique car show in the Holden Cupolas and the great Royal Bear will be in attendance at that time. In the meantime of the Cupolas, a Walt Disney movie will be an attraction for the children. The show is scheduled for one and three o'clock.

Open houses in the senior citizens' drop-in centre will commence at two o'clock and continue through until 4:30 p.m.

An anniversary supper will be served in the Holden Community Hall from six until eight o'clock and a dance will follow one hour later during which a lunch will be served.

While most of Saturday's events will be free of charge, there will be a low admission fee charged for both the supper and the dance.

Churches have changed their regular Sunday morning schedules so that people may later attend an anniversary service (free) breakfast which will be served in the Community Hall, starting at 10 a.m.

The Greek Catholic Church has scheduled its service for 8:30 a.m., while nine o'clock services will be held by Holden United Church, Holden Lutheran Church and the Roman Catholic Church.

The committee planning the celebration has issued an invitation to all present and former residents of the village and surrounding area to attend the major event.

SOLAR ENERGY AND AGRICULTURE
All Agriculture Canada's Swift Current, Sask., Research Station scientists are studying how to use the sun's energy to help Canadian farmers.

In a project carried out jointly by the federal and Saskatchewan agriculture departments solar energy is being used to dry grain and to heat livestock shelters.

In one test a solar drying system reduced the moisture content in the grain from about 22 percent to about 14 percent.

The study will continue to assess the economic feasibility of using solar collectors on practice farms.

He arrived in Canada when he was twenty-two years old and worked as a farm hand in the Tofield district. He purchased land west of Holden after which he spent some time homesteading in the Watrous-Crescent area. He returned to his farm where he lived until his retirement in 1964 where he resided until passing on two weeks last night, Mrs. Beola Merita and family, for the last four years. He made two trips back to his homeland as well as travelling to Calgary, Edmonton, Valparaiso, Salt River and points in B.C. on business expeditions.

Mr. Barlow had a keen interest in world affairs and was an avid reader. Farming was his first love and he always supported it in his mind. He remained alert and interested until his death.

He leaves to mourn his passing, his wife, Sarah Dorthea Thimie of Edmonton and numerous nephews and nieces.

Alex Barlow passed away in the Viding Hospital on Sept. 8, 1989. The funeral service was held in the Holden United Church on Monday, Sept. 11, 1989, and many friends who helped.

Memorial donations, commensurate with sympathy and love, to be made to the house were all greatly appreciated.

Alberta researchers have developed a process to make high quality paper from farm by-products like sugar cane residue (bagasse) and wheat and rice straw. They say it is ten times faster than present methods, uses half the chemicals and gives a better product.

Spot News From Abroad reports a team from the Division of Chemical Technology of the Australian Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organisation (CSIRO) in Melbourne spent four years developing the process.

Team leader Dr. Hekki Manner said the process, called the strawpulp delamination system, was particularly suitable for manufacturing paper from bagasse. Dr. Manner said the strawpulp delamination system used an improved version of the process which pulled fibres apart by blowing them out of a pressure vessel at speeds of 600 miles per hour.

"Pith cells remaining after material like bagasse and wheat or rice straw have been pulped by conventional means, normally lead to difficulties in papermaking," he said. "The strawpulp delamination system breaks up the pith cells and enables us to separate the pulp from the pith cell fragments so that pulp drains at the same rate as wood pulp, making it as economical as wood pulp."

Sugar cane areas in Queensland and many other countries have a huge surplus of bagasse, even after burning thousands of tonnes as fuel.

Farm wastes make paper in Australia

Alberta's weekly newspaper has for some time carried stories warning farmers to beware of false telephone advertising.

Albertans must be careful of those telephone solicitations that promise to send them money or to make them rich. The newspaper has for some time carried stories warning farmers to beware of false telephone advertising.

One company promises a fabulous vacation to Las Vegas along with the sale of its products. Once the goods are received, however, and the promotional material read, it becomes clear the trip is far from free. In fact, the fine print clearly reads money and travel costs included.

The techniques used by many of these companies include calling collect and offering samples, which many consumers report they are eventually billed for.

If you are the owner of a small business or farm, be on the lookout for telephone solicitations. Be sure you know to whom you are speaking.

Aeration helps grain

by Jerome Muncher
Alberta Agriculture's District Agriculturalist
in Ryley

There had been a lot of interest lately in grain aeration. Aeration is the use of low air flow rates to cool grain and eliminate temperature and moisture differences in the storage bin.

The purpose of an aeration system is to maintain the lowest practical temperature and the least temperature variation within the stored grain.

Aeration is not a grain drying system and should not be considered as such. Under good conditions, some drying will occur during aeration, and if the aeration system is long enough, significant drying can occur.

Too short a fan time is the major source of problems when aerating stored grain. In fact, shutting off the fan too soon may increase temperature variations within beds, bars, and other additions to custom vans are causing delays and injuries in low speed crashes.

Are custom vans a new highway threat?

Customizing new employers into use of plywood hulls and other materials to build and attach many features to the exterior of these impressive-looking vehicles.

The Quebec Safety League has a very good idea of how dangerous these vans can be. The league says that the vans are not as safe as they seem to be. It will be a real help to farmers.

In a news release, the QSL quoted a U.S. study of 14 crashes at speeds 15 miles per hour or less that showed van occupants were killed or injured when they were hit by improperly secured custom equipment.

For example, an accident was cited where a icebox-holding cabinet, secured only by hand-tied screws, broke loose and smashed into the driver's seat.

The Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association says more than half a million vans were sold last year, and more than 10 million vans, light trucks and multipurpose vehicles are currently in use. This number is expected to double by 1990, but of course only a relatively small percentage of these are believed to be customized into recreational vehicles.

There seems to be some evidence that van accidents are not related to speed, but that there have been several instances of occupants being ejected through the front wind shield. The use of many bolts, fasteners in Quebec, Ontario, Saskatchewan, and British Columbia, would eliminate this hazard, but few vans yet are in use with shoulder or upper-torso belts that would provide additional restraint. Shoulder belts are now required to be included on new van-type vehicles sold.

Transport Canada says front windshields are also now required to be constructed in the same manner as cars, but again there are probably many vehicles on the road that were built before this regulation came into effect.

Ryley council holds meeting

by Lesley Primrose
Ryley Council held a brief meeting Thursday night, brief in comparison to their previous meetings.

The agenda consisted of the passing of by-laws, minutes and financial statements. Basically the existing council has cleared the way for incoming candidates.

Also passed was a motion to contribute fifteen hundred dollars to the county, for the new tennis court.

Candidates for the upcoming election held a "get to know your candidate" meeting on Saturday. At least eleven of the candidates showed up to shake hands and talk with the community of Ryley.

Questions and answers were for about four hours, on an informal basis. It was missed that, approximately seventy-five residents showed up to participate of the gathering.

Last week it was mentioned that Ernest Brown, the current mayor, had held the post for the last three years. This was reported in error. Mr.

It's been a couple of months now that I have been associated with The Mercury. I have met many nice people, some of whom I've never seen before and am acquiring a vast new knowledge of rural life.

But now, the time has come to get down to basic facts of life, the truth of the matter is Dan Barr, the indomitable salesman, preacher of fit and trim has challenged me to death of sorts.

The handsome, or so he has told me, Mr. Barr has sported a handsome growth, balding his nose.

At first I thought it was just a custom for those preparing for winter and then I thought, why grow that fat. It was a sign of senility, after all it is possible to lose fat.

Well, I could stand to lose the weight and I am interested in doing my part for my country so I shall accept his challenge.

There's a, however, one small problem: unless I find a miracle cure rather quickly or develop an incredible case of Raynaud's phenomenon of foot.

So, I came to you, if you have a sure-fire diet, an absolute training program or some very good jaw wire please contact me at The Mercury and do your bit for the good country.

MAIL ORDER MISREPRESENTATION

What you can do about it.

Maybe you ordered that wonderful shade tree that grows in Brazil or in Florida or southern Ontario. Seven feet in one season, the ad said. Fruit-bearing in two.

But in Alberta it didn't do much but act as a stunted scratching post for the neighbour's cat.

It's one of those cases where you may be the victim of an UNFAIR TRADE PRACTICE.

Mail Order shopping offers a wide array of legitimate firms who talk straight and back up the claims for their products.

But look at the world through smart-coloured glasses. If the representation sounds too good to be believed it probably is. There's an easy step you take to inform yourself of the existing guidelines.

Mange alert issued

Alberta cattlemen should be on the lookout for mange mites when adding new animals to their herds.

If anyone suspects that he may have brought an animal that has mange, he should isolate it and then report it to a private or federal veterinarian.

Dr. M.W. Stone of the Alberta Agriculture animal health division's epidemiology section reports that sarcoptic mange has been diagnosed over the past year in the Lebberidge and Camrose areas, and that at least six herds have been quarantined by Agriculture Canada's food production and inspection branch.

According to Dr. Stone, there are four different families of mange that can infest cattle. They are sarcoptic, psoroptic, chorioptic and demodectic. While both sarcoptic and psoroptic mange are reportable to the government, the former is by far the most common type seen here.

Chorioptic mange is also reportable, but herds are not quarantined. Chorioptic mites, which occasionally become so severe that licking and rubbing become a constant preoccupation of the animal, is the main clinical symptom of mange.

Rabbling is accompanied by a loss of hair and the development of scabs over the raw areas. The scabs should be thickened and wrinkling of the skin. The areas most often affected are the lower surface of the neck and behind the ears.

Diagnosis is based on the demonstration of mites in scrapings.

It should be pointed out, however, that several deep scrapings may have to be taken before mites are found.

Holden holds homecoming

Hundreds of people joined in the festivities last weekend to celebrate Holden's homecoming. The children were urged to go upstairs and wait for the Grand Root Beer. Meanwhile, they had a chance to see Walt Disney's Iceberg and Mr. Toot. A feature length animated show put on by the committee and run by Carol Elton.

When the Root Beer arrived, he was swamped with children and did not get out of the house until late in the evening.

At two o'clock on Saturday afternoon, the Holden Senior Citizens Club held an "open house" and all were invited to come and partake of the coffee, cake, sandwiches and company offered by the seniors.

Mrs. Patsy "Mama" held a 75th Anniversary cake, completed in the shape of the numbers.

The president of the club,

Pete Ogonowski, welcomed all to the drop-in centre, where card games, shuffleboard games and games of pool were the order of the day. The club has been open for just over a year.

When evening rolled around, a band of people took of the supper held at the Community Hall. Nine o'clock that evening brought forth music and entertainment as the Mahanias provided the musical accompaniment for those who wished to dance.

Sunday morning all took part in the church service of the Holy Trinity.

The Greek Catholic, Holden Lutheran with 48, Bob Hammer with 34, Bill Onda with 39 and Services conducted with 23 babies.

When contacted by The Mercury, reaction to the wedding was predictable.

Ed Albrecht, who felt that they would find an interesting challenge before them and looked forward to the next three years.

Linda Verchuck, relatively new to the area and also wanted to "thank all who have helped and supported" and hopes that the same people would "continue to support" her through the next three years. Mrs. Verchuck was glad to see the large turnout and feels this is an indication of the interest generated within the community of Holden.

Ryley McKee, the other newcomer who had an incredible showing, was also pleased with the turnout and stated that he "would do my best".

Ed Albrecht, no stranger to the political world, was looking pretty good about the results of the polling and feels that a good council has been elected.

A very simple, but definite, "To happy" was Ernest Brown's reaction to the results. He feels that the council will be a good council and is looking forward to a very challenging next three years.

Larry Anderson stated that he has "impressed with" the people who showed confidence in him and feels that he will be able to represent them well in the next three years.

Sears loses election

By Lesley Primeau
Incumbent Charlie Sears has lost his bid for re-election in the Holden election.

After holding the seat for a number of years, Sears has gone down in defeat to John Warner, who has won his first term in public office.

The total votes cast for Warner were 118, followed by Sears with 81 and Harold Ray with 76.

Each candidate led in one poll. Warner in the James Poll with 52, followed by Sears with 23 votes, followed by Ray with 23 votes.

Sears led in the Jacobs poll with 52 votes, followed by Warner with 37 and Ray with 33 votes.

In the Lee Poll, Ray led with 52 votes followed by Warner with 18 and Sears with 18 votes.

The total number of ballots cast in division seven was 288.

Mr. Warner stated that he was very happy to be elected and hoped that he might justify the confidence the voters placed in him.

County Reeve George Knudsen has retained his seat in the county with a 100 to 80 edge over Chris Phillips.

Each candidate led in one poll. Knudsen led in the Jacobs poll with 49 votes, in the Phillips poll with 34 votes and in the Knudsen poll with 34 votes.

This will be Mr. Knudsen's first year in public office. He will be replacing Walter Knudsen, who declined to seek re-election.

By Lesley Primeau
Five newcomers running for the next three years, the seat for mayor, gave the Tofield incumbents a good run for their money. Two newcomers were elected to sit on council for the next three years.

De W. J. Freedy has been returned to office as mayor, with a total of 39 votes.

Cliff Sommer, a local businessman, put forth an extremely active campaign and collected 201 ballots in his favor.

When asked to comment on his victory, Dr. Freedy said, "I appreciate the confidence and thank the public for their support in the election. I'm sure the new council will continue to give Tofield good government."

Dr. Freedy further stated the possible direction the new council would be taking, by saying, "among other considerations, the council will be concerned with the problem of drainage, with hopefully a start on a storm sewer project, next year."

Also, Dr. Freedy reiterated the fact that the school board chairman, the area south of the C.N.R. tracks is needed to stimulate industrial development.

In closing, Dr. Freedy said certain that the council would continue to be successful.

"and proud of it!"

FUND STARTED
Dear Editor:

I'm writing to let you know, we have set up a trust fund for the five victims of the trailer fire that took place early last October in your district.

Mark has worked for Miller over a year now and worked as a very hard to get to where he was, and then this terrible fire takes place, they are both dead not too bad at the moment, but it will be a long time before they are out of hospital.

The ECOMONT SLM will be carrying the news of this trust fund in Star's paper, and so will the paper here in Leduc, and we are hoping that your paper will also carry this news. I have only been married two weeks two months and have lost just everything they had and we are hoping that people will be of some help to them.

We at a company have donated a substantial amount to them in person by certified cheque.

The Trust Fund I set up here in Leduc at the Bank of Montreal, P.O. Box 488, Leduc, Alberta T9E 6H2. The account is a savings account with an interest rate of 10%.

The number of the account is 100-10. The savings trust fund is to be held until when they are released from hospital, which will be a long time just as it has been for very long.

The account is in the name of Mark and Martin Gordon of Tofield, Alberta. Our names are Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Labrecque, Phone 866-4111. If you need it or you can call Marcel at work 866-4111 if you so wish (Mark's boss for over 20 years).

We would like to thank you very much for your trouble in this very bad time. It is very horrible, and here's hoping people will all over the place help Mark and Martin Gordon, as much as they can.

If you wish we can keep you posted on the accounts as they come in, please let us know. Thanking you kindly,

Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Labrecque

Canadian Comment

OTTAWA (EP) - The problems which are in urgent need of attention as Parliament resumes its session are as numerous as they are significant.

We have enough of the real kind of crime, let alone manufactured ones like a conspiracy.

In a manner which has become traditional with Trades government, questions of the economy are pushed back to second or third place, while we deal with structure, life-styles, and politics. Yet simply can't have these things without economic strength, a fact which is apparent when you report the prime minister's run up during the past 12 months.

That debt, on which Canadian taxpayers must pay the interest rates of interest today, is very close to $110 billion. It means that the interest payments are more per cent to receive the following letter from Mrs. Joyce Waterford, President of the Alberta Federation of Home and School Associations.

We sincerely hope that this letter will also alert you to the public that you could provide through your media.

The T.S.S.A. has been for some time a recognized member of the A.P.S.E.A. (the Letter Editor, July 3 by A.R. Puleck).

Fancy Feather show goes Nov. 1 and 2

Wetaskiwin Ag. Society is sponsoring the fifth annual North Central Alberta Pigeon Club show, Nov. 1 and 2 in the Wetaskiwin Drill Hall.

This year the show includes Houdan and Caper birds in addition to Standard Pouter, Fantail, Ornamental, Rock, Turkey, and Waterfowl. The Edmonton Pigeon Club is taking over the Pigeon section, and they are expecting a large entry of fancy pigeons, that will be judged and an display for the two day show.

The club decided to drop the rabbit and mouse section this year, as no one seemed interested in helping to keep it going. The club felt that due to the disappointing, entry last year, it was not worthwhile including in a rabbit hutch.

There will be three pigeon judges on hand to assess an expected one thousand birds. Last year the show was last short of 500 exotic birds, and he expected that this will increase this year. The Poultry and Waterfowl will be judged by Mr. Harold of Minnesota, and not by Dick Souther as announced previously. Mr. Souther is an accredited A.P.A. and A.B.A. licensed judge.

Baker's day starts quite early

by Lesley Princes

In May of 1984, Fritz Van Der Kley first saw the signs of Canada last decided to settle in Alberta.

Since that time he has lived and worked in New Berke, Wainwright, Spruce Grove, and Wainwright, owning general stores, working in co-op but, during all the different shops, he has remained a baker.

Four and a half years ago, Fritz brought his family to Tofield, opened a bakery and every morning at four can be found at the back of the bakery, starting the numerous loaves of bread, that will fill the building with the glorious smells, associated with bakers.

At six in the morning, Fritz will be joined by his number two son, Nick, 15, who starts with the preparation for doughnuts.

Chocolate glazed, sugar, glazed, caramels and fancy doughnuts - keep Nick and Fritz busy until Nick heads off to school.

About that time, Fritz's wife of twenty years, Vicki, starts her day in the bakery.

Throughout the day, she will attend the counter, wash the dough, do a little baking and may stop long enough to make a little mealtime soup for lunch.

Afternoon hours are taken up with the preparation for apple and cherry turnovers and then the absolutely delicious manage rolls.

Work in a bakery never ceases and the hours are long. For Fritz, fourteen hour days are not uncommon. As you wander around, behind the scenes of a bakery, seeing the preparation and then, you find out the oven bake 28 loaves of bread.

One might go through 60 loaves of flour, 40 loaves of white sugar, the same of icing sugar and at least 30 dozen eggs in one week.

With all of that, you'd be certain of finding doughnuts, muffins, rolls, soups, cakes, cookies and of course the scrumptious cream puffs, made every Friday.

In his spare time, whenever that can be found, Fritz works with the Tofield Lions Club and dreams of travel when he retires.

Every day, though it starts in the same general way, is different. One never knows what will sell, what won't. So much depends on the customer and their whims and fancies on one particular day.

Fritz and Vicki have raised five children. Tia is 18, Tim 17, Cindy 16, Nico 15 and Yvonne 10. But, unfortunately no bakers in the bunch, though all have worked in the bakery at one time or another.

When in Tofield, drop into the bakery, say hello to Fritz and Vicki, have a cup of coffee and a doughnut and on your way, perhaps pick up a loaf of fresh bread.

CLBI sets homecoming

Reformation Day Weekends will again this year, as in preceding years, be the time of the annual Homecoming Weekend of the Canadian Lutheran Bible League.

The seasons will begin on Friday evening with a coffee house at 8:30 p.m. and continue through Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. when the closing service will be held.

The speaker at Homecoming Weekend will be Rev. Gerald Gettis, pastor of Our Saviour's Lutheran Church in Prince George, B.C.

Rev. Gettis is an ardent supporter of CLBI and during his ministry in Prince George, a number of students have been attended the school.

Theme of the Homecoming weekend is "Forgiveness". This theme will be the basis of the Bible studies and sermons to be shared by Rev. Gettis.

Seasons will be held on Saturday morning beginning at 9:30 a.m. and continuing until noon. Saturday evening will feature a microphone prepared by the CLBI cooks, beginning at 8 p.m. and the Evening Service will be held at 7:30 p.m.

The final message by Rev. Gettis will be brought at the Sunday afternoon service at 2:30 p.m.

Sunday morning, the alumni will attend the local churches. The honored years at Homecoming weekend will be those who attended CLBI in 1934-35, two years after its beginning, and 1937, 1960-61, 1968-69, and 1975-76.

Alumni will be returning from points as far distant as Tacoma, Washington. The chairman of the Alumni Association is Kevin Schindler who, along with the executive committee, has been busy involved in the preparations for Homecoming Weekend.

Good weather needed to finish harvesting

About one week of good weather is needed to finish harvesting of this year's crops, according to reports received from the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Heavy frost, rain and snow in most areas hindered harvesting operations during the past week.

While farmers were able to get some work done in most regions during the past week, there was little progress made.

Council hears delegations

by Lesley Primeau
Tolfield town council met with two delegations, on the first meeting held since the organizational meeting of October 13th.

Brendley Stinch, from Alberta Pet Services and Brian Middleton, from Belvedere Development, attended the meeting to shed some light on matters which concern both the town and the companies involved.

Middleton discussed in great detail and length, the subdivision which bears their name. It was pointed out that of the 120 lots developed, 100 have been registered, representing 85% of the development, leaving 20 lots still vacant.

Belvedere is now interested in stage three of their planning, but agreements regarding land sharing must be reached with the town and agreements with Alberta Transportation regarding road access must be reached before any further work on phase three can be completed.

Council chose to table the discussion until further relevant information could be presented by all parties concerned.

Brian Stinch, representing Alberta Pet Services and in particular dog control, presented a brief outline and explanation of their services. Also Pet Services took over the existing contract for dog control from another company and maintained the same services at the original fee.

By the town wishes to enter into a new agreement it will cost $22 per hour. The contract would be for a yearly sum, with the option to cancel, providing the company receives a month's notice of cancellation.

In return, the dog control personnel would patrol the area and pick up any stray dogs in the vicinity. Any dog with a tag would be returned to the owner, dogs without tags would be transported to Wetaskiwin and impounded. Efforts would be made to find homes for the strays and in the event that no home could be found, the dog would be destroyed, by a vet.

Mr. Stinch agreed to provide council with a contract to view before they consented to enter into an agreement.

Council announced appointments to the Library Board, but have no completed appointments for the Recreation or Community Hall Boards.

Appointed by the Library Board are Linda Morris, Dave Durrell, Ron Taylor, Dorothy Clark, Judy Hastings, Peggy Naklinski and Dr. Freestrey. Construction on the new library town hall complex has commenced.

Lodge gets popper

Yvonne McAllister, 70, presents a popcorn maker to Helen Wilson, on behalf of the Eastern Star. The presentation was part of the afternoon's activities, of the third annual Tolfield Lodge bazaar and quilt auction.

Lodge holds bazaar

by Lesley Primeau
One dollar got you an afternoon of tea, light lunch and friendly conversation when the Tolfield Lodge, held their annual bazaar and quilt auction on Friday.

At least one hundred and fifty people felt it was too good a deal to pass up and came out to purchase handicrafts, bid on a quilt or just have tea and mingle with friends.

Bert Tinsler and her staff were responsible for all the delectable delicacies consumed, as well as baked goods that were sold. Sandwiches, cookies, cakes, sausage, coffee and juice were offered to all who attended the afternoon's social.

John Baerman, manager of the Lodge, acted as the master of ceremonies which included a presentation to Helen Wilson and Maggie Peterson.

The presentation was made by Yvonne McAllister of the Eastern Star, who presented the ladies with a "popper" a popcorn machine.

Mrs. Anderson ran the fish pond, which was the most favourite of all children who attended, as was the table which held the popcorn for sale.

In addition to the edible goods for sale, were the crafts made by various residents of the town.

The major event of the afternoon was the quilt auction. Harold Schultz acted as the auctioneer and was assisted by his wife, L.L.

In all there were seven quilts auctioned off, varying in size.

The average price of the large quilts was $60 and the smaller ones went for approximately $25. The highest bid for a quilt was $80.

The highlight of the quilt auction was the winning of the 7th anniversary quilt to the highest bidder.

The quilt, made by Helen Wilson and Maggie Peterson and Mrs. Mike Stutzman, had been on display for some time and anyone interested in the quilt could obtain a bid for it.

The bid received was $25 and the quilt was sold to George Lusk.

All in all the bazaar was a huge success. Proceeds from previous bazaar have been towards the purchase of a John Deere tractor, complete with lawn mower, snow blower and lawn sweeper vacuum cleaner, which had been received by an electric fry pan, bungee equipment, a memorial plaque and materials for the craft club.

Andrukow opens new facility

By Lesley Pittman
Approximately thirty to forty residents of the Ryley area, gathered last Friday, to view the officiating and opening of the Bulk Storage and Blending facility, owned and operated by Andrukow Farm Sales Ltd. Larry Andrukow acted as host, and introduced five key speakers who have had a hand in one way or another with the maintenance of the new outlet.

On hand were Bob Urquhart, Manager, Western Canada Fertilizer Marketing, Sherwin Gordon Mines Ltd., Dr. J. Walsh, Executive Director, Rural Development, Alberta Agriculture, Sidney Luk, Industrial Incentives Officer, Government of Canada, John Babish, M.L.A. Vegreville, and Ernest Brown, representing the Village of Ryley.

The facility utilizes the most modern technology available in handling both fertilizer. The plant is only the second of its kind in Alberta, and only the third in Western Canada. It can handle independently both incoming and outgoing. The silos have been designed to take in product from truck and rail. The building, designed and built by Western Conveyor and Baling Ltd., is all-wood construction and designed to allow approximately 180 tons. The bins and conveyors are all stainless steel to prevent corrosion caused by the fertilizers.

The blending room consists of six, ten-ton, overhead storage bins. Below the scale displays the weight on a digital readout. After the scale is weighed it can be loaded directly into the truck, or it can be put into the rotating blender or it can be re-allocated into a spare bin to be loaded at a later date. The loading unit and blending can be done by one person using electronic controls to perform the various functions.

Mr. Andrukow built the reason for building such a unit in Ryley were ample and good. Firstly he believes there must be a government program, National Economic Development, Nutrient Processing Agreement between the provincial and federal governments. The facility utilizes the most modern technology available in handling both fertilizer. The plant is only the second of its kind in Alberta, and only the third in Western Canada. It can handle independently both incoming and outgoing. The silos have been designed to take in product from truck and rail. The building, Cheryl moved to Ryley. The Andrukows' eldest son Greg, runs the family business in Viking. An active community man, Larry has just been re-elected to office in the Village of Ryley and has also been recently named mayor, a position he feels will be very challenging and rewarding. Constant improvements to the facility will help make it the name to remember in time of need.

Retiring mailman feted

On Monday night, Tommy Harris was a supper guest at the Van Halleschischke home and in place of taking him home to Ryley, they came to the Shaw Community Centre where about thirty folks from the Ryley family 1 arm had assembled to surprise and honor him in his retirement as mailman for the past 38 years. There were satiable and friendly readings by Mrs. Mildred Steward, Mrs. George Hamilton and Mrs. Mary Stewart. Brief remarks of appreciation and congratulations were given by Robert Anderson, George Campbell, Mildred Steward, Emma and Jeanette Kousen, and the M.C. for the evening, Ed Chancell.

Ready retired seemed to be a dark postmaster's outfit and to retain the country, expanding and continuing a number of agricultural production.

The need farmland

But, increasingly, that rich farmland is coming under pressure from out-of-town expansion, pressure from industrial and energy developments, pressure from

Alberta has about 38 per cent of the improved land acreage in Canada. There are 10 million acres in crop and livestock production in this province, but only four per cent of that acreage is prime number one soil.

Alberta's two largest cities and the major urban corridor between them are located within this fertile belt. As cities and towns expand, prime agricultural land is put out of production.

The loss of good farmland is an important issue to the future of agriculture since it takes several acres of marginal land to replace one acre of prime farmland.

A study exists that by simply adding more fertilizer, the number three and four soils can be made as productive as number one soil. However, Dr. Fred Binsley, former dean of agriculture at the University of Alberta, is emphatic in rejecting the idea.

"There is absolutely nothing too far out to make number four soil as productive as number one soil," he says.

At the moment in Canada, Alberta's population is shifting from rural areas to urban centres. In 1981, Canada's population was about 26 per cent rural. It is projected that by 1991, the rural population will make up only 20 per cent of the population. That shift alone creates new demands and pressures. Urban people increasingly seek recreational experiences: skiing, camping, snowmobiling, trail bike riding. These demands are pressure on all types of farmland with increased urban problems in areas of fragile ecosystems.

Yet another type of pressure comes from industrial and energy developments. Industrial plants, frequently located close to centres of population, consume arable land. The energy needs of both the increased population and the increased industrial activity have to be met. This farmland may be needed as a result of dam construction. Pipelines, transportation corridors and electricity lines are also a factor. The loss of farmland is a serious problem. It is a problem that must be solved if we are to retain the country, expanding and continuing a number of agricultural production.

Correction

There were two "bad" errors in last week's paper.

Both were to be found in stories on the front page.

In a story headed "Ryley elects council," a word was added that changed to entire content of a sentence.

The word should have been "a surprise no-show was incumbent Richard Kape, who collected only 10 ballots." The word "not" was mistakenly added in front of the word surprise.

The Mercury apologized to Mr. Kape for this error.

The other mistake occurred in a story about Holman's anniversary homecoming celebration.

Over 80 people took in the community's supper, not only as reported in the story.

Well last week proved to be a week of fun... I like the season's first snowfall, my first set of Christmas lights, my very first ever, muddled over and I got lost, not once but twice... I love the first snowfall, I could easily do without, as a matter of fact I could do without any snow. I'm not a skier, or a sledder or even a sleeter. Besides, I'm very partial to the sun, sand, surf and 80 degree weather. However, I guess I'll just have to put up with it.

As for Christmas lights... now that really was too much. I was driving into the city, just west of us, the other night during the blizzard, when I followed in the distance the glow of a small array of colours. To be honest I never saw what it was and thought perhaps it was finally going to see my 1970's house I've been waiting a long time and I think it's my turn, but low and behold an I drive nearer... Christmas lights... and it's not even November. Just, what did I tell you, snow does strange things to people.

When I first arrived in Tofield, I had heard that the snow did strange things to people. I thought, frankly, it was a lot of bull... if you'll pardon the pun intended... I never have made that way to these parts of mine, suggesting that when you get bored with life, they merely did so our earlier settlers did... hit the rails. The idea of seeing a cow jump a freight had me in stitches. You have to admit, it does conjure up quite the sight. Anyway, there I was again on the highway, heading for Ryley, when I chance to look up and there before me, on the track, I get glimpse of my very first muddled over, just straggling along the track, right on the tracks... headed west. I suppose he'd... or are all over else... anyway I suppose the cow heard the old expression, go west, young man. I was, I understand for an short, bizarre moment, that I saw the season's first snowfall, my first set of Christmas lights, my very first ever, muddled over and I got lost, not once but twice... I love the first snowfall, I could easily do without, as a matter of fact I could do without any snow. I'm not a skier, or a sledder or even a sleeter. Besides, I'm very partial to the sun, sand, surf and 80 degree weather. However, I guess I'll just have to put up with it.

In an effort to request myself with the area, I have taken to driving the occasional back road. Sometimes, my friends, Volvo and I head out in any direction and take in the joys of the country side and really, it's so peaceful, figured, by doing this I would have a little more about the area.

Well the night of the fire in the Lindbrook station, I followed in the distance the glow of a small array of colours. To be honest I never saw what it was and thought perhaps it was finally going to see my 1970's house I've been waiting a long time and I think it's my turn, but low and behold an I drive nearer... Anyway, there I was again on the highway, heading for Ryley, when I chance to look up and there before me, on the track, I get glimpse of my very first muddled over, just straggling along the track, right on the tracks... headed west. I suppose he'd... or are all over else... anyway I suppose the cow heard the old expression, go west, young man. I was, I understand for an short, bizarre moment, that I saw the season's first snowfall, my first set of Christmas lights, my very first ever, muddled over and I got lost, not once but twice... I love the first snowfall, I could easily do without, as a matter of fact I could do without any snow. I'm not a skier, or a sledder or even a sleeter. Besides, I'm very partial to the sun, sand, surf and 80 degree weather. However, I guess I'll just have to put up with it.

Bruce Dyck

Theresa Lynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Dyck of Tofield and Gerald Worme, son of Margaret Bruch of Nonanook, B.C. were married in Hastings Lake in August. The couple are making their home in Lindbrook.

Velkswagen that do that. So we went this way and that, through some secondary and three hours later, I was home. But not before, I headed down some little, narrow, made for one car only path and encountered a grader... who obligingly ran over a tree to let me by. I can hardly wait for this week. There is a bright spot on the horizon though. Tomorrow night the great pumpkin arrives, and in true fashion after "me and Mr. Mew" finish trick or treating in Tofield, we shall return to the pumpkin patch and await the arrival of the "halloween one". The great pumpkin has missed me for at least ten years now. I wonder if it's something I said? But I figure, if I take it to the right place, it could make a four-year-old's dream.

Well, when this close call with oblivion, I thought I would stick to the night of curiosity. And, I would imagine that has eliminated any chance of driving for the fire department, unless they just go across the street. But low and behold the next day, I was coming from Camrose, on the Kingsway road, wanted to stop at the Brown's, and thought instead of turning right, when I chance to look up and there before me, on the track, I get glimpse of my very first muddled over, just straggling along the track, right on the tracks... headed west. I suppose he'd... or are all over else... anyway I suppose the cow heard the old expression, go west, young man. I was, I understand for an short, bizarre moment, that I saw the season's first snowfall, my first set of Christmas lights, my very first ever, muddled over and I got lost, not once but twice... Farming for the Future is a commitment of the Alberta Government through the Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund to support agricultural research of benefit to Alberta.

Financial assistance is available for students showing the potential to lead to increased agricultural productivity and improvement of net farm income as well as the long-term viability of agriculture in Alberta.

Eligible research areas include programs which have the potential to meet these goals and which would not likely be undertaken without support. Competence to carry out a proposed program and commitment to complete the program must be demonstrated.

Deadline for submission of applications for grants is December 1, 1980.

"AOC helped turn my trade into a business."

Four years ago, Peter Scherer, a millwright machinist by trade, left his home in Switzerland for a new life in Canada. While working in the St. Paul region, he noticed whenever equipment broke down, there was no place in town that could fix it. Here was a chance to set up shop.

When conventional lending sources were unable to help, he turned to the Alberta Opportunity Company. We provided the necessary financial assistance and even helped him find a suitable location.

Today, Swisco Machining is helping Edmonton and local oil and commercial companies with general machining and maintenance. Peter plans to double his shop size and add welding. Says Peter, "I wouldn't hesitate recommending AOC to someone else. In fact, I already did."

Should you knock on Opportunity's door?

Well, Halloween's over for another year and so Great Pumpkin.

I handed over to the Ryler School last Friday, to take in the annual Halloween parade through school, and customer like I've never seen before. Of you know what, though? Of all the costumes I saw the whole day, not one, not even a man of me. I never saw a Superhero. You know, I could probably live without Superman and I can understand like I've never seen before. Of you know what, though? Of all the costumes I saw the whole day, not one, not even a the living bannons out of us. You hear all about attacks in elevators, and those movies don't help any way, I tell you! I am overboard, and I don't want to be there, almost went to the heavenly reward.

After the initial greetings... or lack of... we landed into the apartment. This thing dropped out of nowhere, headless wonders living around... obviously not for the good of their health, the dry ice made it look like we were in a bag and listening to the "Cry of Laura Mers" just about sent me round the bend. I did make it out all right, but I don't understand Halloween having to be scary... I think one year everyone should have to be as friendly as they can. Just for a change of pace.

You know though, there is something like stirring down the street, and I wonder to the next to you, only to realize that the occupant looks like something the cat dragged in, to make you wish you were safe at home, and under the covers in your bed... with your trusty baseball bat!

Dormant weed seeds

A scientist in the United States may have found a solution which will force dormant weed seeds to germinate. Using grain alcohol, the weed scientist at Belleville Agricultural Research Center in Maryland, has forced several annual grasses and a few broadleaf weeds to germinate before their time. If continued research holds true, this could drastically reduce the crop weed problem.

The Canadian Bankers' Association says there are more than 25 million personal savings accounts at the Canadian chartered banks.

There are substantial problems to overcome before ethanol or other synthetics can become practical for weed control. For example, a method for keeping the highly volatile chemicals in the soil for at least four hours will have to be developed.

During the week of Oct. 23, Tofield High School put on a School Spirit Week.

Considering the participation in these events during the past few years, the Spirit Committee can not fault on the back. It was really a nice surprise to see so many students dressing up.

Spirit Week consisted of: Monday, Hat and Shoe Day (most original was "vase green"); Tuesday, Teacher Day (students dress as "typical" teachers and teachers dress as "typical" students); Wednesday, Dress Up Day (when students take their Sunday best out of the moth balls); Thursday, Greaser Day (D.M.A., here we come).

The week ended on Thursday with a prize presentation and a dance after school. Of course, we all know that next year's will be even bigger and better.

For the first time in quite a few years Tofield is celebrating a Glue Club. Membership is open to the whole school.

First organizational meeting will be held this Friday at The Bakery & The Mercury when, maybe Tofield owes the next Elixir!

As I See It

Discussions are now underway to ratify the agreement between the federal government and the provinces which contract for RCMP policing services. The contract expires at the end of March next year.

In the Legislature, Solicitor General Graham Harte, indicated there will be a considerable increase in the cost of Alberta's share for this service. Indications point to an increase of about 30 percent in the cost.

Perhaps one cannot argue with the cost increase, but I am concerned about the fact we have a chronic shortage of RCMP personnel, particularly in rural and semi-rural areas.
The problem of personnel shortage could be greatly eased if Alberta were to reopen the Pembina training centre and pay a share of the training costs. Mr. Harte says the province has given no indication in that proposal.

Certainly if Albertans, through their tax dollars, will pay additional funds for RCMP uniform services, we should expect that our requests for additional personnel should be considered and met.

When I asked the Solicitor
General in the Legislature whether consideration was being given to establishing a Provincial Police Force, he evaded the question by saying he was leaving all options open—wherever that means.
The RCMP does an admirable job of carrying forward the law enforcement role in Alberta. The real problem is in the federal allocation of personnel. The provincial Solicitor General has an obligation to see that the federal government fully recognizes the need for more RCMP officers in Alberta.

During the past week in the Legislature, I have been attempting to get some answers from the Minister of the Environment, Mr. Cookson, dealing with controls on chemicals and the use of pesticides in Alberta.

The Environment Minister told the Legislature that his department has been discouraging the use of 2,4,5-T, a chemical banned from some uses in the United States. Mr. Cookson said the chemical is used "only in a very limited way at this time, specifically for brush control."

I wonder whether the Minister is aware that at least 5,000 pounds of 2,4,5-T was used by licensed applicators in Alberta last year, and perhaps two or three times that much by non-licensed applicators?

Apparently, there are no accurate records kept of the amount sprayed in Alberta.
In February of 1979, the U.S.
Environmental Protection Agency issued an emergency order suspending the use of 2,4,5-T in forests, pastures and rights-of-way. Over 500 federal government has not suspended its use in Canada, and Alberta follows the lead of the federal government in approving chemicals for use in this province.

I believe the practice must be changed so that the Provincial Environment Department becomes responsible for doing its own research, independent-

Lees celebrate 45th anniversary

Recently the Tufeld Community Hall was filled to capacity when George and Isabelle Lees celebrated their 45th anniversary.

The honored guests were escorted to the head table by the music of the bagpipes played by Gordon Kyle. On the table was a cake made and decorated by Alice Gould.

Around the table were lovely bouquets of flowers from the garden of Louise Kyle.

Seated at the head table with George and Isabelle were their four daughters, Alice and husband Ray Gould, Anne and husband Kenneth Oliver, and husband Donald Schmalzberger and Florida. Also present were their eleven grandchildren, two of whom are married. Their oldest granddaughter, Joyce Gould, headed the guest book.

Harold Schultz was emcee for the occasion and introduced the head table and gave a brief history of the honored couple.

The Lees live on a farm southwest of Tufeld in the area where George has lived all his life.

Guests included family and friends from Telford, Edmonton, Calgary, and other areas in British Columbia and Manitoba.

Poster contest set by Hire-A-Student

The contest is open to all Alberta secondary and post-secondary students.

The contest opened Oct. 15 and submissions will be accepted until Jan. 20, 1991.

Two prize-winning entries will be chosen. First prize is $750 and second prize is $250.

Submissions will be judged by a five-member panel. The judges will be looking for a dynamic graphic design. It should combine a slogan and illustration in such a way as to most successfully convey the Hire-A-Student message to prospective employers.

The winning entry will be printed and posted in Hire-A-Student offices and may also be used as an advertisement in Alberta newspapers.

"AOC helped turn my trade into a business."

Four years ago, Peter Scherer, a millwright machinist by trade, left his home in Switzerland for a new life in Canada. While working in the St. Paul region, he noticed whenever equipment broke down, there was no place in town that could fix it. Here was a chance to set up shop.

When conventional lending sources were unable to help, he turned to the Alberta Opportunity Company. We provided the necessary financial assistance and even helped him find a suitable location.

Today, Swisco Machining is helping farmers and local oil and construction companies with general machining and maintenance. Peter plans to double his shop size and add welding. Says Peter, "I wouldn't hesitate recommending AOC to someone else. In fact, I already did."

Should you knock on Opportunity's door?

Toros are 1st Hockey teams busy

Toronto Toros have taken an early lead in the County (Champion) Senior Hockey League.

Toronto Toros have taken their first two games with the four points putting them in sole possession of first place.

During the coming week, Toros will swing back into action on Saturday night when they will be at home to Banff, the defending league champions.

Toros were supposed to have hosted Regina last Thursday night. However, this game was delayed by one day and was played Friday night.

In that game, Toros racked up a 4-1 victory.

Toros then travelled down to Banff on Sunday night where they scored an easy 3-2 victory over New Horwary.

Details of the Tofield-Rainald game were not available.

The New Horwary-Tofield game was close for only one period as the teams were shutout 5-0 after the opening session.

Toros scored three unanswered goals in the middle stages and then called away the game with three more goals in the final period.

Lombard picked up a hat-trick to pace the Tofield attack while singles were added by Clamer, Andrusch, Bessy, Olson and Larin Farnham.

Tofield was assessed nine penalties while New Horwary picked up twelve.

The past week was a busy one for hockey teams in Tofield.

At the senior level, Tofield finished last night 9-0 in a Beaverhill Hockey League contest.

Tofield (defensive) swung in action by picking up a 9-0 victory over the Souths Angels.

Tofield midgame were winners in two outings. They defeated Ardrossan 12-3 and then, picked up a very 6-2 triumph over Fort Saskatchewan.

For the Tofield Bruins, it was a 10-0 week as they were swept 2-0 by Beaumont last, then, picked up a 6-2 victory over Fort Saskatchewan.

Dead remembered

In Flanders Fields, the poppies grow, between the cross, row on row, "Can there be anyone in Canada who has not read the famous poem by McCrae?"

On the eleventh day of the month in 1918, the guns were silent, announcing the end of the war and in this day, November 11th remains a day to commemorate the great war.

On Thursday, citizens of Tofield, Ryer and the community hall for a short service.

The various communities in these war-torn times, remember the men in the war, to those who gave their lives, so that Canada would be strong and free.

Guides, Scouts seek home

A delegation of four presented a suggestion to Tofield council Monday night that the fire hall might make a good permanent home for the Scouts and Guides, once the new fire hall is built.

Walter Wilms, Beverly Carlisle and Mr. and Mrs. Don Halpin, representing the Scouts, Beaver, Brantford and Girl Guides of Tofield indicated to council that the various groups are in need of a permanent home, that would allow them a place of their own.

Currently, they use various empty spaces around town in halls and schools.

Council pointed out that as yet, no plans have been made for the fire hall and indeed, it was mentioned that the seniors have indicated a desire to obtain the old fire hall for a seniors drop-in centre.

The delegation then suggested that perhaps an upstairs area of the new town hall-library complex, could be designated as a scout guide area.

Although council could give no definite answers to the delegation, various suggestions and counter-suggestions were made. Council fully realized the desires of the various groups to have their own space, but at this time, they are unable to comply with any concrete decision.

Discussion about the fire hall was brought into focus again with the letter from the fire commission, suggesting that perhaps the proposed Revere area is not necessarily the best one.

Council had asked that a number of the commission be invited down to discuss the new hall, its location and other aspects that perhaps council was not aware of. A commission was down to look at the proposed site and write a letter to the council but, did not appear at any meeting.

Council decided to table their discussions of the new fire hall pending the fire hall board meeting.

Further appointments to the Hospital Board and Community Hall Board were made at last Monday night's regular meeting of the Tofield Town Council.

Earlier it was mentioned that Council would be interested in having a municipal inspection of the regular council meetings to discuss various points of interest.

Of late, various thoughts have been voiced about the council members may have, as it was thought, that if a representative from the municipal authorities were to be present, that might clear any doubts about any conflict.

Beaverhill operating?

In the Beaverhill Hockey League alive and well?

That's a question that is being asked by a number of hockey fans from the area served by the league.

Tofield, Ryer and Halden have been talking in the league in recent years although the latter team has faced difficulties during its tenure in the league since joining a few years ago.

By this time last year, the league had held its organizational meeting and was ready to begin action in the regular season.

The Mercury has always provided coverage of this league.

However, to date this season, no league officials have been in touch with the paper and The Mercury doesn't know what was ready to begin action in the regular season.

If the league will provide a schedule, as in previous years, The Mercury has been ready to provide assistance from CFCW in again providing the league's hockey fans with weekly reports.

If your car or truck is equipped with a block heater, then it should have a Power Saver too! By turning your block heater on only when needed, the Power Saver can cut electrical consumption dramatically. Based on an electrical cost of 4¢ per kilowatt hour, and a plug-in season of 120 days, the Power Saver can save you about $14.00 - the first year you use it!

The Power Saver is a thermostatically controlled extension cord that delays the operation of a vehicle's block heater until the motor cools enough to require heating. It automatically maintains a coolant temperature of at least 6°C (20°F). At Calgary Power we're committed to energy management - so we're making the Power Saver available to our customers at a special price of $9.95. It's available from your local Calgary Power office, or complete the attached coupon and mail with money order.

Yes, this winter I want Power Saver to turn my car on. Please send me one. (over) 01/90 soon prepaid to me.

Barbering is "easy" profession?

by Lesley Pritman

It looked like a "beautiful job" and so easy one at that, or so thought Nick Kobay, when he first considered the profession of barbering.

Kobay was not exactly the right man to describe, in the meantime twelve hours down the road, that found Nick, when he picked up his first pair of scissors.

It's been thirty years since that day. Kobay's hair has become a family business, and now, Kobay's former of hairdresser salon, has branched out and opened another shop in Tofield.

Nick was about sixteen years of age before he got his first "barber" hair cut, but the sight of the nice white towels, the apparent expertise of the work and the friendly atmosphere were enough to convince him, this was his future. In 1946, armed with a young man's drive and determination, Nick signed up at the Miller School in Edmonton and was soon on his way to becoming a barber.

It was there, that fate could be said to wait for Nick, as he was to meet his future bride, Lili, some time later.

Since that time, Nick and Lili have both worked at their business, and in an effort to keep up with the changing styles and so on as well as diversifying their hair cutting talents to include the ladies. Nick enrolled in a styling course at Knap's in Edmonton. The year was 1972 and since that time, both Nick and Lili have taken advanced styling in Toronto and extend most major hair styles.

Kobay's hair business has now become a family business, and even then, they run out of chairs.

The Tofield shop is a little smaller, with two styling chairs and two dryers. The decision to open a second shop came with the realization that many of their customers in Mandare came from the Tofield area and to accommodate these customers better, it was felt that a shop in Tofield would do just that.

Enough, the first day of business was so hectic that the barber shop stayed open until night 8 o'clock, instead of closing at six, as was advertised.

It was there, that fate could be said to wait for Nick, as he was to meet his future bride, Lili, some time later.

Since that time, Nick and Lili have both worked at their

A Snip in Time...

You know the old saying, a snip in time. Corrad Patterson, without no time in trying out the talents of the new Tofield barber Nick Kobay, which will cater to both males and females, has been open only a week, but business has been busy.

Right now, Clarence works at a shop in Edmonton and takes clients at night to broaden his training. In the future he may take over the running of the shop in Tofield, but that remains to be seen.

The Town of Tofield has been without a barber for at least a year now.

There have been a number of barbers at one time or another who have worked in Tofield, but, for what ever reason have deemed it necessary to move on, as the addition of Kobay's is a welcomed one and if the first week of business is any indication of things to come, they may certainly have more business than they planned on.

With the changing trends and styles, one might wonder which is the most requested cut, or how difficult it might be to keep up with all the changes.

Nick stated that with all the styles to choose from the most priority. With his hair styling training, Nick has found it useful with the changing length of hair for men.

It seems like that few years ago every one had long hair, but now, the styles have taken a turn towards shorter styles.

Whatever the style, whatever the sex, long or short, Kobay's does it all and in their bright and fashionable surroundings, they can accommodate or anyone that enters the shop.

Immunization month set by Health Unit

November is "Immunization Awareness Month" across Alberta.

The Vegreville Health Unit joins other Local Health Authorities in Alberta in a provincial campaign.

The objective of the campaign is to increase compliance with recommended immunization standards. Immunization stimulates the body to develop protective substances against certain communicable diseases such as diphtheria, tetanus, polio, pertussis (whooping cough), measles, and rubella (german measles).

Have you checked your children's immunization records lately?

Don't subject your child to a disease that can be prevented. Do it today.

The immunization schedule for children is as follows:

- 1 month of age: Diphtheria, Pertussis, Tetanus and Polio.
- 4 months of age: DPT and Polio.
- 6 months of age: DPT and Polio.
- 12 months: Measles.
- 18 months: DPT and Polio.
- 4-6 years: Reinforced dose of DPT and Polio.

Immunization is not just for kids. If a woman contracts rubella (german measles) during the early months of pregnancy, blindness, deafness, heart malformations, mental retardation may occur in the baby. Congenital Rubella Syndrome is the term which describes any or all of these defects in the child. This can be prevented. Contact your local health unit to arrange for immunization protection against rubella.

Immunization is free and is available to all Albertans from local Health Units and City Health Departments. For information and/or appointment...

Have you checked your children's immunization records lately?

This week really belongs to Dorothy Clark and her membership club.

But maybe I could assemble an honorable mention.

after all I baked my very first pumpkin pie, and let me tell you, with no tendency at all... it was great!

I drifted over just after Dorothy and Mr. Hart, but I

the fine gentleman who shares her life, had just finished the ones they made, so a number of us, I arrived in time for dinner... pumpkin pie.

Well, other than Mr. Hart left to be the church and charity and I got right down to the business at hand...

empty... not really. I was a little concerned that I would end up killing some poor innocent pumpkin, but that was not the case... I merely employed a can.

Here, if you're ready, get out the pie mixing bowl and the wooden spoon for

Crop yield was reasonably good

Despite unusual weather conditions, 1980 turned out to be a reasonably good year for farmers in this part of Alberta.

Spring arrived a month or so ahead of schedule with many farmers taking advantage to start early. Little or no rain fell, causing crops to germinate in rather a haphazard fashion, not only from one area to the next, but in the same fields.

Get ready for winter, insure proper heat circulation, have your furnace flushed. We have lots of anti freeze, thermostats and heater hose. We also do water pumps Suggestions or representations may be made regarding the Plan at the Public Hearing.

Dry conditions prevailed for quite a period of time, so that little or no rain fell, causing crops to germinate in rather a haphazard fashion, not only from one area to the next, but in the same fields.

When rain finally did begin to fall, some regions got much wetter than others. When it was time to begin harvesting, the so-called needed rain began to come down on a regular basis.

Finally, it cleared up and most farmers were able to get their crops off the fields.

However, there were some regions that the ground was much too wet to hold heavy harvesting equipment and that some areas had to wait until the ground froze.

Finally, high winds, heavy rainfall and infestations of flea beetles all combined to create damage, lowering crop yield and the grade.

Yields were quite high in some areas but, considerably lower in others, although the overall average was 1.1 bushels.

Reaped yielded over 600 kilograms per acre while barley was over 1,100 kilograms. Oats and wheat both exceeded 1,000 kilos to the acre while rye was in excess of 600 kilos and flax passed 600 kilograms.

When it came to ground oblation, reaped led the way with twenty-one percent below rated number one and the rest was one grade lower.

All barley fell into the feed category with three-quarters being classified as number one, twenty percent fell into the second category and the rest was number three.

Wheat fell into four grade categories. Thirty-seven percent was rated number two and twenty-eight percent was one grade lower. Three-quarters of the number three wheat and number three wheat and the balance fell into the grade one utility grade.

Devalued and fainted led in yield per acre in two crops while New Norway and Camrose led in the others.

Devalued and fainted led in yield per acre in two crops while New Norway and Camrose led in the others.

Devalued area farmers produced 900 kilograms of reaped per acre and 700 kilos of flax.

In the fainted region, oats came in at 1,243 kilograms to the acre while barley produced 1,413 kilos.

Peter Ward's Ottawa Viewpoint...

Canadian Comment

Ottawa (CP) - "There are two basic aspects in the constitutional debate which have been long time an obstacle around a country's needs and which with the label 'crisis'."

Disagreement in philosophical, but mutual view the philosophy is a power struggle between the provinces and Ottawa and Quebec - and the newly proposed West, rich with energy resources. Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau is a republican democrat, who wants things written down and structured. He wants the bill of rights together with a role for the courts in the constitution. He also wants language rights, but that's a separate story.

This fixation with a written constitution is anathema to many English-speaking Canadians, steeped in the tradition of the British Parliamentary tradition. In British common law, there is no constitution, merely the dictum that all rights belong to the people, except those rights specifically withdrawn from them by legislation. You can't deal for example, because the techniques on the rights of others.

A bill of rights in the constitution involves lawyers. It involves supreme court hearings which will decide the meaning of the law, in a sense based on arguments also to the old Jesuit writs of deciding how many people can dance on the head of a pin. A bill of rights is also a way of getting through language rights for education, with the courts deciding what percentage of a regional population must be French or English in speaking to various entities. Mr. Trudeau has long had the dream of making it possible for Quebec's French-speaking citizens to be totally mobile in all of Canada; to move, for example, from Trois-Rivières to New Deer, and enjoy the right of educating their children in French.

This provision is, of course, coupled with the legal obligation of governments to offer services in both languages wherever population percentages, in the view of the courts so warrant. It's the route to eventual bilingualism.

If that is the kind of Canada that is preferred by the majority of Canadians, albeit. A case can be made for a bilingual Canada, for a nation 90 years' from now speaking a sort of "Franglais," providing the best bulwark against absorption of Canada by the United States. It would actually make no difference. It is, however, incumbent on those who govern us, to present an accurate picture of the changes proposed.

However, you will find that you can grow plants that do not have the same temperature requirements because the temperature will be different in different areas of your home. If you want to overwinter your plants, you must take those temperature variations into account.

A good rule of thumb is to keep the temperature in the range of about 3°C lower. A temperature drop at night gives plants a chance to become dormant and produce during the day by absorbing light and increasing their respiration rate.

If your plant should catch a slight chill from being too close to a window, etc., sprinkle it with cold water and cut it back to a healthy bud. Then put it in a cool location (about 10°C) until it develops new strong growth.

Mark Ferguson, a pioneer of the Tofield area, died recently at the age of one hundred and one.

He is survived by numerous sons and nephews.

When the Town of Tofield was moved from its original site to the present one, business men were encouraged to locate in the new area by offering a free lot, so Mark opened a hardware shop. He claimed the sewing machine he used would stitch through ships!

With the increased use of tractors after WWI, came a decrease in the hardware making business. Mark closed his shop and purchased a steam engine and grain separator.

His wife and sisters were spent, thinking the man's ploughing.

When a school district was organized, it was used after him.

He sold out in 1928 to return to Tofield, to manage the farm for Bertha Seale after the death of her young son. When Mrs. Seale sold the farm, Mark moved to town and worked on the gas line until his retirement.

He continued to live in Tofield until he went to the south of his young son. When Mrs. Seale sold the farm, Mark moved to town and worked on the gas line until his retirement.

THSA may challenge

...petition ruling

by Lesley Primm
At last Monday night's meeting of the Tofield Home and School Association, at which more than twenty-five people attended, the executive suggested that they may eventually challenge the County Board of Education's decision regarding their petition. The T.H.S.A. had submitted a petition to the Board of Education demanding a public meeting to investigate concerns raised about the Tofield School. At a recent board meeting, the petition was declared invalid, though public meeting will be held. T.H.S.A. officials say that the T.H.S.A. response to the Board's decision is to challenge that decision and question whether the petition was properly considered.

In accordance with the school act, they have fourteen days in which to contest the Board's decision to reject the petition. If they proceed to take this course of action, they will be represented by Harry Midgley, with whom they have discussed the location of the case and it was Midgley who drew up the petition. The initiative is to issue the agenda for the public meeting, but, members of the T.H.S.A. were uncertain as to whether they would receive satisfaction regarding their concerns. Kugelski felt that many of the agencies would be brought up at the public meeting, as he held Dec. 8th in the Tofield Community Hall, at 7:30 p.m. A motion was placed on the floor, for members of the T.H.S.A. to tender, suggesting the elimination of the teacher-parent committees. This was one of the points that caused the teaching staff at the Tofield School to boycott the T.H.S.A. in its inception. When asked if this was done to encourage the teachers to join and support the T.H.S.A., Kugelski stated that he supported so and when asked why it wasn't done earlier, he stated that a motion was placed before the members earlier in the year but, it was defeated. It was also noted at the meeting that the membership fees for the T.H.S.A. would be increased to $2 per year, up one dollar from last year.

Proudly Lamb is a real treat anytime. Have you given it a try?
Alberta Lamb, available at the grocery store, has a delicious flavour and can be cooked in a variety of ways.

If you have never cooked or tasted lamb, you may be surprised by how easy it is to introduce lamb into family meals. Pick a favorite lamb recipe and substitute lamb for the beef.
A good combination will be such spices as thyme, rosemary, mint, garlic, oregano, dill, onion, and lemon juice. Try a curry and nutmeg. Try cooking lamb with tomatoes, green peas, onion, lima beans, and carrots.
Lamb is a good source of high quality protein. It is a serving of lamb roast of lamb contains 280 calories, slightly less than a similar serving of beef or pork.
Once you're introduced lamb into family meals, you'll be enthusiastic about preparing and serving lamb in different ways.

A five hour seminar on time management will be held at Lakeland College in Vermilion.
This seminar will appeal to all homemakers, but particularly those trying to raise a family, manage a home, take part in community activities and still have time left for themselves.
Some of the topics to be covered include: Do You Run Your Home or Does It Run You? Homemaking can be Heaven and What's Your House? The seminar begins at 10:00 on November 28. A fee of $18.00 will be charged and lunch will be available at the College for a nominal fee.

"The Forever Principle"

Margaret Hancock
The Forever Principle is a timely challenge to thinking about the process of making, meaning and enjoying life. The author explores the beautiful and the personal growth which Christians can experience and shows how lasting commitment can be made with meaning, direction and purpose. The ultimate act of dedication, the thing that separates the man from the boy, the woman from the girl, and the believer from the non-believer is the act of commitment. The Forever Principle will teach the reader to practice the benefits of "self-love" and find the peace and joy that is the result of total commitment.

Fashion show held

Buses that two dozen Tofield models showed a variety of fashion, for the estimated two hundred, who turned out for the second annual Ties and Fashion Show, held last Wednesday evening.

The show, held at the Tofield Community Hall, was organized and put on by Agnes Ties and children's wear, from sleepwear to evening wear, in a variety of fabrics, either sewn, knitted, crocheted, woven or quilted, provided something for everyone who enjoyed the two-hour gathering.

With accompaniment by Agnes Anderson on piano, commentators Sharon Strong and Joie Aubrey described the various outfits modeled and the work that went into them, naming the audience that everything modelled could be made within the home, with fabrics and supplies readily available in Tofield.

Ryley wins title

The Ryley Senior Boys' volleyball team culminated an incredible season by winning the county tournament, posting a win-loss record of 4-0, against teams from Hilda, Viking and Tofield.

The team, coached by Andy Munchie, entered the county tournament, held in Hilda on Nov. 18, with a win-loss record of 4-0.

The winners, all senior high students at the Ryley School, are Tim Rokus, Allan Knudsen, Harold Lohman, Dale Murray, Neil Rokus, Dwayne Gars, Doug Wilde, Darrell Fryk, Don Olsrud, Ken Manderson, Dennis Clark and Allen Anderson.

Alan Andrusov, team captain who won the MVP trophy, was described by his coach as being a superb athlete.

Ryley hosted the semi-finals held Nov. 18, during which teams from New Norway, Consort, Provost and Ryley competed. The Ryley team ended up in third place after Consort was defeated by Provost in the final, enabling Provost to represent the central east at the Provincial Tournament.

Thirty of every 100 jobs are needed to and dependent on agriculture.

Talking from her own experience, Kathy Giebelhaus of Hilda entered a contest and won, enabling her story to be published in a new magazine, "Mountain Standard Times".

The agriculture writing contest was sponsored by the Alberta Rapeseed Association, with the winning entries published in the magazine. The contest was started as a 75th Anniversary project by the Department of Education.

Students in grades four, five and six could enter and entries came in from all over Alberta. Many Alberta schools were contacted about the contest and the magazine, and at the Hilda School, Marilyn Tomashavsky, Kathy's teacher, encouraged all his students to enter.

The magazine theme is agriculture, "for and by the golden four, five and six."

Which came first, the chickens or the eggs?

It takes approximately 21 days to hatch a chicken. Grade 4, Hilda.

This question I can not answer although I live on a farm that raises approximately 12,000 chickens each year.

Our chickens lay many eggs to help supply the many people of the world. This involves our whole family. We all help with the collection of eggs each day and with feeding the chickens.

The chicken thinks are that sent out to other farmers to raise as fryers. These are very good eating, especially when you order chicken at Kentucky Fried Chicken.

Eggs are a very important food item in everyone's diet. They supply our body with a good amount of protein. Breakfast can hardly be passed without a nice egg, sunny side up.

Almost all baking requires eggs. They help cut cakes and breads in rise and make them a lighter texture. Baking makes a very delicious drink at anytime of the day.

When you are in a hurry and don't feel like cooking meat, eggs will make a good meal.

Sandwiches are very common among school children. We get bored with them as the year goes by, but seeing we must take lunch, egg salad sandwiches make a good nutritious lunch. There are millions and millions of eggs produced in Canada and United States each year. The demand for eggs increases every day as the population increases.

So for everyone who wants good healthy food and to help out the egg industry have better GET CRACKEN!

When you are in a hurry and don't feel like cooking meat, eggs will make a good meal.

Sandwiches are very common among school children. We get bored with them as the year goes by, but

Canadian Comment

OTTAWA (CP) — The Great Constitutional Debate rolls over toward. Last week we looked at the philosophical and language implications of what Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau is proposing to do with the shape of Canada. This week it's the pragmatic of power which will be under the magnifying glass.

Many observers have remarked on the fact that Ontario's Premier William Davis is the only provincial leader in alliance with Mr. Trudeau. Davis' position to what public opinion polls show are the results of Ontario's political class. Such things are important to Dr. Davis, with a provincial election coming, but his reasons for supporting Mr. Trudeau are much deeper.

The constitutional battle is really a power struggle between the two central provinces and the energy-rich western provinces. Ontario and Quebec, with a combined strength of 170 federal MPs out of 282 in the entire House of Commons, can politically dominate the whole nation. This circumstance has been a sore point with the Atlantic provinces and the Western provinces all through Canadian history. Ontario and Quebec, with slightly more than half the Canadian population, have nearly two-thirds of the federal political muscle.

Rising world energy prices in the past eight years have brought instant prosperity to Alberta, British Columbia, and Saskatchewan, which have been forced by federal promises to keep energy prices at least half the world price. Who benefits? Ontario and Quebec, of course. Federal pricing policies have allowed but not stopped the rapid shift westward of Canada's economic centre of gravity. Meanwhile, Ontario and Quebec, and the federal government, have gone deeper into debt, because of revenue transfers, and human spending has and must continue to rise. The west has shared with central Canada, but not enough to halt the economic and political industry, which is based on cheap energy. The central government is now moving to take control of that vital energy in an attempt to maintain traditional control of all Canada.

That's a verdict registered from a left, broad, and, raised in Ontario, as it comes hard to write it. That's the conclusion Opposition Leader Joe Clark has reached. That's why he said in the opening debate on Mr. Trudeau's constitutional package, that Canadian confederation is in grave danger.

From here, it looks as though we're heading into the worst crisis since the Northwest Rebellion of 1885 years ago.

As I See It

During my 15 years in the Legislature, I have always admitted the importance of the Legislative Assembly in making major decisions which affect the lives of our citizens. Last week we again dealt with the present government does not seem to attach much importance to the parliament's representatives.

The Labor Relations Act, debated in the Legislature last week, gives the Cabinet the authority to unilaterally terminate any strike without the consent of the Legislative Assembly.

If we agree that our elected representatives are important in dealing with labour disputes, it is essential that the M.L.A.'s who represent the people of this province, debate the issues before a decision is made to terminate a strike.

It is not reasonable that decisions dealing with the well being of citizens should be left without full public discussion in the Legislature. The federal government asks its members to attend when it is determined that it is necessary, in the public interest, to have parliamentary authority to end strikes. In an emergency, it would take very little time to bring M.L.A.'s in to a special session to make a decision on such an important matter. Such action does two things: it guarantees public discussion of the issues, and it also allows those directly affected to see how their elected representatives vote.

I believe the government

As increasing number of farmers are applying their nitrogen fertilizer in the fall to avoid the workload pressure in the spring, the fertilizer industry is encouraging the practice because distribution systems could not handle all the orders in the spring.

Fall fertilizer applications can give good results if the following recommendations are followed:

- Do not apply a nitrogen fertilizer in the fall until after plant growth has ceased. This practice will prevent the fertilizer from being washed away by rain and volunteer grain during the fall.

Do not apply a nitrogen fertilizer in the fall to land that is subject to flooding or which remains saturated for several days after the spring run-off.

Do not apply a nitrogen fertilizer in the fall to soils that are very sandy because the fertilizer may leach below the plant root zone.

Do not apply a nitrogen fertilizer in the fall if you are planning to use delayed seeding the following spring as the fertilizer may leach below the plant root zone.

Do not apply a nitrogen fertilizer to forage crops until fall when all growth has ceased. Growth of these crops should not be stimulated before they go into dormancy.

The proper use of fertilizers are important to even in view of higher fertilizer and crop prices. These higher prices, mean that there is more to be lost from the im-

Brownies and Guides are busy in Holden

The Holden Brownies and Guides have conducted another busy, exciting year. Reorganization was held in late October with a pot-luck supper in the United Church basement.

Executive officers for the 1980-81 year were elected with Bobbie Schreiner taking the presidency and Sandra Hunsbaker taking the post of secretary-treasurer. The badge secretary will be Betty Gilman.

The Brownies' Tip-up Ceremony, held Oct. 20, was well attended. Guest Leader Florence welcomed her. Present in the Guide Centre, were: Doreen Lakowski, Betty Gilman, Doreen Daulton, and Bobbie Schreiner. These girls were awarded in Guide in the fall.

Brownies will be presenting a Carol Concert for senior citizens and then, will continue their efforts at a pot-luck supper, followed by a Carol Pot around the Village.

Bruce news

by Ben Pridmore

Ernest Brown, a longtime resident of the district, passed away suddenly at his home in Bruce on Nov. 13 at the age of 75 years. He married Ruby Hooper and the couple raised two sons. After living in Holden for a time, the family moved to Bruce in 1968 and except for a few months spent in the Parkland Nursing Home, Ernest had made his home here since that time.

For many years he worked as a carpenter. He is survived by his wife, Ruby; two sons, Jack of Edmonton and Stan of St. Albert; two granddaughters; and two grandsons.

Local country, Ernie Dine, has once again received recognition for his achievements as the rodeo star. As the C.A.R.A. champion bull rider he had three titles in Nov. 8. Ernie, who placed first in the wild horse race,

On Nov. 16 at a banquet and dance at the Edmonstone Plaza, Ernie was again honored, this time for winning the Canadian title in the wild horse race. He was the recipient of a $1,000 trophy donated by Mrs. J. Truett of Medicine Hat.

In appreciation of Ernie's help during the year, the 1980 harvest awards surprised him with a personal check.

Peter McIntosh's mother passed away recently at Edmonstone, B.C. Anna and Peter McIntosh of Kelowna to attend the funeral.

Brian Markey and son Jackson of Cowan, B.C. spent the past week visiting various family members in the area. Bruce news is still a family dinner to mark the father's birthday.

Despite what you see when you look outside, where is it? I know there's not much here, if any, but the true sign of winter is certainly apparent. Curling!

Just as sure as God made little green apples, the first nip of the air is followed quickly by the receding of hundreds of many shaped brooms, hidden in some closet. And I'll bet my favourite Frank Sinatra record, it's not because anyone has an overwhelming desire to play "Mr. Clean".

Up to this point in my life, I've successfully avoided curling. . . not that I don't enjoy it. I love it. I don't understand curling. . . volleyball, now you get a lot of people, divided into separated by a net and a volleyball. You can trash that. . . a little running a lot of exercising, even in curling. . . you can see that must go into the game even the names make sense. . . a basket, a ball. . . curling. . . same with ball, baseball, even ping pong. . . I guess. . . if you get around.

Granted there are a fair bit of names that make sense at all, if you take the area at face value. How hot tennis, squash or even billiards. . . have you ever seen a bowl anywhere near "alley"? But I try to understand various sports, so I do. . . but curling!

Here you have it, grown, silly sensible people, pick-up a round stone with a little on it, running a little down slippery ice, let-the stone go, then chasing it with their little arms, then sweeping madly hoping that it enters a bull's eye, and maybe runs into other stone just sitting there, minding it's own business. I mean how violent

A guiding star is found

by Lesley Primm

As you walk into the building, the scene envelops your mind and allows it to wander aimlessly as you gaze at the barren stage, realising the great potential that presents itself, when the music of theatre manifests.

As in every play there is a director, so too in every theatre there is a director, to guide the course of events, and will make a theatre into a way of life. It is the theatre director's ambition to bring the community and the theatre complement each other.

Berry Walker came to the Regional Arts Centre in Haldimand, filled with ambition and anticipation, ideas brimming over a hand-drawn, with six years schooling in theatre and business. Berry feels he is ready to take on the challenge, leading the task of shaping the future of the arts centre.

Originally from Barbados, Berry entered the music program at the U of A with the intention of becoming a band leader in a school band, which led to a business program where he felt he might be better suited to the business world. Always lurking in the back of his mind, was the thought of picking up a drama course to fulfill his theatrical yearning.

Though always interested in drama, he was somewhat reluctant to get fully involved in high school, because as he put it, "you didn't do drama, you didn't survive," but since "drama" bit him, there was no turning back.

After his stint at the U of A, Berry enrolled in the drama department of the University of Lethbridge, becoming thoroughly immersed in the lifestyle associated with theatre.

Starting from the ground up, Berry learned and experienced every aspect of the theatre, from the making of sets, from the procuring of props, from the trials and tribulations of acting, to the challenges and rigours of directing.

Sets, props, costumes, lights, designing, acting, even writing are all part of the knowledge and experience Berry brings with him to the Village of Haldimand and the Regional Arts Centre.

With the artistic input of five students, including Berry, the play was conceived and written about the first Canadian International Labour problem, that gripped the coal industry in Lethbridge. The coal miners went on strike, threatening the very future of the town. Much was done at the time to downplay the incident, so as not to affect the growing influx of people to the region.

Until recently very little was known about the strike, and with the completion and production of "Fire in the Hole," a significant part of Lethbridge's heritage is now public. Berry feels proud of the work he put into the play and is gratified with his success in directing it premiere.

Berry feels certain he will continue to work on his aspirations as a playwright, and would like to do "gripping, emotionally compelling stories."

Berry feels that to be in the theatre, you must be unique and independent and possess a large ego "provides you with the stamina and determination" needed to forge out a career in a profession, where great numbers of people never get off the ground. But, he is a professional and being a professional means "wanting to be the best and wanting it bad enough to sacrifice for it."

When he first surveyed the arts centre, he was astounded with the superb facility and the possibilities it best itself. The 284 seat theatre has a main stage, 26 x 27' with two permanent stages, perfect for almost any endeavour.

If there is any drawback in the complex, it would be the lack of storage space.

But, for a man with a mission, that is a small consideration and what does Berry hope to do?

"First, he feels he must interest and involve the community with the theatre. By having a concert on the 28th with Ted Crouch he hopes to attract enough people to the idea of having concerts. Concerts would provide entertainment and perhaps eventually financing for future projects.

In his capacity, acts must be interest and involve the community with the theatre. By having a concert on the 28th with Ted Crouch he hopes to attract enough people to the idea of having concerts. Concerts would provide entertainment and perhaps eventually financing for future projects.

Berry hopes to see plays done and even entertain the thought of holding acting

Last Wednesday, we held a "Tag Day". Generally speaking, it was just a day in which school frags could be purchased. Mis-use of good farmland

Scattering amidst the lush farmland near Tofield is the latest example of the mis-use of agricultural areas of Canada. Mirabel Airport, with fewer than 100 acres, is used for its questionable purpose of growing food for a hungry world.

The airport itself is the subject of considerable controversy, both by the travelling public and the international airlines. It was meant to serve as an important link in the question of the stewardship of the country's resources, particularly its food.

There are many such examples of crowded highways, airports and cities should be allowed at the long-term risk of having so dangerously low an arable land. It is a problem that not only affects today's farmers and food producers, but also has important implications for our children and grandchildren as well as for the fortunate nations that our

RCMP outline problems

by Lesley Primrose
Two RCMP officers addressed a crowd of over sixty concerned Holden residents on Tuesday night, outlining problems they face patrolling Holden, as well as possible solutions to the problems.

In a crime seminar, co-sponsored by the Holden Businessmen's Association and the Chamber of Commerce, Coastals Hugh McKenzie and Jim Warren attempted to explain concerns they are having with residents, explaining their point of view.

In past terms, the officers listed problems affecting the efficiency of their policing: communication, location, manpower and traffic control. It was pointed out that these problems are not exclusive to Holden but, apply generally throughout the county.

The Holden force, generally they are treated as outsiders or treated with suspicion and that surely if they are in town, then someone must be trouble.

However, it was pointed out that a policeman's main concern is for crime prevention and by equipping themselves with the town's people, it would help alleviate the misunderstandings that when dealing with the law.

The problem of location is not an easy matter. If a complaint is placed in, it would take an officer at least twenty minutes to respond, simply due to the travel time from Tofield, where the detachment is located, to Holden.

Location may be directly related to traffic control. Because of the twenty-two mile drive people suspected of stealing, spending or other related driving offences are hard to catch in the act and without assistance from local citizens, very hard to prosecute.

The other problem facing the RCMP is the lack of manpower. The Tofield Detachment consists of five members, two cars and an area of two square miles to cover, including towns, acreage and highways. As covered in their contracts, the RCMP is a member for every 100-200 people, super-saturated.

Local working conditions would have each month handling five or six files at a given time. However, the Tofield Detachment handles approximately thirty files per man.

With the addition of a by-law enforcement officer for Holden and Holden, the RCMP have had a slight reprieve, although they must still call on a taking action against crime in the neighbourhood.

With the addition of a by-law enforcement officer for Holden and Holden, the RCMP have had a slight reprieve, although they must still call on a taking action against crime in the neighbourhood.

stressed strongly that they are not just out people who are passed on to them. If something happens within town, it is necessary for a complaint to be placed in before it can be acted upon. Other people are reluctant to place in complaints but, they should realize their names are listed in the strictest of confidence and the giving of their name and phone number to RCMP is used to verify complaints and weed out pranksters.

In summary, the RCMP feel they can contribute to the solution of the problems by making every effort to increase patrol and set up contact with local residents on a social level.

An effort will be made to inform citizens of their rights and duties and of the methods used in making complaints as well as court procedure.

An important part of the solution will be continued contact with law enforcement as a whole, getting out and talking to residents and community further programs involving the concerned citizens in which is geared to residents taking action against crime in the neighbourhood.

But, as was pointed out at the gathering, the RCMP can only do so much. The village must want to see improvement within their own community and be willing to work toward that goal.

As the Coastals said, if you see them driving late in town, stop and say hello, they would be a part of the community.

Toros lead league

Tofield Toros have swept into sole possession of first place in the County (Centrose) Senior Hockey League.

Meeting scheduled

A large crowd is expected to be on hand for a public meeting in Tofield this coming Monday night.

The meeting was arranged by the County of Beaver Board of Education to discuss concerns about the Tofield School which had been expressed in a petition presented to the board by the Tofield Home and School Association.

The public meeting will be held in the Tofield School Organization and will get underway at 7:30 p.m.

The Board of Education decided to hold the public meeting, despite rejecting the petition submitted by the THSA.

Bob Cross, secretary-treasurer for the County of Beaver, has advised that anyone wishing to have any items of concern included on Monday's agenda, it will be in the morning.

A week ago, Toros were tied with Klagenau and Round Hill for top spot but, those teams have dropped into third and fourth places while New Norway has vaulted into second spot.

A win and a tie in two starts during the past week was what moved the Toros into the lead.

The Tofield squad has only one game scheduled for the coming week when they are at home to Round Hill on Friday night.

Two bluelined Round Hill 4-0 in a game that was played in Tofield on Friday and then battled Round Hill to a 4-4 tie in Centrose on Sunday night.

The Toros' contest with Round Hill drew a crowd of 154 fans, a record for the team since it began two years ago.

Increased attendance will likely secure the team of being able to host games at playoff time.

Ken Mitchell has taken over as coach of the team and Richard Strong has returned as an active player.

Toros have announced plans for part of the proceeds for their league game on Feb. 15 to go towards the senior hockey program and the team will be holding a Valentine's Day concert on Feb. 14.

Round Hill (rounds noted last week) Toros got a hot-trick from Klagenau, two-goal performance came from G. Olson and Leschak with singles being scored by Hanson and Schmidt.

Dale Olson was in goal for the bluelined victory over Round Hill with other details not being available.

In the game with Round Hill, Toros' markers were scored by G. Olson, Garner, Olson and Hanson.

Each team was named after a town in the county.

Co-ordinator needed
 by Lacey Primeau
 The fourth annual St. E. Alberta Winter Games will be held February 27th, 28th, and 29th in Bonnyville and as yet, no Games Co-ordinator for the County of Bonner has been found.
 Originally, George Baker, former recreation director for the county, was to have been the County Co-ordinator. However, he has since moved to Bonnyville.
 Games Co-ordinator, Tim Sebastian, has contacted recreation boards in the various communities trying to recruit a county representative but, with no luck.
 The games are sponsored by the North Eastern Alberta Recreation Association and will include fourteen featured events, including, basketball, baseball, broomball, cross country skiing, downhill skiing, table tennis, snow shoe racing, speed skating, women's ice hockey, men's floor hockey, volleyball, senior men's and senior women's soccer and demonstration chess.
 The senior events were added due to the huge success of the recent Camrose Senior Games.
 In addition to the featured events, a mini-showcase of talent will be presented by the N. E. Alberta Touring Organization, as well as a display of local arts and crafts.
 Anyone who might be interested in representing the county as co-ordinator, or anyone who might have performing aspirations, is asked to contact George Baker, REATO President, at Recreation Department, Town of Bonnyville, or call 826-1965.

Some ways to prevent this are:
1. Use a grade spreader as the sager when preparing grade into the lot. This will spread the seed more evenly and other foreign material will be spread over the lot.
2. Try to keep the grain moisture level at 15% or lower

Hastings Lake

by Les Poon

The winner of the wheel and spin game on Friday was Les Poon and Irene Scott for the ladies, and Con Winder and Pat Peterson for the men. The next wheel evening will be on Dec. 13.

There will be a bingo at the hall on Monday, and on Thursday the Ladies Club will be having its Christmas meeting and post-hunt supper at the hall.

Last Sunday, The Hastings family organized a Christmas party on a nearby farm.

The planned activity for the New Year is to be a social dancing, not "Arabic" as printed last week. Aerobic dancing is a busy fit facility to music.

Whyte wins 'spiral'

The 1980-81 curling season got off to a successful start as the Whyte team captured the first prize in the annual opening Princeship Curling tournament.

For the second time in the past three years, the Whyte team captured the first prize in the tournament. Other members of the team were Gladys Whyte, Bill Glover and Adeline Chalmers. The Dave Scholte team was runner-up in the first event.

Longer curling has now commenced. However, anyone still interested in curling this winter may do so by contacting the co-ordinators of the various leagues, or contact Ted Whyte.

primeau's play pen

There can be no doubt about it, winter is here. One look out the window and one step out the door and you know it's not really the snow that I mind or the cold, but what really frustrates me, if you'll pardon the pun, are frozen cars.

I actually figure that winter should run from Dec. 30 to about Feb. 28. That way there would be snow on the ground for Christmas, after all, what's Christmas without snow, and the extra would let you appreciate summer more. I don't do, unfortunately, I can't shake, as prophecies as that sounds, I really am at a loss as to what everyone all this snow and cold serves, except maybe my garage bills.

I own a valve, Benzathine, a nice car really, but there is one thing you must bear in mind with valves, they're made to last, otherwise you'd be on the commercial, gas, and after that... watch out.

But that is in perspective, the 1980 figure I must own a share of the company by now. But one never knows what problems might arise when winter arrives.

First cold morning, like last Monday, and I discover that we have no black heater, so they have a topper. Into the garage we go, get a heater, but no such luck... I mean really, why can't they smell winter!

CARE

If you haven't covered your neighbors to make your own a safer place to live, you're missing out on the best crime prevention tool there is. It's a fact. Neighbors who care enough to let each other know what's going on in their homes are less likely to be victimized. That's about it. Talk it up. Make something good happen on your block.

Association meets

The annual general meeting of the Local Association of the Tofield, Beaverhill and Galt Clubs was held recently. It was attended by many friends, mothers, past executive and leaders.

The district Galt Rally to be held in Tofield on Feb. 18, 1981 was the main topic of discussion. Several fund-raising activities were also on the agenda.

Curling clinic held

This past weekend the Tofield Curling Club was the South Edmonton Curling Club. A total of 13 participants and seven instructors, headed by Joyce Christensen of Edmonton, took part in the clinic.

The program encompassed both "on-ice" and "off-ice" instruction, featuring actual demonstrations as well as Curl Canada slides and movie presentations.

After two vigorous days, the curlers were left tired and overworked but had improved curling skills and enjoyed the experience.

Upon the conclusion of the clinic, each participant received a letter from Curl Canada thanking them for their participation in the clinic.

It was a very successful weekend and the participants were very happy to have had the opportunity to improve their skills.

Beaverhill sees dramatic changes

Dramatic changes have taken place in the Beaverhill Hockey League, during the past week.

Members were on the receiving end of their first loss, as the team was defeated 1-0 in the only other game played, by the Tofield team.

All that happened with only three games being played. Ryley played in Mandaree last night (Wednesday) with the game being reported next week.

Tofield officials will be at home to Mandaree on Saturday night while Lacrosse plays in Mandaree.

Yesterday's contests will have Ryley travel to Lacrosse while Mandaree plays in Tofield.

Andrew has taken a two-point lead over Mandaree with the latter having a game in hand.

School and School Bus Operations During Storms

1. Schools in the County of Beaver will operate on all regular school days. Should school buses be cancelled due to hazardous road conditions, all pupils will be excused from attendance. Teachers will be expected to attend and will be utilizing the time for preparation purposes.
2. Should an overnight storm cause blocked roads or the serious danger of blocked roads, school bus runs will be cancelled. Radio station CFOW (Channel 16) will broadcast messages, starting at 6:30 a.m., informing parents of the cancellation.
3. Should it be necessary to send pupils home by school bus at some time during the school day because of stormy conditions, these procedures will be followed:
 - 1) The Principal of the school has authority to send school buses home at any time during the school day.
 - 2) Radio station CFOW will broadcast messages that rural pupils are enroute home.
 - 3) Parents, school bus drivers and others who are informed on road conditions are asked to telephone the Principal, the County Council or the County Office if Ryley should have any considerable trouble throughout the County. For this reason, each school will operate independently under this procedure. It is others. Similarly, buses may be cancelled at some schools and not at others.
 - 4) Parents are reminded that it is their right to decide whether or not their children will get on the bus in the morning should conditions be stormy or hazardous.
 - 5) Please be certain that all pupils are dressed adequately warm each day. School buses can become stranded on any given day due to road conditions or mechanical breakdown.

Confronting Your Faith

by Pastor Erick Mills, Tofield Alliance Church

THE EXCHANGE

At Christmas, most people I know do not give gifts. They exchange them.

Stated or not, the agreement usually is, "I'll give John (or Jane) a gift because I expect John or Jane will give me back to me."

And then we try to make sure that the gift we give is equal in value to the gift we receive.

If you question this, suppose that this Christmas you give a friend a gift worth fifty dollars. As a measure of his gratitude, your friend returns to you a gift worth fifty cents (including card and wrapping paper).

You'd probably consider that a strange exchange (or something worse).

Yet gift exchange more-or-less that this goes on all the time. Especially, I mean, at Christmas.

For Christmas marks the giving of God's gift to us. And when God gave us Jesus and we accepted Him — we received the greatest gift possible.

Forgiveness. Peace. Pardon. And Healing.

Like Love. Freedom. And power.

Friendship. Friends. Meaning. And purpose.

Guidance. Direction. Strength. And blessing.

All of this — and much, much more — is ours. Ours when we receive the gift of God, His Son Jesus Christ.

Now, obviously, the gift that came from God is impossible to equal. Jesus Christ is the one gift we can never hope to match. All efforts to do so are useless and pathetic.

Despite all this, God gave us His Son anyway. And He invites us now to make a most meaningful exchange.

To exchange our "may-be" token to God... for a "yes" home in heaven.

THE CHRISTMAS WISH Here are the little children

Around their father's knee? They bring their little wishes For presents by the tree.

They have no money value To buy and precious things Each child has a desire, To which it really clings.

Now father has to tell them His wish for Christmas too; They guess and try to guess What to give and how to give.

And father keeps them guessing: Should things now, one, two, three, But how the children believe For joy, is heavy glue.

That Dad is left there sitting, Alone, in deepest thought, What is my heart's desire? For things, that can't be bought!

What shall my Father give me, My Father up above? For I'm his child for ever, by His Grace and Love.

His hands are slowly finding, For His own Christmas child; They love, and joy and peace, Again, let me see.

Remember Thy peace with me, Thy hope, that came with Thee. Thy good will, manifested, In gift enough for me.

My little heart, Oh Lord, I wish gratitude, my plan; That songs of praise and wonder, Will ever flow to Thee.

My little heart, Oh Lord, I wish gratitude, my plan; That songs of praise and wonder, Will ever flow to Thee.

Hancock speaks

"Problems to Christians," an annual event sponsored by Care and Share of Tofield, was held on Dec. 3rd, and was a successful success.

Over 200 people gathered at the Tofield Community Hall for a turkey and ham dinner prepared by a committee headed by Mrs. Fred Pank and Mrs. Margaret Stettman.

Young people from Tofield and surrounding areas assisted with serving.

Jim Slater of Community Youth Services was M.C. of the evening.

The evening was provided in the "Season of Liberty," a live from Tofield, Manitoba Church, Jim Slater, Gwen Beutler and Marvin Weiler, accompanied by Elaine Knudsen on the piano.

Elaine Knudsen played a piano solo, "The Holy City."

The guest speaker was Mrs. Maxine Hancock of Marquette, a well-known author of four Christian books, recently named as hostess on the "100 Hourly St." television show.

Last rites are held for Thelma Erickson

Last rites were held for Thelma Erickson, who was born at Rossmore, Alta., on the 13th of June, 1890, to parents, Larry and Minnie Bergard, who lived in La Glace, Alta.

At the age of five, she played her father's harp and sang in church. Her love for music and song played an important role in her life. She was a

She was pronounced by her father in 1980. She leaves to mourn her loss, her loving husband, Bjorne, daughter, the home farm where they have resided since. Daughter, Leona and son, Randy were born to the marriage.

County buys graders

by Lesley Pittman
The County of Beaver has approved the expenditure of $215,946 for the purchase of two Champion 1700 graders, supplied by Ferguson Supply of Edmonton.

Council received three tenders from Ferguson Supply, John Deere and B. Angus. Representatives from B. Angus and Ferguson Supply were at the council meeting Thursday morning to answer any questions that council may have had.

A delegation of representatives of the Beaver Foundation met with council to discuss what they felt to be excessive damage caused by the graders to the county's roads.

The Beaver Foundation put forth a request they feel might offset some of the cost of the graders to the county.

If a permit is requested at odd times of night, it makes it difficult to process the necessary arrangements. Council of Beaver agreed to work more closely to avoid future misunderstandings.

Curse the county pays 70% of the years deficit at the end of the year.

Some year however, the tax rate is requested to be added to the 70% on an additional 1/2 on that next year's deficit. Having certain funds before hand would cut down the amount of interest paid on deficits.

Presently other communities maintain 80% off the deficit and they will also be asked to put in 1/2 more towards the deficit. The county has agreed to have the interest in the plan if the deficit would agree to the plan.

County council has also agreed that the remaining 700 Anniversary Council has agreed to approximately $3,800, to be used towards the upgrading of parks within the county.

Florida Armistead, councillor for division one, was nominated to receive an award to recognize her outstanding contributions towards the county.

"Dorcas" a body under the parks and recreation division of the Provincial Government, gathered at a recreation convention on Saturday with the award providing the appointment.

Miles played their best game of the season in battling Pulpurville in a 3-2 draw. The tie left the Miles with an 8-11 record.

Anyone who thinks they might have done much in the way of promoting recreation.

Holden mayor resigns Minor teams win

Tofield's minor hockey teams went undefeated during games played in the past week.

Five victories and two ties were recorded by the teams when they beat Fort McMurray.

Bantams romped to a 10-0 win, two ties and only one loss.

Midgets are still unbeaten but, they had a scare in one outing and had to settle for a draw.

Midgets are now unbeaten in twelve games with a record of eleven wins and a tie.

In the past week's action, Tofield's minor hockey teams went undefeated during games played in the past week.

First home action for the Midgets will be tonight (Thursday) when they host Fort McMurray.

Project starts

by Lesley Pittman
Next Monday, between 11:00 and 1:15 p.m., Project Old Job will be in force.

The project will involve the removal of the old job site at Tofield School, which was a site for the school's old job site.

Those people who are handicapped, elderly or otherwise disabled may call the school and have students come and do various odd jobs around the premises such as snow removal, special cleaning projects, painting, Christmas lights, etc., but all jobs must be done between noon and one o'clock.

The project is expected to be a good practical experience for students and is expected to promote student involvement within the community.

Anyone who thinks they might have done much in the way of promoting recreation.

Deadline is changed

Next week is a special one for The Mercury.

It will be the newspaper's annual Christmas edition.

It will also mark the paper's last publication of 1980 with the next edition to be published on Saturday for Jan. 20.

Because Christmas falls on a Thursday, the paper's normal publication day and because there is a four-day week, the paper's last issue will be published two days so that papers may be delivered before Christmas.

Contributors, advertisers and contributors are asked to submit the material ahead of time.

Don Barr, The Mercury's advertising manager, will be making his rounds on Saturday of the week, for this occasion only.

Push too far

There's a chance western negotiation might be pushed too far, and get out of hand, suggests Premier Lougheed, if Ottawa doesn't listen more to the pleas of alienation over the next four or five months.

It's not that most Western Canadians really want to get out of Canada, but they may reach the point where they feel pushed beyond the point of continued acceptance. And if once the spirit becomes general, it could very easily race beyond the point where it wants out in political action, and seek instead to reflect that action in a breakaway mood.

Such an action might prove to be just as illogical as those of the Prime Minister who seems bent on forcing it, but when pressed to such an extreme, men often don't take the path of logic.

The Liberal party recently has decided to take actions to prove it is not antagonistic towards the West, and in doing so has learned that the problems felt by the provinces are not uniform across the West. Which surely lends a great deal of reassurance to Westerners. After all these years, and after all our complaints, only now is it being recognized that we don't all have the same things to make us upset.

Energy Minister Lalonde is soothingly pointing to the need for compromise, which he points out, has always been the Canadian way. He hasn't said yet that what he means is to compromise his way, or that it shouldn't be hard to compromise after he has staked out an absolutely impossible position, and then offers to move a short distance across the gap to prove how "reasonable" he is prepared to be. It's reassuring to hear how many of our leaders, all true Westerners, want us to retain our cool, and stay within the Canadian frame. We want exactly the same thing. Canadians have had, and still have, one of the greatest countries in the world, and we wouldn't want to lose it. But we had ancestors on both sides who were here years before the original talks on federation, and we don't today have what it was they dreamed they were forging more than a century ago. They would the whole program have gone ahead if they could see major partners ganging up on smaller ones.

Democracy may well be the rule of the people by the majority, but there can be the tyranny of the majority, as well.

Balanced views

We hope the Public Utilities Board in Alberta didn't spend very long considering the proposal of Alberta Power recently that it should be allowed to earn fifteen percent return on investment, simply because a select list of commercial firms have ten year records considerably better than that.

Naturally, their list included the best twenty-five performers in the entire market.

It didn't for instance, include Massey Ferguson. Nor would Alberta to Power want the PUB to be reminded that not just hundreds but thousands of companies don't make earnings (if they make any at all) even remotely comparable with those of the utility company right now. The fact the open market is a much tougher place to compete than in the utility market makes big winners of some, big losers of some, with all the range of in-between areas for vast majority.

If you, as head market type utilities are going to be placed on the list, at the end of the list, we'd like to see to sell everything else we own, and buy stocks in utilities. Life insurance, pensions, mining stocks, blue chips, none of them could touch the utilities.

We could be poor again!

One of the Big Four, we have forgotten his name was representing at a Liberal fund raising lunch in Victoria recently. In his speech he indicated that the gang in Ottawa used to reaching the bottom of the barrel by way of reasons why the west should be a little more tolerant in the face of the federal government "could be poor again", and that we would not always enjoy the prosperity brought about mainly by resource development.

Perhaps he was trying to move us with these tales of the dried cod and third grade English played out over the day the depression, when by the way, we were poor as church mice from the Pacific to the Atlantic, and a few tales in the eastern Canada world were making money off the backs of the westerners today.

The way things are today, the fact is poverty is well on its way, following the recent Liberal budget, where taxes and more taxes, more money grabbing and more state control of resources in the name of the game from the central bureaucracy in the nation's capital. The only thing this business meant out on to his audience was that the immediate a westerner that has grown up following the depression of the thirties, is not used to seeing dried cod and making money off the backs of the westerners won't realize we're beginning to realize that "poor again" is not measured in government dollars, and the past ten or twelve years of the past we are seeing new indicators "dirt poverty" which is a more scary get feeling that we should enter this country out of the door to the border. Perish the thought. But even today get hungry, low, searching for someone who can think of something more important than a constitution, when industrial, industrial unemployment and the like are running rampant in the country.

Granted, in a material way we could be "poor again", but in other respects we fear we are at the bottom of the ladder... the well in at the door! ... The Thomas Herald

JOURNALISM CRITICIZED

The Editor The Mercury

Dear Sir: Journalismists "in an all-day low when the article: 'Vote of confidence assured'". It was far from being orderly with regards to accepted principles of Parliamentary Law.

Secondly, Mrs. Brown did not receive a meeting held to the statement that she was utterly satisfied with it, but to other parts of her lengthy speech. An intentional slip or a misplaced modifier.

Thirdly, it was not obvious that support for the ATIA had sharply eroded as Miss Princess announced, since the ATIA never claimed to give specific numbers of people who support it outside its membership. But can anyone make that statement unless he has much support as well as votes to begin with?

I find it rather strange that despite Miss Princess's fascination for detail (displayed in the remark that Mr. Moore was "completely absent") she consistently fails to state that it was she who made the motion of the motion.

As a member of the ATIA, I am sorry to have the members of the ATIA so negative contacted the ATIA in an effort to have the members barred from the meeting. However, yet to hear from her source at the ATIA for which she claims to have received information.

conducting meetings) stated that debate should be confined to the level and avoid personalities.

The examples given should indicate that, although the meeting was "orderly", it was far from being orderly in the meaning of "orderly". It was far from being orderly with regards to accepted principles of Parliamentary Law.

asked him questions about the meeting. He also stated that he did not receive a meeting held to the statement that she was utterly satisfied with it, but to other parts of her lengthy speech. An intentional slip or a misplaced modifier.

Although Miss Princess never went on to help her decline towards some ATIA members and her last against the Association she went out of her way to show her feelings by her accusations and disrespectful use of "Excellence" to Mr. and Mrs. when she mentioned other people.

In closing, I would like to point out the irony of the ATIA being accused of spreading rumors and making false accusations as long as I have reported who that is important to create stories instead of just reporting them objectively as they are reported to.

B. Eganhead President, ATIA

Dear Sir:

On numerous occasions this year, there have been rumors made of the structure of the Toifield Minister Hocking's ATIA. In all instances, it seems, our information has been lying to a female reporter who

Mrs. Brown of Athabasca spent a couple of weeks in Tofield with her son Ernest and her brother Brown.

Brown returned to his home near Calgary where he joined his brother and friends to help him build his new home. He and his children spent the days with her brother Mr. and Mrs. Jack Keale at Calgary.

George and Gladys of Prince Rupert were Saturday overnight guests at the George Hotel, coming up for the Antiqua Show at Tofield.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hovland at his first child, a boy, 7 lbs., 14 in., named Jesse Lawrence.

Mrs. Willie Hovland had a Tupperware party at her home Tuesday.

On Saturday Eve a housewarming was held for Carl and Arlene Staal at their home, the former George Grand.

On behalf of those present George Hall presented the couple with a purse of money and an engraved card of good wishes for their new home. A buffet lunch was served. Present were George and Gladys of Prince Rupert; Margaret of Leduc; (who purchased the Carl Staal farm near Camrose); Stacie and Anne Therpe of Red Deer; George, Sophie, Don, Ron and Duane; Warren and Jim and Janet Osmeth of Dryden Lake; Fred Cameron were Henry and Ann Staal, Pat and Leah Laird and Laurie Hilkey. Present were Hans and Lorna Southen and Tami and Mary Chapman. From the area were George and Gladys, Martin, Mena and Michael, Mrs. Knicker, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Bolding, Kevin and Darren, Joe and Donna Knudsen, Don and Elaine Lien, Jim and Jim McNeill and Walter and Mildred Starnard. Carl and Arlene both expressed their thanks and appreciation, and invited the guests to come again.

Investiture presented

The children of the credit roll kindergarten and primary classes of the Tofield Seventh-day Adventist Church presented a special investiture at the church on Saturday.

Early in 1980, the children and adult members each chose a special project in which time, talent or money would be invested.

Projects were many and varied from raising vegetables to turning over a portion of money saved by buying sale items.

To date, over $2,000 has been raised to help support Adventist mission work in the Tofield area.

Flora Lloyd of Mission was guest speaker at the morning worship service.

With the school holidays drawing closer and closer students are contemplating the last day of school and the activities associated with it.

The Tofield High students will be holding a skating party at the sports ground, to be followed by a winter dance.

The Junior High students will be holding on this year with a winter dance and a game of two water polo. Of course everyone is looking forward to the Christmas Concert on Friday. All the activities get underway at 1:00 and Santa is expected to arrive around 3:00 p.m.

January 17th is the day of the annual homecoming tournament. Grads from previous years get together to play basketball and spirit cheerleaders. It is certain to be a interesting game.

My Place is Your Place

Sometimes in a small community you wonder where to take a family for an outing, where to go for a quick bite to eat, where to go for just a treat and some friendly conversation.

Well, in Holden, the problem may just have been solved with the arrival of 'My Place'.

Three months ago, Ben

Brumfield came west to visit his cousin, Ivan Frowling, and his wife Ursula, who reside in Edmonton. Ben took a look around for business prospects and he and Ivan noticed the Holden Coffer Shop was for sale, looked into it and became partners on the spot.

Ben said he had a talk with the kids who play the pinball machines and told them they were more than welcome.

There's no garbage anywhere but in the garbage. 'My Place' is a family place', Ben further went on, 'a place for entire families to come down for a pizza and play a few games'.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, music lounge bowling is in full swing. At the moment at least 30 people are involved with the bowling, sport that shows promise of growing and growing in Holden. The alley is unique, there are two lanes with an automatic ball return but you must rest the pins yourself! This leaves it wide open for family participation as many kids are eager to set pins for a couple of dollars. This way, mom can keep a close eye of her offspring and afterward everyone can partake of the pizza, that is growing in popularity up and down highway 14.

Originally 'My Place' was just going to have the regular fast foods, fries, hamburgers and sales for seven years, running a coffee shop was going to be sure and running a bowling alley was certainly going to be a new challenge but, of the last week is any indication of the future, Ben, Ivan and Ursula have a winner on their hands. The three-month worked day and night, but the improvements to the old Holden Coffer Shop, new pinball machines, new pinball table, new pinball machines, eleven of them with more to come and new tables to the bright surroundings, you can't help but notice how clean it is.

The hours seem to have been extended from the original concept as well. Initially 'My Place' was open from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m., but lately, demand has seen the hours extended to one or two to the morning. Ursula comes up from Edmonton every day to help with the running of the daily business and at night little Danielle helps out with everything. Regardless of the long hours, Ben says he loves it and looks forward to many improvements.

Hopefully a stereo will be added to the front area, which seats about 30 people comfortably and in the games room/bowling alley in the back a bar but for those of the younger generation, more pinballs will be added to the games room.

Generally public's reputation has been that of one associated with delinquency, but that will not be the case at

'My Place' if Ben has anything to do with it. He would like to see it develop into a sport for the whole family and by keeping the premises clean he hopes that will be a start.

Also he hopes to start small challenges with the machines, to see who can get the highest score, etc. and hopefully they might even be trophies awarded. Interestingly enough as you walk into 'My Place' there is a sign over the counter that reads 'absolutely no profanity' and that is a statement strictly adhered to.

It would appear that with all the improvements and dedication 'My Place' could soon be everyone's place, more importantly Holden has a new son who is proud to call Holden home!

Kyles celebrate 60th

On Oct. 18, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kyle of Canmore celebrated their 60th Wedding Anniversary. Margaret, Suberland was married to Donald Kyle on November 16, 1920, in Westminster Presbyterian Church in Edmonton, officiated by Rev. Wm. Grant. They married in Alberta for 59 years, including 17 years in the Tofield area and after retiring in 1962, they lived in Canmore for 13 years, then moved to Canmore where they are now residing once again.

They have five children: Isabel (Mrs. Rod Haskins) Tofield, Rose of Sherwood Park; Gordon of Tofield; Norman of Edmonton and his wife of Mississauga, Ont.; also 14 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

A pot luck dinner in the meeting room of the hall at 8:30 p.m.

After the meal, their daughter Isabel, presented new baby with a family picture and a tablecloth with all the family names embroidered on it. Friends and relatives gathered in the Tofield Community Hall to attend "open house" arranged by the family.

About 120 guests were present, coming from Olds, Peace Lake, Blackfoot, Red Deer, Calgary, Canmore, Drumheller, Edmonton, Kamloops, Inverness, Sherwood Park, Killam, Westlock and Tofield.

The head table was adorned with a two tiered wedding cake, beautifully decorated in blue by Louise Kyle.

MAKING HOLIDAYS
 There is no place like home for the holidays - there is also no place like home for Christmas Eve dinners.

Make sure your Christmas remains a happy one by taking the appropriate safety precautions. Follow these tips for:

- Safe and happy holiday
- When selecting Christmas lights look for the CSA and/or safety approval.
- Check each set of lights and see, for frayed or cracked wires, frayed or bare wires and loose connections.
- Disconnect damaged sets or regular time before using.
- Don't use indoor lights outdoors.

Why not surprise your family or guests with a smelly hot lunch, lunch, or dinner? Sometimes make a perfect course or an easy dessert! Served any way, they will excite everyone's appetite.

Smilies are especially nutritious, as they may include eggs, cheese, milk, vegetables and other nutritious foods into a single dish! They serve as an excellent source of protein and B-vitamins and when served with a roll and salad can constitute a well-balanced meal.

Smilies have always been deemed as difficult to make but anyone with a little bit of know-how they're as easy as taking a bite. Any failure can be remedied by serving on a cruetage glass!

There are 2 main types of smilies. These are those that are served hot, which are best in the oven and cold smilies which are not baked but have a gelatin base to give them structure.

Why not try a smilie with your leftover Christmas turkey?

For more information on how to make a "successful smilie" ask for "Smilies" from my office, it's free for the making! 860-3009.

On cold winter days, do you plug in your car when you get home from work? Save you the hassle of getting dinner later to plug it in, or worse you're trying to plug it in at 9 a.m. to turn on power to these outside switches?

Calgary Power has a project available called the "Power Saver". It is a thermostatically controlled unit which delays the operation of a car engine block heater until it cools enough to require heating. It will operate with any 120 volt electric engine heater and maintain the block temperature at 4.7°C (38.5°F). The Power Saver is model-mounted in the interior heater inlet hose on most liquid cooled vehicles based on an electricity cost of 14 per kilowatt hour and a plug-in means of 120 days. The Power Saver can save you about $14.00 the first year you own it. The Power Saver is available at Calgary Power Office for $8.00. Have anyone on your Christmas list who owns a car?

Drama Club has hit

by Lela Perna
 The Tofield School Drama Club held their third annual "Variety Show" on Tuesday, the night of December 18th, to the delight of both students and the community.

The show, which lasted approximately one hour, consisted of a variety of skits and dance numbers.

Guests included: Myra Burdett, Cheryl West, Susan Blomman, Michelle James, Shana-Lee Racine, Michael Taylor and Paula Hinkley used the music to "To the Moon" as the theme to their skit.

Miss Blomman, dressed in the costume of a ballerina, danced with the choreographer, displayed a great ability to

to the music. Her dancing can best be described as being laid, lyrical and beautiful. One might hope that this young lady would use her future potential with a sharp trip.

It is safe to assume that the Tofield School Club at the Tofield school comprises both talented and creative artists and certainly staff and students alike will look forward to the fourth annual "Variety Show."

Miss James obviously has a fair for improvisation as well as the ability to react to audience responses. Her timing and facial expressions reveal much of her talent for the art of acting.

Chloe Williams at Connie Ouellet, Paula Hinkley as Faye Dadda and Gayle Burdett as Elaine Zimmerman, in the same skit, gave much to their performance, but, the crowd's biggest laughs and applause were for the skit of acting.

Mr. Williams displayed a great awareness for the importance of props and interaction with his fellow actors. Audience response led me to believe Mr. Williams had his character down pat!

A real off spot of "That's Incredible" titled "That's Incredible" proved enjoyable as did a remake of the classic "The Night Before Christmas."

Students in a "Silly Skit" brought a certain touch to a normal meal, as did "Getting Ready," a mother's morning through the eyes of a little girl.

Perhaps one of the most enjoyable of the first year was the "Dressmaker's High School" with the music of "Mr. Fat and Greeny." All the role players' "Dressmaker's" made one glad such love isn't what they used to be.

Though the student involvement was great to mention, all by name it must certainly be mentioned that the performance was given by Terry Rempel and Connie Hinkley who appeared in a couple of skits together.

It is fair to assume these two young ladies not only enjoy their art but also make others enjoy it.

A sense of magic engulfed these two when they appeared on stage together and the magic rubbed off on the audience, who more than showed their enjoyment by their responses.

Eight young ladies used the music of "To the Moon" as the theme to their skit.

COUNTY OF BEAVER GENERAL MUNICIPAL PLAN YOUR PLAN YOUR FUTURE

Supplement to the: Tofield Mercury & Viking Weekly

why have a general municipal plan ?

DURING THE PAST FIVE YEARS, A NUMBER OF LAND USE PROBLEMS HAVE ARISEN IN THE COUNTY OF BEAVER. SOME OF THESE PROBLEMS ARE ASSOCIATED WITH SPECIFIC TOPICS SUCH AS AGRICULTURE AND COUNTRY RESIDENTIAL DEVELOPMENT. YOUR COUNTY COUNCIL BELIEVES THAT IN ORDER TO MINIMIZE PRESENT, AS WELL AS FUTURE CONFLICTS, A GENERAL MUNICIPAL PLAN IS NECESSARY. IN CO-OPERATION WITH THE COUNTY LAND USE BYLAW, THE GENERAL PLAN WOULD PROVIDE THE POLICIES AND CONTROL NEEDED TO ACCOMMODATE FUTURE DEVELOPMENT.

REGARDING LEGISLATION, THE PLANNING ACT STIPULATES THAT "A COUNTY OR MUNICIPAL DISTRICT HAVING A POPULATION OF 10,000 OR MORE", SHALL BY BYLAW ADOPT A GENERAL MUNICIPAL PLAN (Sec.59(1)(b)).

IF THE COUNTY DOES NOT MEET THE 10,000 POPULATION REQUIREMENT, AS IN THE COUNTY OF BEAVER'S CASE, IT MAY BY BYLAW ADOPT A GENERAL MUNICIPAL PLAN (Sec. 59(2)). BASED ON THIS SECTION OF THE ACT, THE COUNTY OF BEAVER COUNCIL HAS REQUESTED ALBERTA MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS FOR ASSISTANCE IN PREPARING A GENERAL MUNICIPAL PLAN.

what is a general municipal plan ?

THE GENERAL MUNICIPAL PLAN IS A LEGAL DOCUMENT, RECOGNIZED BY THE PLANNING ACT, WHICH PROVIDES THE BASIS FOR THE REGULATION AND CONTROL OF LAND USE AND DEVELOPMENT IN THE COUNTY OF BEAVER. THE INTENT OF THE GENERAL PLAN IS THAT DEVELOPMENT WILL BE PERMITTED ONLY WHEN IT HAS BEEN ESTABLISHED THAT SUCH DEVELOPMENT FULFILLS THE GOAL, OBJECTIVES AND POLICIES OF THE PLAN.

form of the general municipal plan

THE GENERAL MUNICIPAL PLAN WILL PRIMARILY CONSIST OF THE COUNTY'S OVERALL GOAL, OBJECTIVES AND THE INDIVIDUAL POLICY STATEMENTS. IN ADDITION, A BACKGROUND REPORT WILL BE PREPARED, PRESENTING THE INFORMATION WHICH HAS BEEN GATHERED TO SUPPORT AND JUSTIFY THE INDIVIDUAL POLICY STATEMENTS.

TERMS SUCH AS "GOAL", "OBJECTIVES" AND "POLICIES" ARE OFTEN USED IN LAND USE DOCUMENTS BUT ARE RARELY DEFINED, OFTEN CAUSING CONFUSION AND MISUNDERSTANDINGS.

a goal

REPRESENTS WHAT THE COUNTY'S CITIZENS VIEW AS THE OVERALL THEME FOR THE COUNTY OF BEAVER, WITH REGARD TO PRESENT AND FUTURE LAND USE. THE GOAL SHOULD BE DEVELOPED IN RESPONSE TO PARTICULAR ISSUES OR PRIORITIES WHICH ARE SEEN AS IMPORTANT TO THE FUTURE OF THE COUNTY AND ITS PEOPLE.

an objective

REPRESENTS THE COUNTY'S POSITION REGARDING SPECIFIC LAND USE AND DEVELOPMENT, STILL REPRESENTING A GENERAL VIEW BUT MORE SPECIFIC THAN THE GOAL.

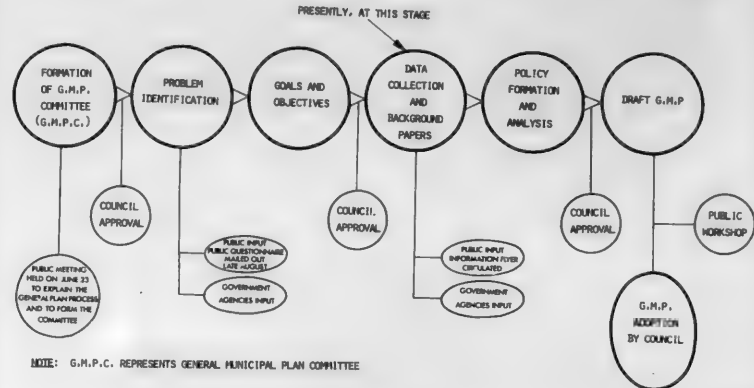

a policy

REPRESENTS SPECIFIC STATEMENTS OF ACTION WHICH WILL BE USED TO IMPLEMENT VARIOUS OBJECTIVES AS THEY RELATE TO LAND USE AND DEVELOPMENT. THE POLICY STATEMENTS ARE THE "TEETH" OF THE PLAN, GUIDING DEVELOPMENT IN ORDER TO CONFORM TO THE COUNTY'S GOAL AND OBJECTIVES.

general municipal plan process

BELOW IS A CHART IDENTIFYING THE PROPOSED SCHEDULE FOR THE PREPARATION OF THE PLAN AND WHAT STEPS HAVE BEEN TAKEN SO FAR. PLEASE NOTE THAT PUBLIC PARTICIPATION PLAYS AN IMPORTANT ROLE IN THE PROCESS.

NOTE: G.M.P.C. REPRESENTS GENERAL MUNICIPAL PLAN COMMITTEE who is involved in the general municipal plan ?

THE MAIN ACTORS WHO ARE INVOLVED IN THE PREPARATION OF THE GENERAL MUNICIPAL PLAN ARE THE COUNCIL OF THE COUNTY OF BEAVER, THE GENERAL MUNICIPAL PLAN COMMITTEE AS SELECTED FROM THE PUBLIC MEETING, MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS, AND YOU, THE PUBLIC.

PEOPLE TO CONTACT FOR FURTHER INFORMATION REGARDING THE GENERAL MUNICIPAL PLAN OR HOW TO BECOME INVOLVED, ARE AS FOLLOWS:

COUNTY OF BEAVER:	Mr. R. Cross SECRETARY-TREASURER	663-3730
	Mr. Victor Istace COUNTY DEVELOPMENT OFFICER	663-3730
GENERAL MUNICIPAL PLAN COMMITTEE:	Mr. R. Dressler (CHAIRMAN)	662-2657
	Mrs. H. Archibute Mr. B. Brass Mr. H. Christian Mr. H. Fulton Mr. G. Knudsen Mr. J. Manchur Mr. D. Rabby Mr. M. Stauffer
MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS:	Mr. Tiziano Zaghi PLANNER	423-2995

issues:

THROUGH THE USE OF THE PUBLIC QUESTIONNAIRE THAT WAS CIRCULATED IN LATE AUGUST AND INFORMATION PROVIDED BY THE COMMITTEE MEMBERS, THE GENERAL MUNICIPAL PLAN COMMITTEE IDENTIFIED THE FOLLOWING LAND USE ISSUES.

1. agriculture

AGRICULTURE WAS REGARDED AS THE MOST IMPORTANT ISSUE IN THE COUNTY. THE OVER-RIDING CONCERN REGARDING AGRICULTURE WAS THE NEED FOR GREATER PRESERVATION OF GOOD AGRICULTURAL LAND. THE MAJOR THREAT WAS IDENTIFIED AS COMPETING LAND USES SUCH AS COUNTRY RESIDENTIAL, INDUSTRIAL AND RESOURCE EXTRACTION DEVELOPMENTS.

THESE COMPETING USES ARE CONSIDERED TO BE ONE OF THE MAJOR CAUSES OF LOSS OF FARMLAND, DUE TO CONVERSION TO NON-FARM USES, FRAGMENTED OWNERSHIP, NUISANCE PROBLEMS, AND THE RESULTING DRASTIC CHANGES IN THE RURAL LIFESTYLE OF THE COUNTY.

2. country residences

COUNTRY RESIDENTIAL DEVELOPMENT WAS A CLOSE SECOND TO AGRICULTURE, WITH REGARD TO BEING VIEWED AS AN IMPORTANT ISSUE. THE MAJOR CONCERNS REGARDING COUNTRY RESIDENCES IS THAT A POLICY IS NEEDED IN THE NEAR FUTURE TO DIRECT THE NUMBER, LOCATION AND QUALITY OF COUNTRY RESIDENTIAL DEVELOPMENT.

3. recreation

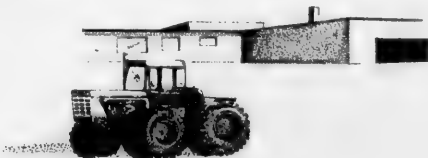

RECREATION WAS CITED AS THE THIRD MOST IMPORTANT ISSUE, WELL BELOW BOTH AGRICULTURE AND COUNTRY RESIDENTIAL. THE MAJOR CONCERNS WITH RECREATION WAS THE NEED FOR A POLICY TO DIRECT THE TYPE, LOCATION, AND AVAILABILITY OF SPECIFIC RECREATIONAL FACILITIES. THESE INCLUDED FACILITIES FOR SWIMMING, STOCKED LAKES, DEVELOPED BEACHES, MORE PARKS, IMPROVED LAKE ACCESS AND THE PROVISION OF VARIOUS IN-DOOR FACILITIES WHICH COULD BE USED BY PEOPLE OF ALL AGES.

4. wildlife

LIVING IN AN AREA WHICH CONTAINS EXCELLENT HABITAT AREAS FOR VARIOUS WILDLIFE, RESPONDENTS FELT THAT WILDLIFE IS AN ASSET WHICH SHOULD BE PRESERVED FOR PRESENT AND FUTURE GENERATIONS. CONCERN FOR WILDLIFE WAS EXPRESSED BY SUPPORT FOR THE PROTECTION AND PRESERVATION OF EXISTING WILDLIFE AND HABITAT. TIGHTER CONTROLS ON HUNTING AND CONFLICTING LAND USES WERE ALSO SUGGESTED.

5. industry

6. environmentally sensitive areas

ENVIRONMENTALLY SENSITIVE AREAS INCLUDING LANDS THAT CONTAIN NATURAL CONSTRAINTS SUCH AS STEEP TOPOGRAPHY, HIGH WATER TABLE, AND SUSCEPTIBILITY TO FLOODING. ALTHOUGH THESE AREAS HAVE NO IMMEDIATE VALUE FOR DEVELOPMENT, THEY ARE USEFUL IN OTHER ASPECTS:

- I) AS WILDLIFE HABITATS
 - II) RECREATIONAL AREAS (NON-FACILITY)
 - III) NATURAL BALANCES SUCH AS WATER DISCHARGE AREAS, DRAINAGE AREAS, MICRO-CLIMATE EFFECTS.
- THESE CONCERNS WERE TRANSLATED INTO THE NEED FOR A POLICY IN WHICH THE ENVIRONMENTALLY SENSITIVE AREAS COULD BE CAREFULLY CONTROLLED AND PROTECTED.

7. resource extraction

AT PRESENT, THERE ARE A NUMBER OF SAND AND GRAVEL PITS OPERATING IN THE EASTERN PORTION OF THE COUNTY, NEAR KINSELLA. IN THE DODDS-ROUND HILL AREA, LARGE-SCALE COAL EXTRACTION IS BECOMING MORE OF A POSSIBILITY, AND INCREASED NUMBER OF GAS WELLS ARE BEING DRILLED.

THESE FACTORS, THE RESIDENTS FEEL, HAVE NECESSITATED THE NEED FOR A POLICY WHICH WILL ADDRESS TOPICS SUCH AS:

- I) WHAT TYPES OF EXTRACTION INDUSTRIES DO WE WANT?
- II) LOCATION OF SUCH INDUSTRIES
- III) LAND RECLAMATION
- IV) WEED CONTROL
- V) PROTECTION OF GOOD AGRICULTURAL LAND

8. transportation / roads

ALTHOUGH ROADS WERE NOT INCLUDED IN THE QUESTIONNAIRE AS A LAND USE TOPIC, THERE WAS A CONSIDERABLE AMOUNT OF CONCERN EXPRESSED REGARDING CONDITION OF SOME OF THE EXISTING ROADWAYS IN THE COUNTY. THE MAJOR CONCERN REGARDING ROADS WAS THEIR UPKEEP AND GENERAL CONDITION. BETTER MAINTENANCE OF EXISTING LOCAL AND SECONDARY ROADS APPEARED TO BE A DEFINITE ISSUE. OTHER TOPICS MENTIONED CONCERNING ROADWAYS WERE BETTER WEED CONTROL AND BETTER USE OF SIGNS.

the goal:

TO CONSERVE AND ENHANCE THE COUNTY'S AGRICULTURAL AND RURAL CHARACTER BY MINIMIZING THE NEGATIVE IMPACTS OF GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT.

THE ABOVE GOAL IS AN ATTEMPT TO ADDRESS WHAT THE RESIDENTS AND COUNCIL OF THE COUNTY OF BEAVER REGARD AS THE COUNTY'S MOST IMPORTANT ASSET, THAT OF AGRICULTURAL LAND. MOST LAND IN THE COUNTY IS PRESENTLY USED FOR AGRICULTURE PURPOSES AND RELATED RURAL LIFESTYLES. THE COUNTY FORESEES AGRICULTURE AS CONTINUING TO BE THE DOMINANT ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL FACTOR. CONSEQUENTLY, THE CONSERVATION OF AGRICULTURAL LAND AND OTHER MEASURES DESIGNED TO ASSIST THE CONTINUATION OF AGRICULTURAL ACTIVITIES ARE CONSIDERED TO BE VERY IMPORTANT, AND WOULD RECEIVE PRIORITY OVER OTHER LAND USES.

objectives

LISTED BELOW ARE THE GENERAL MUNICIPAL PLAN'S OBJECTIVES THAT HAVE BEEN DEVELOPED FOR EACH LAND USE CATEGORY.

THESE OBJECTIVES ARE THE KEY IN PROVIDING GUIDELINES FOR THE POLICY STATEMENTS WHICH WILL BE PREPARED AT A LATER STAGE.

agriculture

- 1) To preserve the County's agricultural and rural character.

- 5) To ensure that land disturbed by resource extraction is returned to another productive use.

roads/utilities

- 1) To ensure that the necessary facilities are in place and operational when required.
- 2) To ensure a high standard of environmental quality is maintained with regard to those facilities having potential impact on the environment.
- 3) To minimize the negative impacts associated with linear facilities.
- 4) To ensure development in the vicinity of existing and designated future provincial highways, secondary highways, and municipal collector road systems should not be sited so as to interfere with the future development or upgrading of the roads.

urban expansion

- 1) To ensure settlement areas expand in an efficient and orderly manner.
- 2) To ensure that lands needed for future expansion are not used prematurely or indiscriminately in such a manner that would either preclude or significantly increase costs for the conversion to urban uses.
- 3) To ensure that hamlets have enough land within their respective boundaries to undertake comprehensive land use planning and development of servicing schemes.
- 4) To provide for the preparation of plans regarding the growth and development of hamlets.

public involvement: what role do you play?

DUE TO THE IMPORTANCE OF THIS DOCUMENT AND THE ENORMOUS EFFECT IT WILL HAVE IN DETERMINING THE COUNTY'S FUTURE, BOTH PHYSICALLY AND SOCIALLY, THE COUNTY COUNCIL AND THE GENERAL MUNICIPAL PLAN COMMITTEE WISH TO ENCOURAGE AS MUCH PUBLIC INVOLVEMENT AS POSSIBLE.

PUBLIC PARTICIPATION HAS ALREADY BEEN ENCOURAGED THROUGH THE FORMATION OF THE GENERAL PLAN COMMITTEE, WHO ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE PREPARATION OF THE DRAFT GENERAL PLAN. THE COMMITTEE MEMBERS ARE ALL RESIDENTS OF THE COUNTY AND LOOK FORWARD TO PRESENTING A REPRESENTATIVE PLAN, BUT THEY NEED YOUR HELP.

AN ISSUE QUESTIONNAIRE WAS MAILED OUT TO ALL RESIDENTS IN LATE AUGUST, RESULTING IN A 6% RETURN RATE. ALTHOUGH THE RESPONSE WAS LIMITED, THE INFORMATION PROVIDED PROVED VERY VALUABLE IN FORMULATING THE ISSUES, GOAL AND OBJECTIVES. IT IS THIS TYPE OF INFORMATION WHICH WILL BE NEEDED IN ORDER FOR THE GENERAL MUNICIPAL PLAN TO PROPERLY ADDRESS THE COUNTY OF BEAVER'S PRESENT AND FUTURE LAND USE NEEDS.

THEREFORE, WE ENCOURAGE YOU TO EXPRESS ANY CONCERNS THAT YOU MAY HAVE REGARDING THE GENERAL MUNICIPAL PLAN AND ITS PROCESS.

LOCATED ON THE LAST PAGE IS A BRIEF QUESTIONNAIRE. IF YOU HAVE CONCERNS, PLEASE COMPLETE THE QUESTIONNAIRE AND SUBMIT IT BEFORE JANUARY, 1981 OR CONTACT BY PERSON/PHONE THE PEOPLE IDENTIFIED IN THIS FLIER. ALL COMMENTS REGARDING THE GOAL, OBJECTIVES AND ISSUES SHALL BE CONSIDERED PRIOR TO PROCEEDING TO THE NEXT STAGE OF THE GENERAL PLAN PROCESS.

Joy To The World

Joy TO the world! the Lord is come;
Let earth receive her King;
Let every heart prepare him room;
And heaven and nature sing
Joy to the earth the Saviour reigns;
Let men their songs employ;
While fields and flocks, rocks, hills and plains,
Repeat the sounding joy.
He rules the earth with truth and grace,
And makes the nations prove
The glories of His righteousness,

Guide us to the perfect light.

Born a King on Bethlehem's plain,
Gold I bring to crown Him again,
King forever, ceasing never,
Over us all to reign.

Worship Him, God most high.

Myrrh is mine, its bitter perfume
Breaches a life of gathering gloom,
Sorrowing, sighing, bleeding, dying,
Bathed in tears from ev'ry pore,
Glorious now behold Him arise,

Christmas

As all herald the birth of Christ in the manger, we extend our wishes for an inspired and blessed holiday.

Dr. Walter Buck

The man who killed Christmas

As Told to Ray Mac Isaac

Christmas is a time of happiness and hope, a season close to everyone. But Christmas is a fragile thing and easily destroyed. I did it with no more than a few drinks and a moment of carelessness.

It was just three years ago Christmas Eve that I ran my car through an intersection and killed the parents of two small children. For those orphans Christmas will always be a time of sadness and regret — just as it is now for my own children.

That last day on the job was pretty much like any other, except that every one was a little more on edge. I had been told by the boss and the boss's wife that I was to be promoted to the position of assistant manager.

At the time I was over 100 pounds and I wasn't looking forward at all to the boss's party. He made it a practice every year to invite the people from his department to stay by his house for a Christmas get-together. I suppose I could have passed it up, but everyone was going and I felt obligated to attend.

The streets were slick with cold, wet fog as I drove across town and the traffic was heavy with late Christmas shoppers. By the time I got to my house I knew my headache was worse and I was sorry I hadn't gone straight home to a soft chair and a warm meal.

I was alone. Once inside it wasn't my head, I felt with the people from the company and drank three eggnogs with them. There was my limit. After a while my headache went away and my tension eased. During my reflexes also eased a bit, but at least I was relaxed.

A little later, when I walked out to my car, I noticed the fog had thickened and there was real ice in the air. It even occurred to me that the streets might be a bit slick. I didn't think much about that, though, after I got the headlights on. I was warm and content, closed by the car and the hazy fog — and on my way home to share Christmas with my wife and kids.

When I looked down at the speedometer, I was surprised to see that I was in the 40 mph speed limit. That gave me a moment of concern that I took my foot off the gas — too late. I looked up to find myself reeking into a main intersection.

I was already too close to see the red light that had been hidden by the fog. All I could see was the people directly in front of me, so close and surprised looking, pinned there by my headlights.

My memory of them. As I remember it now, I had already heard the crunch of their bodies against my car by the time I got to the brakes. But even then the brakes didn't stop me. One moment I was seeing those shocked, terrible faces; the next they were gone and I was adding crazily across the intersection, where I finally crashed to a stop against a parked car.

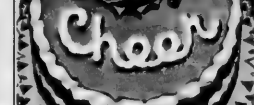

I straggled out of the car, my left side numb and battered from the impact, and stumbled back into the intersection. I found the woman first. She lay sprawled and bloody with her head at an impossible angle, obviously dead. Her husband was still alive, but he stopped breathing as I back headed him. I put my hand to his heart — and drew it back shocked from the crushed ribs. He shouldn't have lived even these few agonizing moments.

If every driver in the country could have seen these torn and ruined bodies as I did, there would be far fewer deaths from carelessness. I stood staring down at them, unbelieving, surrounded by the service ladies of death. Gaily-wrapped packages spilled their contents onto the street in a tangle of torn ribbon. There was a big, jolly Santa Claus sticker smeared with blood. And just down the street a loudspeaker on a cruise store was playing "Silent Night."

It was too terrible and too awful to accept. I was sick right there in the street — and then I ran, heading for home on foot. I just had to get away from that place. In the distance I could hear the sounds of alarm, but I kept going and tried to pretend they had nothing to do with me.

Even when I felt another man's blood drying on my hand I couldn't believe what had happened. I had had three eggnogs and I could walk and talk as well as anyone. I wasn't one of those irresponsible drunks you read about in the papers. Kill someone? Of course not, but not me. A lifetime of being just an ordinary person, a lifetime of carelessness Christmas will never be the same again for many people.

New Christmas is here and there is a feeling of festivity about. People will be finishing that last day of work and heading for home. They'll be dropping at office parties or at the boss' house or maybe at the neighborhood tavern and death and ugliness will mean a very long way away. But those things are never farther away than the moment's carelessness that always comes to the other guy.

Three years ago it was that other guy, this year it could be you.

No, who's off base — who's off key? There seems to be some confusion here. Okay! Chord arrangements aren't what they're cracked up to be and for young fellows, it's a caution road to sing the notes, lay alone on key!

Good King Wenceslas

Good King Wenceslas looked out, On the Frost of December,
When the snow lay round about, Deep and crisp and even;
Brightly shone the moon that night, The frost was cruel;
When a poor man came in sight, Gaily singing:
"Hail, pope and stand by me, Yonder peasant, who is he? Where and what his dwelling?"
"Drive, he has a good long hammer, Underneath the mountain, Right against the forest fence, By St. Agnes' fountain."
"Bring me some straw and three hens, Bring me some yule logs; Then and I will see him dead, When we hear them tattle."
Pope and monarch both they went, Forth they went together, Through the rude wind, wild lament And the bitter weather.
"We're no right to chide our snow, And the wind blows stronger, Fails my heart, I know not how, I am glad to know."

Christmas preparations begin with mailing of greeting cards and letters for relatives and friends abroad to which you attach the Christmas seal of the year. Each year has a different seal, a mini work of art. The revenue from these seals goes toward convalescence facilities for ailing children. Then, when all the mail is sent, you can turn your attention to the ginger biscuits are really a treat But somehow most of the family ends up in the kitchen anyway, mixing flour, kneading dough and shaping gingerbread men. And gradually the bread comes to life. The body can quite make lives' points the very Mum does and Dad's special mixture of marinated herring is a 'must' at every Christmas not pointing to all the new gifts returning to you.

On the first Sunday of advent (fourth Sunday before Christmas) many Danes hang up a wreath of pine twigs mounted with four candles and light one candle for a short while after dusk. The following Sundays, the additional candles will be lit, till on the last Sunday before Christmas, all four candles are burning.

And so things are back as they were last year.

The conclusion is, though, that you have enough for the last year through the Christmas holidays all the way into the New Year.

Christmas Eve is the biggest evening of the year, the most beautiful. Relatives travelling to relatives, last minute shopping, the tree is brought in and decorated out of sight to the Children begin their Christmas countdown on December first. They light their tall 24-day candle each every day. Many Danish youngsters believe that the candle will melt if it may be a cardboard house with 24 windows or a homemaker's tapestry with 24 hooks to which are attached 24 little parcels, one for each day. This countdown takes place in the morning, and therefore it causes no problem to get the children out of bed in the dark children and a wonderful smell of something cooking wafts from the kitchen. The traditional Christmas Eve dinner in Denmark, around 6 p.m., is a cold pudding with cold sliced ham, cold roast veal under wine a prize, often a marzipan pork. Then the menu moves on to roast pork, duck, goose or turkey accompanied by cold potatoes, poisons, red cabbage and jelly. If there are children at the table, the meal seldom lasts long — they

The decorated Christmas tree also serves as a centerpiece. After the lighting of the Advent candles, coffee and goodies, (for example, stollen, the German Christmas fruit bread) are served.

Usually the mother of the family decorates the tree in a closed room. The Christmas presents are placed in the room and the guests are allowed to see the tree or the presents until Christmas Eve.

In Germany, Christmas Eve is a family time filled with singing and conversation. It starts with an informal supper, a cold buffet or a meal of carp, after which many attend church. Upon returning home, everyone eagerly awaits the ringing of a bell. After the bell is rung three times, the door to the closed room is swung open.

The preparations for the dish to be served is hidden away with haste and puppy mood. The starved with the Lord's Supper and the readiness of the kitchen. The Kyrieley Rodvets (bears), after which begins. The eleven following the Kule is a dish of soup (vurnemy (filled tags), vegetable dishes, beans, meat, cucumbers or mushrooms) or more fish dishes.

0 Little Town of Bethlehem

O Little town of Bethlehem,
How still we see thee lie!
Above thy deep and dreamless sleep
The silent stars go by;
Yet in thy dark streets shineth
The everlasting light;
The humble and lowly of all the years
Lies rest in thee tonight.
For Christ is born of Mary;
And, gathered all above,
While mortals sleep, the angels keep Their watch of wondering love.
O morning stars, together
Proclaim the holy birth,
And praises sing to God the King,
And peace to men on earth;
How silently, how silently,
The wondrous gift is given!
So God imparts to human hearts
The blessings of his heaven.
No ear may hear his coming,
No eye may see him going,
And his love to all his world
Where meek souls will receive him, still
The dear Christ enters us,
O Holy Child of Bethlehem,
Descend to us, we pray;
Cast out our sin, and enter in;
Be born in us today.
We hear the Christmas angels
The great glad tidings tell;
O come to us, abide with us,
Our Lord, Emmanuel!

See the blazing Yule before us,

Strike the harp and join the chorus,

Put away the old year passion,

Lads of Lads,
Lo! He abhors not the Virgin's womb;
Very God,

Sing, choirs of angels,
Sing in exultation,
Sing, all ye citizens of heaven above,

Cope with family financial records

Give yourself a gift this season—a gift that will bring security and self-satisfaction and save time. Write for a free copy of the "Cope... with Family Finances" record book series and start organizing your family's finances.

The same is available in three versions:
"Cope... with Family Financial Records" is a book in which you can record your family's income and expenses.
By doing this, you will have a better idea of "where the money goes".

Have you ever stopped to think about all the important papers in your life? By listing all of them—wills, property titles, loans, etc.—and their locations in "Cope... with Family Financial Papers" you will know that another member of the family could handle your affairs if this became necessary.

As prices continue to rise,
the value of your personal possessions increases too.
Take the time to complete a household inventory in 1991.
"Cope... with a Household Inventory" includes the information and forms needed to complete this important task.

The "Cope" series has been written with the farm family in mind, but the information is useful to all families.

Aim to get your family financial affairs in order in 1991 by requesting a copy of:

"Cope... with Family Financial Records 1991-41"
"Cope... with Family

"Cope... with a Household

In our far-off countries, St.
Nicholas, also the patron saint of sailors, is especially revered. In Holland, Nicholas is called Santa Claus. Dressed as a bishop, with miter and crosier, he rides a white reindeer.

On the eve of December 6th, children leave wooden shoes outside their doors and fill them with hay to feed Saint Claus' horse. Saint comes during the night and replaces the hay with cookies and cash.

The Dutch brought their holiday traditions with them to North America. Gradually Saint Klaus became known to other nationalities in the new world and became an increasing number of children's chief Christmas.

It wasn't until 1822, when
Dr. Clement C. Moore wrote a Christmas poem to entertain his children, that our present-day Santa Claus was born. In "A Visit from Saint Nicholas" Moore pictured him, not as a bishop in formal robes, but as a plump, cheerful fellow carrying a sack full of toys. Instead of riding a horse, he flew in a sleigh drawn by reindeer and jauntily came and went through the chimney of the house.

Without statutory rates

Legislative bodies and other analysis across services a much larger cattle and new for carrying grain across Canada were abolished. Innovative figure left after reduced and value added lower.
If only the C or statutory rate could disappear.

In Alberta it is evident that above the same number of beef animals here in a year are fed to slaughter. The year later, if the C or rate was removed and assumed that the number of cattle fed in Alberta would increase, the economic impact would be measured in terms of additional purchasing power activity.

If the number of cattle fed increased by 10, about 6.9 million bushels of barley would be required to feed them. The production of 6.9 million additional pounds of a net benefit of $10.5 million to the livestock operators of Alberta.
If the number of cattle fed crossed by 10, an extra 17.2 million bushels of barley
would be used and a net benefit of $10.5 million result.

If statutory rates, however, for grain transportation during the period, it can be assumed that the price at which feeders buy barley in Alberta would decrease by approximately the increase in the freight rate. Some analysis predict a five-fold increase. For example, an additional 10 cents a bushel on barley shipped from Saskatchewan to Thunder Bay Canadian barley exports in typically amount to $175,000. The total reduction in Alberta's farm income from export grain would be $28.8 million to $12.1 million, depending on increased freight being fed in Alberta.

Grain producers would experience a further loss on barley fed in Alberta, estimated to be 60-65 percent.
The loss of income at 40 cents less than it would have with statutory freight rates. The loss of income under this heading totals $9,000,000.

—Wheat Pool Digest

To this must be added 100 million bushels of grain other than barley on which the farmer would be assumed to receive an additional 10 cents per bushel on wheat and about 10 cents on barley. If statutory rates were abolished on export grain, this amount would

It Came Upon A Midnight Clear

It came upon a midnight clear,
That glorious song of old,
From angels bending over the world
To teach the larks of gold—
"Peace on the earth, good will to men,
From heaven's all-gracious King!"
The world in solemn stillness lay,
To hear the angels sing:
To hear the angels sing,
And still their heavenly music floats
O'er all the weary world,
Above us and below us plain,
They bend on hovering wing,
And ever over its faintest sounds
The blessed angels sing.

And ye, beneath life's crushing load,
Whose forms are bending low,
Who toil along the archway way,
With painful steps and slow,
Look now! for glad and happy hours
God's messengers will bring.
O'erbreak the weary road,
And hear the angels sing.
For, lo! the days are hastening on,
By prophet laurels heralded,
When with the ever-circling years
Come around the age of gold,
When peace shall over all the earth
Its ancient splendors fling,
And the whole world once again shall sing
Which now the angels sing.

It is hard to believe that 1990 is about to end and 1991 begins. I can hardly say it's been a bad year, but it has been a year of constant change. I spent part of the year dreaming up wonderful concepts that really only resulted in personal frustration. I lost, I got covered in chocolate and Paul Hummel got so dirty he had to shower at the cop shop! Then of course there was the watermelon seed spitting championship... and after years of my mother trying to impress upon me that spitting is downright vulgar... I suddenly my record was 20% less... match that!

When I came to Tofield I started to think it would be quiet, peaceful and a place where I would just sort of mingle with the crowd, just kind of trouble... he... for that bit of mischief!

And to think that deep down I really am all... the wonderful, small person with a definite touch of modesty!

I never realized that this could go on so long, now everyone that I leave out must remember I forgot, I forgot, I forgot! I have to thank Ann for pointing out my shortcomings... but mostly for her laughter, her ability to believe in me, her faith in me, her wonderful youth and innocence. Christ was born in Bethlehem

by Rev. G. R. Bush CHRISTMAS MESSAGE
The journey home to Bethlehem (Date 24-25)

Grace and peace!
The balance of time was now come when God would send forth His Son!

It was foretold that He should be born in Bethlehem. (Micah 5:2)

As we read this story, we see two humble people journeying from their Northern home in Nazareth to Bethlehem, where they seek in vain for shelter, only at last to be content with the lowly protection intended for the cattle.

It is in full harmony with the entire Gospel on Luke to record all human trials. Thus, he records that the promised Messiah was born in a manger, and that the first to visit them were the humble shepherds from the nearby plains. But, more than human interests enter in! The whole story is full of heavenly mystery and intervention with messengers of divine meaning and grace!

The story starts out with the historic statement in verse on regarding Augustus, and the census are placed when Quirinus was governor in Byria. Here, those who crave the truth thought that they had found historic mistakes, thus seeking to make the Bible unbelievable, saying that Quirinus was not governor at that time, but later in history.

Recent research has vindicated the historic accuracy of Luke in connecting the event with the decree of Augustus and with the enrollment under Quirinus. Thus Luke establishes the fact and also explains why it was at Bethlehem that Christ was born, while His parents lived at Nazareth. For only a legal necessity would have made them willing to take such a journey at this time! Luke's story, for the who was born fully to God, was used by God to bring about the fulfillment of prophecy. (Micah 5:2).

Now then, Bethlehem is the city which recalls, Boaz, Jesse and David. It was surrounded by rich fields. It means the "House of Bread." How fitting, for the who was born there could say: "I am the Bread of Life."

The record by Luke tells us that there was no room for the Holy Family and that they had a rich and wide explanation!
Jesse is Israel, and therefore must be received! But how few really give Him room in their hearts! Oh, how we should give the Christ Child room in our hearts today!

John Santa's near, bringing lots of cheer!
May his hearty spirit light your holiday!

Jingle Bells

Dashing through the snow
in a one-horse open sleigh, O'er the fields we go,
tumbling all the way,
Bells on bobtail ring,
making spirits bright,
What fun it is to ride and sing
A sleighing song tonight!

Jingle bells, jingle bells,
Jingle all the way,
Oh what fun it is to ride
In a one-horse open sleigh.

Silent Night

Silent night! holy night!
All is calm, all is bright;
Round your virgin mother and Child,
Holy Infants so tender and mild,
Sleep in heavenly peace,
Sleep in heavenly peace.
Silent night! holy night!
Shepherds quake at the sight:
Glorious streams from heaven afar,
Heavenly hosts sing Hosanna in excelsis,
Christ, the Saviour, is born!
Christ, the Saviour, is born!
Silent night! holy night!
Softly and sweetly light
Radiant beams from Thy holy face,
With the dawn of redeeming grace,
Jesus, Lord, at Thy birth,
Jesus, Lord, at Thy birth.

Bethlehem . . .

Then we are told that "they laid this in a manger!" What a contrast to where royal infants are born! But somewhere it seems that it was better than in the crowded "manger."
They were carrying all night.
What inclusion would they have had there? The frustration of the domestic animals and its privacy was more to keeping than the heat of the crowded fold! God's hand directed them. He became poor for us. His kingdom was not of this world.
Through this humble birth
God has promised to send a Savior and that in Bethlehem too. What a holy place!
Their poverty is indicated by the fact that the babe was wrapped in swaddling clothes, that lowly birthplace has been called "manger" for that spot was kept in mind, and that Origin's day it was known where the place was, so here it was that the mother of the Emperor Constantine, Helena, with the Church of the Nativity, it has been a real Mecca for pilgrims ever since. In
ev. people of all religions either here for worship!
And now we see the meditation to the shepherds, we leave the sacred place of the cave and come out into the night, to Bethlehem's plains to behind the older shepherds with its brilliant stars. We will hear the voice of the heavenly messengers and the messianic brings. We also hear the heavenly host and join in his music and praise. (Vs. 13, 14.)
Then we follow the shepherds to Bethlehem in order to see the Christ-Child. How it grips us! The birth of Jesus Christ was the highest revelation of God! And this greatest of all events must be heard by the herald to all the world!
Heaven and earth seem to tremble at this moment when the angel stood before them.
What were these shepherds speaking about? What was the angel's message to them?
Read Vs. 14-15. Now let us listen to it:
1) "Be not afraid!" How often this is the case by heavenly messengers. The same to Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, David, Isaiah, etc. Jesus also used this greeting to His disciples. He speaks the same to us today if we just listen to His voice!
2) Then, "I bring you good things which shall be to all people." (v. 18) And it is a special message of universal joy and good news to all

Restricted bridges are abused

WEDDING — Law enforcement agencies across the province will be asked to increase surveillance of restricted bridges in order to curb overloading abuse by semi-trucks. Minister of Transport and Highways, Hon. J. H. Macdonald announced today.

There has been an increasing problem of trucks exceeding the posted maximum weight loadings crossing bridges, often resulting in processing the posted limits to structure.
There has been at least one recent incident of a bridge collapsing as a direct result of overloading.

A 12-axle open unit of the Willow Creek bridge was collided on November 11 when a 25-tonne truck travelled onto the structure, which is posted for a maximum six-tonne load.

The driver was unharmed when the open and truck collapsed.

into Willow Creek. However, damage to the bridge is estimated at $100,000.

There are approximately 100 restricted bridges in the province, most of which are two-lane bridges. All of these are posted with maximum allowable weight limits.
Under the Motor Transport Act, it is an offence to exceed the posted limits. Upon conviction, drivers representing the Act are liable to a fine of not less than $400 for each 100 kilograms of the weight borne by the vehicle in excess of the maximum allowable weight.

Let's together.

a MERRY CHRISTMAS

Do you hear the cheerful greetings,
"Merry Christmas" "Same to you?"
Makes you happy to just hear them.
Makes you gay, and younger too.

There's joyful undecorated
Soft and warm as summer breeze,
Sweeping out to friend and stranger,
Like the glow on Christmas trees.

What then brings this story radiance,
Felt throughout all Christendom?
How is it, our world turns mellow
With a busy, kindly hum?

Is it Christmas trees and candles,
Is it Santa and the frosts,
Shopping, gifts and special baking,
Spicy smells, good things to eat?

Is it not this kindly feeling Comes from: "Goodwill to all men",
Like an Echo from the Angels, Happy people, greetings send?

Let us now join, Host of Angels, Praise our God and glory give,
For the wondrous gift from heaven,
Now and evermore shall live.

He never had the angel behind the message before the heavenly chorus broke forth in jubilation, accents: "Glory to God in the highest, etc." This is known as the Angelic Hymn. "The Angelic Hymn. The Angelic Hymn. The Angelic Hymn."

How strange heaven must have seemed that night with the angels singing! How we years for this heavenly peace on earth, which is only coming! May it again be ours! But I repeat the reason for the lack of this peace is that we have been very slow to do what the shepherds did as told in Vs. 13 and 14. How anxious they were to experience the truth of the angels message! With them it meant haste to find out about this Glory! So the shepherds left their flock and came to experience the greatest of all joy that has ever come to mankind!

1) What a story they had to relate to Mary and Joseph! They came with all the inspiration of their recent experience on the plain, experienced, they hastened to tell Mary's heart must have been gripped! It added to what she had gone through before and she was made still more sure that this was the promised Messiah! But as good news spread today, so too at that time it spread by the lips of those shepherds. They would bring their flock to the temple and there too, they would relate the story and in that way expected messiah, like Simeon and Anna, were prepared to receive the Child as we was later as recorded in Luke 2:38.

2) What was the effect upon Mary? (V. 18) The others wondered, but she thought and pondered. It became something adding to her? 7) How does this story affect you and me today? What a glorious truth is brought to us today! Shall we be praising God too? For in the heavens God is glorified, surrounded by angels who are the consummate love realized and regained.

The fallen race is again the object of God's good pleasure as we say in Norwegian language: "Herrens" Voluntas." It is a triumphant praise to God! We too want to realize this for such beautiful salvation!

How do we receive this Christmas message? Surely it should not be only by feeling. Let Words of Elm come first in our lives! Then, it will be "Glory To God In The Highest!"

Christmas tree story

The selecting and purchasing of a tree plays a key role in today's Christmas festivities. Though the Christmas tree is an integral part of the modern day celebration, this was not always the case.

The earliest historical references of the Christmas tree were made in the eleventh century, in Latvia and Estonia.

In both countries, members of the local merchant guild carried an evergreen tree, decorated with cones, to the market place. There, they would dance around the tree and eventually set fire to it. However, it was Germany, not Latvia or Estonia which introduced the Christmas tree to North America.

By the seventeenth century, it was a common sight at New German homes with an evergreen placed in the centre of a table decorated with apples.

At time being on the popularity of Christmas trees increased, trained with it a variety of decorations and ornaments.

The Christmas tree tradition spread across America via the German immigrants. The first tree on record was in 1747, in Pennsylvania, and from there the idea extended across Philadelphia, Massachusetts, Illinois, Virginia, and New York.

In 1880, the Americans developed the first tree-calling Christmas tree.

By the beginning of the twentieth century, one family in five had their own tree, and over the next ten years the tradition became a universal part of the North American Christmas celebration.

With the numerous and easily available evergreens in Canada, Canadian families soon adopted this age old tradition, and by the late 1800s, the Christmas tree was a familiar part of the festive season.

Today, the natural, live Christmas trees found in many homes are artificial.

Almost one out of every four Canadian families shopping for Christmas trees now choose the artificial kind.

The Christmas Council estimates Christmas tree sales will surpass 1.8 million this year and that 20.6 per cent of these trees will be artificial.

Beauty, convenience, economy, and safety are some of the many reasons why artificial trees have become so popular across North America.

There is a wide variety of collection of Christmas trees available, designed to meet the desires of even the most discriminating consumer.

From the 13 inch table top model to the eight foot giant, there is a style and size for everyone.

With minimal care, these trees should last anywhere between 10 to 15 years. When storing them after the holiday season place the branches in layers, in the original box to prevent them from being crushed.

The artificial tree is easy to assemble and decorate. It comes complete with stand, trunk and adjustable branches for individual shaping, opening up a host of decorating ideas for the purchaser.

While consumers look for artificial trees that are fire retardant, and that last their lighting specifications. For the energy conscious buyer, there is a vast array of attractive and festive miniature and two watt regular size indoor light sets.

With all the advantages associated with artificial trees, it is little wonder that many people are buying more than one of these trees for their homes.

FROM THE HON. DON
MAXIMOWSKI, P.C.M.P.

Christmas is a time for everyone to celebrate. It is a time for sharing love and goodwill with our friends and families.

It is a time, no need to reflect - to be thankful for our beautiful blessings - for good news - peace and security - for the violence, the strength and wisdom enriched by the spirit of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.

It is a time, as well, to be thankful - to be thankful of those who have made this year so special for us - both here in Canada and throughout the world - for the peace - the unity - the goodwill - for those who hunger and for spiritual enrichment.

Let us this Christmas be more generous than ever with our love, in our prayers and with our gifts.

As your Member of Parliament who has had the privilege of serving the past twelve years, the holiday season takes on an added dimension. For it is at the end of each year that I can reflect upon the events of the past year and my hands for achieving the honour to serve. To you, my friends, I wish to thank you for the opportunity of serving you and to celebrate the Alberta becoming with you.

This year, in particular, we celebrated Alberta's 75th year. The many communities throughout the Vancouver area attended to their people and their hearts to their people. It was a time to pay tribute to our pioneers, to honour our heroes and to be thankful for the future of our country.

The spirit of Alberta was truly demonstrated in our own province and in our services in 1981.

Let us hope that that spirit continues to prevail, and thank you for the opportunity of serving you and to celebrate the Alberta becoming with you.

As we enter a new year we in Canada must acknowledge that we live in troubled times. As the Economic Council of Canada stated in its 17th Annual Review, Canada lives in a climate of uncertainty.

Our country is deeply divided. Instead of harmony there is disunion. Instead of co-operation, there is confrontation. Instead of achievement, there is frustration. Instead of goodwill there is malice.

Canadians in one half of their country believe they are being attacked by their government, rather than being governed.

The spirit of federalism founded upon the concept of co-operation, goodwill and understanding does not exist and many fear that the Canada that has evolved over the last 115 years is about to undergo radical change without their consent and in their apprehension and anxiety to our land.

This country has tremendous potential.

This country has the common sense to provide all its citizens with an adequate standard of living in every region.

We are a people possessed of tremendous talents and resources.

Unfortunately, at this particular time, most of our energies are being directed towards those issues which divide us - those issues which pit region against region, government against government.

Unfortunately, this is extremely costly in terms of economic waste and human frustration.

We have serious challenges to face in 1982 - challenges created by nature, not by outside influences but, rather, by people within our own political and economic sphere.

And it will take the will of those people charged with their respective responsibilities of leadership to refocus their efforts towards reconciliation - negotiation and a commitment to ensure these things that unite us rather than divide us.

Above all, it will take the goodwill of the people throughout our land to rise above these divisive tactics have been divisive and destructive.

This must be done - for the good of Canada and all of its citizens.

Rejoice! As we recall the miracle of Our Lord's birth, we wish our loyal patrons all the blessings of the Christmas season.

Besides the toys, sweaters, games and novelties, give your family and friends these gifts this Christmas.

Give the gift of acceptance. Show those around you that they are loved for what they are, not for what they do, or even how much they please you. Give the gift with a love. Give the gift of self confidence by helping them understand and accept that so one can be approved of all the time and that he must trust himself, not the opinions of others. Give this gift with a love.

Give your family the gift of possibilities. Don't let them be labelled as intellectuals, athletes, old or young. Give them the gift of freedom to be anything, rather than limiting themselves to anyone by labels and roles. Even parents like to take on new roles and should be free to do so. Give this gift with a smile.

Give the gift of life without needless fears, by not being over-protective. Show them that you will back them, not just at home and not just about them. Give this gift with a laugh.

Give them the gift of being a person - has a spirit and an appreciation for all of life. Encourage them to be fully alive in every way. Allow others to have adventures, a chance for laughter, fun, creativity. Give them the sense of gift of being able to find happiness in virtually all circumstances. Give these gifts freely and often. For all these gifts will last forever.

Have a very Merry Christmas!

From all of us at the extension office, we would like to wish you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. I'm going to use an article from Agri-News which talks about different Christmas's around the world. It sometimes does us all good to get our thoughts off farming.

THE INTERNATIONAL FLAVORS OF CHRISTMAS

By Horace Kelly
President, Home Document
The Christmas traditions and customs we celebrate in Canada come from a wide variety of ethnic backgrounds. We have adopted the decorated tree from the Germans, Santa Claus from the Dutch, and the hanging of the Christmas stockings from the English. Just as Canada is a multi-cultural country, so our Christmas is a multicultural celebration.

While many families in Canada celebrate a Canadian Christmas, many other families here celebrate Christmas in the same manner as their ancestors did years ago in their native homelands.

GERMAN CHRISTMAS

The approach of Christmas in Germany is marked with an advent wreath. The wreath, made of evergreen branches, contains four candles, for the four weeks of Advent. One candle is lit on each of the four Sundays before Christmas. After the lighting of the Advent candles, coffee and pastries, like Christmas stollen, the German Christmas fruit bread, are served.

The decorated Christmas tree also plays an important role in a German Christmas. Usually the mother of the family decorates the tree in a closed room. The Christmas presents are placed in the room and the children are not allowed to see the tree or the presents until Christmas Eve.

In Germany, Christmas Eve is a family festival filled with mystery and excitement. It starts with an informal supper, a cold buffet or a meal of carp, after which many attend church. Upon returning home, everyone enjoys what the ringing of a bell. After the bell rings three times, the doors to the closed room are flung open and the children get their first glimpse of the decorated Christmas tree and the presents. Everyone then gathers around the tree for the reading of the Christmas Story and the singing of traditional carols. Finally, the Christmas presents are opened, after which coffee and goodies are usually served.

Christmas Day in Germany is a day for visiting friends. The traditional Christmas dinner is generally served at noon and the menu includes: roast goose, dumplings, red cabbage and an elaborate dessert. Homemade egg nog is often served.

SCANDINAVIAN CHRISTMAS
Ukrainian Christmas is celebrated on January 6th in accordance with the Julian calendar. The most important occasion of the Ukrainian Christmas is the Sviata Vecheria (Holy Supper) on Christmas Eve. It is a quiet family celebration full of meaningful food.

In preparation for the Christmas Eve feast, a handful of hay (symbolic of Christ's birth in the manger) is spread under the table cloth. A braided ring-shaped bread called halach is placed in the centre of the table. The ring represents health and prosperity and the round shape symbolizes eternity. The bread has three tiers, representing the Holy Trinity. A sheaf of grain is placed somewhere in the room. It is tightly bound to symbolize unity and the many grains of wheat represent the shepherd.

The meal itself consists of twelve dishes symbolic of the twelve apostles. No milk or meat products may be used in the preparation of the meal.

The main dish and the first dish to be served is borsch—boiled wheat with barley, peas and poppy seeds. The meal is started with the Lord's Prayer then the father raises a apostle of the Kuts and says Khorysto Rodivya (Christ is born), after which the feast begins. The eleven dishes following the Kuts might include: borsch (boiled soup), varenyky (filled dumplings), biesiadnyk (dinner of beans, mushrooms, cucumbers or beets) and one or more fish dishes. Desert often consists of fruit compote and a cake or pastry.

After supper, everyone joins in singing traditional Ukrainian carols. At midnight, the family attends a special Christmas church service.

Although a few gifts may be exchanged Christmas Eve, Ukrainian gifts are traditionally exchanged on December 18, Saint Nicholas Day.

SCANDINAVIAN CHRISTMAS
Some parts of the Scandinavian countries spend much of the month of December in darkness. Christmas is therefore not only a time to celebrate the birth of Christ, it also provides an opportunity to dispel the dark gloom of winter.

The Scandinavians have their main celebration on Christmas Eve. After attentive church, everyone returns home for an elegant dinner. In Denmark, roast goose or duck, with apple and prunes stuffing, red cabbage and caramelized potatoes are served. The Swedes often serve ham or pork and the Norwegians prefer lutefisk (dried cod soaked in a lye solution made from birch ashes, and then boiled) or pork as the main dish. Almost rice pudding cooked with cinnamon and butter is a popular dessert in all three countries. In Denmark, the cook puts one whole almond in the pudding. The person who finds the almond gets a small gift, so the pudding is devoured with great excitement!

Following dinner, everyone moves into the living room to join hands and walk around the tree singing Christmas songs. The presents are then handed out and opened. Once the excitement is over, coffee and small cakes or cookies are served along with a glass of piping hot grog, a very tasty hot spiced wine.

Christmas Day in Scandinavia is usually spent visiting friends. A cold breakfast is often served at noon offering delicacies: a variety of breads, cheeses, sliced meats, meatballs, pickled herring, smoked eel, pickled herring, cucumber salad, and a marinated salmon called gravlax.

The Scandinavians are popular for the small cakes and cookies they make at Christmas time. As many as ten different cookies and five different cakes may be served at one time. Some favorites are klemke (lowest shaped dumplings), and lutefisk (fragile turbot cods without filling), brunskaka (a crisp cookie), strudel with a special rum and, for the Icelanders, Vatnslutur (a pruned filled layer cake with curd cheese (flouring)).

The District Agriculturalist at Ryegate hold an Open Day at the Viking Town Office from 11:00 a.m. - 2:00 p.m., next Wednesday. Call Ryegate at 663-5555 or Viking (on Wednesday) at 326-3585.

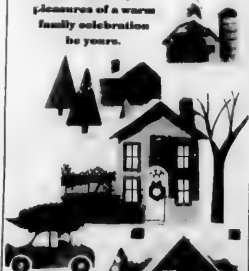

May this be a holiday to remember, filled with the charm of cherished traditions—new-found hope and happiness.

Toros share lead

Tofield Toros picked up a win and a tie in their last two outings to retain a share of the lead in the County (Chambers) Senior Hockey League.

Toros were held to a 5-5 draw by Bashaw in a game in Tofield on Friday night, but, in a return match in Bashaw on Tuesday, Toros came up with a close 7-4 victory.

The three points enabled Tofield to retain their share of first place which they held with New Norway, a team that has gone undefeated in five straight games and have moved up from fourth place.

Toros will be hosting Round Hill on Friday night, in their only scheduled home game of the coming week.

Five members of the Huskies will be going to Canmore on Sunday night for the league's annual all star game.

Bawil (defending champions) will face an all star team which will include Allan Andrushev, Dave Prinsen, Dave Olmstead, Dale Olson and Gerry Olson.

The game will be played in Canmore starting at 7:15 p.m. and as an added attraction, a mini-tournament starring fans.

county mile teams will be held.

According to the latest statistics, Dale Olson of Tofield leads the goalenders' race with a 4.61 average.

None of the Toros are listed in the top seven in the scoring race and none are near the top in the individual penalty parade.

Outmanned paced Tofield's attack on Friday night when he scored twice while singles were added by Robertson, Leebach and Vandermere.

Cotnam and Bawal each scored twice for Bashaw with the single having been netted by K. Wright.

Tofield was assessed eight penalties to only five for Bashaw.

In the game played in Bashaw on Tuesday night, Toros picked up a close 7-4 triumph with scoring details not being available at press time.

4-H competitions planned in Tofield

by Diane Henderson
The December meeting of the Tofield 4-H Beef Club was held in conjunction with a Christmas Party, as December 22 at the home of Daniel, Dale and Doug Brown.

During the meeting, it was decided to have our public speaking competition on February 7 in the United Church basement.

John Bauman, a lecturer at the University of Alberta, will present a demonstration on public speaking at the January 22 meeting.

The results of the team judging competition held during Farmfest '80 in Edmonton were read. Although our team of Joe Laarbach and Calvin Flemming did not place, their showing was commendable.

Provincial selection personal record forms were available at this meeting in which several members were interested.

After the meeting was adjourned, the club held a Christmas party. Everyone enjoyed themselves during the many games and competitions.

Concert planned

On Friday at 8:30 p.m., the Beaver Regional Arts Centre in Holden will present the musical talents of Joan MacIntyre and Ben Minard.

Joan is a country and folk singer who is enjoying increasing popularity throughout Alberta.

One of the recent highlights of her career has been her appearance with the Travelling

Folk Festival which toured Alberta last summer as part of the Alberta 75th celebrations.

Ben Minard is originally from New Brunswick and is now co-owner of "My Place" in Holden.

While in New Brunswick, Ben had impressive playing with two different country and western bands there.

Around The Town

Margaret Weatherill and Vince Bates returned Monday from a trip to Stockholm, Swed., to attend the funeral of their sister, Mrs. Lucy Nelson. Kenny Weaver spent the last week of his Christmas holidays visiting his aunt and uncle in Chipman.

Flag thieves nabbed

Tofield RCMP have apprehended two males in their quest in connection with a rash of flag thefts that have plagued the Tofield area for the past four or five months.

In all eight flags were stolen: one from the Post Office, two from the Treasury Branch and five from the RCMP office, all in Tofield.

All flags have been recovered.

The sad part about the thefts, said Sgt. Lamont, was not being able to lower the RCMP flag to commemorate the death of a member, for fear of having the flag stolen. Last year, an RCMP member was killed in British Columbia and the flag could not be lowered, nor could it be to honour the death of Governor-General Lamer.

In order to lower the flag now, the entire pole must be replaced with a new one, as the old one is now unusable.

RCMP reported a quiet festive season with few problems.

In court, held prior to the holidays, Kim Burch, 36, of Sherwood Park was given a three-month sentence for drunk and disorderly. Tofield was found guilty of hounding waste to do so and was fined thirty dollars and Paul Perich of Bashaw was given a one hundred dollar fine for careless driving.

Mundare leads

Mundare and Andrew are starting to pull away from the pack in the Beaverhill Hockey League.

Ryley and Tofield are scheduled in a fight for third place with Ryley having a slight advantage in that they have a game in hand.

Lamont is in the basement after going winless to date.

Ryley will be hosting Lamont in Tofield on Tuesday night while the Tofield Satellites travel to Andrew. These are the only games involving either Tofield and Ryley that are scheduled for the coming week.

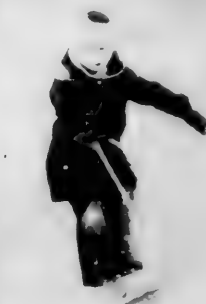

Mundare is in sole possession of first place with a four-point edge over Andrew who in turn, are five points ahead of both Ryley and Tofield.

Mundare picked up two more wins since The Mercury's last report when they whipped Lamont 6-3 and defeated Tofield 10-1.

Andrew also picked up two wins by whipping Lamont 10-3, beating Ryley 7-3 and a game with Lamont was postponed.

Along the corridors

by Janey Hebrink
Well, things are getting back to normal in Tofield School.

Everyone is starting to get back into the old grind. So far not too much has been happening.

High School and Jr. High students are beginning various stages of attack as they resume, literally, that final exams are once again imminent. We're all obviously glad to be looking forward to it. Well, of course, there is one consolation — the elementary students are getting better and better at it. But, there are the good things about coming back to school.

Stella was good to me. If you remember my last report, I talked Santa Claus to finish the High School bathroom. Well, he and I held a "I value the school on January 8" game. I guess the game was a bit of a disaster — as in bathroom was done — as in completely!!!

Floor hockey is trying to get started again, so any guys interested in "ice" good to go. — as Mr. Garmann puts it, contact him. The games are held on Tuesday evenings.

I guess that's it for this week. Not exactly too much to say. . . . Anyway, just next time. . . .

There he remained until February, 1974 when his health gave way and he entered the Vista Nursing Home. In June, he moved to home. Then in February, 1979, he moved to the Grimsby Extended Care Centre where he passed away.

Mr. Tiedemann had a great love for horses and after he was unable to work on the farm he would be seen at the racetrack as they passed over the fence.

He also enjoyed music.

Played the cornet in a band in younger days and the violin in later years.

Tiedemann Family Museum completed

by Grace Phillips
Alberta's 75th Anniversary celebrations are now history but some lasting mementoes remain.

One of these is the Tiedemann Family Museum located on the farm of John and Helen Tiedemann, north of Telford, which was completed as a family anniversary project in 1980.

Now housed in a two-story Buster building, the museum's original home was in a log building (used as a museum store) on the Derville farm of Bill and Mary Tiedemann, parents of John.

Mary (Dunn) Tiedemann has always been interested in antiques, an interest probably inherited by the family from her father, a collector of crochets, china, and other antiques.

In coming (many types) and crocheting stands are arranged as a firm who would have had them. Lamps of various vintages show how the home was illuminated at night. Antique washing machines and primitive ironing boards are evidence of doing the laundry in early times.

A crocheting separator, cream can, butter bowl, paddle and spoon remind the visitor of the work required to put butter on the farm table.

In another area are reminders of the outdoor work of the farm: harnesses for the horses, garden cultivator, lawn-mower, and many more almost forgotten tools used for specific purposes.

Recalling the dependence of the pioneer settlements on the railroad are lamps, oil cans and spike hammers used by the section crew.

A collection of license plates, valentines, Model T cards and coil boxes are reminders of the early days of the automobile and reflect John's special interest in cars.

Early communication is represented by antique telephones, a "public phone" sign, and a large collection of glass insulators used on the telephone poles now fast disappearing on the prairie landscape as the telephone lines are put underground.

Showcases display old building nails, a collection of wrenches, and styles and varieties of eye-glasses, books (some nearly a century old), a school register of 1886, and sports trophies.

A well-used tank heater, pioneer washstand and basin,
a water conservator, and old school desks, complete with the carved initials of their owners, occupy the top of the first floor of the museum.

Upstairs, a rich collection fills a glass showcase. Other cases display china, glass, beadwork, hairpins, hairpins,
and toys of an earlier era.

The section of the museum presenting the history of a house displays a quilt made by the ladies of the community and signed by them, a brass bedstead, other antique beds, a dresser, jewel boxes, crabs,
a cradle, and other baby needs such as scales, bottles, baby food and bowls.

Again, a book collection is evidence in the livingroom section where wicker chairs, rocking chairs, an organ and a photograph using cylindrical records show how the pioneers spent their leisure.

Several varieties of early sewing machines, a typewriter, antique inkwells and pens, lamps powered by battery, a collection of tin arrowheads demonstrate the various interests of the early settlers.

In the north half of the museum, John and son Mark and Brent have restored many antique vehicles and machines. At present, a thrashing machine, blower, mower, house-made ladder racks and several cars of various vintages are on display. Local hobby shops and garages have been the beneficiaries of the work put on these vehicles.

The Tiedemann Family Museum was not intended for the use of the family alone.
It has already been viewed by guests at the Tiedemann house on several social occasions and visitors are welcome by appointment on weekends when John is home from his job as head mechanic at Brett's Garage and Helen from teaching grades in C.W. Sears School.

Barley:

Many an Albertan would hate to choose between steak and beef but it could happen.
An audience at Round-Up '80, Calgary's Agricultural fair, was told. An issue between a panel of experts was whether an ever-hungry world can afford to continue feeding alive pounds of barley to produce one pound of beef.

One third of the world goes hungry, commented Rick Andrews, an economic consultant with extensive foreign experience. He noted that the same amount of grain can feed five times as many people directly rather than fed to beef cattle. He produced figures predicting that the world population could double in three decades.

Andrews believes that, properly fertilized, grain can provide nutritionally complete protein. He added that poultry and dairy products are far more efficient than beef for feeding protein to animal protein.

The case for steak was made by Dr. Murray Hawkins, an agricultural economist with the University of Alberta. He pointed out that 80 per cent of the Canadian cattle herd is fed requirement was met with pasture, roughage and other fodder additives for human consumption.

Hawkins argued that a dollar put into a feed lot generated more than three dollars within the local economy for services, while a dollar invested in a grain operation has a spin-off benefit locally of perhaps fifty cents.

The two experts agreed that the hungry nations cannot afford to feed by Canadian barley.
They both advocate a transfer of technology to improve outdated agricultural practices and wasteful shipping and storage systems in the underdeveloped parts of the world.

Bride news

On December 30, John Seppanen, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Seppanen of Alberta, Finland became the monton at the home of Mrs.

Helen Collier.

For her wedding the bride chose a soft-white colour gown with square neckline, short sleeves and softly flared skirt.
She carried a bouquet of yellow roses. Following the ceremony, a family dinner was held at the Cokerbar.

The wedding party included
Turks, Finland yesterday (Wednesday) where Janis is studying at the university to complete her M.D. and Gerry is doing research on multiple sclerosis after being awarded a fellowship from the M.S.
Society of Canada.

Pool rates cut

The Ryley swimming pool will feature a half-price winter rate for the month of January. At its regular monthly meeting, Heritage and Agricultural Society voted to cut recreational rates in half. The regular rates were $1.00 for adults and $0.50 for children. The board also decided to hold a turkey supper on January 24. It had been previously planned for the pre-Christmas season, but was postponed because of conflicting with other community events.

The white-phantom sale is scheduled for April 4. Residents will have the opportunity to donate items for sale. Specific details and information will be available closer to sale date.

In regards to a study document prepared by the Workmen's Compensation Board, the directors felt that the needs of farmers could be better met through private insurance plans. These options will be sent into the study committee on farm safety and compensation.

The Community Christmas Card again proved a real success, with many people taking advantage of the huge card to extend season's greetings to friends and family.

Toros plan 'special'

Toronto Toros are planning something special during a home game scheduled for early in next month (Feb.).

On Feb. 10th, Toros will be at home to Round Hill in a regular scheduled game (Canmore) Senior Hockey League game.

That night will also see the introduction of a Score-O-Competition during which fans will have a chance to shoot at the board and win prizes. In addition, a child will have a chance to win a Toro T-shirt, hat and more.

Two teams will face each other twice during the remaining schedule, with one game being on the final night of regular play.

By their very action of the past week, Toros have shown that they will play hard.

Some members of the team were down to Canmore on Sunday night where they were members of the League All-Stars in a game against Swift.

Swift won the match 5-1 and according to observers, it was only the outstanding work of Toros goalie, Dale Olson, that kept the score respectable.

Toros have only one league game scheduled for the coming week and that will take place on Friday night when they will play host to

Along the corridors

Last Friday, the two English 30 classes plus five very fortunate Drama 10 students travelled to the city to see a production at the Citadel Theatre.

It was entitled "When Life Is a Journey", and starred Eric Schneider as Sam Elmore. The play itself lacked a little bit, but the performance was excellent. We got the afternoon off to see the production, so we were contented anyway.

Something in February the T.S.U. is putting on a Roller-Skate-athon. It is a fund-raising activity and we hope that many people will attend so that we can get on a half-decent grad... I hear that the grade twelve??

As of right now the executive is having a little trouble thinking of good fund-raising activities and we'd be thankful for any suggestions.

Exam schedules were handed out Tuesday to the High School students — guess what that means... don't be surprised if you see the lights in the house next door on well all hours, if it becomes a week, and with the many games coming up they should be ready for the county tournament. Remember! The homecoming games will be on Saturday. If you can get out to watch please do so. It will be on at 7:30 p.m. in the gym.

Admission will be $1.00 adults, 50¢ for students, and free for 13 and under.

Every school year we have a new member who is starting very soon. It will be coming near the end of January for most areas and just a high school.

Intramurals are again underway. The last intramural event in 1980 was a "T" basketball competition. Most students entered, and a lot of the teachers entered too. Presently, 3 on 3 basketball is being played at some hours. Also, a chess tournament is in the making.

The senior high basketball schedule will begin this week. County of Beaver action started with our teams playing Viking in Viking games. The boys are important that they can bring the title back to Beaver once again, and the girls are hoping they can be top contenders once again.

The teams are holding anywhere from 1 to 2 practices a week, and with the many games coming up they should be ready for the county tournament. Remember! The homecoming games will be on Saturday. If you can get out to watch please do so. It will be on at 7:30 p.m. in the gym.

Admission will be $1.00 adults, 50¢ for students, and free for 13 and under.

The junior high basketball schedule continues on January 18 with Ryker at Tofield. Good luck to both teams in the last half of the season.

Wind chill is dangerous

Nearly everyone is aware of how much colder it feels outdoors on a windy day as compared to when there is no wind, particularly in the winter.

This apparent "coldness" is due to the more rapid cooling effect produced by the wind to make it feel colder than it really is.

The combined effect of wind and low temperature is experienced by most Canadians in just about every part of Canada. The effect can produce serious and often dangerous illnesses.

Wind Chill Factor as described in this pamphlet is a measure of the combined chilling effect of wind and temperature. Although the actual calculation of the factor is based upon how fast water will cool with the combination of low temperature and wind, it has been found to be equally applicable to the cooling effect experienced by the human body and by an instrument exposed to the wind.

The advantage of Wind Chill Factor over other measurements methods is that it represents a real risk to life and health, rather than just an object code. For example, the combination of a specific temperature and wind speed can be related to how fast water per square meter represents the condition where exposed flesh will freeze. It also gives an indication of how difficult it is to maintain an object at a given temperature.

In the past it has been common practice to use an equivalent temperature (wind chill temperature) to relate wind and temperature. Unfortunately the values obtained by this method often have been beyond the experience of most people. For example, a 10°C (50°F) wind chill factor is relatively unimportant unless it is combined with other factors.

More importantly the equivalent temperature still does not relate to the condition of effect of wind and temperature on the human body. It also is not easily confused with the actual temperature.

Examples of wind chill factor:

- 1. Wind Chill Factor 700 — Comments — Conditions considered comfortable when dressed for skiing.
- 2. Wind Chill Factor 1000 — Comments — Conditions no longer pleasant for outdoor activities on overcast days.
- 3. Wind Chill Factor 1400 — Comments — Conditions no longer pleasant for outdoor activities on sunny days.
- 4. Wind Chill Factor 1800 — Comments — Conditions no longer pleasant for outdoor activities on overcast days.
- 5. Wind Chill Factor 2200 — Comments — Conditions for outdoor travel such as walking become dangerous. Exposed areas of the face freeze in less than 1 minute for the average person.
- 6. Wind Chill Factor 2700 — Comments — Exposed flesh will freeze within half a minute for the average person.

The use of Wind Chill Factor as used in this pamphlet are water per square meter.

DO SOMETHING

If you are aware of a child who is the victim of abuse or neglect, please help. A call to Alberta's Child Abuse Hotline can prevent a damaging situation from becoming worse. Social workers at the Hotline understand that those who abuse their children may try to be good parents if they cannot help taking their frustrations out on the helpless child. With treatment, these parents can change. But, hundreds of children in the province this year will continue to suffer unless someone speaks up. If you are seeing or hearing any signs of child abuse or neglect, call now. Your concern will be appreciated.

Station damaged

Shortly after 10 a.m. on Jan. 8, an explosion and fire caused extensive damage to a natural gas compressor station located approximately eight kilometers south of Hinton.

The Hinton Fire Department had the fire under control within 10 minutes after arriving on the scene. Investigation as to the cause of the fire revealed that there was an accidental leak of natural gas into the building which was ignited by an internal combustion engine. Total damage is estimated at over $100,000. There were no injuries.

the snow? No. I don't get me wrong. It's not that I really want my more snow, except perhaps just a few bits on the government hill in Edmonton.

What happened is, I have found the sport of tobogganing and now that I have an actual wooden toboggan . . . seats four kiddies . . . and Primeau . . . depending on your perspective . . . I want to try it out . . . or really I only need a little more and probably only for a day . . . I've seen the novelty will wear off by then.

I went tobogganing for the first time in oh, um . . . fifteen years . . . and I went with my new and a wonderful place of cardboard. There is nothing to compare with that feeling of racing down a hill, fast as your fancy, with a four year old who just turned five . . . on your back, feeling that from the dash over your body and know that as soon as you near the bottom, you'll be using your chin to attempt to stop . . . yep, nothing compared . . . were maybe taking your thumb with a hammer!

Well within the hour I was drenched, there was limited and I was promising we'd get a real live toboggan. Little later that week, we slipped down to the toboggan store, realized that every a few had been sacrificed for a little fun and frivolity . . . and that it was about to cost the arm and leg I left on the slopes to get one. Alas . . . there wasn't one quite big enough, so we settled for one of those beasts . . . blue plastic . . . one real quick . . . just how quick I was soon to find out. Mine and I headed back up the hill - blue plastic in tow - let us tell you government hill is high, very very high. Mine thought he'd try a shot at it by himself, but . . . itchy discovered to my chagrin, that it wasn't nearly as much fun as going double. So we both headed up the hill, reached the top by the end of the week, got all prepared to go down . . . these blue things are slippery. I put on them he sat on - then he left - without me - and I could hear him all the way down the hill . . . Primeau . . . you fell off!

So we tried again, that little blue beast wasn't going to get the best of me. It was probably right after we hit the first bump, and I got that first taste of ice, that I dived on me we were about to break the second barrier. As we just a hundred other kids starting increasingly to us and started to pass the trees and get a better view of the river, I started to wonder how I might be at ice falling . . . sliding quickly . . . for some reason now frozen . . . I put out my hand to stop . . . not one of my better ideas - collided into an inner tube . . . turned over into a tree, thought at the very least I was dead . . . and regained my senses just long enough to hear the little voices say . . . can we go again, oh Primeau! The fact that the child is not likely to reach puberty shouldn't worry me.

I'm game for anything . . . alone. I could him out of ride number two and certain death with the promise of a real live toboggan, which we finally got last week . . . now I have to produce the snow . . . or else a five year old I know isn't think I was as cunning anyone . . . so God if your listening, just a wee bit of snow on the hill . . . Listen, if you know anyone looking for a little blue beast, let us a little kid's license let me know, I've got one to give away, free . . . used only once!!

Hard-to-swallow truth twisters

WILLIAM THORNBILL, IN THE EDMONTON JOURNAL

Like politicians, journalists must guard their credibility lest their views be dismissed as mere bias by a contemptuous public. That, it is one thing, that Pierre Trudeau would be described as conceivably doubtful, but he is not.

During his year-end interview with CTV on Sunday, Mr. Trudeau talked about minority rights in education. The constitution bill would require provinces to provide French or English language instruction wherever numbers warrant. During the interview, Mr. Trudeau said the provinces had agreed to this several years ago.

He knows he is making the truth here but he bargains about anyway, debating our politics with his dishonest intellectuality. The majority of provinces has never agreed to extending education in both languages rights in our constitution, that clearly and explicitly. All their 1977 annual conference, the provinces agreed to "assist their best efforts to provide instruction in education in English and/or French wherever numbers warrant."

Our collective lack of vision is reflected in the increasing discrimination that handicapped people face in their daily lives.

Our awareness may be heightened by looking at the thousands of our privileges. With pollution and radiation rampant and invisible our children and our children's children may be born with physical or mental handicaps we can only imagine.

Wherever there is poverty, malnutrition and inadequate sanitation and health care create the conditions for illness that can cripple the minds and the bodies of the young and old. Throughout the world, human lives are maimed and destroyed by violence. And the victims are then doubly penalized by a society which governs marginalizes, we explain them.

we must stand up to oppose their use of that process and, specifically, Pierre Trudeau's conviction since of the truth in perpetrating it.

That's a sorry language, but we should be far more concerned by public tolerance of this bill than by its unimpaired execution.

Pierre Trudeau says he is not a separatist. What he is really offering is a last of their resolve to be independent.

But then, the prime minister's constitutional package is not with effective rights and freedoms that would stimulate the relationship between legislatures and courts.

4-H ends penny shortage

By Bob Cox
Provincial 4-H Media Production

Coordinator, Alberta
Agriculture

Three hundred and twenty-two thousand pennies are being circulated in Alberta.

The small number of coins was collected during a penny-week in 4-H Copper Claver Campaign which ended at the recent annual Leaders' Conference in Edmonton.

More than two tons of pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters were sorted, counted and wrapped following the penny-counting exercise.

Club leaders from across Alberta made contributions on behalf of their club and other clubs in their areas.

Bank officials from the Edmonton office of the Provincial Employees Credit Union Ltd. and 4-H Foundation co-ordinator have a running tally of contributions at the period.

The Copper Claver Campaign ended $1,306.22. According to 4-H Foundation, there were 46 bags containing 46 and weighing 67 pounds each, 1980.

estimated cost at the conference was $120 in time and $210 in stock.

The campaign idea was presented by Mrs. Gwynne Hayes of Tynes at the 1979 4-H Leaders Conference in Banff. Mrs. Hayes had seen the success of a similar campaign held in Montana, U.S.A. Several 4-H delegates from Montana, who attended that conference, challenged Alberta leaders to conduct a campaign in their province.

Plans for the campaign were formulated in mid-June by the Alberta 4-H Foundation. It was launched on August 19 by Mrs. Hayes at the 4-H Homecoming Rally at the Alberta 4-H Centre at Little Lake, west of Watrous. The campaign ended three months later, at the conclusion of the Leaders' Conference.

Mrs. W. W. 4-H provincial supervisor of program services, coordinated the campaign in conjunction with the Leaders' Conference. "The response exceeded our expectations," he said, "especially

Students write "energy" essays

Early in December, Joan Ennard and Bruce Foster visited the Tofield School to talk about energy conservation with students in grades four to six.

Following the presentation, each of the students was invited to write a report on what they saw and heard.

Following are the four top reports, one from each grade, that were submitted.

by Karen Hubbard-Grades 4 Student's House begins with energy

On Tuesday, December 9 at 10:45 a.m., grades 4A and 4B got the special privilege of going to an energy presentation in room 25 of Tofield School.

Joanne Ennard told the children about conserving energy and not wasting it.

She also showed a film. The film was mainly about a man named "J.B."

At the beginning, the people of Tofield used the dragons first for energy. But, they used too many dragons that they soon ran out. Then they used wind.

Mrs. Ennard also told about renewable and non-renewable resources. There are many of them, gas, oil, coal, natural gas, water, wind, food, sun.

Mrs. Ennard brought a radio that could work by using a very bright light. At the very end, Mrs. Ennard gave out the badges that say "Energy Matters". All of the students learned a lot and enjoyed themselves.

Energy

by Lisa Brown 6A

On Tuesday, December 9th we saw a program the Tofield School about energy.

We learned about renewable and non-renewable sources of energy. Renewable means energy that we can make more of and non-renewable means that once we have used it up there will be no more left.

There are three non-renewable energy sources - coal, crude oil and gas. When these are used up we will not have any way of making more. We should try to save them by using less gas for our cars or for heating our homes.

We can turn turbines down and wear sweaters and only drive cars and trucks when we really need to!

The renewable forms of energy are from the sun - wind, water, food and wood. These will never run out.

Holden skaters plan a March "ice show"

The Holden Figure Skating Association, an organization that caters to ice skating at specific levels in both figure and power skating.

As the skaters complete the 5 levels they are awarded merit badges. The skills taught are similar to those of the Canadian Figure Skating Assoc. but, but not as competitive.

Plans for an ice show involving club members and guest skaters is set for March 7th and a joint-carnival. King and Queen contest will be run with proceeds to be donated to the A.S. Society for the installation of artificial ice.

This Saturday, a skate sale will be held at the arena starting at 12:00 p.m. Anyone with old or used skates they want to sell is invited to attend. Bring skates with name and price requested taped to the blade.

NOTICE

OF PREPARATION OF ASSESSMENT ROLL

1981

Town of Tofield
PROVINCE OF ALBERTA

Notice is hereby given that the assessment roll of the said municipality, made under the provisions of the Municipal Taxation Act, Chapter 251 has been prepared and will for thirty (30) days be open to inspection at the office of the said administrator of the municipality during business hours and that any person who desires to object to the entry of his name or that of any other person upon the said roll or to the assessed value placed upon any property must submit written objection from the date of the notice to the administrator of the municipality within this 30th day of January, 1981.

renewable. Water, the sun, food, wind and wood are also natural resources, but they are a renewable resource. One type of oil is kerosene. Crude oil comes directly from the ground. Kerosene is the "black" that comes from crude oil and is gas, kerosene, propane, kerosene paper, oil and grease. You have to take crude oil and clean it out and that makes refined oil.

We saw a movie where dragons were like cars and trucks and when their energy was gone they couldn't run any more. Just like our cars and machines will be if we have no more gas and oil. We also saw slides about solar homes. They said the sun is hot but they were not a lot to make.

I enjoyed the program especially the part with the dragons. I wish everybody could see it and then maybe they wouldn't waste as much energy like they do now.

Energy

by Mary Hamilton-Grade 6B

On Tuesday, December 9, 1980, Mr. Bruce Foster came to Tofield School to talk to us about energy. Mr. Foster is from the Department of Energy and Natural Resources. His kind of energy he talked about was solar energy. Solar energy works by solar cells which absorb the sun's rays and power radio, airplanes or any other machines which have solar cells on them. Mr. Foster also told us some ways to save energy. It was really neat! Some ways to save energy are:

1. Turn off your T.V. when you are not watching it.
2. Turn off all your lights when you're not home or in bed.
3. Turn down your thermostat at about 65°F when you're not home or in bed. If you are cold, put on an extra blanket.

There are just a few ways to save energy so use them and others and save energy.

Energy

by John Smith, 6A

Today a man named Mr. Foster came to Tofield School. He was talking about conserving energy.

Some places ship coal through pipelines. Coal is one source of energy. Natural gas, oil, and coal are nonrenewable.

Toronto Toros are one of three teams bunched together at the top of the standings in the Country (Camrose) Senior Hockey League.

New Narway is still clinging to the lead but, are only one point ahead of Harbort who has moved into second place.

Toronto have dropped to third place but, are only two points behind the league leaders and the three teams appear destined to fight it out for the lead.

Harbort Hill is still in fourth place and must continue to fight off Kamloops and New Narway for the final playoff berth while Harbort is busy in the basement still looking for their first win.

The coming week will be a battle for the Toros who have only one game scheduled on Friday night.

Toronto will be playing in Kamloops on Friday night with Harbort Hill at home on Saturday night.

Yukon will have the Toros at home on Sunday night with special instructions when they play on Sunday night.

Toronto were dropped to 3rd place last Friday night in a game played in Telford with scoring details not being available.

Toronto went to Kamloops on Sunday night and returned home after a convincing 17-4 victory.

Toronto led 5-1 after the opening period, outscored the home team 7-1 in the middle stanza and the outgunned Harbort 6-1 in the final stanza.

Cambridge and Lethbridge played the Toros attack when each outlasted four starters, Harbort led a hot-rod, Cam played up a pair and singles were scored by Pymon, Hildebrand, Harbort and Pymon.

Bonus scored twice for the Toros who got singles from Pymon and Hildebrand.

The game was chippy with 27 penalties and numerous stick-ons to the Toros and finally one to the last team.

Hospital needs land

by Lesley Pineson

Representatives of the Telford Hospital Board attended the town council meeting Monday night to discuss alternative land sites for the new proposed hospital facility.

Don Roth and Charlie Lewis informed council that at least five land sites had been investigated for possible use, the most promising originally had been property owned by Vincent Investments.

However, council upon investigating the purchase deal proposed by Vincent, find that there are too many conditions in the proposal and are checking out the availability of other sites.

Don Crutchank from Band Resources Limited attended Monday night's meeting to discuss the increased insurance for the town's buildings and contents.

Previously, the town carried insurance for the contents appraised at $1,380,340 but, since the town had an appraisal done by Simla Appraisals, the value of the property involved was found to have a value of $2,829,378 and thus the insurance carried previously was insufficient.

Last year, the premium for buildings and contents was $6,232 and this year's premium for $6,748 for less than 100 percent replacement value.

Council has also agreed to budget 1/2 above the 1980 pro-

Satellites win again

Telford satellites continued their winning ways during the past week in the Beaverhill Hockey League.

Satellites picked up two more wins to extend their winning streak to five straight games.

The satellites won their fourth place in the standings.

Satellites are five points behind league leaders Harbort Hill and are now one point up on Andrew.

Harbort Hill has two games in hand on the Toros and Andrew has one.

The reverse situation is true for Rybak who is now on a three-game losing streak and who currently hold fourth place.

Lament is still without a win and is in the position of being forced to win all of their remaining games while Rybak must lose all games in order for Lament to make playoffs.

Rybak will be hosting first-place Harbort in Telford on Tuesday night (Thursday) they plan a return engagement in Harbort.

Monsters continued its winning streak to ten straight games and who currently hold fourth place.

Dancing is a disciplined art form

by Lesley Price
It's been described as the disciplined art, involving both mental and physical exertion.
Only the best accent the picture of public adoration and the career highlight shines brightly for a limited time, during with the aging of bones and muscles.
Years of training and devotion are lost with the crash of a boom or the strain of a ligament.

With all its world-wide acceptance, it has become a universal language of it's own, enjoyed by all.
Who are these people who defy the odds and their bodies? These are the dancers, putting their bodies through pain and strain that no other art or career demands, and what's more loving it, living it.

To be a dancer involves the five D's: the dream, the drive and the dedication, without which a dancer is merely a person dancing for the world.

With this in mind, 74 aspiring Karen Kains, Frank Augustus, Ann Kainings or Jill Hylton attend the Tofield Dancing School every Monday night in Tofield.
Started three years ago by Elaine Macdonald, the school's standards have grown steadily and this boasts an enrollment of 74 students in nine classes.

The school offers a class in Beginner's Ball, Progress
Tap, 3rd year Ballet and 2nd year Tap as well as Wise, Junior, 3rd year, Teen and Adult Jazz.

The school is associated with the Sherwood Park School of Dance and the two teachers, Cheryl Robb and Megan Toner, bring with them a total of 26 years' dance experience.

The school also has a mother's club with a membership of 18, who spend their time involved with all the background activities such as fund-raising. As with all other arts, dance requires a certain amount of public support and funding.

The school has raised money through teas as well as the sale of tickets. They depend mainly on the support of their membership to keep the school functioning.

The executive members of the school are Elaine Macdonald, president; Diane Rynn, treasurer; Kim Jansen, secretary; Debbie Martin, vice-president; and Trish Hardy, who spends her time doing p.r. and everything else voluntarily else has time to do.

To help offset some of the operation costs, members of the club work the door and concession of the movies at the Community Hall in Tofield in exchange for use of the community hall for classes.

April 15 will see the annual concert presentation, a time when all students will have a chance to demonstrate a little of their technique. Students come in all sizes and shapes as well as ages from five to thirty five.

Hopefully next year the school will be able to hold dance exams. This year one youngster, Robert McKenzie from Ryley will be doing a solo at the Alberta Dance Festival to be held in Edmonton.

Dance is an art that enhances other activities like skating or hockey. It develops muscles and stamina, teaches confidence, grace, discipline and brings out any musical ability and physical agility the dancer might possess.

Olympians often take classes in dance to help with routines.
Football players are now admiring to taking classes to build up their endurance. To be a dancer requires a great deal of work and dancers must be physically fit.

One thing that all dancers need is encouragement. Encouragement and support go far in the minds of the young dancer. In an often frustrating and demanding field of entertainment, without the constant reassurance of an applauding audience, dancers would not know if their main goal has been reached; that's the driving impetus.

Generally those who watch dance are taken from their every day world and transformed into that of fantasy and beauty. Dance allows the escape into an euphoric state seldom coming from reality.

Dance the discipline art lives in Tofield, and with the constant support and encouragement of not only those involved directly with it, but those who enjoy and reap it's rewards, it will continue to grow and provide as with us more creative outlet.

Another "Nine O'clock in the Morning"

MIRACLE IN DARIEN

Bob Slosser

What suddenly happened in the tiny embryo of Darien, Connecticut, to make St. Paul's the fastest-growing Episcopal Church in the country? When Terry Fullam agreed to accept a pastoring there, he went on one condition — that Christ be the true head of the church. Bob Slosser tells the fascinating story of how renewal and revival gripped an unexciting congregation, bringing about the "miracle in Darien".

THSA has meet

The regular monthly meeting of THSA was held on Jan. 19 in Tofield School Library.

It was decided to sponsor an "open house" at which Mr. Zaph, teacher, social worker and former drug addict, will discuss drug and alcohol abuse.

The address is scheduled for Feb. 16 at 8:30 p.m. in the Tofield School Library.

A position paper was read and discussed. It was agreed by the committee present that this paper be presented to County Board of Education.

The briefs of the association were presented, thereby eliminating all those sections of the constitution that had previously caused concern amongst teachers.

It was decided that THSA should have a reporter to keep readers informed of THSA happenings.

Carol Burks was elected to this position.

A group of parents volunteered to help with junior high production.

Conservation Today

Our food supply uses about one-sixth of the total energy consumed in Canada. Of that amount, 10% is used on the farm, 10% for processing and packaging, 10% for transportation and 20% for home preparation.

Canada has become dependent on a level of energy that may not exist in the future. In our reserves of non-renewable energy become scarce. Demand for energy should be reduced now. You can make a contribution; cook the energy saving way.

Agriculture Canada has published a new publication containing energy saving information and energy conserving ideas and recipes. Using our appliances wisely is one topic that is covered. But you have had self-cleaning ovens that use less energy than continuous or manual clean ovens? Self-cleaning models are better insulated to retain the high heat needed for the cleaning cycle.

To save energy while cooking, avoid using the oven whenever possible. Whether making soups or a complete meal, these cooking methods that can be done on surface elements.

About 70% of the energy used by a surface element cooks the food, compared to only about 10% in the oven. The rest of the energy in the oven is used to heat up the air in the cavity, or is lost through walls and door seal.

Preparing meals that combine both the oven and surface elements use more energy than using either one alone.

The Homemaker

Education is a very important factor in a homemaker's family. The homemaker is responsible for the education of her children. It is her duty to provide a good education for her children. This is not only for their future, but also for the future of the country.

Coffee is a drink and it acts as a stimulant to the central nervous system, although it does not affect all people the same way. It contains a large amount of caffeine (250-300 mg/day) it can cause headaches, insomnia, irritability, nervousness and trouble. Following is the calculation of caffeine in various beverages.

Coffee, instant, 88-78 mg per 3 oz., brewed, 82-78 mg, decaffeinated, 12-13;
black, 3 min. brew, 9-14; tea, black, 3 min. brew,
60; Cocoa, 18-27; Cola
Drinks, 32-68.
A person who drinks a large quantity of percolated or drip coffee and expects caffeine to have negative effects on his mind, should consider writing to instant or freeze dried types of coffee. Because caffeine is a drug, pregnant women and children should watch their consumption of beverages containing caffeine.

Dear Sir:
T.M.S.A. Minor Hockey Association wishes to apologize for all the misquoting and misreading of the Mercury in our Christmas Special Year. We requested that the Mercury print an apology but they refused our request.

The association would like to say "Thank you" for your annual support and please accept our apologies. On behalf of the T.M.S.A.

Thank you

Better's Note:

The Mercury accepts the criticism above, but finds it is unfair, in light of the material which was submitted for printing. Our office staff, our salesman and our typewriter all had a hand in deciphering a number of names which were not clearly written. We're sorry for the fact we guessed wrongly in some areas, and for the fact we missed significant comments to warrant the letter above.

PROMOTE SAFER SCHOOL BUSES

Dear Sir:
As a Parent Transportation Supervisor, one of my greatest fears is that one day when I pick up my phone I will receive a report of an accident with serious injury possibly death to one or more students riding one of my school buses or a report of a student that was just run over and killed while crossing the highway to get on the bus.

Injury and death in the world of transportation is a daily occurrence in our society. We in the safety industry know it will never be one of our least serious time is involved in such a manner in parent transportation the danger is even greater, because when one of our vehicles is involved in an accident causing bodily injury or death, there are many people involved. Not only is our cargo the most precious in the world, but we could have as many as thirty students on one bus at a time.

School Bus Safety, where does it start? It probably should involve each and every one of us. Whether we drive a school bus or whether we have children riding a school bus or whether we are just passing our highways, we are involved! The real thing is that safety is concerned with a major accident happens and then we are concerned for only a short time. It also means that only in the particular area of the incident is anything specific done to rectify the problem.

Parent Transportation Supervisors have now formed an association. There are at this time only a few Supervisors involved and we urge the support of all School Divisions, Councils and School Districts in the Province to support our cause. Our slogan is "Safety is Our Objective". We hope with our association to open a line of communication between the people involved in student transportation in the province. We hope to help each other with mutual problems and establish continuity of rules and regulations in our districts.

On February 27th and 28th the Student Transportation Supervisors Association of Alberta is holding their first convention in Edmonton. You do not have to be a School Bus Supervisor to attend or become a member, you just have to be concerned about the transportation of your students. You can be a Superintendent, Secretary, Treasurer, Trustee, or Bus Contractor, wherever the case may be in your area. We need everyone's support to make Student Transportation in our province safer.

have been eliminated from playoff contention.

Toros drew the biggest crowd of the season for their home game against the Miami Heat on Friday night.

There were giveaways, Score-O shooting, contests, door prizes and one-half of the proceeds were donated to the expense of operating a minor hockey program in Toledo.

Despite all that, Toros were held to a 4-4 stalemate by the visitors. Scoring details of the game were not available. Randy Troutman of New Jersey still leads the scoring race while Rod Blomquist of Hamilton has taken over the lead in goals scored.

Rich Borge of Borel in the top goal.

Bruce and district news

By Don Proctor

Bruce Dorn added his rink to the Zone II senior curling playoffs held recently in Victoria. Harry Blythe of Hinton threw reds, while Odey Stenlund of Rydal and Gordon Egan of Edmonton filled the second and lead positions. Last weekend, they advanced to the Northern Alberta Playdowns at Beaumont where they were defeated.

Bruce Kawalich spent last week in Edmonton attending a special course sponsored by Alberta Environment, dealing with water supply and sewer disposal. The seminars were held at the Jubilee Auditorium.

Bruce had a regular clinic here last week. A brawl in at Ken's Eats Service netted three a number of batteries and time and a mulligan was reported missing from the post office.

During one of the main activities these days, Bruce curlers made a name for themselves at the Hanbury bonspiel at dancing. During the evening, notably in curling, bookends were presented to Hans and Bob Bruce and Doreen and Harold Hines, who have left the district.

Frances and Lou Marzucco were unable to be present to receive the coffee. The next drive will be on February 20th. George and Jean Throckmold, and Sarah Kraschewski visited with them.

Approximately 150 people were on hand to enjoy supper provided by the club and an evening of dancing. During the evening, notably in curling, bookends were presented to Hans and Bob Bruce and Doreen and Harold Hines, who have left the district.

Frances and Lou Marzucco were unable to be present to receive the coffee. The next drive will be on February 20th. George and Jean Throckmold, and Sarah Kraschewski visited with them.

A major part of responsible parenting is teaching children how to deal with the marketplace. In today's competitive marketplace, the same children begin to learn financial responsibility in their own lives. One way to teach financial responsibility is to give a child an allowance with some guidelines.

Defined as a regular weekly amount of money provided to each child at their share of the family income. Family discussions should establish an amount that is appropriate for each child; the kinds of things which must be bought with allowance; and which chores are expected.

An allowance can be given to children as soon as they recognize the basic Canadian coin (usually about age 5). A regular weekly allowance encourages the child to understand that "money doesn't grow on trees" and that priority choices have to be made.

Ministick district news

by Catherine Radick

The first of two February wheel drives was held at the hall on Friday evening.

Free winners were Genta - First Place; second, Lawrence Gill; consolation, Betsy Winder.

Ladies - First, Jess Kraschewski; second, Gail Doreen; consolation, Cindy Gill.

Launch was served by the ladies with Lawrence Gill serving the coffee. The next drive will be on February 20th. George and Jean Throckmold, and Sarah Kraschewski visited with them.

The allowance should be reviewed regularly and every effort made to increase the number of items which the children can buy for themselves. It is important that children have a discretionary money left over after buying essentials. This will encourage them to make personal choices on how their money is to be managed.

Each family must establish its own ground rules about which items are a normal part of the child's family responsibility. The allowance should not be withdrawn as a punishment.

As your children begin to earn their own income (babysitting, newspaper route, etc.) new family decisions will have to be made about the allowance.

Saving up for major purchases should be encouraged. By age 12, children should be capable of managing a Savings Account and regularly budgeting for the purchase of their own clothes. If the child spends his "own" money, parents can reasonably expect greater care to be taken of personal property.

Thanks to Lynn Stagnan, District Home Economist in Tofield, for the above information.

The next Ladies' Club meeting will be held on Monday 19th at 10:00 a.m. at Mrs. Clara Bodnar's home, and the Community Association meeting will take place at 8:00 p.m. on the same day at the hall.

Agnes and Joyce Robinson and Doreen Radick attended the Hockey game on Saturday afternoon at the Pulaski Olympic, where the Pulaski Midgets A played the Hanbury district, losing from Edmonton coming out on top with a score of 2-2.

In another game, this time with Riverbend from Edmonton, the Pulaski team came out on top with a 7-0 score.

Family dining at Casa d'oro

Story and Photos
by Lesley Primeau

the Casa d'oro FAMILY DINING & PIZZA

With a menu that boasts something for everyone and prices that compare favorably to those found in the city, Casa d'oro brings to Tofield a family dining experience that is sure to please.

Demetre (Jim) Neszy, manager and chef, is optimistic that the future of the restaurant will be bright and prosperous. A native of Ontario, Jim has been in the restaurant business for seven years and finds the opening of Casa d'oro to be an exciting venture.

Jim has worked extensively in Edmonton, Toronto and a London, Ontario restaurant for which the Tofield restaurant is named. Casa d'oro translates meals "home of gold" in Spanish and the decor of the restaurant lives up to the name.

The restaurant will seat sixty patrons comfortably and the hours of operation are such that they will cater to every hour of hunger. Sunday through Wednesday the restaurant shall be open from 11 a.m. right through until 11 p.m. and on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays the hours are extended until 1 a.m.

Grand opening days are Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The menu boasts a variety of dishes from Veal Parmigiano to fish and chicken as well as chicken, salmon steaks, roast beef, steak and the ever popular pizza.

The Casa d'oro has not forgotten the children and included with the regular meals is a child's menu.

Jim and his wife, Kim, along with their five-month old son, Kansas moved into Tofield last Christmas and hope to meet many new faces at the grand opening of Casa d'oro.

It has been five months since construction began on the restaurant and improvements will continue until everything is to Jim's liking. The kitchen facilities are brightly attractive and everything is in full gear for the opening. Casa d'oro, family dining in Tofield.

We can't keep a secret when we get classified information... it's spread all over town! primeau's play pen

It must be getting close to spring and the only way that I know that is because it's got-ting warmer and warmer in here. It seems only natural to assume that the effects of hibernation are fast wearing off.

About a week or so ago I had the chance to have lunch with Neil and Grace Phillips... well I gotta tell you lunch was similar to dining at Marco's in Calgary... an absolute treat. Grace whipped up this Chicken Florentine that was so good that I decided I should try it. Grace wrote out the recipe for me and last Sunday was Florentine day at my house. We did so well, I think I deserve a crack at Van Can or the Glamouring Gourmet or whatever his name was. Although my Florentine was good, it seemed to be missing something... it wasn't quite as good as Grace's... which leads me to believe that I missed something... an usual.

Monday night I checked out the new Can d'ore restaurant that opened in Tofield. I haven't tried anything yet but the most impressive thing about the new eatery is the bright kitchen. I just loved it. Now the only thing Jim needs is a milkshake machine and I'd be in seventh heaven. I could try for eighth if Jim could get ahead of Grace's Chicken Florentine!

Valentine's Day is Saturday. I suspect the night just past you celebrated your marriage at a restaurant and I shall be without a Valentine. My Miss understood the other day. If I promise not to tell anyone he'd be my Valentine... My, hairy seal, I have to be quiet about it or Hestina will be 'tired' again. As we've known it's hard to see the burst of a five year old's business rap!

Elida left one to go to Arizona for awhile... couldn't have picked a better month I guess... however... that horror tale with Beth... who incidentally is getting older by the minute. As a matter of fact today is her birthday... so if you see her... approach with caution... she's 34... I think, so there's not many more left before they make her an honorary member of the older but gentle club! Maybe she's only 33... hard to tell... now

Playoffs open

Tofield's minor hockey teams are getting involved in provincial and league playoffs. Minors got their playoffs off on the right foot. In the first game of a best of three series, in league playdowns, Minors whipped Foxburg 7-1.

The next game in this series will be played in Foxburg and a third game, if needed, will be played in Tofield. Foxburg are hosting Lac La Piche on Saturday in the opening game of provincial playdowns.

Second game in the two-game total-goal series will be played in Lac La Piche. Foxburg will be at home to Ardmore on Sunday in a regularly scheduled league match.

A game with Fort Saskatchewan was cancelled. Fox Wags are going up against Sherwood Park in provincial playdowns.

First game in the total-goal series will be played in Sherwood Park on Sunday with a return match in Tofield on Tuesday at seven o'clock. The next league game for each team was scheduled for Saturday when they will host Foxburg.

New this March is coming, students will soon be trying out for their respective basketball teams. It is hoped that all students will do well in county, regional, and provincial tournaments. It seems like our basketball teams just keep rolling around. Unfortunately, the girls' did lose a game against S. Albert last week, 34-31. Both teams came back to perform strongly and defeat the Camrose Composite High School junior team.

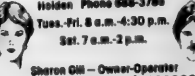

The girls were a regular, 15-20. To score for the girls was Wendy Brown as she chipped in 19 points. The last time the boys from Ryley played Camrose, they lost a very close game by 4 points. This time it was a very different story. The boys walked into Camrose, put their feet back into top working order, and have the doors of Camrose 64-2. The score for Ryley was Lyndon Wall, who played a tough game both defensively and offensively scoring 13 points. Both girls and guys teams will be cranking the boards in February as they will participate in a large tournament. The boys' game will be at 7:00 on Friday night against St. Paul. If any fans can get up there, all the support will be needed and appreciated. Also, on Monday the teams will be going head-to-head with Camrose once again. Do your best to get out there and see these teams.

The curling league will also be held this weekend. If you can get to Viking, do so and cheer on our teams. It will be held on Saturday the 20th. Sharon Gill - Owner-Operator!

From the Ground Up

by Bill Brown &
James Macleod
District Agricultural
Special News Service and Editor in Alberta

The future for such crops as grain, corn, lentils, dry beans, fababean, triticale and mustard seed in Alberta will be basically depend upon developments in the grain processing and marketing sectors, according to Bob Prater of Alberta Agriculture's market analysis branch. However, production of these crops, mainly in the irrigation areas of southern Alberta, has increased substantially over the past few years and future prospects look promising.

Lentils

Lentil production in Western Canada more than doubled in 1980, compared with 1979, to more than 100,000 acres. Yields in Alberta averaged 1,300 pounds per acre under irrigation and 800 pounds per acre on dryland, but the quality of the crop suffered somewhat because of wet harvesting conditions in the northwestern regions of the province.

Apart from an annual rise in government of less than 500 tonnes for domestic use, Canada's lentil markets are mostly located in Europe, North Africa and the Middle East. The United States is Canada's main competitor in international markets. Canada's lentil price is run at a discount to U.S. prices, the latter's price remains the main market indicator.

Encouraged by attractive prices and favorable foreign response, the Alberta Wheat Pool lentil plant increased its contract for dry beans to 1,300 acres last year from 7,000 acres in 1979. This acreage was made up on peas, lentils, red great northern and early beans. The average yield of all the types was 1,300 pounds, and producer prices averaged about 31¢ per pound. However, both yields and prices can vary considerably among the various types.

Current prices and future prospects suggest that Alberta's dry bean average will increase significantly again this year, and prices are expected to rise those recorded for last year's crop. Two additional companies are considering a capital investment in lentil production in Alberta.

Pulsebean yields were excellent in Alberta last year. They averaged 3,500 pounds. On irrigation land yields normally vary between 2,500 and 3,500 pounds per acre, while dryland yields vary between 1,500 and 2,500 pounds. Growers received an average price of between 6¢ and 8¢ per pound for this year's crop, which was not as good as prices for some other crops. However, growers will be reluctant to contract many acres to produce the year unless prices increase considerably. Price and limited markets have been the main deterrents to a further increase in fababean production in Western Canada. Export markets higher on specific Egyptian lentils, while Europe, Japan and the Middle East offer limited alternatives. Canada fababean are not highly competitive in these markets.

280. The day will be spent discussing barley production and listening to experts talking about varieties, cultural practices, diseases, fertilizer and weed control. If you are interested, contact us to register.

The House Economist and ourselves will be teaching a money management course at Tofted on Feb. 28. If enough interest is shown, contact us to register.

Heritage Day gains support

Support is growing national. February 17 to have the third Monday in Heritage Day.

With parliamentary assent, it would become a national holiday.

The movement to have Heritage Day declared a holiday began in 1973. Since that time, the Heritage Foundation has taken up the plight and pursued it with relentless gusto.

The Heritage Foundation is a non-profit organization created to preserve Canada's national and cultural heritage with specific concerns in preserving the multi-ethnic environment. Their unique approach to saving while commensurate has added economic benefits to restoring life and character to towns and cities.

Observance of Heritage Day, though not as a holiday, is spreading. In 1979, the Secretary of State of Canada gave a $60,000 grant to the Association of Kinsmen Clubs to promote observation of Heritage Day in 1981.

The Board of Governors of the Heritage Foundation resolved to press for the declaration of a national holiday when public support for their cause increased in 1979. However, with the fall of the government in December, their efforts were overshadowed by the impending election.

Again this year with rising support across the nation, the Foundation is pressing to have Heritage Day proclaimed a national holiday.

Beaver nears 'end' of schedule

There's just over a week left in the schedule of the Beaverfoot Hockey League and only one team knows where it will finish.

Laurel has gone twenty-one games without a victory and will finish the season in the league basement, and of course to end on either Wednesday or Saturday of next week.

Monday's game between Laurel and Andrew may have been the last of the season as the teams are still in the running for top spot.

Wiley's chance of finishing higher than fourth are rather slim, but they could end on Tuesday.

License renewal available by mail

This year's license renewal applications have been made.

Everyone in the province should have received them by the end of February.

Again, as last year, Alberta can avoid long line ups at the licensing offices, by renewing their vehicle registration by mail.

When you get your renewal application, check all the information carefully to ensure its accuracy, complete the form and mail it back with a check or money order.

Remember to insert your driver's license number in the space provided at the top of the form.

A trip to the licensing office is required only if there are any changes to be made on the registration, or if the mail-back deadline of April 1st is missed.

The license validation sticker will be returned to you by mail and it should be placed on the lower left hand corner of the license plate.

Mercury Morsels

The season of spring will fast be upon us and it will be time to look for quicker meals away from the hot stove, unless of course you have a microwave in which case carry on.

However if you are an average type person who likes to get out and enjoy the sun's rays then salads are always an easy answer for a light dinner.

Today Lili Kobayashi has a salad that takes just a bit of time and is sure to please. With the hours that Lili keeps next door at Kobayashi's Barber Shop it is small wonder that she makes great salads.

Lili with her husband Nick opened Kobayashi's just a few months ago in Tofield and by all accounts business is doing well, well enough that they are now open five days a week.

As well as their in Tofield, they have a shop in their home town of Mundare which they open on Mondays and Fridays. No doubt they are a busy couple to do so.

Lili has found Tofield such a delightful place to work that she spends most of her time here . . . most of that time on her feet. The barber business doesn't seem to allow her a lot of all down time.

I sort of thought that with a recipe from Lili I might get a Ukrainian goodie, however . . . it is possible that this is a Ukrainian goodie . . . so get out the old jelly mold and prepare for:

- 1 1/2 cups cottage cheese
- 2 plus lines jelly (any flavour) . . . with fresh coconut
- 1/2 C boiling water
- 2 TB lemon juice
- 3 C sour cream . . . from the store . . . where else is a strange cow?
- 1 C chopped cucumbers
- 1 C chopped celery
- 3 cup onion finely chopped

Disolve . . . I think disolve has only one s . . . maybe not . . . anyway disolve jelly in hot water, add lemon juice and cool. When partially set fold in cream, onion, celery and onion. Pour into a 5 cup mold and chill and that's it. There ain't no more.

Disolve in two s's . . . Now wasn't that simple and so quick, why you could have a meal and still have it's getting and still come out a winner all way around!

Hopefully we shall be get the info a lot more salad type recipes . . . or anything else that tastes yummy. Next week Martha Thomsen is going to show you a Bean Casserole and a hint of her house, which I understand is a treat all its own!

Soon until next week watch these columns and Ben Appetite!

THURSDAY

The coming of Alberta's seventy-fifth anniversary ushered in the opportunity for us to reflect on our past, celebrate our present, and, through the many projects initiated during the year, enrich our future. In this way we could fortify the pride we feel in our heritage and make 1980 a year to remember. Albertans achieved this goal, and, in so doing, captured the resourceful and industrious spirit inherent in the meaning of the word, Albertan.

Never before have Albertans participated in such large numbers. Almost one in every 2,000 Albertans volunteered to assist in the project. More than 200,000 attended the sixteen Festival of the Arts events and thousands participated in recreation projects, while Homecoming encompassed 900 events.

Hundreds of programs of ongoing value were initiated. Professional theatre, visual arts displays, and touring performing arts groups appeared in many communities for the first time. Not a single area of the province was left untouched.

Activity commenced in 1979 with the first Homecoming sending personal Homecoming invitations to thousands of people to return to Alberta and share the festivities with their friends and relatives.

The largest portion of the 75th budget was allocated to our municipalities. The municipal projects were as diverse and varied as the communities and people they served.

The anniversary year may be over, but its spirit lives on. For all this—good going, Alberta.

CAPITAL PROJECTS DOMINATE IN MUNICIPALITIES

The idea behind funding the municipalities with per capita grants was to meet a major objective of the anniversary celebrations... to give Albertans and their communities an opportunity to plan their own tributes and participate in the celebrations as they saw fit. The largest portion of the 75th Anniversary budget went toward these grants, totalling almost forty-one million dollars. Every community in Alberta—11 cities, 104 towns, 167 villages, 65 municipal and improvement districts and counties, 8 Métis settlements, 44 Indian bands, and 6 special interest areas—received a grant.

Of the nearly forty-one million dollars... in per capita grants, more than three quarters went into capital expenditures and the remainder in capital structures, renovations or purchase of equipment. The majority of capital expenditures were in the areas of recreation and sports, and community facilities. Other projects of long-term benefit include social service and community education projects and a wide variety of cultural and sporting events.

Alberta's communities are as diverse as its geography and as rich in the cultural life of its people, but everywhere there is the spark of creativity, the desire to participate, and the spirit of community involvement.

The anniversary projects truly represent those things which Albertans feel were most important to their own communities. And so we see an operating table in Camrose; a taxi service for seniors in Lloydminster; the five-million-dollar Space Sciences Centre in Edmonton; a camp kitchen in Cayley; and weavers' club equipment in the small village of Burdett.

SOME OF THE MANY WAYS THAT THE MONEY WAS USED

Our senior citizens were honoured through many projects designed explicitly for them. New clubs and drop-in centres are being constructed and existing facilities have been renovated. Projects such as a mobile library in Lethbridge and a crime prevention handbook for senior citizens in Calgary were initiated.

Albertans displayed a keen interest in sports and recreation by allocating funds for swimming pools, skating and curling rinks, playing fields and sports complexes. Existing facilities have been upgraded and uniforms and sporting equipment purchased.

New playgrounds were designed and existing facilities improved for the enjoyment of our children. For example, the City of Calgary is developing an outdoor playground near the School for Disabled Children; Edmonton is constructing a playground which handicapped children will be able to enjoy.

Support for culture is evidenced through the establishment of fine art centres, galleries and museums, and the acquisition of rare books, paintings and musical instruments. Albertans enjoyed exhibits of local art and handicrafts, musical concerts, and choral performances.

Some communities chose to improve local utilities. Garden Valley bought new fire-fighting equipment and made improvements to the sewer system. Gibbons, Morinville and Warner saw the grant as an opportunity to revamp their ambulance equipment with the purchase of a rescue tow, the Laws of Life. Many centres are building new community halls, auditoriums and libraries.

A number of projects were designed for special groups of citizens, focusing on improved quality of life. The Southern Alberta Ideal Centre will be able to establish a model of technical aids to assist parents and their children in the purchase of equipment. The Alberta School for the Deaf in Edmonton purchased deaf-adapted telephones or "talking sets," allowing 185 children to communicate by means of specially adapted telephone devices. Barhead funded a school room for handicapped children and in Calgary a jambovie for the handicapped brought together adults who wished to make friends and mingle with other handicapped persons.

Building and renovation of exhibition and video grounds, beautification through planting trees and developing gardens and parks, restoration of old buildings and provision of commemorative plaques were projects in many communities.

Grande Prairie renewed the old Forties Church and St. Albert restored its mission bells. Camrose used a portion of its grant to erect a statue of the first woman elected to the Alberta Legislature.

Books and films covering areas of specific historic interest to various municipalities received close to one million dollars of the per capita funds. The Stony Indian Band produced "The Stony Nation: The Land of the People".

The students of Alberta were helped through scholarships established by twelve different communities, a remarkable variety of projects provided both long-term and immediate benefits to Albertans. The imagination, enterprise and initiative of Alberta's citizens are our province's greatest resource.

COMMISSION PROGRAMS

Medallions, Alberta's pioneers received a special tribute. Gold and silver medallions were awarded to our senior citizens 75 years of age or older.

Those born in the province and who lived here during 1980, received a 14K gold medallion. Silver medallions were sent to senior citizens who were Canadian 75 years of age or older.

Every senior citizen 65 years of age or older received a bronze pioneer pin and a personally engraved scroll, marking this significant occasion in their lives.

PROGRAMS INITIATED BY ALBERTANS

Fifteen films representing a wide range of topics on Alberta's heritage are in production, while seventeen aspiring authors had a chance to write about the province, its people and resources.

More than 200 conferences and seminars which had a particular significance to Alberta's 75th Anniversary were also initiated.

Six and a half million dollars helped to fund almost 700 touring performances. Twenty-five tours were undertaken by such groups as the Alberta Ballet, Calgary Boys' Choir, Canadian Ukrainian Society, Klezmer Dancers, and many others.

The 75th provided a opportunity for many firsts as well, such as the first Senior Games, which were held in Camrose. Eight hundred finalists came from over ninety competitions held throughout the province. Twenty-five thousand people, involving an estimated 10,000 senior citizens.

Historical reenactments were well received throughout the province. A group of Albertans, complete with period costumes and muskets and accompanied by pipes and fiddles, set out from Fort Edmonton on a journey down the Saskatchewan River in a York boat.

The Alberta Rockies Mountaineering Society, with the help of over 300 volunteers, scaled 75 Alberta peaks, ranging in height from 1,000 to 12,294 feet. They left five thousand pins in canisters for future climbers to collect. Premier Lougheed and his family climbed Mt. Lougheed on August 29.

Many books and audio-visual projects will appear because of the anniversary year. "Alberta Keys", a book of piano works by Alberta composers for music students, rolled off the presses in late October. It is unique because it is the first music book about Alberta composers. "From Footprints to Highways", published in two volumes, is an historical look at the Lethbridge district.

Two of the fifteen film projects funded were completed in the fall. "They Came First", a 20-minute film, a 20-hour film produced in Granum, is based on the province's early years in the Coal Branch area. "The Chief Mountain Legend", filmed by the Cardston Community Association, focuses on the legends surrounding the mountain and its importance to the Blackfoot Indians. Other productions include "Generations", "The Threadbare Mary", and "Ride Into History".

THOUSANDS JOIN IN SEPTEMBER 12 CELEBRATION

The celebration events throughout Alberta ranged from historic reenactments, special dedications and official commemorative ceremonies, to a variety of homecoming, sports and family events for public participation. Over 400,000 people took part in the events in the two major cities; thousands more watched special celebrations on television. In recognition of the occasion, an augmented unit of arms was unveiled during the birthday celebration on the Legislature grounds.

It was a community effort as hundreds of volunteers contributed their time and effort to Alberta's biggest birthday party ever. Alberta's birthday celebrations began with the historic Ballroom Pin on August 27th and ended with the magnificent Air Show on September 6th at the Canadian Forces Base, Edmonton.

The Tofield Community Centre is a new building and facilities, improved recreation and cultural programs, and a new library. The building is a new building and facilities, improved recreation and cultural programs, and a new library.

GOVERNMENT PROGRAMS EXPAND FOR THE YEAR

Culture, Alberta Culture played a prominent role in the celebration. Performing, visual and literary arts were highlighted. The Festival of the Arts featured sixteen special events which toured the province over the summer, entertaining 200 communities with 500 performances.

A song contest was held and the winning song, "Alberta, We Love You", has been distributed to schools, bands and choirs in the province. Finally, an Alberta musical production celebrating the province and its people was presented.

Fitness, Albertans were encouraged to "Get Up" for fitness in a year which involved three main programs: Fitness, Sport Hall of Fame and Thrust Into the 75th.

The "Animated Film," "A Fitness Card", based on the story of George, focuses on fitness past, present, and future, and will be distributed to school boards throughout the province with accompanying promotion sheets.

Sport Alberta, through its Hall of Fame and Museum Committee honoured this province's sports greats, and inducted 48 men and women into the Alberta Sport Hall of Fame.

The Thrust Into the 80's program involved talent identification, touring programs for athletes, a coaches' congress, a handicapped athletes integration program and several other special projects.

Coming Home, Memories and emotions ran high as people from every corner of the globe visited Alberta in 1980 in response to Homecoming invitations sent by Premier Lougheed.

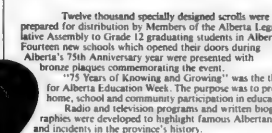

In Tilly, Alberta, about 1800 people came from as far away as Hungary, Sweden, Czechoslovakia, and the United States to visit this community of 325. Belts, population of 325, welcomed home 1300 people, while 1500 returned to Banff, a community of 200.

To complement the Homecoming Program, Travel Alberta launched an industry awareness program directed toward the hospitality industry. Employees in the service industries were encouraged to "Reach Out a Friendly Hand" to its visitors.

The Homecoming visit of Sir Peter Gadsden, the Lord Mayor of London was the climax of this heartwarming program as all eyes turned toward the city of Banff in September. The 1980 homecoming celebrations were events of joy, enthusiasm and happiness.

The Homecoming Program, a number of programs aimed at enriching the awareness and knowledge of the province's past 75 years were planned and carried out through the school system.

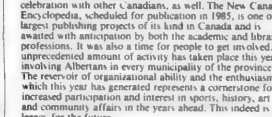

The largest project for the year was the minting of 300,000 medallions. These were minted for Alberta children attending school from Early Childhood Services to Grade 12.

LEGACY FOR THE FUTURE

The greatest success of Alberta 75 lies in its legacy for the future—a legacy of new buildings and facilities, increased recreational and cultural programs, improvements in community facilities and services, and a renewed sense of involvement in community affairs. The quality of life of present and future generations will be enriched by the libraries, art galleries, museums and other structures which will remain as a lasting tribute to the people of this province.

This opportunity for local planning tapped into a whole pool of creative and organizational ability, previously unused, as many citizens became involved. Alberta shared its celebration with other Canadians, as well. The New Canadian Encyclopedia, scheduled for publication in 1985, is one of the largest publishing projects of its kind in Canada and is awaited with anticipation by both the academics and library professions. It was also a time for people to get involved. An unprecedented amount of activity has taken place this year involving Albertans in every municipality of the province. The reservoir of organizational ability and the enthusiasm which this year has generated represents a cornerstone for increased participation and interest in sports, history, art and community affairs in the years ahead. This indeed is a legacy for the future.

FROM THE COMMISSIONER

For the past twelve months, we have increased the pride we feel in being Albertans.

An interlocking pattern of cultures is common to both the pioneers who came from their homelands to build this province, and to the residents of today who enjoy all the opportunities of Alberta in the 1980s. It is this depth of cultural heritage that has made our province and country unique, and has made us appreciate the strengths we share today, and the potential we have for the future.

What Albertans have achieved will not end in 1980. There are so many anniversary accomplishments to celebrate and so much to do in the way of cultural and recreational facilities in films and books. These will be here for many to enjoy in coming years as a reminder of Alberta's 75th anniversary.

The lasting benefits of 75th anniversary projects are a tribute to the work of thousands of Albertans who gave so much of themselves.

Thank you for making 1980 a year to remember.

Bob Dowling, Commissioner
Alberta 75th Anniversary Commission

YEAR-BOUND MACE

High-quality Mace's apples may not be available year-round thanks to research at Agriculture Canada's Kentville, N.S., Research Station. Scientists at the station have developed an apple storage system that increases storage life by 50 percent. 71 also results in Mace coming out of winter storage with a better quality similar to just-picked fruit. Storage systems now in use can only keep McIntosh apples for about six months.

Nutrition Week set

Alberta Nutrition week is March 5-7 and, although there are no special activities planned for that time, it is a good time for Albertans to take a long look at their lifestyles and eating habits.

"This theme this year is 'Energy is, Energy out.' The thrust of the program is striving to make Albertans aware of the balance between food intake and regular exercise, which a person's diet requires."

Barbara Green, the District Home Economist for this area, says they received the information on the week a little too late to really plan anything.

She does add, however, that they are encouraging the present "Nutrition at School" program, in effect at only a few schools in the county, by sending these schools promotional material on the subject.

Promotional literature, coordinated by the Alberta Registered Dietitians' Association, sent in various groups throughout the province include information on energy balance in a body, and nutrition and lifestyle. Facts point out over one-half of adult Canadians are overweight, usually a result of poor eating habits and a lack of exercise as a person grows older.

The information emphasizes sensible eating habits means nibbling on a piece of fruit or vegetable instead of some potato chips. They also suggest physical activity, instead of lying down and watching television.

"Calorie needs decrease as we get older, by about 100 calories a day, for every 10 years after we reach 35. This decrease in energy (calories) need is due to the decreased metabolism of all cells and because of decreased muscular activity."

"For adults to maintain normal weight throughout their lives, some changes in eating habits and exercise patterns must be made," the information says.

Due to the inclement weather in this year's County of Beaver Science Fair, judges found it necessary to deliberate on extra forty-five minutes in order to complete the winners.

The fair, which was held at the Village School, was well attended by parents, students and interested persons. About one hundred students from county schools took part in the fair. In addition, the award went to Chris Clarke and Murray Gern of Ryley for their entry.

All entries were categorized into five groups: A, individuals of grade 1 to 4; B, individuals of grade 5 to 6; C, individuals of grade 7 to 8; D, groups in grade 9 to 10; and E, individuals in grade 11 to 12.

"Meanest mother-in-law in the whole county," says that's what Peter Brown said one about Martha Tiedeman, hasn't I thought, this county is our one how come this name? Well I never did find out because Martha is a nice lady and when I went to get the morsel for this week I got a history lesson as well.

Martha was born in Edmonton, as a matter of fact her father worked at the old Edmonton City Dairy, which has since been torn down. When she was as Martha came to live in the Tofield area, married and raised four biddies, Lucille, Bobby and Mary. Edmonton and Yvonne who is married to the present mayor in the county, Peter Brown.

Martha and her Bob live in this lovely trailer filled with buttons, spoons and memorabilia she collects as well as numerous pictures of her grandchildren, four of which reside in the next yard with mother than Peter! Of course one can't forget an experience such as a first sailing with Chico the dog, who bark is definitely worse than her bite, like I didn't get all as... Martha's pride and joy must be the lavender house.

So be you say a lavender house? Well that's what I said, then Martha explains, if it used to be a place to keep baby chicks warm. Anyway, this house is a miniature country, there's an old telephone, a parrot, a pet, old bottles, jars, tin, along with, shoe repair, things, cash cabinet and butter machine, just to name a few, and believe you could go on and on. It is so peaceful and there, you literally feel you could take a trip back in time! There's also an old pottery store, like I don't think you can cook in it.

The house is full of character just like Martha who incidentally has seven or eight people in place as well as away from the Shetland Islands, the States, the England. At one time Martha used to carpenter with thirty people.

In her spare time and Bob's, cause he has been married and more removal for "manus than Peter" ... it's so handy.

survive.....
Well, that's it.... most of it I don't get to taste this because that it's hard to believe I am on a diet.... seriously.... I did I did taste one of Martha's apricot apples, but that is all I have eaten good to the last two weeks.... Just because I can't taste the morsels doesn't mean there won't be any as a matter of fact we have a goodie coming up next week with Lucille Kink.
So invite someone to have a quick "romantic" dinner with you and Ben Appelle!

Satellites win opener

Their satellites and Minidars have won the opening games in the Beaverhill Hockey League playoffs.

When the schedule was finally completed on Saturday, the four teams in the league with the most wins were the Minidars, the satellites, the team with the most wins, and the team with the most wins.

Minidars had the most wins, followed by the satellites, the team with the most wins, and the team with the most wins.

Minidars was the most offensive, scored team when they scored 100 goals and the satellites were the best defensive team, giving up only 100 goals.

Individual statistics had not been received by press time but could be available in time for news from the satellites.

First games in the best of seven series were played on Tuesday night when Minidars picked up a 4-1 victory over Ryfylle while satellites earned a close 1-0 decision over Ryfylle.

Action resumed tonight (Thursday) with the satellites beating Andrew while Ryfylle played in Edmonton.

Satellites play in Andrew while Ryfylle again travels over to Edmonton.

Satellites will be hosting Andrew on Tuesday while Ryfylle will be hosting satellites in Tofield while the satellites play in Andrew.

Other games, it needed to be the satellites will be played on March 14, 17 and 18.

If other games do not prove to be necessary, the satellites could start on those dates.

Minidars clinched first place when they defeated Lacombe 15-3.

In the other two games that were played, Ryfylle defeated Tofield 6-4 while Andrew topped Lacombe. Score of the Andrew-Lacombe game was not available and goals for and against are not included in the final standings, which follow.

Doug and Susan Murray saw the opportunity... AOC gave them the chance.

In May 1976, Doug Murray had just received his mechanics licence. He and his wife Susan saw the opportunity to start their own service garage business in the small community of Mountain View.

"We had been just about everywhere seeking financial help," says Doug, "when my brother-in-law suggested the Alberta Opportunity Company. We called, and within 60 days, our garage business was underway as Murray Automotive."

Today, after one expansion, business is booming at Murray Automotive, with a clientele of up to 400 customers being served from as far away as Calgary and Edmonton.

"If you ever have the chance to run your own business... do it with the help of AOC... we've never regretted it," says the Murrys.

Holden wins provincial crown

by Lester Pinnau
The women's high school hockey team captured the 1981 Alberta School Athletic Association provincial curling championship, the first team to do so from the County of Beaver.

The girls, Linda Remakus, skip, Betty Mackay, third, Shelley Blyk, second, and Brenda Syha, lead, were accompanied by their coach, Bill Glover, to compete in the finals held in Calgary this past weekend.

The road to the finals has been a winding one for the girls. In total, from the county to the provincial finals, the girls have won eleven games and lost two.

The Holden girls were the only team to advance to the next tournament to select one representative for the provincial finals.

In the provincials, the girls defeated teams from, Red Deer, Plasmans, Ardenburg and Manning to take the championship.

Following the determination of the representative for the Central East Zone play down, the girls will be long their place as well as individual medals, as a reminder of their playing.

The County of Beaver and the Holden girls are responsible for the continued growth of the girls which enabled them to compete in the provincial tournament.

At the regular meeting held Monday night, council approved a contract for the demolition of a building to be replaced by a new fire hall.

The cost, $100,000, will be charged to the property owner. Greve concerns has been raised recently about the growing numbers of dogs running at large within the town limits, a matter council feels must be dealt with, with responsibility.

Two officers have resigned from the town council. Council is also contemplating an increase in the rate of the town's water supply, but is as yet, undecided as to the most protective means.

Athletes compete
 Although representatives from the County of Beaver don't take home too many medals from the North Eastern Alberta Games, the athletes involved enjoyed the experience.
 In total, thirty-one athletes from the county took part. The twelve men competing were allowed to send one team per sport.
 The county was represented in men's and women's basketball, badminton and cross country skiing.
 Ralph Hadden of Tofield won a bronze medal in cross country skiing while Charlie Matthews of Hinton took home a silver for cross country ski relay.
 Approximately 100 athletes took part in the games which were held in Banffville. It has not been decided where the 1984 games will be held.

Peter Ward's Ottawa viewpoint...

Canadian Comment

OTTAWA (CP)—So how do you like the old British rule here that's floating around there? To hear the charges from Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau and his front benches, you'd think the British were ready to impose a lot of rule of Canada or something.

It stretches the belief of even the most fervent supporter of Mr. Trudeau to be asked to believe that the British are meddling in Canadian affairs when they bustle in passing that constitutional resolution designed by the PM.

No, the British do not want to re-impose colonial domination. They would be quite happy to be rid of the constitutional responsibility for the Canadian constitution, which are survivors after all, isolated on this planet.

What's happening here is acting exactly as Mr. Trudeau wants the famous British sense of fair play and respect for the law. There is question in the nature of many of the British MP's and members of the Lords and the House of Commons the legitimacy of allowing the sort of Canadian constitutionalism within the context of at least a majority of the province.

There are two things that Mr. Trudeau could do to remove all British doubt, anger or lack of belief. He would remove all passage through Westminster and let the Canadian constitutionalism stand on its own. He would take time to, perhaps once a year, perhaps half a year, Trudeau, however, who is that we don't have the United Kingdom's support.

It's the Trudeau bill of rights which is the sticking point with Westminster. If the Canadian government were to rule that the Treasonable would be approved for his constitution. He would take time to, perhaps once a year, perhaps half a year, Trudeau, however, who is that we don't have the United Kingdom's support.

Constitutions should be approved for his constitution. He would take time to, perhaps once a year, perhaps half a year, Trudeau, however, who is that we don't have the United Kingdom's support.

"CLOSER ON SUNDAY"
Victor M. Carr
K1R7 6M6, 37th st.
Alberta
March 6, 1981.

Dear Editor,
This letter is to protest the increasing occurrence of those and those remaining open for business, illegally, on Sunday. The practice of those who have managed to open originally in Calgary, is now spreading to the Province.

The shortcoming of this policy, one would have thought, obvious. I am not talking here as much of the small convenience to whom Sunday is his only chance to stay in business, but of the larger stores, supermarkets, department stores, etc. The more widespread "open Sunday's" the kind of that can be witnessed in the United States would seem to me to be a step backward.

In three days of ever-increasing social and economic pressure, the need for a general day of rest, of peace, would seem to be acute, not less.

I suggest that all together, as individuals, and together, as a society should take a long, hard look at this law. What would we be giving up if we allowed Sunday to become just another day of the week?

Let's keep Alberta a good place to live!

Oppose amending formula
Oxy, Alberta
February 27, 1981
Dear Sir:

In a recent survey taken by the "Canadian Federation of Independent Business", of its members, the following question was asked:

"Are you for or against the amendment of the Constitution from Great Britain with an amending formula?"

Twenty-five percent said no—10 percent said yes, eight percent no opinion.

This represents people from the Atlantic to the Pacific and across the country, would see the light, if we were to have representation by population, there is a very high likelihood we would be detrimental to our way of life, then I urge them to write to their M.L.A. or to the

PRUNING TIPS

It's that time of year when it is the best time to prune most of your trees. Pruning is an art. It can be very advantageous for the tree or terribly hard on trees if done incorrectly. Some general rules in pruning are:

1. Before actually pruning, you should look the tree over for a few moments and decide how you would like to see the tree develop over the years. Generally it's best to try to shape the tree along its most natural form.
2. Remove the dead and broken branches first.
3. Next remove the largest branches and work down to removing the smallest branches last.
4. Cover all cuts larger than 2.5 cm (the diameter of a quarter) with a suitable tree wound dressing.
5. On all cuts trim the bark back to the good fresh bark. This will encourage more rapid healing.

If enough interest is expressed, I'd be happy to hold a pruning workshop before the end of April.

"Newspapers in trouble" warns workshop speaker

by Steve Hagle

The Canadian newspaper industry is in deep trouble according to a veteran of the communications business.

Garry McAllister, whose credentials range from working for Canada's national newspaper, The Globe and Mail, to producing CBC's Fifth Estate, feels "newspapers" journalism is in trouble on the verge of disappearing in the newspaper's "crisis."

What McAllister means by "crisis" is journalism in a newspaper doing feature on a company or industry in order to gain that company's or industry's advertising dollars.

Speaking to a group of people at a seminar put on by the Alberta Weekly Newspaper Association, McAllister questioned why a full-time journalism is not on the scene to ensure the newspapers' credibility.

Many for cost also appear on the pages of the paper.

The reporter who is currently doing four lines worth, may be found in both dailies and weeklies, but quickly added, there are far more traditions working on a daily than on the smaller circulation paper.

He gave an example of when he worked on a Toronto daily covering its coverage aspect of city council. After working very hard for 10 to 16 hours a week, he might get, on a good week, two stories in the paper.

The stories would have to be limited to a couple of paragraphs due to space limitations caused by advertising and stories of a larger magnitude.

Enormous collective problems are plaguing the industry as well, according to the speaker.

McAllister said most Canadians don't trust the press. Readers claim the press does not know what they are talking about and McAllister states, it begins with small roadside errors that almost become concerns. If a name is misspelled, McAllister questions, can the reader believe any other part of the story?

McAllister claims the press has failed to pay attention to valid needs from the public. He says there is a need for an overall industrial standard as the readers can look at a paper's standards and decide whether those standards are acceptable or not.

Still on the topic of standards, he felt employers should be better on their

The sewage system was talked about in a related proposal yesterday, as well. Leitch Christensen is hoping to develop a subdivision.

It would be two blocks long on the west end of Main and Thompson Street. Although Christensen has to come back to council for the project, Council agreed the restriction could get through.

with an extension of the sewer system.

In addition to that requirement, the project must eliminate the proposed back alley and no access will be allowed to enter the sewer main road. The so-called regulation will require re-arrangement of the Thompson Street.

As regulations for business homes by Dennis Brown was turned down, Brown had to rent his garage to Nathan Heald and Shot Metal.

Shaw Area Recreation Board requested more money due to the fact, they claim, they service more people than what they are paid for.

They also asked for $1,000 out of the Parks Development fund, for a new baseball diamond.

Both requests were referred to the regional recreation board.

A quick look this clothing and fabric store looks as if it were made up for spring and summer fashions.

This season's fashions merge with a casual and fresh air. Shirts are soft, fabrics are lightweight and colors are subtle. Look for casual classic inhomelike clothing: soft lightweight feminine blouses and skirts and leisure attire.

Drive shapes are soft with feminine touches. Design detail appears on the collars and cuffs. Dresses and gowns are often featured and drab and flared skirts are popular.

Light jackets may be waist length, short and long or tunic length. The cardigan jacket appears in both styles and looks.

Blouses remain feminine looking with lace, low neckline, embroidery, elegant cut-work and ruffles. Skirts remain full and often puffed.

Pants continue to feature flares in all lengths and fabrics. Jeans, two piece trousers, walking shorts and trousers are available for both daytime and evening.

Prints are popular. Look for tropical and jungle designs, exotic flowers and wild animals. Border print designs feature a variety of motifs and colors.

Light feminine fabrics include voile, georgette, batiste, gauze and eyelet. Don't forget about always stylish fabric like denim, chambray, muslin, gingham and linen. Colors will range from soft pastels such as pale pink, lavender and salmon to seasonal brights of sea green, turquoise and marigold. Colors are often paired with a neutral like almond, ivory or dove.

Shoes are designed with lower heels for both active and dressy situations.

Look in your favorite fabric or clothing store will surely let you forget about the mud in the yard and bring on thoughts of tulips and strawberries.

Next tomorrow
A quilt exhibition is planned for April 11 in Tofield. It will be a display of old and new quilts alike. If you or your group has a quilt you would like to display, you can contact Mary Lamont at 662-3382 in Tofield. Camrose site for tourism convention

For the fourth time, British Columbia Tourism Association presented with the Brewster Award for the Best Coverage in Weekly Newspapers in the tourism sector in Alberta.

The Laker Representative received the 1980 Brewster Award for the Best Coverage in Weekly Newspapers in the tourism sector in Alberta.

At the time, several reactions and discussion points emerged by BCTA were adopted by the convention, and will be included in a number of press statements being made to the government.

New resolutions include BCTA's proposal to commemorate the Anthony Healey House by marking the route on all major Alberta highways as leading to an effectively designed package tour throughout the province, and also the naming, as well as numbering, major highways throughout the province.

BCTA had won the same award in 1980, 1979 and 1978. Since 1978, the award has been given to several other areas.

For the third time in history, the TAAALTA Convention will meet in June 1, 1981 with BCTA heading the Convention in Ottawa.

BORN EQUAL

In Alberta, Human Rights Legislation provides everyone with a fair chance to contribute and participate for life.

But disabled people have too often been denied meaningful participation in education, recreation, accommodation and the workforce.

The individual's Rights Protection Act now prohibits discrimination because of physical characteristics. These are physical disabilities as a result of injury, infirmity, malformation or impairment. The Act continues to prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, religious beliefs, colour, sex, age, ancestry, marital status and place of origin.

Employers will be receiving by mail "Equal Opportunities in Employment", a handbook on equal opportunity employment practices. Any employer not receiving one may contact:

Mime enjoyed

By Lesley Primm
Students of the Tofield School were entertained Monday with a mime presentation by David Camel of St. Michael's School, Toronto.

Mr. Camel performed two shows on Monday and conducted workshops on Tuesday, giving students an inside view of the world of mime.

Mr. Camel has been performing since 1976 and his tours have taken him across Canada.

His production of Interlude was received acclimated in various centres and at one point in his career, he developed his talents as a street mime in Quebec City.

During his workshop conducted at the Tofield School, Mr. Camel demonstrated how versatile a background in dance, acting, corporal and contemporary mime can be.

Students were given various warm up exercises to do as well as a variety of mime sketches.

Mime is the art of communication without words, not an altogether easy assignment.

The students in the various drama classes held at the Tofield School take a certain degree of interest in mime, as an altogether easy assignment.

Centre needs funding

by Lesley Primm
Without a substantial amount of funding, without a substantial amount of community involvement and support, the future of the Beaverhill Regional Arts Centre is being questioned.

In its first season or portion of a season, audience response at best has been dismal.

Projections for the second season reveal a costly deficit in the neighbourhood of $60,000.

The amount can be broken down as follows; manager's salary — $15,000, maintenance — $1,000, insurance — $1,000, utilities — $1,000, shows — $10,000, publicity — $5,000, travel — $2,000, conferences and workshops — $500 and a contingency — $5,000, for a grand total of $40,000.

The only projected revenue would be from shows at a total of $9,500 and rentals at $1,500 for a total of $11,000.

The revenue from shows is based on an audience turnout of only 100 people per show.

Pending to date for the Arts Centre has been provided by the County of Beaver and the various community centres within the county.

However, it is unlikely these providers will be able to justify an increase in the mill rate to cover an additional deficit.

In addition, it has been suggested that in order to build an audience, the complex would need a three-year commitment of funding.

At a special meeting held a week ago, representatives from the various supporting communities got together to discuss the possible future of the centre.

Representing Holden were Peter Ogden, Nick Blinnick and Anne Shaver, from Tofield, Ed Rager, from Ryley, Larry Anderson, from Ryley, Jenny Bird and representing the County of Beaver, Bob Cross.

Also attending the meeting was Walker, the centre's manager.

Walker felt the centre definitely needed a commitment of time to allow for future acts and concerts, to improve the quality of the performance.

He stated that a season must be set up in advance to draw a potential audience.

This year proved difficult because many of the shows scheduled for the Arts Centre were on nights that many other activities were planned in the area.

It was also suggested by Walker that the season be divided into two, with advance tickets being sold in a seasonal package deal.

As another means of funding, Walker suggested that it might be possible to hold drama classes and perhaps hand practice in the theatre complex.

It was suggested at the meeting that perhaps the residents in the County of Beaver are not particularly keen on supporting a theatre.

One of the problems faced in publicity, the budget this season allowed for little and that may have been one of the reasons for the small turnout.

The various representatives have taken back Walker's proposal to present to their councils in hopes of more funding.

However, very few of the gathering felt that the centre would be given high priority.

Most municipalities are planning next year's budget and it is unlikely they would go for additional mill rates to incur a deficit at the theatre.

According to Ed Rager, residents must approach their own councils and say there is a need for the complex, so it is perhaps no use waiting it.

The future of the Regional Arts Centre will be decided first, without funding, it is unlikely to have a future.

Kingman has Toro Cup

In an exciting final, Kingman emerged with top honours in the first Toro Cup competition.

Tofield Toros hosted the senior hockey tournament of Friday and Saturday and the tournament had an exciting finish.

The top team in the two-day four-team competition emerged as the Toro Cup and the first place prize money.

Kingman posted a 3-0-1 going into their last game which they had to win by twelve goals in order to top Kingman.

Toros played a great portion of the game with their goals on the bench in favour of an extra attacker and their opposition's line goal came late in an empty net.

Toros won the game 13-1 and Kingman earned top honours and the Toro Cup, by one goal.

F. Parker of the Edmonton Sweet Hugs was named as the most valuable player in the tournament.

Fred Buttry of the Toros suffered a broken kneecap in the tournament while another Toros, Cliff Horvick had a skate go through his chest with the cut requiring 20 stitches to close.

Toros stopped Edmonton Sweet Hugs 3-1 in their first outing when they got goals from Bunsy, Vandermeer, Ometsted, Lockback and Deamus.

In Friday's other opening game, Kingman stopped Edmonton Sweet Hugs 3-1.

Saturday's action started with Tofield and Kingman battling in a 4-4 stalemate with Kingman scoring four unanswered goals in the final period for the tie.

The game was scored by Blakewich, Ometsted, Lockback and Vandermeer with Blakewich scoring twice for Kingman whose single was called by Stang and Darling.

The two Edmonton teams then met with the Swathburgers in the Blakewich 3-1.

Kingman then whipped the Swathburgers 3-1 when they got a hat-trick from Bang, Pankas scored twice and singles came from Johnson, Swathburg, Deamus and Shaver.

In the final game of the tournament, Toros walked the Blakewich 13-1 when Clint picked up a hat-trick, Lockback, Ometsted and Estell each had a pair and singles went to Anderson, Pankas and Hukewich.

Bank interest explained

by Dave Derrell
The following article was written exclusively for The Mercury by Dave Derrell, A.I.C.B., manager of the Bank of Montreal, Tofield, to aid in the understanding of bank interest and what it means.

Mr. Derrell brings with him fifteen years bank service including nine years in the leading field. His association with the Bank of Montreal has taken him to Montreal, Edmonton and Oshawa. He is a member of the Institute of Canadian Bankers and has been bank manager in Tofield since 1978.

Mr. Derrell finds the world of banking to be very satisfying and enjoys the day in day service and personal contact it allows him.

He and his wife Donna and their three children reside in Tofield and in his spare time, Mr. Derrell is also an Auxiliary Councillor with the Tofield RCMP and a member of the Tofield Library Board. What other spare time he has, he dedicates to fishing, woodworking and photography.

Interest - defined as "money paid for the use of money", affects the lives of all of us. A complete discussion of the word would take a book, but for most would be satisfactory. However, there are some facets of which the public should be familiar and it is my intention to pass on the major factors behind interest rates, and why they are presently at high levels. The first reason is inflation and the desire of government to keep inflation within reasonable limits. Rest to wages and price controls, the manipulation of interest rates by government is probably the most effective weapon against inflation. It has been used and raising interest rates continues to inflation and if demand money remained the same an inflation rate would be in place. In fact, however, it is borrowers are discouraged from obtaining credit for their expenditures, spending is thus curtailed and producers, manufacturers, retailers, etc., who are anxious to move their stock, keep their prices down to encourage trade. At the point where spending reduces to the point where a recession is in, lowering interest rates encourages spending and results in a progressive economy. No such means government controls a major portion of our economy.

Now is it done? In Canada it is chiefly done in two ways, the first of which is the weekly offering of Treasury Bills. Through the sale of Treasury Bills the government raises funds for its immediate use. They are sold, like Canada Savings Bonds, in excess of what is purchased them, but in real terms of money. The government acts as a rule of interest. It begins with attract investors, coupled with what it is prepared to pay for its funding. By setting this rate it also sets the Bank of Canada rate. The Bank of Canada rate, commonly known as the "Bank Rate", is the rate of interest the Bank of Canada will charge its customers, for funds the latter wish to borrow. In practice, this has little effect since the chartered banks rarely borrow from the central bank, however, it does have a purpose in forcing the

Your Heritage Fund is at work improving the quality of life for you, your children, and grandchildren. The Fund was established in 1976, in recognition that revenues now enjoyed from the sale of our non-renewable resources will decline as supplies are depleted. To provide a savings account for the future and to help diversify our economy, 30% of all our oil and gas revenues are placed in the Heritage Fund. The returns on your investment in the Heritage Fund are becoming more visible each day.

For example, above are some highlights from the Capital Projects Division of the Fund. These are programs to help people—they would not have been possible without the Heritage Fund.

Cancer and heart research receives extensive support. Farmers are assisted by programs of the Agricultural Development Corporation, irrigation upgrading, crop and livestock research, and a food processing project. School children are learning more about their province and Canada through Heritage Fund books. Alberta's precious environment is being protected, preserved and improved through selected initiatives.

In the next few months, you'll see more examples of what the Heritage Fund is doing. You will see how your Heritage Fund is working and why it is a sure sign today...for tomorrow.

The tie is a distinctive item of clothing. In the workplace it is distinctive as a symbol of male success and higher wages.

You didn't think Ted took another look at who's wearing the tie in your workplace and the rewards that go with it. Where do women fit in? The sad fact of the matter is, they don't.

We know, for example, that women in Provincial Government employment in Alberta make a minimum of $3000 per year less than their male counterparts.

That's a pretty hefty penalty

NOW AN XL DEALER BY U.I.C. APPOINTMENT

held in Viking on March 17. Over 100 farmers attended to hear both sides of the proposal.
 Ken Galloway, a representative for the Wheat Board's Advisory Committee, started the meeting of exploring why M.A.P. has been proposed. Mr. Galloway stated that the basic concept of M.A.P. was to give all producers the opportunity to either market all their grain or to get paid for that which they couldn't market within the crop year. Some of the advantages of M.A.P. would be:
 1. Producers could increase production and also increase their cash flow.
 2. The Canadian Wheat Board could do a better job of marketing Canada's grain crop and could stabilize the grain transportation system better.
 3. Farmers could accurately calculate their cash flow. This would add more security and stability to farming.
 4. The program would help to stabilize the high and low of the livestock industry.
 5. Producers could grow what they grow best.
 M.A.P. is not intended to alter the deal marketing system.
 After Mr. Galloway's talk, Roy Atkinson, Past President of the R.F.U., responded in support for the M.A.P. proposal.

Following the question period Peter Perkins, of Herald Grain, delivered some scathing comments about the Wheat Board's performance in marketing grain. He felt that the Canadian Wheat Board could do a better job of marketing and should have a better market responsive system. Mr. Perkins discussed four possible problems with the system:
 1. The Canadian Wheat Board is preoccupied with high quality wheat to the detriment of feed grains.
 2. One of the main reasons for so much excessive summerfall is the quota system.
 3. The Canadian Wheat Board has failed to act as a market for feed grains and feed grain producers are unfairly treated to good a allocation.
 4. Crop Rate - cheap loans give small volume of grain movement. Mr. Perkins addressed a few comments on the M.A.P. proposal.
 1. M.A.P. encourages storage and farmers receive better to movement than storage.
 2. Stabilization is fine but the only assurance the farmer needs is that he can move his product at a price he is happy with.
 3. M.A.P. would guarantee a price for whatever was grown. As such provision would have to be made for a surplus, and therefore the initial payments probably would be low in order to compensate for it.

Following the question period, Pat McCarthy explained the function of the Western Barley Growers' Association. Pat also explained that although the association doesn't support M.A.P. as proposed, they are looking into it. The president of the Pullman Wheat Growers' Association, George Fletcher spoke next. He didn't feel very positive about the M.A.P. proposal and thought that the real problem is with transportation. His biggest fear is that M.A.P. will reduce the competitive nature of the Canadian farmer and not might deny the stabilization of the farming industry in Canada. Mr. Fletcher felt that the future would be bright. An example of a carbonization plant in Saskatchewan was mentioned. Apparently from wheat they produce 3 products - liquefaction, distillation and a type of water filter.

Mr. Atkinson was the last speaker of the evening. He agreed that the transportation market be improved and he agreed it was in comparing the grain system in Russia's, he noted that because of Russia's system, Canadian farmers have access to that market and therefore Russia helps Canadian farmers to make a living. Mr. Atkinson also addressed the question of free enterprise of which he felt there just isn't any.

Following the speech was a lively question period. Although many items were raised, one of the most common was who would pay for the market assurance plan? No one.
 Another question was asked: what if either the Federal Government or the province, maybe even the railways, or a combination would pay. Another question period followed to conclude the evening.
 A vote was taken at the meeting's end. 68 farmers supported M.A.P., 132 were opposed, and 34 wanted more information. All in all the meeting certainly did provide a chance to hear information from both sides of the coin on the M.A.P. proposal.

Vehicle check program is conducted by RCMP

Large numbers of vehicles travel Alberta's streets and highways while equipped with faulty or imperative equipment.

These vehicles must be taken out of service at this time of year because hazardous winter driving conditions take their toll of vehicle equipment. These checks are designed to complement the car check campaign sponsored by the Alberta Safety Council and the Alberta Safety Council which will operate with the theme "Care, Service and Safety for efficient, economical and safe drivers."

Should violations on a vehicle be excessive, provisions removed from the road until it is repaired.

Written warnings or prosecution action may be issued.

Big to signal lane changes, make, improper parking of vehicle on the highway, drinking drivers and other "hazardous" related offences.

The R.C.M.P. will also be paying special attention to driving offences such as tailgating, improper parking of vehicle on the highway, drinking drivers and other "hazardous" related offences.

broken, glass, turn indicators, etc. and replacing or repairing defective parts.

Motorists are also encouraged to keep safe driving practices always in mind, to drive cautiously, and that way avoid accident or prosecution.

The only objective of the R.C.M.P. are to "face the accident rate in Alberta and to save lives."

Fixed assets are recorded at cost. Depreciation of fixed assets has not been booked in the accounts. Higher capital additions and improvements are generally financed through the issuance of long-term debt. The depreciation interest and principal payments are recorded as current expenditures when the amounts are paid. The corresponding debenture (principal) redemption is added to the capital and loan fund investment in capital assets when payable.

Minor capital assets additions may be financed through expenditures in the general revenue fund. The expenditures are recorded as a current expenditure in the appropriate fund. The corresponding amount is added to the capital and loan fund investment in fixed assets.

FCC loans $71 million during past fiscal year

Farm Credit Corporation
Canada last year more than $71 million to Alberta farmers during the past 12 months, according to George Jett, Jr., the FCC regional manager for the province.

Mr. Jett said preliminary year-end estimates show that between April 1, 1980 and March 31, 1981, some 69 FCC loans were approved in Alberta.

The estimates average loan size for that period at $115,000, compared to $116,200 for 1979-80. In Canada as a whole, the average FCC loan is $120,000 in 1980-81.

Mr. Jett stated the new fiscal year will see an increase in the Corporation's lending budget.

The amount of money that the Corporation is able to borrow from Finance Canada will be about 12 per cent higher than in 1980-81.

Estimates of 1980-81 gross loan approvals indicate that about $118 million in the long-term loans was approved by FCC.

FCC lending in the new year may be increased further through legislation now being prepared, Mr. Jett said.

The legislation would allow the Corporation to seek a portion of its funding on the financial markets.

The Corporation has traditionally received its funding from the Minister of Finance and from the government and prepayment of loans by farmers.

In 1980-81, the Corporation received a smaller amount in loan prepayments than expected, as well as a smaller capital allowance from the Minister of Finance than in the previous year.

This resulted in a decrease in the total lending budget for the year.

"Until my supply of money starts to keep up with the demand for FCC loans, we will continue to lend first to those with the greatest need for FCC financing," Mr. Jett said.

As I See It

by Dr. Wall Street,
M.L.A.,
Ottawa Bay

The spring session of the Legislature opened last week with the traditional Speech from the Throne. The speech was again more of a rehash of government promises rather than anything else.

The speech highlighted Alberta's contribution with Ottawa and was not particularly responsive to the specific directions needed to advance the well-being of Alberta. The government's opening statement of purpose was vague, unspecified and lacking in substance.

If there are any positive aspects to the government's legislative session, they would be in some announcements in the fields of social services and health care. Understandingly, the Throne Speech nearly talks about these issues and does not make any firm commitments to action.

There are no new initiatives by the government in the areas of health care, agriculture, transportation, economic development and diversification or education.
These are the areas where the Social Credit Official Opposition will concentrate with policy direction this session.

Minister okays "hospital site"

by Lesley Pirmeau
 Health Minister, Dave Rowell, has given ministerial approval to the land purchase required for the new hospital slated for Tofteld.

Approval was received on March 25, in a letter to the Tofteld Hospital Board.

The decision to approve the purchase of 12.83 acres in the Selkirk Subdivision was based on four requirements. Firstly, Tofteld is the centre of the hospital district.

Secondly, approval was given based on the availability of both professional and support staff.

For 12 support services, all disciplines and a medical clinic are available in Tofteld and finally, part of the decision was based on population trends of the hospital district.

The hospital planning is almost complete and construction is expected to commence when architects have completed their work.

Completion date of the facility will be somewhere in 1984/85 and will cost in the neighbourhood of ten million dollars.

Accident takes life

by Laurie Pinnau
A girl, Donna Pryk, 14, was visiting from Maple Ridge, B.C. The accident occurred approximately seven miles north and a quarter of a mile west of Tofield.

The half-ton truck in which Pryk was riding was travelling eastbound on a country road when it apparently went out of control, entered a ditch and rolled. The incident took place at approximately 11:30 p.m.

The other occupants of the truck, Douglas Blaylock, David Brown, 14, and Debbie Pryk, 13, sustained minor injuries. Police are continuing their investigation.

Quilt show is a big hit

by Laurie Pinnau
The quilt exhibition held in Tofield was an immense success with at least 40 people in attendance each day. The quilt exhibition was held in Tofield and was a great success.

Such changes reflect the fact that membership has grown from about 70,000 in 1980 to over 300,000 in 1990 (nearly two in every nine Albertans) while assets have grown from $26 million to over $1 billion. Put another way, whereas the organization averaged some $1,000 per member in 1980, last year the average member earned over $4,000. The bulk of that income is, in fact, derived from the sale of shares. The $1 billion is a budget that lasts October only ten days.

Trillions and quintillions used to be used in the field of astronomy, or natural gas reserves . . . but they were not used in the 1980s. They are being told they'll be used in describing the national debt.

And we'll need to invent new words to describe what we imagine will be the "impense" consequences of major climate change.

The world can cheat the "destiny" held in gloomy statistics of world poverty, says the report, if a commitment to change is made today.

Mercury Morsels

Want to know who makes the best soups and bolts in town and from scratch? Or perhaps you'd like to have something about Tofield in the early days? Maybe you've heard about the best bread baked for miles around or perhaps you've heard about the delightful strudel? Here you lucky devil, for the Mercury news... ask Mr. Al Innes.

He's got the answer for this and more. As a matter of fact he is the answer!

Al Innes forged the granite to 1917 to settle in Tofield, come all the way from Ontario.

For the next fourteen years Mr. Innes worked at the Tofield Coal Mine as a plant engineer. Then the spirit of adventure must have struck again, for he moved up to Coal Valley to operate the steam shovel and locomotive.

Somewhere along the way Cupid struck. "If you know Susie, like I know Susie, oh, oh, what a girl!" that easily could have been the theme song. Mrs. Innes came to Tofield in 1918 from Yorkton, Saskatchewan. Just a few weeks ago Mrs. Innes celebrated her 84th birthday. Well they collaborated on Jack, Joyce and Jean and have six grandchildren and five great grandchildren. Of course Joyce just lives across the street, close by to the market and the lovely little bar and snipe up.

around for miles. But I could go on and on as I'd better get down to it.

Milk, add yeast to Innes water
Add 5 or 6 cups white flour. Turn dough into flour bowl.
Knead about 10 times. Put aside to rise for about 1 hour.
Punch down and shape into 4 loaves, put in pans until double in size. Cover and let rise. Bake at 400 for 35 minutes.

China food... is right. And the secret to good pie crust, and the meringue up at the hospital can make it taste like a delicacy, in the land; it has to be Galters Land, now that's the strangest thing I've heard about Peter Puck in the long time. Seeing as how he owns Galters, now you know he can make something besides lucky players!

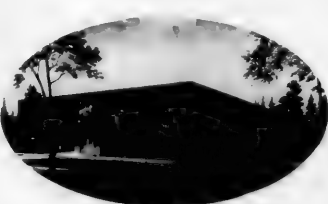

When Owen (Nevill) comes around, she's the public health nurse, there's always a bowl of fresh popcorn made in the summer time the garden provides the raspberries for jam. About the only thing that Mr. Innes can make, he says, is a good food cake, but they have a nice neighbor, Mrs. Innes who makes an absolutely scrumptious angel food, so no need to lament that.

Of course when the outside makes him famous, Mrs. Innes makes him famous and his. Evidently there is not a better bowl of manches

Palmer-Earling news briefs

This is well to be short and sweet; short because your correspondent had a bout with the flu, and after a week returned from the hospital at Dryden; and sweet due to the fact it was good to get home. Thanks for the flowers, visits and cards!

On April 3rd, the Hidden Drainage Board advised the very first Drainage Conference to be held in Edmonton. All the nine Drainage Districts in Alberta were present. The Water Resources have agreed to increase their grant to 75% of the construction costs.

Going up from this area representing Hidden Drainage District No. 1 was the chairman, Nick Laskowski, secretary, Mrs. Earl Heilekson and the two trustees, Lawrence Horwood and Stuart MacGregor. Mrs. Best Pederson underwent surgery on Wednesday at St. Mary's Hospital in Calgary. Jürgen Devick is a patient at Tofield Hospital. The Dan Olson family arrived on Sunday at Tofield for their goldenchild Jeff Froehman. John and Elaine Brown's attended the funeral Sunday for Mrs. Karen Engle, 75, of Killeen, who passed away suddenly. The lesson to measure her has her husband, 3 sons and 3 daughters — the daughter being Mrs. Marvin Brown well known here. Joe and Betsy Vidman of Swift were Tuesday visitors at the altar's. The Starline, L.C.W. met.

Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Tom Bruce when 16 members attended. Mrs. Marlene Seay presented the Bible study lesson. Happy birthday was sung for Emily Kvala whose birthday fell on that day. Plans were finalized for serving at two places on Saturday at Tofield and the Legion Hall for about it, and also at the Tofield Community Hall for a large number for the lucky club. Thanks from Tofield, plus other items.

Hobby becomes a teaching career

by Lesley Frimmon
In 1974, Myrna Shumert took a further education course in pottery, took a side step into ceramics and today teaches ceramics in her own studio that comes equipped with more than 100 models.

facilities to air brush and room to store hundreds of pieces of greenware.
What may have started out as a hobby has blossomed into a family affair. Husband, Winner does all the firing on electrical ceramics, and Wendy and Randy pour the models and even finish the occasional piece of greenware.

Myrna has a degree in ceramics and is a qualified teacher. To keep up with all the latest in the ceramic world she constantly attends seminars to learn the latest techniques. In the future she plans to work with clay, porcelain or even liquid clay is called glaze.

before it is fired and the firing technique is an experience all its own. Glaze is fired at different temperatures so as to avoid and even different colours are fired at varied temperatures.

Firing is a gradual method taking up to ten hours to do a full load. Myrna has three kilns of varying sizes so that it is not necessary to use the large one if a small load is ready for firing. Generally it takes a day for the kiln to cool down.

Purchasing materials is a lesson in patience. Most materials must come through the States and crossing the border can be a long haul. Clay is purchased by the ton while porcelain is purchased by the gallon, ready mixed, therefore you are buying American water as well as porcelain. The porcelain is bought in different colours, therefore a blue porcelain also for instance would be blue through and through while clay which has the colour painted on. Glaze for greenware very as well. The best glaze may be used for lost glaze.

In ceramics a specific shape, anything from vases to dishes, from plates to dolls. The dolls are made of porcelain and require an extremely steady hand. Myrna's family makes all the doll clothes.

The dolls range in size from baby dolls to dolls of almost adult size. The dolls are made of porcelain and require an extremely steady hand. Myrna's family makes all the doll clothes.

Students are invited to try their hand at any of the greenware and any of the pottery. The greenware, that is, the unfired clay, is more depending on the size and complexity of the piece.

Generally classes are held on Wednesdays and Thursdays with the remainder of the week used for firing. Firing models, finding new pieces and purchasing materials round out whatever spare time there might be left.

Myrna has entered many arts and crafts fairs with many winning ribbons. But ceramics is not her only interest.

Recently, she finished a flower arrangement course. Ceramics is a way to create beauty. Myrna often hand paints many of the pieces she does and occasionally makes some of her work. Working in clay takes a great deal of time and patience and is a whole new idea as to jewellery pieces, although they have become very popular.

Many students make traditional pieces of pottery, some the Easter bunnies or Santa Claus.

Interest in ceramics has grown rapidly.

The art is one that can be developed and sustained through many years.

There is always something new to try whether it be a piece of greenware or a new technique.

Whether it is one thing or not, Myrna Shumert will have told it to many times willing to share it with an interested ceramicist.

Creative writers club to form in Camrose

An organizational meeting to form a creative writers club in Camrose will be held next Thursday at the Charlie Killian School Library beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The main objective of the club will be to promote and support creative writing and publishing of works by citizens of Camrose and district. Members will have the opportunity to share examples of their writing with the group and receive feedback on it. As well, access to publishing services will be provided and authors will be encouraged to submit pieces for publication.

Even though the organization has not yet formed, a day long workshop has been arranged with John Patrick Gillette of the Literary Arts Branch of Alberta Culture as instructor.

The first workshop will deal with writing non-fiction and it has been scheduled for Saturday, May 1, starting at 10 a.m. A second workshop with emphasis on fiction will be held at a later date.

Also, a two-day workshop will be sponsored by the Killian Writers group on May 22 and 23 and all Camrose writers are invited to attend.

According to Alberta Culture's Gillette, interest in the writers club in Camrose is high and already 38 people have signed up for the first workshop.

The writers club will not be restricted to one area and people of all ages are welcome to attend including poets, non-fiction, short story writers, and playwrights.

Kingman sewer system nearing mid-way mark

The Kingman sewer system project is making excellent progress. Although the project is moving along at a very good pace, the project overtook some aspects.

The construction crew moved their equipment and materials into some property where the old railway station used to be. Although they didn't realize it, the property was privately owned by one Mr. Neen.

Mr. Neen had been away on holidays when the construction people moved everything onto the property. When he came back, he found equipment on his land.

Council immediately agreed to improve the road after the project is done.

The compacting took place by the construction lane.

Jaywalkers salutes agriculture

For the first time in the history of Jaywalkers' fund-raising, there will be a theme for the event.

"A Salute to Agriculture" is the theme of the 1981 gala at which tickets take place on June 5 and 6.

The event, which sees many stars and new sales records every year for the two days, will begin at nine in the morning on Friday. But, as was the case last year, there will probably be a large gathering of people downtown before that time.

Jerry Ash, who is the chairman of the Jaywalkers committee, has set forth the new theme with the slogan of making a good thing even better.

The committee is encouraging local merchants to decrease their stores and their employees draw up to suit the theme.

The store which is best decorated in the agricultural theme, including staff apparel, will be awarded an engraved plaque.

The Camrose Agricultural Society will be doing the judging.

An award will be presented to the business who comes in the time of the draw.

Calgary Power shows boost in power sales

1988 represented another year of challenge for Calgary Power Ltd., with the company's sales rising more electricity than at any time in its 70-year history, despite a record amount on construction of new plants and obtaining the highest level of investment earnings.

In its annual report to shareholders, Canada's largest investor-owned electric utility says despite whatever attempts and the uncertainty created by the federal government's controversial energy policy on the Alberta economy, 1988 results were favourable.

Of particular significance was the federal government's decision to continue the rebate of 10% of income taxes paid by Calgary Power thereby recognizing the economic and environmental importance of the company.

The company's 1988 revenue rose 2.5% to $1.1 billion, an increase from $1.07 billion in 1987. The company's 1988 revenue rose 2.5% to $1.1 billion, an increase from $1.07 billion in 1987.

Great revenues have been reported at $104.4 million, an increase of 15.5%, while operating expenses increased 13.7% to $87 million.

Earnings per common share were $1.76 in 1988, an increase from $1.75 in 1987. The company's investment of $1.1 billion in 1988, an increase from $1.07 billion in 1987.

Dear Mr. Ryley, Alberta
Please - my son
I recently read an article written by a doctor, who advised that giving honey to infants under 1 year of age could be dangerous.

Some honey samples have been found to contain botulism spores which can harm and produce deadly botulism toxin

In infants under one year old.
These botulism spores can withstand all kinds of adverse conditions, heat, radiation, drying, freezing in boiling water. Under infants, children and adults are in no danger - their guts won't allow the spores to grow.

Honey is the only food that has been linked to infant botulism. Children don't need the sweetest or extra calories of honey anyway. It is an item best left out of an infant's diet.

If you are in the habit of using microwave containers, dairy product containers, etc., you may want to switch to recommended microwave dishes.

The safety of heating plastic baby bottles with disposable bottles you also checked. These bottles containing disposable bottles are safe to use in the microwave. These bottles that are reusable or reusable bottles should not be heated this way.

One could just as easily boil bottles by heating with a glass of water and checking that the real heating of rim or lid has taken place.

BRTA's tour is fully booked

Even though the event is still a month away, the Battle River Tourist Association's annual cavalcade is fully booked.

BRTA members were told, at a meeting to launch on Thursday, that the May 22-23 tour can not accept any further registrations.

According to President Bob Brown of Leduc, a record number of camping units have registered for this year's tour of the northeast portion of the BRTA zone which will leave Carleton Place on the morning of May 23.

Members agreed that next month (May) should be "membership month" and decided to conduct an intensive drive to have every community in the zone become a BRTA member.

BRTA Manager Sylvia Chimes told the meeting that there were 780 members in BRTA in 1980 with only three small communities not belonging to the association.

It was agreed that the BRTA would produce a monthly events calendar which would be distributed by a number of different ways.

Members were advised that happenings of public interest should be forwarded to the BRTA office for inclusion in the calendar.

Gertrude Thimmes of Medicine Hat presented members with a design for a promotional button. It was accepted and $3,000

Change clocks

You're going to lose some sleep!

It's that time of year when clocks have to be changed. Daylight Savings Time has arrived!

When you go to bed Sunday night, move your clocks ahead one full hour or you'll be late for any appointments you have!

That hour of sleep you lose will be regained in one half when the clocks are moved back.

But, don't forget, change your clock as the day begins.

Dandelions are large problem

Dandelions are a nuisance to many Canadian homeowners but to farmers in the Peace River region of Alberta and British Columbia the pesky weeds can be very costly.

They appear to be more common in the region than in other parts of the country. Also, the most commonly used herbicide on dandelions, 2,4-D has a very erratic performance against the weed in the Peace River area.

To help overcome this problem, Agriculture Canada scientists at Beaverbridge, Alta., are testing the effect of soil moisture levels on herbicide applications. The scientists expect that soil moisture is a critical factor in the weed control.

Edwards, eldest son of Arnold and Nagan Steen, was born at Silverton, Oregon, on November 19, 1910.

He arrived in Canada with his parents in 1919 when they settled in the Baroda district. Here he grew up, attending school and living on the family farm until 1940. At that time he joined his brothers in business in Carleton Place where he resided until his passing.

Edna took a keen interest in all sports and played baseball and hockey as a young man. He was for many years an active member of the Baroda Lutheran Church and Baroda Male Chorus.

Survivors include a sister, Edna, of Vancouver, B.C.; a sister-in-law, Olive, of Carleton Place; a nephew, Robert of Byron Lake; and a niece, Linda Kirslein of Calgary. His funeral was conducted by his father and mother and two brothers, Albin and Bud.

Rental rates increase

By Lesley Pittman
 To help offset rising taxes, Tofield Town Council has agreed with a proposal put forth by the local recreation board, to increase the rental fees for the community hall. The new fee structure will see the basic weekly fee increase from $10 to $12, with a rental fee for that will also be levied for Saturday and Sunday. However, rental charges for Saturday evening will be set at $10, again an increase of ten dollars. The rental on the meeting room and kitchen, will be set at $10, an increase of five dollars. Kitchen facility rental only will be set and rental for the meeting room has been set at $10. Bearing in mind the expected rise in taxes and continued revenue loss of the Regional Arts Centre, council unanimously discussed their partial funding of the centre. For the past year, Tofield along with other municipalities, has shared the operational costs incurred by the Arts Centre. At the regular council meeting held last Monday, councillors were informed that the 1981 school population would amount to $121,380, an increase of roughly $14,790 over last year. The increase amounted to about 12.6% and must be made by the town towards school operational costs. The increase will play a minor part in determining the tax rate levied for this year. The town has also received a total of seven tenders for the new fire hall to be built in Tofield. The bids were two part: the first for a completed building, operational and the second for a finished interior. One of the lowest first bids came in at $184,343 from Windermere Development Ltd. They also submitted an interior bid of $121,380 and the lowest total package bid was received by Watson Tofield for $285,723 divided by an exterior bid of $189,893 and an interior bid of $95,830. The highest bid submitted, $327,777, was tendered by Wausage Carpenter Shop. The tenders will be scrutinized by a joint fire hall committee of the town and county. The committee will also be hearing the recommendations of the engineer before choosing a tender and initiating construction. Council also passed a motion which will see the allocation of an additional $2,500 towards a hard court surface at the Tofield School. A total of $2,500 has already been set aside for the project but printed in The Mercury last week. The court will be similar to the Viking School's court and the building between the Island of Education and the Town will be of the same nature. Black alley garbage pickup for the town of Tofield will commence May 1. The garbage will be subject to all provisions in the current garbage by-law sent to all residents. This year's spring cleanup will be held May 11-17 in conjunction with Alberta's annual clean-up campaign.

Vote is Wednesday

By Lesley Pittman
 Wednesday's by-election for hidden residents will be held in the hidden Community Hall. Polls open at 10:30 a.m. and will remain open until 8:00 p.m. to allow every resident their right to vote. An election was made necessary when John Lemko passed away earlier this year, vacating a seat on the Village Council. Two names will appear on the ballot, Dennis Cooper and Herman Lemko, both long-time residents of Tofield. Final results of the election will be available approximately one hour after the polls close. However, official results will not be posted until noon the following day to allow the returning officer adequate time to check all ballots.

Musical set

by Lesley Pittman
 Students of the Tofield School have undertaken their biggest musical production ever, with their rendition of "Oliver". One of the most spectacular church scenes will consist of fifty grade five students in appropriate costume staged "Feed the Hungry". A number of them will also be singing at the Elbow Music Festival next week in Edmonton. Director of the extravaganza, David Nolan, views the production as one of the most challenging in the school. The young Oliver is played by Dwayne Knapstad, with Wayne Macgregor filling in as the Artful Dodger. Gayle Hubbard takes on the

Caution is urged

Materials are being urged to drive with more caution than in the past. Community Hall, can be purchased from the members of the hall. "Oliver" will be available at the members of the hall, if any left. It is advised that purchase of tickets be done as early as possible to prevent disappointment. Four months of planning and hard work will become a musical spectacular when the curtain rises May 11 on the production of "Oliver".

Artists set

Carol Bahab Lodge of Ryer has finalized plans for her latest show. The year's art show will be held on May 2nd in the Ryer Community Hall. Paintings will go on display at two o'clock and remain on display until five o'clock. Lunch will be served during the afternoon. A draw for an oil painting will be made at five o'clock. The painting was done by Ann Goodall. Artists from at least six communities will have paintings on display. Artists have already been notified from Camrose, New Norway, Minnisk, Tofield, Holden, Bruce, Vegreville, and other areas could also be represented. Plans for this year's art show were finalized last week during a regular meeting of Carol Bahab Lodge which was held with Lucille Knudsen presiding.

Tofield 4-H meets

by Dianne Henderson
 On April 22, nineteen members of The Tofield 4-H Club met at the hall. The members discussed and made final plans for providing lunch at Earl's Barn's farm. On Saturday, the club will be participating in the provincial highway clean-up. Members are asked to meet at Charlie's Place at 8:30 a.m. where they will begin. After cleaning to Hastings Lake Courser (approximately 15 miles) the members will go to May 28 or May 29. The Henderson's where they will have lunch. The primary foundation for courser judging and Achievement Day were held on. The Achievement Day date is June 1, with the courser judging date still tentatively set for May 28 or May 29. It was also decided that the members would help the Old-Timers Hockey Team for about three hours on July 1 in their town.

Farm cash up

Total farm cash receipts from farming operations across Canada are estimated to be up eleven percent in 1980 over the year before, according to the Farm Business Review recently turned out by the Royal Bank.

Loaded with a number of figures in a variety of fields of farm operations, we were surprised, though maybe we shouldn't have been, at some of the things which turned up.

It surprised us to learn, really, that Ontario alone accounts for more than a quarter, twenty percent actually, of all farm cash income in the country. And when you consider what a small part of Ontario is farmed, really, by comparison, say, with Alberta, it's obvious the products are the high yield, high price variety.

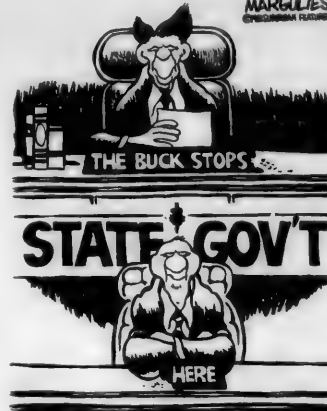

In third place Saskatchewan is right on the heels of Alberta, even though it's farm area is so much smaller, indicating the tremendous yields of wheat in that province. It must be remembered that Saskatchewan turns into lakes and bush at a level only a few miles north of Edmonton, whereas in Alberta, half the population lives north of Wetaskiwin. And look at all the highly productive land in the entire Peace River region, and over to Grande Prairie.

When it comes to livestock, the losses are similarly sharp. Five out of six beef cattle in the country are west of the Lakes, while almost forty percent of the six are in Alberta alone. Saskatchewan, with more than one out of four Canadian beef cattle, has very nearly more than all the provinces to the east of her together.

Switching to hogs, however, shows a dramatically different picture. Alberta has more than forty percent of all western hogs, but that doesn't mean very much. Almost identical, either of Ontario or Quebec have about 175,000 more hogs than all four western provinces together.

Figures can be boring, but they can also be highly stimulating, and looking at farming in Canada, we find them extremely interesting and revealing. Naturally, there are many more in the Review, part of which covers future plantings, farrowings, breeding, and so on.

Looking ahead, they see cash receipts rising some seventeen percent this year over last year. Unhappily, they recognize costs are also escalating, so the net increase will be substantially lower than seventeen percent. But the good news is that they still count on an increase in the hands of the farmer.

Patricia
Young
Says

The man or woman who cannot find it in themselves to be negative? They may be surprised to find that for their survival! The blind optimism of Britain lacks of preparedness when Hitler overran Europe and bombed London. There is a difference however, between the realist and dreamer. The realist is usually an optimist wishing to maintain the advances made by man. In wishing to preserve the good, he must sometimes be negative in condemning these forces which lead to destruction.

It is interesting in Provincial jurisdictional rights, destroying Canada as a Democratic Confederation and ignoring the will of the people. His "I know what is best for you" is a constitutional ploy. If passed, will guarantee state (Ola's) ownership of all property and means of production. It may mean living in the day of poverty. I recall in the days of my youth, all churches remained open to the public to one could go to find a prayer, but it means that youth has been to modernism.

Is it that Youth will have to resort to vigilance to protect their property? Yours truly, Yungus Page food, good hours, good habits and good thoughts! I say my way for 1981 is that man might see the realities of goodness and goodness that have been there all along.

Dear Sir: Does Tofield have to resort to using vigilantes to protect their property?

You may be some what surprised at my abrupt question in the way I started.

I was going on my morning walk and I was passing Jack Hardy's garden. I saw that the house of Jack Hardy's garden was surrounded up in the O.K. last previous day and he always keeps a good garden.

I was so mad when I was telling a friend of mine, he told me someone had put into a dissonance Church by the school with some white dress, agreed it on the floor line, also the keys of the place.

DROW BATS BOTTING
AT VILMIS

On April 13, a large crowd gathered at Villing to hear various speakers discuss the crow rate later.

Ken Stockland started off the meeting talking about some history and describing the problem as he sees it today. He figured that the Crow must be a good thing for the railways as a public utility. He discussed some history of the Crow and gave some reasons for retaining it.

Jim Right next spoke and presented the Community Coalition Group's proposal. Their studies, based on the idea that the rate must remain that the benefit must be greater than the cost.

Therefore the federal government should pay the farmers the difference between the crow and the compensatory rates. The railways should have the primary duty from the federal government. Mr. Falkenberg, the final speaker of the evening. He presented the Western Agricultural Conference's view, namely that railways should be paid compensatory rates. The railways should have the primary duty from the federal government.

After a lively question period a motion was made for resolution of the crow rate. Of the 368 farmers who had paid at the door, 122 voted for the motion and 246 voted against the motion. A number abstained from voting.

WATSON THE COUNTRY

SEATTLE-100

A public meeting was held in Holden on April 13. The purpose of the meeting was to decide whether or not to make the County of Beaver a mustard-free county.

Phil Thomas, the Supervisor of Oland Crop for Agriculture, Agriculture, spoke and presented some interesting points:

1. Contamination from mustard would probably not be a problem if good management was followed.

2. The variation of mustard new grown does not stay dormant very long — in three years of proper cultural practices all seed should be gone.

3. The economic disadvantages of growing mustard in this area are quite severe because of:

a. The long period of hot weather leads in order to produce seed and make it worth to sell. The tolerance levels for seed in mustard are very, very low and in this area you would be lucky to get a Canada 41 grade.

c. In most years the price per bushel is $8.50 to $9.00 and the yield in this area is 10-15% less.

you know if anyone contemplating growing mustard talk to Denis or have them give me a call so I can explain why mustard is profitable for this area.

be plowed or disked once, to a 6-10 cm depth, before application.

WHY USE AVADEX* BW?

AvaDEX BW is a PRE-EMERGENCE herbicide controlling wild oats BEFORE they have a chance to root their wheat, barley, rye, timothy, sorghum, sugarcane, or dry peas of moisture and soil nutrients.

- AvaDEX BW is a granule.
- AvaDEX BW can be applied pre-emergence in FALL or SPRING for equally effective control of wild oats.
- AvaDEX BW is available in two convenient-to-use forms - LIQUID and GRANULAR.
- Granular AvaDEX BW can be applied by aerial or ground equipment, such as the HODEY 40.
- Granular AvaDEX BW can be applied to stubble, ready or ready-to-plant fields in the FALL, and still provide effective pre-emergence wild oat control the FOLLOWING SPRING.
- Granular AvaDEX BW is convenient to use.
- Liquid AvaDEX BW can be mixed with and applied in liquid fertilizer solutions (DRI URFA FERTILIZER).
- Application equipment for AvaDEX BW can be mounted on your existing aerial incorporation (tilage) equipment to save time and cost.
- AvaDEX BW works well in a wide range of soils and moisture conditions, although performance may be slightly reduced under extremely dry conditions.
- AvaDEX BW controls wild oats with good crop tolerance when used as directed and at the recommended rates.

HOW AVADEX* BW WORKS TO CONTROL WILD OATS

Applied prior to germination, AvaDEX BW herbicide is absorbed by wild oat shoots, usually resulting in control before emerging through the soil surface. Once established, especially under dry conditions, cold soil temperatures and deep penetrating wild oat roots, AvaDEX BW only may emerge and reach the 3 to 4 leaf stage before dying.
